H. C. Diers spent the past week at Troy, Ohio, arranging for the shipment of his spring delivery of nursery stock from the Farmers Nursery. Mr. Diers has several thousand dollars worth of orders, and his nursery stock is very popular with the fruit growers who have given him duplicate orders the past several years. His delivery extends to about a dozen counties in the State.

James Gayle, the popular manager of the Worthville and Carrollton Railroad, who resides at Carrollton, where he is interested in several other business enterprises, spent Saturday here in the interest of the Carrollton Sand Company, he having a large patronage from this quarter. Mr. Gayle is one of the hustling business men of Carrollton, and his visit here was rewarded with nice business results, and many new social connections as well.

There is now every indication of the early establishment of a Royal Arch Chapter at Walton as the matter is nearing a happy solution in the transferring of Wilmington Chapter from Piner, Kenton county, to Walton. F. L. Wilson of Independence, Wm. H. Metcalfe and J. Ed. Bristow, are a committee to arrange matters and expect to have the initial meeting at Walton in May. It will be a great addition to the Masonic fraternity in this quarter, and a very prosperous Chapter is promised.

THE CRIME OF GREED.

As the facts regarding the Triangle shirt-waist factory horror in New York come to light, one thing stands out as plainly as the Handwritting on the Wall.

At least 140 lives were sacrificed on the altar of avarice and greed.

Greed was responsible for the great loss of life in the Iroquois Theater fire in Chicago in 1903.

Greed again results in the terrible death of scores of girls and young women in this New York factory fire.

More than fifty bodies were found piled up to the height of a man's shoulder jammed up against the iron Grill door which locked them in from the stairway. This door was one of those which were kept locked to pen the employes in during working hours and to enable the foreman to search them before they went home.

What kind of a country is this, anyhow, that girls and women must be locked in when they enter a factory, like so many convicts in a prison hulk?

Are these poor, hard-working employes—daughters of the common people—are THEY on the same level as coolie laborers in diamond mine, or felons in a convict camp?

By what right, when the law expressly states that the factory doors and exits must be left open during their working hours, do the employers lock their working people in?

That is not criminal negligence. It is criminal greed. Greed of the lowest, most demonise sort.

Is it any wonder that the girls went on a strike against such brutal, grasping employers—that they fought till their strength was exhausted against sweatshop methods and an institution of modern slavery?

Nothing short of the ultimate penalty which the law can inflict should be dealt out to these beasts, who, in their swinish and greed, barred the exits of their factory against these helpless girls.—Kentucky Post.

HIGH VINE
—No. 2733—

Foaled in spring of 1904; by Highland Gaines, 1667; grand sire, Highland Denmark, 730; dam, Bessie Sable, 2882, by Shropshire Kentucky Squirrel, 1865. Second dam, Ida May by Fayette Denmark. Third dam, Maxey by Granger. Fourth dam Mare by Expert, 77.

Breed to a Proven Sire.

HIGH VINE is a five gaited saddle stallion, seven years old, 16 hands, and weighs 1200 lbs., a rich golden chestnut in color, and a perfect model in confirmation.

HIGH VINE is a uniform breeder and reproduces his own kind. The show record of his two sets of colts is unequaled by the colts of any sire in this section of country. His colts were shown at various fairs last year and were never defeated in their class and in addition awakened public admiration everywhere. In several instances the owners of High Vine colts have been offered $200 for the colts at weanling time, and this handsome price was refused by the said owners as all of them believed the colts to promise much better as they developed. There must be something in the breeding when $200 offers for weanling colts are rejected by owners who are governed by business principles in the sale of the products of their farm. Take a look at High Vine's colts and you will see the style and attractive qualities that make the price in a sale.

HIGH VINE will make the season at the stable of W. Lee Gaines on the Lexington turnpike, midway between Walton and Richwood, Ky. $20.00 to insure a live foal, season money due if mare is parted with.

No responsibility for accidents.

Make engagements ahead as his services are limited, and it saves annoying delays.

For the accommodation of those at a distance Mr. Gaines will pasture a few mares at $2.50 per month, with the best facilities for their care and keeping.

PREMIUM.—Free season for 1913 will be given the owner of the best High Vine colt exhibited at Florence fair at the High Vine colt show.

HIGH VINE HORSE CO.,
Walton, Ky.

We will stand the best blooded stallion in the county, and get better colts than any man's horse that develops in grand horses for the show ring and filling the pocketbooks. See later.

JOHN H. AYLOR.
HARMON M. JONES.

The General Purpose Stallion,

ROBERT WILLIS, 57255.

ROBERT WILLIS is a chestnut horse with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high and weighs 1250 pounds, foaled in 1905. Individually he is a horse of grand finish with plenty of substance, a fine disposition, with the best of feet and legs. His blood lines are of the best as his pedigree will show. Ordinary mares bred to this horse will not fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as general-purpose horses and roadsters, as his foals have size, style, conformation and action, good heads, best of disposition, plenty of life and every indication of developing into useful and selling horses.

ROBERT WILLIS is a fast natural trotter with a perfect way of going, and with limited handling last year, after making a season, showed that he has race horse speed, and with a proper preparation, will easily take a mark of 2:20 or better.

He will make the season of 1911 at Clover Leaf Stock Farm at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with or moved from the county after being bred, in which case the money becomes due and collectable at once.

Parties breeding must follow up the season.

Care taken to prevent accidents but not be responsible should any occur.

The High Class Saddle and Harness Stallion,

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS,

2844 A. S. B. A

Will make the season of 1911 at the W. L. Norman Stock Farm at Walton, Ky., and if you want a show horse breed to him.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is a dark bay, 16 hands, weighs 1200 lbs., with three white feet, snip and star, and lots of style and action. He was sired by

by Harrison Chief 1808, by Clark Chief (89); dam Kit Hardy (2880) by Indian Chief (1718); 1st dam Miss Berry 4034, by Rhoderick 104; by Mambrino Le Grande (99); 2d dam, by Bell's Yellow Jacket 112, 3d dam by Gray Eagle.

MISS BERRY is also the dam of Woodland Chief, one of the finest show horses in Kentucky. Woodland Chief is a full brother to Bell's Fitzsimmons and a full brother to Rhoderick, and one of the finest geldings ever showed, and sold to a party in Texas for $1,000.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is also the sire of the champion walk-trot gelding, Mat Coyne, showed at the Horse Shows in the fall of 1908 and sold for $3,800, and also the champion harness mare showed by C. O. Harris.

L. T. Anderson, of Maysville, one of the largest dealers in the state, says some of the highest class horses he has handled have been by Bell's Fitzsimmons.

The greatest show, harness and saddle horses of our state have sprung from the loins of Harrison Chief and Indian Chief. Where can you find a horse of better breeding than Bell's Fitzsimmons? He has been a winning show horse ever since a suckling colt, and has proven himself a successful sire. Some of the highest priced saddle, harness and walk-trot horses that have left the State have been sired by him.

Personal care over all stock. Mares left on good grass at 10c a day at owner's risk.

$15.00 to insure a mare in foal or parted with.

To them were born two girls and one boy.

Thursday evening, March 30th, one of the most beautiful little weddings ever solemnized in this neighborhood, took place at the home of the bride's parents, when Miss Blanche Kelly, the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Kelly, became the bride of Mr. Lewis Beemon. At six o'clock to the time of the wedding march played by Mr. Everett Clore, the bride and groom were led into the soft lighted parlor by Miss Madge Taylor, bridesmaid, and Sandford Bristow, the groom's man. There they were met by Rev. R. H. Carter, who united them in the bonds of holy wedlock in the presence of a large circle of relatives invited to witness the impressive ceremony. Following the ceremony and congratulations the guests were invited to the dining room, where an excellent repast consisting of every delicacy of the season, was served. The dining room was beautifully decorated with Easter flowers and fern. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white silk, trimmed in silver braid and white beads. The brides maid was dressed in white net over silk. The groom wore the conventional black. The bridal couple were treated to an old time charivari by the boys of the neighborhood. Mr. Beemon and his charming bride has a large circle of friends and relatives, who wishes the happy young couple a world of happiness, success and prosperity before them in their new home awaiting them near Hebron. The following are a few of the many presents received:

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly dozen silver knives and forks.

AROUND THE FARM.

Oil up the work harness.

The neglected colt or calf will prove profitless.

Cattle will never do well in the same pasture as sheep.

Wood charcoal should always be kept in the hog pen.

How are the farm implements? Any of them need repairs?

To improve live stock requires intelligence and thought

It is a good plan to have the horses and cows clean up their mangers after each feed.

There is such a thing as overfeeding. Feed stock all the food they will assimilate, but no more.

Don't have a lot of manure lying in the yards all summer. It will lose just about half of its value by fall.

It is better to feed the cows fodder and hay after milking as it keeps the dust down. Feed the grain before milking.

Don't plant poor, weak seed corn this spring. It is time and money thrown away. There is plenty of good strong seed to be had.

Farmers must read in order to keep up with the times. There has been as great an evolution in in agriculture as in any other line of business.

Do you follow crop rotation on your farm? It's the only way to properly manage a farm for best result s in producing big crops and maintaining the fertility.

The best feed for making muscle is oats. They are not heating nor very fattening. The young calves should be given oats in order to give them muscle and make them plump.

Test the seed before planting. Farmers who have made a practice of doing so declare that it makes as high as ten to fifteen bushels per acre difference, because they are able to select the seed with the greatest germinating power.

It is a good plan to have a ladder handy, so that in case of fire one can quickly get to the roof and reach the place where a large majority of fires in farm homes start. A few moments time in such an emergency makes all the difference in the world. Many a house might be saved if one could only quickly reach the place where it started.—Ex.

Do not make cheapness the basis of selection of fruit trees and bushes you are going to set out on your place. It takes just as much time and trouble to do the work and just as many years to bring them into bearing as though you had bought and planted good varieties. With the latter you have something to show for your trouble; with the former you have only cumbered the ground, and will get no satisfactory returns in the way of fruit How foolish!—Ex.

Considerable activity in the export trade of leaf tobacco is indicated by the report of the United States Department of Commerce and Labor for the month of February, 1911. Nearly double the quantity of unmanufactured leaf and stems and trimmings was shipped to foreign countries, as contrasted with the corresponding month last year. Among manufactured tobacco products all lines compare unfavorably in February with the corresponding month of 1910, with the single exception of plug tobacco, which shows a slight increase in quantity. The greatest decrease is recorded in the export shipments of cigarettes, due largely, no doubt, to the constantly increasing demand at home and the inability of the American factories to keep pace with the rapidly growing consumption. The total quantity of leaf tobacco exported from the United States to foreign countries during February, 1911, was 23,545,567 pounds, as contrasted with 14,826,403 lbs. exported during February, 1910. This makes an increase of 8,719,164 lbs, or almost 60 per cent.

The Enterprise publishes a request, addressed to Henry R. Prewitt, chairman together with a letter that accompanied it, asking that the State Democratic Executive Committee meet and issue a call for a convention, to be held in Louisville before the primary election on July 1, for the purpose of allowing the Democrats of the State an opportunity to make a platform. Both the request and the letter are signed by Sam T. Spaldinz, of Lexington and William P. McDonough, of Louisville, members of the Executive Committee from the Fourth and Fifth districts, respectively. These two members at meetings of the committee recently held has everything within their power to induce the other members of the body to follow such a course.

OBITUARY.

It is our sad duty again to notice the passing away of a good woman and that in the very prime and vigor of her life, when all the preparatory stages had been passed, and she was beginning to live her own life and start currents of blessed influences from herself as every good woman does to bless the world. Josephine Lambert Woods daughter of Frank and Sarah Lambert, of Belleview, Boone County, Ky., was born October 11th, 1879, and grew up to womanhood under the blessed influence of a christian home, and the factors that controlled her life came to her through this home influence. She was trained in childhood to go to the Sabbath school, and to church, and in her 19th year gave her heart to God and made a public confession and was baptised and united with the Belleview Baptist church. Two years later she was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Woods, and was a very devoted wife and mother in her home; was very happy in her home life, always busy ministering to some one she realized that the highest privilege of a woman is to preside over her home, for it is from the home that the most potent influences come to any people or nation. No nation can rise higher than the home life of the people, and happy is the woman who exerts her influence and expands her energy building up her own home so as to make it the center of attraction for every member of her family when the husband comes after the day's toil to rest and be refreshed for the next day's duties and goes out from it in the morning a new man, equipped in body and mind to cope with the labors and trials that come to him. The subject of our sketch was skilled in this sphere. Business duties brought the family into St. Bernard, O., several years ago, and here the last years of her life were spent, where she was highly respected by all who knew her.

The last week in February she became ill and soon the doctors informed the family that she was suffering from the ravages of typhoid fever, and her suffering was prolonged into the fourth week. The husband and the home family aided by nurses and doctors did all that could be done for her relief, but they lost in the battle, for she quietly passed over to her reward, Friday morning, March 17th, 1911, in the 32d year of her age.

The funeral was held Monday morning, March 20th, from the Chapel of Highland cemetery, and her mortal body wreathed in beautiful flowers, the tokens of many friends, was tenderly laid to rest in that beautiful cemetery, where it will rest until the trumpt shall sound, calling the dead to life again, and the redeemed soul and the redeemed body shall be united again and dwell in the place which Christ has prepared for his people. Mrs. Woods leaves a husband, one son father, mother, brothers, sisters and a host of friends to mourn her departure, and thus hath closed a beautiful and very useful life.

DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS

Won First Prize at the

California State Fair

The DE LAVAL machines were exhibited in competition with the half a dozen other makes and, as usual, the DE LAVAL carried off the honors, being awarded the first premium.

Wherever they have been exhibited the DE LAVAL Cream Separators have invariably been awarded highest honors at every important exposition or actual-use contest.

The DE LAVAL skims closer, runs easier, lasts longer and is easier to keep clean than any other separator made.

Sooner or later you will buy a DE LAVAL.

During a recent fire at Millersburg a tobacco warehouse and contents were burned. The Burley Tobacco Company brought suit against the L. & N. railroad for fifty thousand dollars damages alleging that the fire was caused by sparks from a locomotive. The case was tried last week at Paris. The jury brought a verdict for forty thousand dollars in favor of the Tobacco Co. The case attracted much attention from the fact that the burned tobacco had been pooled by about one hundred growers in the county.

The Courage of Captain Plum

CHAPTER XI.—Bound and gagged, the two men are taken in a boat to a wild section of the coast, where they are left bound to stakes to suffer the "straight death." Just as they had given up all hope and were almost unconscious from pain, Marion and Winnsome come to the rescue. Nat faints. When he recovers he finds Marion gone.

CHAPTER XI.

"The Straight Death."

Hands were fumbling with the chain at the dungeon door.

It opened and Jeekum's ashen face shone in the candle-light. For a moment his frightened eyes rested on the two men still standing in their last embrace of friendship. A word of betrayal from them and he knew that his own doom was sealed.

He came in, followed by four men. One of them was MacDougall, the king's whipper. In the corridor were other faces, like ghostly shadows in the darkness. Only MacDougall's face was uncovered. The others were hidden behind white masks. The men uttered no sound, but ranged themselves like specters in front of the door, their cocked rifles swung into the crooks of their arms. There was a triumphant leer on MacDougall's lips as he and the jailer approached. As the whipper bound Neil's hands behind his back he hissed in his ear:

"This will be a better job than the whipping, damn you!"

Neil laughed.

"Hear that, Nat!" he asked, loud enough for all in the cell to hear. "MacDougall says this will be a better job than the whipping. He remembers how I thrashed him once when he said something to Marion one day."

Neil was as cool as though acting his part in a play. His face was flushed, his eyes gleamed fearlessly defiant. And Nathaniel, looking upon the courage of this man, from under whose feet had been swept all hope of life, felt a twinge of shame at his own nervousness. MacDougall grew black with passion at the taunting reminder of his humiliation and tightened the thongs about Neil's wrists until they cut into the flesh.

"That's enough, you coward!" exclaimed Nathaniel, as he saw the blood start. "Here—take this!"

Like lightning he struck out and his fist fell with crushing force against the side of the man's head. MacDougall toppled back with a hollow groan, blood spurting from his mouth and nose. Nathaniel turned coolly to the four rifles leveled at his breast.

"A pretty puppet to do the king's commands!" he cried. "If there's a man among you let him finish the work!"

Jeekum had fallen upon his knees beside the whipper.

"Great God!" he shrieked. "You've killed him! You've stove in the side of his head!"

There was a sudden commotion in the corridor. A terrible voice boomed forth in a roar.

"Let me in!"

Strang stood in the door. He gave a single glance at the man gasping and bleeding in the mud. Then he looked at Nathaniel. The eyes of the two men met unflinching. There was no hatred now in the prophet's face.

"Captain Plum, I would give a tenth of my kingdom for a brother like you!" he said calmly. "Here—I will finish the work." He went boldly to the task, and as he tied Nathaniel's arms behind him he added "The vicissitudes of war, Captain Plum. You are a man—and can appreciate what they sometimes mean!"

A few minutes later, gagged and bound, the prisoners fell behind two of the armed guards and at a command from the king, given in a low tone to Jeekum, marched through the corridor and up the short flight of steps that led out of the jail. To Nathaniel's astonishment there was no light to guide them. Candles and lights had been extinguished. What words he heard were spoken in whispers. In the deep shadow of the prison wall a third guard joined the two ahead and like automatons they strode through the gloom with slow, measured step, their rifles held with soldierly precision. Nathaniel glanced over his shoulder and saw three other white masked faces a dozen feet away. The king remained behind.

He shuddered and looked at Neil. His companion's appearance was almost startling. He seemed half a head taller than himself, yet he knew that he was shorter by an inch or two; his shoulders were thrown back, his chin held high, he kept step with the guards ahead. He was marching to his death as coolly as though on parade.

Nathaniel's heart beat excitedly as they came to where the scrub of the forest met the plain. They were taking the path that led to Marion's! Again he looked at Neil. There was no change in the fearless attitude of Marion's brother, no lowering of his head, no faltering in his step. They passed the graves and entered the opening in the forest where lay Marion's home, and as once more the sweet odor of lilac came to him, awakening within his soul all those things that he had tried to stifle that he might meet death like a man, he felt himself weakening, until only the cloth about his mouth restrained the moaning cry that forced itself to his lips. If he had possessed a life to give he would have sacrificed it gladly then for a word with the Mormon king, a last prayer that death might be meted to him here, where eternity would come to him with his glazing eyes fixed to the end upon the home of his beloved, and where the sweetness of the flower that had become a part of Marion herself might soothe the pain of his final moment on earth.

His heart leaped with a hope as a sharp voice from the rear commanded a halt. It was Jeekum. He came up out of the darkness from behind the rear guard, his face still unmasked, and for a few moments was in whispered consultation with the guards ahead. Had Strang, in the virulence of that hatred which he concealed so well, conceived of this spot to give added torment to death? It was the poetry of vengeance! For the first time Neil turned toward his companion. Each read what the other had guessed. Neil, who was nearest to the whispering four, turned suddenly toward them and listened. When he looked at Nathaniel again it was with a slow negative shake of his head.

Jeekum returned quickly and placed himself between them, seizing each by an arm, and the forward guards, pivoting to the left, set off at their steady pace across the clearing. As they entered the denser gloom of the forest on the farther side Nathaniel felt the jailer's fingers tighten about his arm, then relax—and tighten again. A gentle pressure held him back and the guards in front gained half a dozen feet. In a low voice Jeekum called for those behind to fall a few paces to the rear.

Then came again the mysterious working of the man's fingers on Nathaniel's arm.

Was Jeekum signaling to him?

He could see Neil's white face still turned stolcally to the front. Evidently nothing had occurred to arouse his suspicions. If the maneuvering of Jeekum's fingers meant anything it was intended for him alone. Action had been the manna of his life. The possibility of new adventure, even in the face of death, thrilled him. He waited, breathless—and the strange pressure came again, so hard that it hurt his flesh.

There was no longer a doubt in his mind. The king's sheriff wanted to speak to him.

And he was afraid of the eyes and ears behind.

The fingers were cautioning him to be ready—when the opportunity came.

The path widened and through the thin treetops above their heads the starlight filtered down upon them. The leading guards were 20 feet away. How far behind were the others?

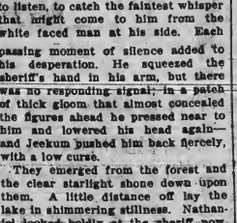
A moment more and they plunged into deep night again. The figures ahead were mere shadows. Again the fingers dug into Nathaniel's arm, and pressing close to the sheriff he bent down his head.

A low, quick whisper fell in his ear.

"Don't give up hope! Marion—Winnsome—"

The sheriff jerked himself erect without finishing. Hurried footsteps had come close to their heels. The rear guards were so near that they could have touched them with their guns. Had some spot of lesser gloom ahead betrayed the prisoner's bowed head and Jeekum's white face turned to it? There was a steady pressure on Nathaniel's arm now, a warning, frightened pressure, and the hand that made it trembled. Jeekum feared the worst—but his fear was not greater than the chill of disappointment that came to smother the excited beating of Nathaniel's heart. What had the jailer meant to say? What did he know about Marion and Winnsome, and why had he given birth to new hope in the same breath that he mentioned their names?

His words carried at least one conviction. Marion was alive despite her brother's somber prophecies. If she had killed herself the sheriff would not have coupled her name with Winnsome's in the way he had.



Nathaniel's nerves were breaking with suspense. He stifled his breath to listen, to catch the faintest whisper that might come to him from the white faced man at his side. Each passing moment of silence added to his desperation. He squeezed the sheriff's hand in his arm, but there was no responding signal; in a patch of thick gloom that almost concealed the figures ahead he pressed near to him and lowered his head again—and Jeekum pushed him back fiercely, with a low curse.

They emerged from the forest and the clear starlight shone down upon them. A little distance off lay the lake in shimmering stillness. Nathaniel looked boldly at the sheriff now, and as his glance passed beyond him he was amazed at the change that had come over Neil. The young man's head was bowed heavily upon his breast, his shoulders were hunched forward, and he walked with a listless, uneven step. Was it possible that his magnificent courage had at last given way?

A hundred steps farther they came to the beach and Nathaniel saw a boat at the water's edge with a single figure guarding it. Straight to this Jeekum led his prisoners. For the first time he spoke to them aloud.

"One in front, the other in back," he said.

For an instant Nathaniel found himself close beside Neil and he prodded him sharply with his knee. His companion did not lift his head. He made no sign, gave no last flashing comradeship with his eyes, but climbed into the bow of the boat and sat down with his chin still on his chest, like a man lost in stupor.

Nathaniel followed him, scarcely believing his eyes, and sat himself in the stern, leaning comfortably against the knees of the man who took the tiller. He felt a curious thrill pass through him when he discovered a moment later that this man was Jeekum. Two men seized the oars amidships. A fourth, with his rifle across his knees, sat facing Neil.

For the first time Nathaniel found himself wondering what this voyage meant. Were they to be rowed far down the shore to some secret fastness where no other ears would hear the sound of the avenging rifles, and where, a few inches under the forest mold, their bodies would never be discovered? Each stroke of the oars added to the remoteness of this possibility. The boat was heading straight out to sea. Perhaps they were to meet a less terrible death by drowning, an end which, though altogether unpleasant, held something comforting in it for Captain Plum. Two hours passed without pause in the steady labor of the men at the oars. In those hours not a word was spoken. The two men amidships held no communication. The guard in the bow moved a little now and then only to relieve his cramped limbs. Neil was absolutely motionless, as though he had ceased to breathe. Jeekum uttered not a whisper.

It was his whisper that Nathaniel waited for, the signaling clutch of his fingers, the sound of his breath close to his ears. Again and again he pressed himself against the sheriff's knees. He knew that he was understood, and yet there came no answer. At last he looked up, and Jeekum's face was far above him, staring straight and unseeing into the darkness ahead. His last spark of hope went out.

After a time a dark rim loomed slowly up out of the sea. It was land, half a mile or so away. Nathaniel sat up with fresh interest, and as they drew nearer Jeekum rose to his feet and gazed long and steadily in both directions along the coast. When he returned to his seat the boat's course was changed. A few minutes later the bow grated upon sand. Still voiceless as specters the guards leaped ashore and Neil roused himself to follow them, climbing over the gunwale like a sailorman. Nathaniel was close at his heels. With a growing sense of horror he saw two ghostly stakes thrusting themselves out of the beach a dozen paces away. He looked beyond them. As far as he could see there was sand—nothing but sand, as white as paper, scintillating in a billion flashing needle-points in the starlight. Instinctively he guessed what the stakes were for, and walked toward them with the blood turning cold in his veins. Neil was before him and stopped at the first stake, making no effort to lift his eyes as Nathaniel strode past him. At the second, a dozen feet beyond, Nathaniel's two guards halted, and placed him with his back to the post. Two minutes later, bound hand and foot to the stake, he shifted his head so that he could look at his companion.

Neil was similarly fastened, with his face turned partly toward him. There was no change in his attitude. His head hung weakly upon his chest, as if he had fainted.

What did it mean?

Suddenly every nerve in Nathaniel's body leaped into excited action.

"UNCLE JOSH" COMING.

Will Appear At Library Hall Burlington, Saturday Night April 15th.

The Boone Library Association has been putting quite a good deal of repairing on their hall recently, the large post in the center having been removed, and the entire hall neatly papered and painted; also, a new piano added, altogether, making it some thing our town is proud of.

The Association will give an entertainment on Saturday evening, April 15th, consisting of "Uncle Josh," a comedy in four acts, followed by a funny farce, and all interspersed with music, laughs of all kinds, etc.

Watch these columns next week for a more detailed account of the entertainment, and begin now to look forward to an evening of fun on that date.

FOR SALE—Rose Comb White Wyandotte, pure bred eggs, 50 cents per setting of 15 eggs. Apply to Mrs. Edgar Cropper, Burlington R. D. 1. tapr.

Mrs. Anna Kirkpatrick has had her residence repainted.

Rural trustees are to take the negro census in their respective districts. Edgar C. Riley.

March went out like a lion, leaving enough snow behind to be tracked. The snow had disappeared by noon Saturday.

Although last Thursday was a very raw day a large crowd attended the sale of L. J. Riley, and made about everything sold bring its full value.

A canning factory and broom factory have been established in Harrison county, and many farmers will substitute tomatoes and broom corn for tobacco.

We desire to express our appreciation and thanks to the kind friends who so nobly assisted us in our recent affliction.
A. J. Dolph and family.

Prompt relief in all cases of throat and lung trouble if you use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pleasant to take, soothing and healing in effect. Sold by all dealers.

From the best information obtainable an unusually large acreage of tobacco will be set in Carroll this year. That is, if plant beds count for anything.—Carrollton News.

Merchants report that they are selling less tobacco canvass than they usually do and by this we judge that there will not be an extra large crop of tobacco grown this year.—Berry Citizen.

The high wind, one day last week, yanked a five dollar bill from the hand of Charles Birkle, and it took a long hunt indulged in by several persons, to retrieve it. At one time it was thought the William was gone for keeps.

The fight Albert Conner made on the fire with his trousers, as told about last week, was at the risk of losing $20 which was in one of the trouser pockets, but of which Mr. Conner never thought until the scrap was over and he was comfortably reensconced in his trousers.

Every family and especially those who reside in the country should be provided at all times with a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment. There is no telling when it may be wanted in case of an accident or emergency. It is most excellent in all cases of rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by all dealers.

Carlisle—Pleasant Valley peole report that there will be almost a clean cut-out of the 1911 tobacco crop in that section of Nicholas county owing to the determination of the farmers to raise more profitable crops. While some sections of the county will raise considerable tobacco it is now doubtful if as much as half an acreage is put out. In the Hinkston end of the county the acreage will not exceed one-half it is said.

Louisville—A woman, according to Ed Dennison, brought him saws secreted in her necktie, and smuggled them to him while he was a prisoner at the workhouse, thus affording him an opportunity to attempt a wholesale delivery of prisoners there a week ago. Dennison was sent to the workhouse for robbery. His latest performance, that of abetting prisoners to escape, will tack two years servitude on the original sentence, which he had about worked out.

Judge William Reed, of Paducah who has been a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor for two weeks, withdrew last Friday. Judge Reed said his judicial duties were too onerous to give his time to an active campaign, and that since he had entered the race he had come to the conclusion that his announcement was ill-advised.

The long deadlock in the New York Legislature was broken last Friday night when the compromise candidate offered by Tammany, Judge James A. O'Gorman, of the New York State Supreme Court, was accepted by the Democrats and immediately elected United States Senator. He received 112 votes to 80 for ex-Senator Chauncey M. Depew.

It is not probable that anyother Democrat will allow himself purvuaded that he is a Moses and announce as a candidate for the nomination for Governor, the race for which is narrowed down to Adams and McCreary. Johnson, Head and Reed have each seen the hand writing on the wall and decided they would better stand from under, and many think they acted wisely.

Grant county has concluded it ought to have a fair annually at Williamstown, and those who are boosting the enterprise are confident it will be a go as money for the purpose is being subscribed liberally. A good fair is an advantage to any county and if Grant has a fair it will be a good one, as her people go after the best that is to be had in every instance.

The Kentucky petroleum fields are showing more activity than at any other time since the usual winter slump began last year. The revival of activity is not indicated so much in completed work as in new rigs planted in the various districts. Some fields are regaining their old time activity more rapidly than others, but over the entire district there are signs of increasing interest, which indicate that the ensuing spring and summer season will constitute the most active in years.

Averts Awful Tragedy.

Timely advice given Mrs. C. Willoughby, of Kenosha, Wis., R. No. 1, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies failed, her aunt urged her to take Dr. King's New Discovery. "I have been using it for some time," she wrote "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." This matchless medicine has no equal for throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all dealers.

BYLAND ARRESTED.

Raymond Byland Wanted For Embezzling Funds From Richwood Bank In The Toils of The Law.

After having worked faithfully for several months to have apprehended Raymond Byland, assistant cashier, charged with embezzling funds belonging to the Richwood Deposit Bank which resulted in that bank making an assignment to The Equitable Bank and Trust Co., at Walton, Sheriff B. B. Hume received a telegram, last Friday night about 9 o'clock announcing that Byland had been taken into custody at Sacramento City, California, where he was going under the name of Hughes.

Early Saturday morning County Attorney N. E. Riddell went to Frankfort and secured a requisition from Governor Willson for the return of Byland to this State, and Sunday morning Sheriff Hume and Albert Conner left for the Capital of California to bring the prisoner back to answer to the charge of embezzlement. They are expected to arrive here next Tuesday, which will be in time for Byland's trial at the April term of the Circuit Court, unless he or the prosecution present grounds for a continuance of the prosecution.

The assignee, the Equitable Bank and Trust Company, has handled the affairs of the defunct Richwood Deposit Bank in such a business like manner that the loss for which the stockholders of the Richwood Bank will be assessed will not be near so large as was anticipated at first. It is thought the amount they will have to make good will be considerably less than $10,000.

Local Happenings.

Circuit court will begin next Monday.

A high wind prevailed at one time Tuesday night.

Considerable coal has been hauled from Erlanger the past month.

Don't want too much of winter's lingering in the lap of spring.

T. J. Walton began taking the school census for this district yesterday.

Several loads of tobacco came in from out on the East Bend road last week.

Mrs. B. L. Cleek, of Union, has something to say in the millinery line in this issue.

Earl Smith piloted M. L. Riddell's supply wagon to the city and back, last Friday.

By describing the property the owner can recover a turkey that came to James Strouse's a few days since.

A letter received from J. W. Campbell & Son., of Latonia, says: "We are back in the grocery business and doing well."

Mike, a 26 year old horse, the property of J. F. Blyth, died a few days since. Mike was a native of this immediate neighborhood.

Quite a number of farmers in the county are about done breaking land for corn, and planting will begin early this year if the weather is favorable.

The members of Burlington Baptist church are earnestly urged to be present at the business meeting of the church to be held at 2 p. m., next Saturday.

The Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company made an assessment of one per cent with which to pay the loss on the residence recently burnt at Hathaway.

William Graves, of Hebron, did considerable paper hanging for Mrs. Spencer Walrath and Mrs. James E. Smith the past two weeks.

C. M. Baldon can sell you most any of the leading magazines of the country you may desire to read. Call on him when you desire anything in that line.

Malchus Souther, secretary, of the county insurance company, was not present at the meeting of the board of directors, last Monday, he having to report that day in Covington as a petit juror in the U. S. court.

The bridge on the Burlington and Florence pike spanning the creek at Limaburg was given a thorough repairing, last week. Travel was interrupted for only a few hours while the iron rails were being put in place.

R. W. Carrpenter, of Richwood, secretary, called at this office on Monday, and informed the Recorder that to date the Burley Tobacco Society had sold 883 hogsheds of Boone county tobacco, realizing therefor the sum of $108,071.59.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets assist nature in driving all impurities out of the system, insuring a free and regular condition and restoring the organs of the body to health and strength. Sold by all dealers.

Less tobacco and more corn and oats appears to be the 1911 slogan of the farmers of Boone county, and as a class the farmers would profit by it being the slogan throughout the tobacco producing territory.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Blyth's baby has been quite sick the past two weeks at the home of its grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Botts, of Petersburg. It had measles, after which other troubles set up.

A local fruit man said to the Recorder a few days since that the time has come when very little can be expected of fruit trees that are not thoroughly sprayed at the proper time. Insects that destroy fruit appear to be on the increase.

Diarrhoea should be cured without loss of time and by a medicine which like Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy not only cures promptly but produces no unpleasant after effects. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. Sold by all dealers.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Castleman have had as guests the past several days: Mrs. L. W. Castleman, and Dr. T. B. and Mrs. Castleman, of Latonia; Mrs. C. W. Lillard and Mrs. Hattie Selby, of Lawrenceburg, Anderson county; Mrs. Eliza Trumbo and Mrs. Mary F. Bacon, of Frankfort, and Miss Linda Brown, of Warsaw, Gallatin county.

Words can not express our appreciation and gratitude for the generous donations of good things and necessities which came to us Saturday afternoon and night from the people of Burlington and vicinity, and we wish to thank each and every one. We also wish to thank the ladies who so kindly made our carpet when we were getting ready to move.

W. C. Brown and family.

Occasionally a correspondent embodies in his or her communications an item or items that appeared in these columns the week before, and they are always blue pencilled. Two of the principal items in one communication were blue pencilled this week because they appeared in the local news columns of last week's Recorder.

It is very evident from the number of persons who advertise eggs to sell from pure strains of poultry that the people in this county are awake to the fact that, considering the amount of capital invested, the hen is a great revenue producer, and they are giving her a good chance to prove what she can accomplish in that line.

The citizens of Burlington and vicinity gave W. C. Brown and wife a pound party, last Saturday night, as a token of their appreciation of again having them as neighbors. A large number of persons were in attendance and the articles presented consisted of about everything that is needed in the culinary department of a home, and of many articles the supply was very generous.

The Third Quarterly meeting will be held with the Methodist church at Burlington, Thursday and Friday, April 13th and 14th. Preaching each evening at 7:30 p. m. by Rev. J. O. A. Vaught, P. E., of Frankfort District. Communion service Friday evening. Everybody cordially invited to be present. Don't forget the date. Also on Wednesday evening, April 12th, at Petersburg, Rev. Vaught will preach on the subject, "Woman's place in the Church." All invited.

A horse driven to Burlington last Friday afternoon by Mr. W. A. Gaines became frightened at the writer's auto as it was leaving town. Shortly after the machine had gone Mr. Gaines was getting ready to leave town for home, when the horse pulled away from a young man who was holding it and ran south on Jefferson street to the avenue that leads to R. B. Carver's residence where it left the street. The horse was captured near Mr Carver's residence, unhurt, while the vehicle was badly wrecked.

Misses Marietta Stephens and Mattie Kreylich had an exciting experience one evening recently. As they were going down the hill to the first covered bridge on the Petersburg pike, the clip on one of the buggy shafts broke, letting the shaft fall. They had a zig-zag ride for quite a distance, but succeeded in stopping the horse shortly after passing over the bridge. It was raining and the young ladies had to unhitch their horse and lead it about a quarter of a mile to J. J. Duncan's, where they secured another buggy.

Lewis Beemon and Miss Blanche Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Kelly, of Waterloo neighborhood, were married at the residence of the bride's parents, on the 30th ult. The wedding supper was enjoyed by a large number of the friends of the bride and groom, both of whom are very popular young people, and have the best wishes of a host of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Beemon have gone to housekeeping in the residence his brother-in-law John Hogan, recently purchased of J. J. Rucker near the home of Mr. Hogan in the Hebron neighborhood.

The Girls Triangle Club of the High School cleared a very snug sum, $18.40, last Monday by means of the lunch they served at the court house. They sold everything they had provided for the occasion. Each and every one of the girls worked faithfully under the supervision of Prof. and Mrs. Dix and Miss Lucy Russell to make their undertaking a success. They had the court house hall nicely decorated and everything as clean as a new pin, and to encourage the girls in their efforts quite a number of persons who ate their dinners elsewhere either took a lunch or donated the price thereof.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Castleman celebrated their silver wedding, last Friday. At noon they served an elegant dinner which was enjoyed by a large number of relatives from a distance, and from 7 to 10 that evening they entertained a houseful of friends who reside in Burlington and vicinity. The hospitality so freely dispensed will long be remembered by all who were present, everyone of whom hope Mr. and Mrs. Castleman will live to celebrate many, many more returns of their marriage. The presents, which were numerous and useful, constituted a beautiful collection of silverware, cut glass, &c., &c.

The conviction of "Tony" Bentler in Covington for conducting a gambling house on commission is another example of a poor devil being left to hold the bag. By his own testimony Bentler was guilty, and under the law he could get nothing less than a penitentiary sentence for from one to three years, a fine and be disfranchised, but while Bentler is deprived of nearly every right except to live, the party who knowingly profited by his wrong doing and could have closed him out any day and at any hour in the day is permitted to pay a fine that is insignificant in the extreme as compared to the penalty visited upon Bentler. It begins to look very much like laws in this country are made only for the regulation of those in the humbler walks of life after all.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Asa Cason continues very much indisposed. She had measles.

Mrs. Nannie Mauer has gone to Richmond to attend Normal school.

Timothy Westbay and wife, of Covington, were Monday guests of Burlington friends.

Geo. W. Griffith, of Hebron, was the guest of his son, Robt. Griffith, last Sunday and Monday.

Dr. R. H. Crisler, of Ludlow, was in Burlington, Monday, mingling with his Boone Co., friends.

M. T. Garnett's condition remains about the same as when he arrived at home about 10 days ago.

Mrs. N. W. Carpenter spent several days last week with her sister, Mrs. C. L. Gaines, of Erlanger.

C. C. Hughes came out from the city Saturday evening and spent that night and Sunday at home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Corbin, of Belleview, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gaines, of Erlanger.

S. D. Rice, of McVille, who has been sorely afflicted with rheumatism for some time is improving slowly.

Miss Nellie Berkshire, who has a position in the city, was the guest of her father, Edgar Berkshire and wife, Saturday night and Sunday.

F. Gross, of Constance neighborhood, was in Burlington, last Saturday. He seldoms comes over to the Capital.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Snyder were guests of their daughter, Mrs. C. L. Gaines, of Erlanger, several days the past week.

D. G. Rice, of Petersburg, representing the Star Piano Co., was in Burlington, Monday, in the interest of his company.

Messrs. Carr and Dempsey, two popular young men in the Hume neighborhood, were among the Recorder's Tuesday callers.

Geo. Kreylich and Jesse Kirkpatrick were in Cincinnati, Tuesday, buying lumber, &c., for the new residence Mr. Kreylich will erect.

Elmer Kirkpatrick and wife, of Petersburg neighborhood, spent last Thursday in Burlington, with relatives. They are delighted with their new home.

J. S. Surface, of Florence, was an early caller, last Monday, at this office, and planted a public sale advertisement which appears elsewhere in this issue.

F. A. Utz, of Florence, was in Burlington, last Friday attending a meeting of the directors of the Burlington and Florence Turnpike Co., of which body he is a member.

Esquires. J. S. Noell, of Beaver, B. S. O'Neal, of Verona, and William Stephens, of Petersburg, made this office pleasant calls while in Burlington as members of the fiscal court.

Congressman A. B. Rouse and wife left last Friday for Washington, D. C., where he entered up on his duties in the National House as representative of the Sixth Kentucky district.

Uncle Henry Parsons, of Belleview, was in last Monday and inspected the Recorder's typograph. He is a fine machinist and did not hesitate to pronounce the typograph about the slickest performer he ever came across in the machine line.

Mrs. M. H. Hite announces the engagement of her daughter Miss Lucille M. Hite to Mr. William W. Gaunt. The wedding will take place June 3.—Courier-Journal.

William W. Gaunt was born in Carrollton and is the son of Hon. John S. Gaunt, and is a rising young attorney of the Louisville bar.—Carrollton News.

C. C. Roberts and wife, of Walton neighborhood, came down last Saturday, to spend from Saturday until Monday afternoon with their children, but on account of the weather going to the bad Mr. Roberts concluded he could farm much more comfortably in Burlington, and they remained over until Wednesday afternoon.

The creamery meeting last Monday afternoon was well attended by those who are interested in the enterprise.

Articles of incorporation were adopted and G. W. Sandford, R. B. Huey, C. E. Rector, A. W. Gaines, J. E. Gaines, Karl Rouse and B. T. Kelly were chosen as incorporators.

The capital stock of the incorporation was placed at $3,000, nearly the entire amount of which has been subscribed.

Another meeting will be held next Monday afternoon when every stockholder is requested to be present, as at that meeting a board of directors will be chosen.

Although the weather last Monday was abominable there was quite a large crowd of people in town, and considerable business was transacted.

The show of stallions was limited to three or four, but had the weather been favorable the show would have been unusually large, and some very highly bred animals would have been on exhibition, for as good blood as courses the veins of any stallions in Kentucky can be found in many of the Boone Co. horses.

If next Monday is a good day no doubt some of the owners of stallions will have their stock in town.

Not much has been done by the farmers for a week, and this is the time of year when they can not submit to much unfavorable weather without becoming restless.

...S AND RESOLUTIONS

...Presented To State Wide Rural School Conference At Louisville March 29th.

To the People of Kentucky:

This conference of many of your fellow citizens has had under consideration the condition of the rural schools thruout the State and the ways and means for their improvement. We have met to confer with each other in the hope that we may find the quickest, most effective and most practicable methods of relief from the difficulties which lie immediately in the way of improvement.

Indifference due to a failure to appreciate the real value of education is one of the very serious obstacles which has confronted every movement towards a higher standard of educational work. In the last few years greater interest has been exhibited generally over the State, indicating in a decided manner, that our people were shaking off the lethargy of the past and were aspiring to place the State on a sound progressive educational basis. Every citizen must rejoice over this awakening and should now unite in a continuous, earnest effort to atone for the neglect of the past. It would be a useless task, in view of this growing appreciation of the importance and value of education to make any argument or submit any extended report in its behalf. Of all the efforts the State can make for its advancement, the mental and moral training of the children of the State, is the one of most supreme importance. Knowledge is power. It builds up while ignorance pulls down. It is a great constructive force which will become irresistible if wisely developed and properly directed.

Kentucky is an agricultural State. The great majority of her people are engaged in agricultural pursuits. These people are spread out over the country living separate and apart in their many homes. This condition of life presents problems dissimilar in many ways from those to be considered by the cities and towns. Chief among those problems is the education of the children. In providing school houses and in sending the children to these houses, and in sending the children to these houses, the cities and towns have a much simpler task than the counties. The former enjoy the advantages of a more efficient and comprehensive cooperation. They act as units. They move as one body. They impose taxes and distribute the revenue throughout their corporated limits in this way and through this cooperation school houses are more readily constructed and maintained. The children have shorter distances to go and generally have smooth roads and in the larger places street cars.

These questions now come up for solution—how should school houses be constructed to meet the requirements of established sanitary laws in order to protect and promote the health of the children, and how can the money be obtained for building these houses in the various counties of the State? This is not the time or place to go into detailed description of a sanitary school house. It is sufficient now to state that every school room should be large enough to give each pupil not less than 250 cubic feet of fresh air; should be properly lighted, ventilated and heated; should be supplied with all necessary toilet arrangements and should have ample playgrounds and pure water.

The people of our State do not yet sufficiently realize the imminent danger to the health and lives of their children from the vast majority of the schoolhouses throughout the country districts. They do not realize the fact that much of the expense that results from sickness among children, to say nothing of the mental anxiety and suffering, could be avoided by building sanitary schoolhouses. In truth, the school house is the place and the only place to meet and destroy tuberculosis and many other fatal diseases.

How can the country people obtain the money to build sanitary school houses? We answer, by greater concerted action, greatest co-operation, which can be secured only by the counties acting as a unit. While many school districts in the wealthier counties may raise the necessary amount by taxation, the vast majority of our school districts are unable to pay in one or two years the money required to build satisfactory school houses. If the counties would act as units, they could borrow the money by the issue of long time bonds at moderate rates of interest, and could in the next few years have sanitary school houses. The bonds could be carried and retired at their maturity by a small annual tax not to exceed 10 or 15 cents on the $100 of taxable property. The children as beneficiaries would pay a large part of the bonds when as men and women they would bring into use the training they received through this expenditure.

In many localities several districts would consolidate and provide vehicles for sending the children to and from school. Around these modern school houses, the people would build their future homes as the land holdings are subdivided and thus escape much of the loneliness and isolation which exert such a depressing and deterring influence on country life. Mankind delights in social intercourse and the children would get inspiration and encourage ...ment from the beautiful display ... when congregated in ... numbers around a clean, ... well kept school house ... recreation. Academic "instruction and more or less technical training in the various vocations of country life would bring increased happiness into their lives and be productive of thrift and success in their daily trials.

We can conceive of no effort so full of gratification, pleasant and profit as the building of these school houses. Concede that to do this involves increased labor, and possibly greater self denial, can any struggle be too severe or any sacrifice too irksome if our children can be protected in their tender years against exposure to disease which may cripple their energies during life if it does not consign many to untimely graves? Not only is health at stake, but education as well, for no teacher, however efficient and industrious can make satisfactory progress with children enfeebled by bad air, by disease germs and by the many ills caused by neglect of sanitary laws.

With the hope that we may awaken renewed interest in the great educational work of our State and especially that we may appeal to our country people to put into actual practice the views hereinbefore set out, we condense them into the following resolutions.

RESOLVED, That we most earnestly ask and petition the next General Assembly of our beloved Commonwealth to enact a law authorizing the counties to issue bonds for building school houses. The bonds to be placed in the hands of the County Boards of Education or a special commission as the General Assembly may designate, who shall sell same and apply proceeds to the buying of suitable sites, to the building of school houses and equipment and for no other purpose.

RESOLVED, That in our judgment all moneys raised under existing laws and available for school purposes are needed and will be needed for the maintenance and conduct of the schools and that these moneys should be kept intact for these purposes.

RESOLVED, That in the expenditure of the proceeds of the bonds the County Boards of Education should be authorized to consolidate districts when in their judgment the conditions are favorable, but shall provide school houses available for every section of the county that all the children of the county shall receive the benefit to be derived from the expenditure of a common county fund.

HOT WEATHER CARE OF EGGS

Fourteen Excellent Rules Given by United States Agricultural Bulletin for Poultry Raisers.

The following are among the requisities mentioned by a United States agricultural bulletin to the placing of eggs on the market in proper condition:

1. Keeping hens that produce not only a goodly number of eggs, but eggs of moderately large size (weighing two ounces each on an average) Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Rhode Island Reds, Orpingtons and Leghorns or Minorcas that are used on egg farms are varieties that may be expected to do this.

2. Good housing, regular feeding and watering, and, above all, clean, dry nests.

3. Daily gathering of eggs and when the temperature is above 80 degrees, gathering twice a day.

4. The confining of all broody hens as soon as discovered.

5. The rejection as doubtful of all eggs found in a nest that was not visited the previous day. Such eggs should be used at home where each may be broken separately.

6. The placing of all summer eggs, as soon as gathered, in the coolest place available.

7. The prevention at all times of moisture in any form coming in contact with the eggshells.

8. The disposal of young cockrels before they begin to annoy the hens. Also the selling or confining of old male birds from the time hatching is over until cool weather in fall

9. The using of cracked and dirty as well as small eggs at home. Such eggs, if consumed when fresh, are perfectly wholesome, but when marketed are discriminated against and are likely to become an entire loss.

10. The marketing of all eggs at least once a week, and oftener when convenience allows.

11. Keep eggs as cool and dry as possible while on the way to town and while in country stores.

12. Keeping eggs away from musty cellars or bad odors.

13. The use of strong, clean cases and good fillers.

14. The shipping of eggs to the final market at least once a week and as much oftener as possible.

THE SCHOOL CENSUS.

The law provides that the school census shall be taken in April. And as of the first of April. That is, if a child lived in a certain district on the first day of April, even though the child should move away the next day and not come back, his name should be taken. On the other hand, if the census taker finds a child that has moved into the district since the first of April, his name should not be taken unless the census takers know positively it was left off the list in his old district. While the census is taken in April the scholar year begins July 1st and when taking the list if the census taker finds a child under six years of age but who will be six by July 1st, his name should be taken and if a pupil is not twenty now but will be before July 1st, leave his name off the list.

The Business Principle

of successful lives is the habit of saving, depositing what can be spared in a good bank to meet the emergencies of the proverbial rainy day. A little at a time makes a snug sum in a short time. The Equitable Bank and Trust Co., Walton, Ky., will accept any sum on deposit and pays four per cent. interest on what remains a year, or three per cent for what remains six months. Remittances by mail given prompt response and careful attention. This Bank has assets of over One Hundred Thousand Dollars. We qualify as administrator, executor, trustee, guardian, etc., of estates, which is much more satisfactory than a private individual in such capacity. Mail communications given careful attention. Do you think a man, your man, should make up his idea of women from one woman? asks E. J. Ridgeway in the Delineator. He had mother and sisters and aunts and grandmothers and cousins, and possibly a sweetheart—one of those calf affairs—long before he met you, perhaps, and during the years when impression sink deep into the plastic mold. Possibly he was better able to appreciate you because of all the women he had known before. And if he knew a great many, the greater your distinction and if he now knows a great many and holds you first, the prouder your place, for there must be something to him; if many women care to know him; otherwise they would not bother. How many men and women are jealous, when they ought to be proud!

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy only 50c at all dealers.

BETTER SCHOOLS.

Discussed by Prof. James Speed and Hon. J. C. Cantrill.

Heartily Received By Large Audience At Georgetown.

Prof. James Speed, of Louisville, and Hon. J. Campbell Cantrill addressed the citizens of Georgetown and Scott county at the new opera house last Friday at 3:00 p. m., in the interest of public education.

These lectures were given under the auspices of the Georgetown Board of Education. The remarks of the speakers were heartily received by the large audience composed of business and professional men, women and children.

Representative Cantrill made a strong plea for better schools, better opportunities for the children of Kentucky, better paid and more efficient teachers, increased taxation by which the schools may be supported.

Prof. Speed gave an illustrated lecture, showing scenes taken on a 400-mile trip through Kentucky. The views in an effective way proved very conclusively to the audience that our rural schools are in a deplorable condition. Scene after scene was placed on the curtain of dilapidated one-room school houses, without any of the necessary school equipments. Some of the school houses were furnished with benches made by nailing a board across two soap boxes; stoves that were either burnt out or eaten up by rust. Some of the buildings were snugly hid away in large banks of grass, weeds and briars. In some of the schools one teacher had under her care from thirty to sixty pupils of all sizes and ages. These buildings did not suggest school houses but judging from their appearance and condition they looked as if they were inhabited by ghosts, owls and bats. A last years bird nest could not present a more desolate, lifeless, and neglected appearance than these miserable huts where the future citizenship of Kentucky is now in training.

In contrast to these so-called school houses Prof. Speed gave some views of tobacco barns and dairies that were well equipped, costing as much as $2,000. The proprietor of one of these dairies declared to Prof. Speed that he learned by experience that a clean, airy, well-equipped dairy would increase the yield of milk ten per cent. If such conditions are so desirable among dairy cows why is it not reasonable to suppose that clean, airy, well-equipped school houses would produce even better results in education.

Towards the close of the lecture views of the large, consolidated rural schools of Indiana, were placed on the curtain. These schools could accommodate from 200 to 500 children. The school houses were large, two-story, modern, brick buildings where training, not only in the regular school subjects was given, but equally as good training in domestic science and agriculture could be had.

We, Kentucky people, are very fond of live stock. Our admiration and skill in training fine horses has won us a national reputation. No man engaged in the business would expect to produce record-breaking horses if he did not begin to train early and under the best trainer possible.

Fine blood alone cannot produce great speed. The best bred horse in Kentucky can never win if he is not placed on the track until the day of the race. If long and careful training is so indispensable for the best results on the race track, why is it unreasonable to suppose that long and careful training for our children would not produce even greater results in building noble character and effective citizenship.

A man engaged in the horse business in Scott county was heard to say a few days ago that in order to get the best results possible a well bred horse should be placed under the best trainer and the trainer should not have more than three horses to care for. Our teachers, drawing a small salary than the horse trainer, have from thirty to sixty boys and girls of all sizes and ages under their care.

Such facts should cause us to ask ourselves are our children getting a square deal? Can we hope to get the best results under such circumstances? Why should we be willing to provide clean, light, airy, well equipped houses for our poultry, cows and horses, and fail to give due consideration to the school buildings where we are building and shaping human character and human destiny.—J. C. Waller in Georgetown News.

With the supply of old Kentucky whisky running low and an unusually large demand for Kentucky goods, distillers in the State are said to be predicting that the present year will equal if not eclipse all records for whisky production in Kentucky. With only a few more months to run the present year's production of whisky in Kentucky is said to have been little short of remarkable. The amount that has been produced all over the State since the beginning of the present fiscal year almost equals the best year on record, and with conditions favorable for distilling between now and June 30, when the present year ends, the outlook is considered by local authorities to be most encouraging.

Arbor Day is one of the legal holidays in Kentucky and is especially observed by the rural schools. It formerly came in April but the last legislature changed the date, and now it comes in October.

Primary Election Notice.

At a meeting of the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee, held at Burlington, Ky., March 23, 1911, it was ordered that a Primary Election be held in every voting precinct in Boone County on Saturday, July 1st, 1911, from 6 o'clock a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for State Senator, County Representative and County Clerk to be voted on at the regular election in November, 1911. All known Democrats entitled to vote at the regular election in November, 1911, shall be entitled to vote in this election.

A. B. Renaker was made a subcommittee of one to have ballots printed and to attend to all details in carrying out this call.

The entrance fee of each individual candidate in this primary Election is fixed at $40, to be paid to A. B. Renaker not later than June 16th, 1911 at which time the names of the candidates who have paid their proper entrance fee will be placed on the ballots.

A. B. RENAKER, Chairman.
T. F. CURLEY, Secretary.

"SLUSH FUNDS."

Floyd county, Ky., it would appear, has a large number of citizens who are wont to make their voting a commercial transaction after the custom which made Adams county, Ohio, more or less famous.

Commonwealth's Attorney May is to be congratulated upon having put the machinery of the law in operation to suppress the practice of vote selling in Floyd county. His announced intention of doing the same thing in Magoffin and Knott, the other counties composing his judicial district, is evidence that he is playing no favorites and is disposed to make the investigation thorough and comprehensive. That is the proper thing to do. If Knott and Magoffin are in need of the probe they ought to have it, good and strong.

The fact that a Floyd county grand jury in the course of a brief inquiry has been able to return 210 indictments against men accused of selling their votes would indicate that a rich field has been entered upon by the Commonwealth's Attorney. The traffic in franchises ought to be stopped if half the voters of the county have to be disfranchised. The investigation, it is stated, is to be continued at the next term of court which will be held in June. It is devoutly to be wished that this shall prove true and that the grand jury will let no guilty man escape. The man who sells his vote should have no vote to sell. The Kentucky law provides for disfranchisement in such cases, along with other penalties, and that is the best possible punishment for offenses of the kind.

It has been strongly intimated that similar conditions exist in other Eastern Kentucky counties; that it is quite the common practice to raise "slush funds" and that large numbers of voters absolutely refuse to vote until they have been "seen" by the custodians of the boodle. While the investigation is in progress it should be made broad enough to develop the identity of the vote sellers. It would be a gratifying variation of such inquiries if some of the men higher up, who furnished the money, could be landed in jail and disfranchised along with the "common herd" they have corrupted.

Good Money in Milk Cows.

One of our correspondents writes us that he has a herd of twenty-five cows that are paying him well, and says these cows for the year gave 212,506 pounds of milk, and averaged over 8,000 pounds to the cow for the year. He says that his best cow yielded 12,005 pounds and the lowest yield of any cow was 5,890 lbs. The results for the year on his herd brought him $2,506.00, an average of over $97.00 per cow. He says their feed during the year was corn silage, blue grass pasture and with the silage he fed alfalfa hay part of the time and clover hay the balance of the year, also corn meal, a little cottonseed meal, and wheat bran, all in due and usual proportion. The silage was fed during the winter, and when the pastures were too dry for grass, thus keeping up the milk flow. He says that he built up the herd by selection, breeding and keeping records on each cow, till his herd now averages very well, but expects to still improve it this year.—Indiana Farmer.

News From Grant County.

The promoters of the Grant County Fair are very much encouraged with the first week's solicitation of subscriptions. While only a few people have been seen stock amounting to $2,200 has been subscribed and there is no reason to believe that the full ten thousand dollars required for the promotion of the fair will not be forthcoming when all of the people who should subscribe have been seen.—Grant Co. News.

About two hundred acres in and around Crittenden will be planted in tomatoes this year. The tomatoes have been contracted for by a Cincinnati concern which will manufacture them into catsup. It is understood that the concern is not particular about the stage of ripeness at which the tomatoes must be delivered, and that is not considered important in catsup making. The contract calls for a price of 20 cents per bushel for the tomatoes. From 150 to 600 bushels may be produced on an acre and there is probably good profit in them at that price.—Grant Co. News.

The cut-out movement has succeeded in one way this year. The trust has cut out every semblance of the farmer's profits and again it has him working for nothing.—Cynthiana Log Cabin.

The indications now are that all over the Burley district a fairly large crop of tobacco will be planted. Growers assert that the present low prices are due entirely to the very low grade of tobacco that is being offered on the market.—Maysville Bulletin.

—!!!—

As predicted in the Daily Independent some time since, many Missouri tobacco growers are seeking a market here for the 1910 product. Yesterday two carloads of Missouri tobacco arrived at the Tuck-Iho warehouse, and three more carloads are in transit for the same destination. —Maysville Independent.

—!!!—

Farmers should be very careful this year and not plant more tobacco than they can properly take care of. Farm hands are becoming very scarce and to raise a crop without the proper attention is much worse than not raising any at all. The time has come for the farmers in this county to figure on this. Tenants have moved away by tthe hundreds since 1906 and 1907, and it is impossible to grow what you used to grow. Then the removal of so many has caused the price of labor to advance.—Carisle Advocate.

Our farmers are not injecting much enthusiasm into the work of burning tobacco beds, but are preparing to put out the usual acreage in spite of the ruinously low prices and chaotic condition of the market. They appear to depend upon some indefinite some thing to turn up but they had as well, as the old saying goes, "sit down in the middle of a pasture and wait for a cow to back up to be milked." If anything in the way of fair prices for tobacco is turned up the growers will have to get together and turn it up. There's no other way left. —Dover News.

Last week the willows along the levee east of Elm street were trimmed close to the roots. When the willows were planted twenty years ago government engineers and others familiar with levee construction and maintenance were of the opinion that the roots would prove beneficial in holding the earth and clay in place and preventing them from washing. Experience has shown that these views were not altogether correct, for the reason that when the trees became large their swaying had a tendency to loosen the earth about the roots. It was also found that when the roots decayed they left holes in the embankment. For these reasons trees and shrubbery are no longer permitted on government levees.—Lawrenceburg Press.

HIGH VINE
—No. 2733—

Foaled in spring of 1904: by Highland Gaines, 1667; grand sire, Highland Denmark, 730; dam, Beesie Sable, 2882, by Shropshire Kentucky Squirrel, 1865. Second dam, Ida May by Fayette Denmark. Third dam, Maxey by Granger. Fourth dam Mare by Expert, 77.

Breed to a Proven Sire.

HIGH VINE is a five gaited saddle stallion, seven years old, 16 hands, and weighs 1200 lbs., a rich golden chestnut in color, and a perfect model in confirmation.

HIGH VINE is a uniform breeder and reproduces his own kind. The show record of his two sets of colts is unequaled by the colts of any sire in this section of country. His colts were shown at various fairs last year and were never defeated in their class and in addition awakened public admiration everywhere. In several instances the owners of High Vine colts have been offered $200 for the colts at weanling time, and this handsome price was refused by the said owners as all of them believed the colts to promise much better as they developed. There must be something in the breeding when $200 offers for weanling colts are rejected by owners who are governed by business principles in the sale of the products of their farm. Take a look at High Vine's colts and you will see the style and attractive qualities that make the price in a sale.

HIGH VINE will make the season at the stable of W. Lee Gaines on the Lexington turnpike, midway between Walton and Richwood, Ky. $20.00 to insure a live foal, season money due if mare is parted with.

No responsibility for accidents.

Make engagements ahead as his services are limited, and it saves annoying delays.

For the accommodation of those at a distance Mr. Gaines will pasture a few mares at $2.50 per month, with the best facilities for their care and keeping.

PREMIUM.—Free season for 1912 will be given the owner of the best High Vine colt exhibited at Florence fair at the High Vine colt show.

The General Purpose Stallion,

ROBERT WILLIS, 57255.

ROBERT WILLIS is a chestnut horse with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high and weighs 1250 pounds, foaled in 1905. Individually he is a horse of grand finish with plenty of substance, a fine disposition, with the best of feet and legs. His blood lines are of the best as his pedigree will show. Ordinary mares bred to this horse will not fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as general-purpose horses and roadsters, as his foals have size, style, conformation and action, good heads, best of disposition, plenty of life and every indication of developing into useful and selling horses.

ROBERT WILLIS is a fast natural trotter with a perfect way of going, and with limited handling last year, after making a season, showed that he has race horse speed, and with a proper preparation, will easily take a mark of [illegible]

He will make the season of 1911 at Clover Leaf Stock Farm at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with or moved from the county after being bred, in which case the money becomes due and collectable at once.

Parties breeding must follow up the season.

Care taken to prevent accidents but not be responsible should any occur.

The Fine Saddle and Harness or General Purpose Stallion,

Harry Willis,

Is a handsome blood bay stallion with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high, weighs 1150 pounds, and was foaled in 1907.

His conformation, individuality, breeding and reproductive qualities are combined in one horse go to make that desire of all conservative breeders, an ideal stallion.

He is the personification of perfection, has a fine head and neck, strong, deep shoulders, short back, very fine quarters, clean, flat legs, good bone, fine main and tail, good disposition and fine action.

He will make the season of 1911 at the farm of C. T. Northcutt, one and a half miles north of Waterloo and one and a half miles east of Belleview, at ten dollars to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur. Money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with.

Mares left on good grass at owner's risk, at 10 cents per day.

Harry H. K. Glass, Jr.

Will stand at the same time and place at $8 to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Harry H. K. Glass, Jr., is a dark brown, mealy nose, very heavy bone, good head and ears, 14½ hands high, foaled in [illegible] A fine breeder.

The High Class Saddle and Harness Stallion,

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS,

2844 A. S. B. A.

Will make the season of 1911 at the W. L. Norman Stock Farm at Walton, Ky., and if you want a show horse breed to him.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is a dark bay, 16 hands, weighs 1200 lbs., with three white feet, snip and star, and lots of style and action. He was sired by

by Harrison Chief 1606, by Clark Chief (89); dam Kit Hardy (2830) by Indian Chief (1718); 1st dam Miss Berry 4034, by Rhoderick 104; by Membrino Le Grande (99); 2d dam, by Wells Yellow Jacket 112; 3d dam by Gray Eagle.

Miss Berry is also the dam of Woodland Chief, one of the finest show horses in Kentucky. Woodland Chief is a full brother to Bell's Fitzsimmons and a full brother to Rhoderick, and one of the finest gelding ever showed, and sold to a party in Texas for $1,000.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is also the sire of one champion walk-trot gelding, Mat Coyne, showed at the Horse Shows in the fall of 1906 and sold for $3,000, and also the champion harness mare showed by C. D. Harris.

L. T. Anderson, of Maysville, one of the largest dealers in the state, says some of the highest class horses he has handled have been by Bell's Fitzsimmons.

The greatest show, harness and saddle horses of the state have sprung from the loins of Harrison Chief and Indian Chief. Where can you find a horse of better breeding than Bell's Fitzsimmons? He has been a winning show horse ever since a suckling colt, and has proven himself a successful sire. Some of the highest priced saddle, harness and walk-trot horses that have left the State have been sired by him.

Personal care over all stock. Mares left on good grass at 10c a day at owner's risk.

$10.00 to insure a mare in foal or parted with.

JOHN RENSLER,
C. R. BEST.

Imp. German Coach Horse,

Plutarch, 3183,

Will make the season of 1911 on Monday of each week in Burlington, Ky., and the remainder of the time at my stable one mile west of Idlewild, Ky., at $10 to insure a colt to stand up and suck.

The fine jack, Joe, will make the season at my stable at $8 to insure a colt to stand up and suck.

I will give a return season for the best colt, the 1910 get of Plutarch, regardless of sex, to be shown at the Boone County Harvest Home this fall.

Chas. Aylor and wife had for guests last Sunday, Robert Snyder and family and B. A. Rouse and family.

The farmers are beginning to wish for fair weather so they can get to business, the weather having been very unfavorable for farm work up to this time.

CIRCUIT COURT IN SESSION.

The April term of the Boone Circuit Court convened Monday morning with Judge J. W. Cammack presiding. The grand jury was organized before noon and given the usual charge by the court. The grand jury is composed of the following gentlemen:

GRAND JURY.

J. D. Mayhugh, Foreman.

Ben Kelly,	W. H. Eggleston
A. C. Porter	Ben Crisler,
Harry Roberts,	James Bullock,
Joseph Scott,	Phelps Walton,
Joe Green,	G. W. Anderson,
Clint Blankenbeker,

The petit juries were organized Tuesday as follows:

No. 1.—John Dolwick, John W. Clore, A. J. Anderson, Sherman Riggs, E. K. Tanner, Robert Littrell, Edgar Graves, J. O. Griffith, W. A. Gaines, E. C. Rice, Luther Kates, J. I. McWethy,

No. 2.—W. P. Beemon, James H. Mitchell, R. J. Madden, B. C. Allen, Wm. M. Walton, E. O. Rouse, Nat Rogers, Geo. Osman, Johnson Rogers, John C. White, Don Williamson, E. L. Helm.

Commonwealth Attorney E. E. Winn came in on the bus Tuesday, but left for home that afternoon.

About the usual amount of business is on the docket for this term.

Judge B. F. Menefee, of Crittenden; Hon. R. P. Ernst, of Covington, and Hon. J. C. Clore, of Cincinnati, attended court here yesterday.

Raymond Byland will be defended by Attorney Thornton Snyder.

The grand jury has not appeared to be very busy this week, the grist they report today is expected to be small as to number and for minor offenses.

The suit of W. D. Vest against James W. Cleek, claiming commission on sale of land, was a dog fall. Neither recovered anything by reason of his claim against the other.

Several of the petit jurors were discharged yesterday afternoon.

The sheriff reports a nice time and not the least bit of trouble with the prisoner. He certainly lost no time in going and returning.

The grand jury will adjourn today.

Back With Byland.

Sheriff B. B. Hume and Albert Conner arrived home yesterday about 3:30 p. m., from Sacramento, California, with Raymond Byland, assistant cashier of the late Richwood Deposit Bank. Quite a large crowd was on the street watching for them their arrival in Cincinnati having been annouced several hours before. Byland stands indicted in the Boone circuit court charged with embezzlement, his bond being fixed at $5,000.

Byland lost no time after alighting from the carriage in getting in to a room in the court house to avoid the crowd among which were many of his old acquaintances and associates.

Immediately upon their arrival the accused made it known that he wanted a trial at once and the trial was set for this morning.

While Judge Cammack was holding court at Beattyville, a freshet came in the mountain streams, and one morning when he got up saw logs were floating about under the room he occupied.

The building of a pike from Union to Hathaway appears to be a sure thing, and the people will never regret having built it, after they have used it during one bad road season.

Geo. Garrison, of Grange Hall neighborhood, was transacting business in Burlington, Tuesday. He is one of the excellent young men of his neighborhood.

NATURE'S MEDICINES.

Some Health-Giving Vegetables You Raise In Your Garden.

There is little doubt but that the medical uses and benefits to be derived from the common vegetables of our gardens is a matter far too generally overlooked, and too little appreciated by farmers, gardeners and consumers of this desirable form of food. We believe some competent medicus, or herbalist, who reads the Home and Farm, could not perform a better service for its many readers than to give them a somewhat full and detailed account of the peculiar and special benefits of a medicinal nature, to be derived from the daily or frequent consumption of vegetables. in the meantime, the followed is offered, as having been gained by our own observation and experience.

The common, tuberous-rooted artichoke is a starchy food, very similar to the Irish potato. It is a mild laxative, and may be eaten boiled and mashed in butter or baked like the potato. It makes an excellent pickle, cooling and appetizing.

Asparagus is a leading and very acceptable early spring vegetable, much used in soups. It is cooling, easily digested, mild and diuretic, makes a capital dish both healthful and nutritious.

The bean is a general and favorite summer diet, boiled while green, either alone or with potatoes or cabbage. It is delicate wholesome, nutritious and moderately laxative.

The beet is cooling, and from its large amount of sugar, very nutritious, though it is said to be bad for persons troubled with kidney disease. The young and tender tops make a good boiled salad in place of spring greens.

The cabbage is cooling, laxative, diuretic and purifying to the blood. Though containing a large per cent. of water, it is water in a medicinal and concentrated form, that imparts strength for labor. Containing the phosphates and sulphur, it is rich in bloodforming, bone and muscle material. A cold slaw of raw cabbage, served as a salad, is often relished by delicate people, who cannot eat the boiled cabbage with impunity.

The carrot is a very wholesome food, strictly medicinal, a fine tonic and a valuable addition to stews and soups. It is diuretic, and grated raw, is said to make a good poultice for boils.

Celery seems to be almost a specific for gouty and rheumatic people. Raw, it makes a grateful salad. Cooked, it is pronounced delicious, and adds a great improvement to soups and gravies. It is largely employed in the preparation of medicines. It gives tone to the system.

Cress is pungent, stimulating and tonic. It will grow all winter and is especially useful as an early sprind salad.

Cucumbers have attained greater popularity than their merits seem to entitle them too. They are cooling, appetizing and slight ly laxative, but too watery to be nutritious. It is a leading market vegetable and very easy to grow and handle.

The hop is tonic and sedative. A pillow of hops is helpful in insomnia and pains of the head. A large hop poultice, put on hot to induce perspiration, is al most a sure cure in sciatica. This we have tried and proved.

Lettuce is slightly narcotic and calming to the mind. A tea of lettuce leaves has been used in diarrhoea. It is a popular food.

Mustard is pungent, tonic, stimulative, and, in large quantities, an emetic. It forms a common spice for the table, assisting digestion and promoting appetite. The crushed seed make a well known counter-irritant, to be applied to the skin as a cataplasm. The whole seeds are used in man goes and pickles. Every family should grow a supply of mustard for home use.

The onion is one of the best and most serviceable products of the garden. As a food it is eminently nutritious, yets its med ical propertics give it an even greater value. It is sedative, tonic, mildly laxative, antiseptic, anti-malarial and a blood purifier. A piece of raw onion, held in the mouth, renders one immune to measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, and even to smallpox. Eat en, cooked, they are helpful in cheat ailments and colds. The disagreeable odor may be destroyed by eating a little raw parsley after eating them.

Parsley is cooling and purifying, and a very agreeable garnish in seasoning soups, stews and meats. It may be had fresh from the garden all the year round.

The parsnip is a mild, pleasant laxative, diuretic and because of its goodly per cent. of sugar, is nutritious and fattening. It may remain in the open ground all winter, its flavor being improved by exposure to cold.

The potato is perhaps the most universally grown and popular of garden vegetables. As a food it is deficient in muscle forming elements, but is a good supporter of respiration. It is laxative, and, when immature, not wholesome. It is a starch plant and takes the place largely of bread. It is good throughout the year and seldom clays with any appetite.

The sweet potato, as a concentrated form of vegetable blood, is unsurpassed. Men can live on the sweet potato alone for a long while. Its medicinal properties seem to lie in its strength-giving, invigorating nature. Roasting is the best way of cooking for real nutrition.

The garden rhubarb, or pie-plant, is another of the valuable medicinal vegetables. The large succulent leaf stem is the part employed for pies, tarts, etc. It is a pleasant acid, tonic, laxative, diuretic. It comes earlier than the strawberry and is fine for cleansing the system and working off foul matter from the liver and digestive apparatus. Preparations of the root are much employed by the medical profession.

Spinach is laxative and cooling and is said to be particularly good for rheumatism, gout and kidney disease, indigestion and nervous disorders.

The tomato is health-giving and purifying. The many ways in which it is used render it very popular. Canned, for winter use, it becomes a great helper in the winter diet. It is tonic and stimulating.

The turnip, for early salad, or for the root, is wholesome, laxative and tonic. It may be had from the open garden all winter. —B. W. J. in Homs and Farm.

Fruit Prospects.

Lexington, April 2.—"This weather is simply perfect, when considered from the standpoint of its influence on the fruit and wheat crops," said H. T. Hillenmeyer, the veteran nurseryman, who is considered the weather authority of the Blue Grass region.

"I have today examined a large number of the fruit trees, and find that with the exception of a few precocious buds which had opened, the fruit buds are entirely uninjured, and with the progress of the season and the sun's rays becoming more direct there is less chance of a killing freeze or frost.

"The recent cold weather has held back the development of fruit buds, so that when they do bloom out there is little prospect of their being killed by any but an unusually unseasonable spell of weather. Last year the fruit was killed by a heavy frost on April 24, and whether this will be repeated is one of the things we cannot forecast. However, the killing frost of last year was preceded by one of the most unseasonably warm Marches on record, and this had expanded and developed the fruit blossoms, which made them peculiarly susceptible to destruction by the frost when it came. The weather conditions for March have this year been entirely reversed from that of last year, and I look for a great fruit crop of all kinds this summer."

A New "Jag" Producer.

It has remained for a Texas farmer to discover an entirely new "jag" producer. According to the statement of a man making the discovery, the person who takes aboard a package of this new stimulant wants to be joyful, climb trees, and play pranks. When one partakes there is no danger of getting hold of the bottle with fights in it. For some time a well-known farmer, recognized as one of the leading "Crys" of the state, had noticed that a number of the hands on his place appeared unusually hilarious. He was quite sure that none of the popular beverages of the day were being consumed by them, and began an investigation. He went out where his men were engaged in removing green feed from a silo. After working about this for a time and breathing the fumes from it, he discovered that he wanted to dance, play tag with his men, and go through all those unusual capers character istic of those who took on board too much of the principal product of Kentucky. Realizing that the entire force of men were quite as intoxicated as himself he stopped the work for a time and all were soon in their normal condition. A second attempt to take the contents from the silo brought on another jagged condition of the entire crowd, thus convincing the farmer that as a modern and cheap boozatorium a silo is the latest thing out.

The South's Prombims.

The South has no problems that are not the nation's problems. The South no longer sets itself apart from the rest of the nation. Our destiny will be controlled by all the 90,000,000 people of the United States. There is no race question in the South. It has been adjusted. The white man will control, because he is about 5,000 years ahead of the negro in the accomplishments of civilization. The negro himself will develop along his own lines.

Our traditions are the same as those of New England—same in substance, different only in form. The smoke from millions of factory stacks has not deadened the veneration of the New Englander for his Puritan ancestors. The transition of the South from a purely agricultural region into an agricultural and manufacturing region will not stifle the love of the Southerners for the heroic qualities displayed by their fath ers in the struggle of 50 years ago. To-day the Southerner and the New Englander rejoice alike that Grant and Lee and that Long fellow and Sidney Lanier were great Americans.

DE LAVAL
CREAM SEPARATORS
Won First Prize at the
California State Fair

The DE LAVAL machines were exhibited in competition with the half a dozen other makes and, as usual, the DE LAVAL carried off the honors, being awarded the first premium.

Wherever they have been exhibited the DE LAVAL Cream Separators have invariably been awarded highest honors at every important exposition or actual-use contest.

The DE LAVAL skims closer, runs easier, lasts longer and is easier to keep clean than any other separator made.

Sooner or later you will buy a DE LAVAL.

The Courage of Captain Plum

By
JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Illustrations by Eugene G. Kettner

(Copyright 1908 by Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

The guards were entering their boat! The last man was shoving it off—they were rowing away! His throbbing muscles seemed ready to burst their bonds. The boat became indistinct in the starry gloom—a mere shadow—and faded in the distance. The sound of oars became fainter and fainter. Then, after a little, there was wafted back to him from far out in the lake a man's voice—the wild snatch of a song. The Mormons were gone! They were not to be shot! They were not—

A voice spoke to him, startling him so that he would have cried out if it had not been for the cloth that gagged him. It was Neil, speaking coolly, laughingly.

"How are you, Nat?"

Nathaniel's staring eyes revealed his astonishment. He could see Neil laughing at him as though it was an unusually humorous joke in which they were playing a part.

"Lord, but this is a funny mess!" he chuckled. "Here am I, able and willing to talk—and there you are, as dumb as a mummy, and looking for all the world as if you'd seen a ghost! What's the matter? Aren't you glad we're not going to be shot?"

Nathaniel nodded.

The other's voice became suddenly sober.

"This is worse than the other, Nat. It's what we call the 'Straight Death.' Unless something turns up between now and tomorrow morning, or a little later, we'll be as dead as though they had filled us with bullets. Our only hope rests in the fact that I can use my lungs. That's why I didn't let them know when my gag became loose. I had the devil's own time keeping it from falling with my chin; pretty near broke my neck doing it. A little later, when we're sure Jeknna and his men are out of hearing, I'll begin calling for help. Perhaps some fisherman or hunter—"

He stopped, and a chill ran up Nathaniel's back as he listened to a weird howl that came from far behind them. It was a blood-curdling sound and his face turned a more ghastly pallor as he gazed inquiringly at Neil. His companion saw the terrible question in his face.

"Wolves," he said. "They're away back in the forest. They won't come down to us." For a moment he was silent, his eyes turned to the sea. Then he added: "Do you notice anything queer about the way you're bound to that stake, Nat?"

There was a thrilling emphasis in Nathaniel's answer. He nodded his head affirmatively, again and again.

"Your hands are tied to the post very loosely, with a slack of say six inches," continued Neil with an appalling precision. "There is a rawhide thong about your neck, wet, and so tight that it chafes your skin when you move your head. But the very uncomfortable thing just at this moment is the way your feet are fastened. Isn't that so? Your legs are drawn back, so that you are half resting on your toes, and I'm pretty sure your knees are aching right now. Eh? Well, it won't be very long before your legs will give way under you and the slack about your wrists will keep you from helping yourself. Do you know what will happen then?"

He paused and Nathaniel stared at him, partly understanding, yet giving no sign.

"You will hang upon the thong about your neck until you choke to death," finished Neil. "That's the 'Straight Death.' If the end doesn't come by morning the sun will finish the job. It will dry out the wet rawhide until it grips your throat like a hand. Poetically we call it the hand of Strang. Pleasant, isn't it?"

The grim definiteness with which he described the manner of their end added to those sensations which had already become acutely discomforting to Nathaniel. Had he possessed the use of his voice when the Mormons were leaving he would have called upon them to return and lengthen the thongs about his ankles by an inch or two. Now, with almost brutal frankness, Neil had explained to him the meaning of his strange posture. His knees began to ache. An occasional sharp pain shot up from them to his hips, and the thong about his neck, which at first he had used as a support for his chin, began to irritate him. At times he found himself resting upon it so heavily that it shortened his breath, and he was compelled to straighten himself, putting his whole weight on his twisted feet. It seemed an hour before Neil broke the terrible silence again. Perhaps it was ten minutes.

"I'm going to begin," he said. "Listen. If you hear an answer nod your head."

He drew a deep breath, turned his face as far as he could toward the shore, and shouted.

"Help—help—help!"

Again and again the thrilling words burst from his throat, and as their echoes floated back to them from the forest, like a thousand mocking voices, Nathaniel grew hot with the sweat of horror. If he could only have added his own voice to those cries, shrieked out the words with Neil—joined even unavailingly in this last fight for life, it would not have been so bad. But he was helpless. He watched the desperation grow in his companion's face as there came no response save the taunting echoes; even in the light of the stars he saw that face darken with its effort, the eyes fill with a mad light, and the throat strain against its choking thong. Gradually Neil's voice became weaker. When he stopped to rest and listen his panting breath came to Nathaniel like the hissing of steam. Soon the echoes failed to come back from the forest, and Nathaniel fought like a crazed man to free himself, jerking at the thongs that held him until his wrists were bleeding and the rawhide about his neck choked him.

"No use!" he heard Neil say. "Better take it easy for a while, Nat!"

Marion's brother had turned toward him, his head thrown back against the stake, his face lifted to the sky. Nathaniel raised his own head, and found that he could breathe easier. For a long time his companion did not break the silence. Mentally he began counting off the seconds. It was past midnight—probably one o'clock. Dawn came at half past two, the sun rose an hour later. Three hours to live! Nathaniel lowered his head, and the rawhide tightened perceptibly at the movement. Neil was watching him. His face shone as white as the starlit sand. His mouth was partly open.

"I'm devilish sorry—for you—Nat—" he said.

His words came with painful slowness. There was a grating huskiness in his voice.

"This damned rawhide—is pinching—my Adam's apple—"

He smiled. His white teeth gleamed, his eyes laughed, and with a heart bursting with grief Nathaniel looked away from him. He had seen courage, but never like this, and deep down in his soul he prayed—prayed that death might come to him first, so that he might not have to look upon the agonies of this other, whose end would be ghastly in its fearless resignation. His own suffering had become excruciating. Sharp pains darted like red-hot needles through his limbs, his back tortured him, and his head ached as though a knife had cloven the base of his skull. Still—he could breathe. By pressing his head against the post it was not difficult for him to fill his lungs with air. But the strength of his limbs was leaving him. He no longer felt any sensation in his cramped feet. His knees were numb. He measured the paralysis of death creeping up his legs inch by inch, driving the sharp pains before it, until suddenly his weight tottered under him and he hung heavily upon the thong about his throat. For a full half minute he ceased to breathe, and a feeling of ineffable relief swept over him, for during those few seconds his body was at rest. He found that by a backward contortion he could bring himself erect again, and that for a few minutes after each respite it was not so difficult for him to stand.

After a third effort he turned again toward Neil. A groan of horror rose to his imprisoned lips. His companion's face was full upon him, ghastly white; his eyes were wide and staring, like balls of shimmering glass in the starlight, and his throat was straining at the fatal rawhide! Nathaniel heard no sound, saw no stir of life in the inanimate figure.

A moaning, wordless cry broke through the cloth that gagged him.

At the sound of that cry, faint, terrifying, with all the horror that might fill a human soul in its articulate note, a shudder of life passed into Neil's body. Weakly he flung himself back, stood poised for an instant against the stake, then fell again upon the deadly throng. Twice—three times he made the effort, and failed. And to Nathaniel, staring wild-eyed and silent now, the spectacle was one that seemed to blast the very soul within him and send his blood in rushing torrents of fire to his sickened brain. Neil was dying! A fourth time he struggled back. A fifth—and he held his ground. Even in that passing instant something like a flash of his buoyant smile flickered in his face and there came to Nathaniel's ears like a throttled whisper—his name.

"Nat—"

And no more.

The head fell forward again. And Nathaniel, turning his face away, saw something come up out of the shimmering sea, like a shadow before his blistering eyes, and as his own limbs went out from under him and he felt the strangling death at his throat there came from that shadow a cry that seemed to snap his very heart-strings—a piercing cry and (even in his half consciousness he recognized it) a woman's cry! He flung himself back, and for a moment he saw Neil struggling, the last spark of life in him stirred by that same cry; and then across the white sand two figures flew madly toward them, and even as the hot film in his eyes grew thicker he knew that one of them was Marion and that the other was Winnsome Croche.

His heart seemed to stop beating. He strove to pull himself together, but his head fell forward. Faintly, as on a battlefield, voices came to him, and when with a superhuman effort he straightened himself for an instant he saw that Neil was no longer at the stake but was stretched on the sand, and of the two figures beside him one suddenly sprang to her feet and ran to him. And then Marion's terror-filled face was close to his own, and Marion's lips were moaning his name, and Marion's hands were slashing at the thongs that bound him. When with a great sigh of joy he crumpled down upon the earth he knew that he was slipping off into oblivion with Marion's arms about his neck, and with her lips pressing to his the sweet elixir of her love.

Darkness enshrouded him but a few moments, when a dash of cool water brought him back into light. He felt himself lowered upon the sand and after a breath or two he twisted himself on his elbow and saw that Neil's white face was held on Winnsome's breast and that Marion was running up from the shore with more water. For a space she knelt beside her brother, and then she hurried to him. Joy shone in her face. She fell upon her knees and drew his head in the hollow of her arm, crooning mad senseless words to him, and bathing his face with water, her eyes shining down upon him gloriously. Nathaniel reached up and touched her face, and she bowed her head until her hair smothered him in sweet gloom, and kissed him. He drew her lips to his own, and then she lowered him gently and stood up in the starlight, looking first at Neil and next down at him; and then she turned quickly back to the sea.

From down near the shore she called back some word, and with a shrill cry Winnsome followed her. Nathaniel struggled to his elbow, to his knees—staggered to his feet. He saw the boat drifting out into the night, and Winnsome standing alone at the water-edge, her sobbing cries of entreaty, of terror, following it unanswered. He tottered down toward her, gaining new strength at each step, but when he reached her the boat was no longer to be seen and Winnsome's face was whiter than the sands under her feet.

"She is gone—gone—" she moaned, stretching out her arms to him. "She is going—back to Strang!"

And then, from far out in the white glory of the night, there came back to him the voice of the girl he loved:

"Goodby—Goodby—"

WORKING LIFE OF THE HORSE.

The Problem of Feeding the Work Team for Efficiency.

The average cost of maintaining a farm work horse a year is approximately $75, the figure including feed, labor in grooming and harnessing depreciation, interest on investment and shoeing. About two-thirds of this expense is made up of feed.

The horse is one of the most difficult of domestic animals to feed. The energy manufactured from his feed is converted into muscular effort, and because of the relatively small size of his stomach and digestive apparatus it often happens that the output of energy and the ultimate result is lack of power and stamina and disease in the locomotive organs.

The working life of the average city dray horse does not exceed five or six years, and the farm horse ten years. Injudicious feeding and watering and poor care are responsible in many instances for the short working life of the horse.

Marshall For President.

Yielding to the importunities of his friends Governor Marshall has finally consented to allow the use of his name as a candidate for president before the convention of 1912. He, however, gave Representative Korbly it strictly in charge that under no circumstances would he accept the nomination for the vice presidency. Mr. Marshall said in part to Mr. Korbly:

"I told what I have said a hundred times—that if the Democratic party in this state wishes to present my name to the national convention in connection with the nomination for the presidency that was the privilege of the party, and that I was not seeking the nomination. I have held all along that it is my business to be Governor of Indiana and not to go about the country seeking a nomination for any other office.

"But I told him that if the members of the Democratic party in this state wished to present my name, I would appreciate the honor deeply, but that it must be understood that I am not making a campaign for the nomination, and that I would not seek to influence the members of the party in this state to present my name.

"I believe that that office, as all offices, should seek the man, and not the man seek the office. I am going to continue as I have been doing, being Governor of Indiana, and feeling grateful toward the members of the Democratic party in Indiana if they think me worthy of having my name presented to the convention.—Lawrenceburg Register.

Reader, when you go to Covington to do some trading just pick up the Recorder, glance at the advertisements and see who wants the trade. The merchants who advertise certainly have inducements to offer you or they wouldn't ask you to call and see them before buying.

Those interested in the horse and mule business should read the stock advertisements in the Recorder.

TURNED A SOMERSAULT.

Thrilling Adventure of Two Men in An Automobile Joy Ride.

Last Sunday morning, two men in a Hupmobile bearing a Ludlow Ky., license tag No. 3, passed through Burlington, enroute to Belleview from which place they returned about one p. m. At the toll gate near Burlington, the machine balked, but was finally started, the man driving it handling it in such a reckless manner that those who saw him predicted an accident, and George Blyth hastened to the top of the hill at his residence to see if the machine was safely piloted into Burlington, but before he reached the view point sought the driver had lost control of the machine which left the road near the iron bridge at the foot of the hill, and collided with a telephone pole, turning a somersault, catching one of the men beneath it. Assistance soon arrived and at first it was thought the man beneath the machine was killed, but it developed that he was only hurt slightly, his injuries being confined to a few ugly scratches about the face. The machine was badly wrecked, a spring or two being broken, an axle sprung and the wind shield demolished, being the apparent injuries. The crippled machine and the jagged occupants were brought on to town by the crowd that soon gathered on the scene. After having secured something to eat at the Boone House, the machine was started but near the first toll gate out on the Florence pike it balked again, and the last heard of the machine Elmer Fowler was towing it to Florence behind his buggy. There is no telling what the result might have been had the machine not balked near the toll gate on the Belleview pike as that prevented the meeting of several buggies ascending the Geo. Blyth hill on their way home from church in Burlington. The men were in no condition to handle an automobile, and how they made the trip to and from Belleview without an accident long before it occurred is a miracle almost.

Augusta, April 6.—This city was stirred by a double tragedy today at noon when Everett Poe, a well-known horse trader, shot and killed his wife and then turned the pistol on himself. The woman died in twenty minutes and Poe lingered an hour. The killing took place at the home of James Wise, where Poe's wife was attending Mrs. Wise, who was ill. Poe followed his wife in the house and opened fire on her and after she fell shot himself. Poe and his wife had been separated about three months. He was forty-five years of age and five years his junior.

The members of Burlington Masonic Lodge are requested to be present at the meeting 2 p. m., next Saturday. Important business.

Mrs. Ada Conner, who has been absent several weeks visiting her daughters at Ludlow and in Fayette county arrived home yesterday.

Please get your communications to this office not later than Monday night, so they can be handled.

Rev B. M. Nelson will deliver a lecture on Secret Orders Saturday night April 15th, at Mt. Zion.

Mrs. Geo. Ossman, of Beaver, has something to say to the ladies this week in regard to her stock of millinery.

Chas. Westbay and J. L. Clements were hauling corn from Indiana, Tuesday.

Quite a number of young men served on the juries this week.

Recorder A Welcome Visitor.

In renewing his subscription T. H. Cloud, of Pleasant Hill, Missouri writes: "The Recorder is a welcome visitor to my office, and through its columns I have kept in touch with the good people of old Boone for a good many years. I learn from it this week of the sickness of my friend Mr. Bruce Henry, and I hope to read of his recovery, in your next issue. I think of attending the Confederate Reunion at Little Rock on the 16th, 17th and 18th of next month, and hope to meet some of the Boone county boys there. I was at the reunion in Louisville, in 1905, and made several trips to the Kentucky headquarters, but found no Boone Co. men. I will add that the Recorder is an ornament to Boone county. With kind regards.

Getting Ready for the Fair.

The directors of the North Kentucky Agricultural Society held a meeting on the grounds at Florence last Saturday, those present being.

B. F. McGlasson, president.
F. A. Utz, vice-president.
J. B. Cloud, treasurer.
N. E. Riddell, secretary.
M. L. Sweinam, Jas. L. Riley, W. P. Carpenter and E. H. Blankenbeker, directors.

The most perplexing problem that came before the meeting was fixing a date upon which to hold the next fair, because of the Newport fair having taken the dates upon which the Boone fair has been held ever since it has been in business. This problem was thoroughly considered and discussed from every standpoint and it was found impossible to hold a fair this year without conflicting with some of the neighbor fairs unless a date very much too early or entirely too late was chosen, and it was decided to hold the fair as heretofore, beginning in the last week in August, and conflict with the Newport fair, which had chosen as its date that on which the Boone fair had been held for fifteen years.

The number of days which the fair will be held was fixed at three.

The price of admission was placed at 30 cents, horses and vehicles to be admitted free.

Blank contracts were placed in the hands of the committee on special premiums, and work along that line will be begun at once.

The work on the next fair has now being inaugerated and ir will be equal to any of the great shows of the past.

The board of directors of the North Kentucky Agricultural Society has always been a harmonious body. All questions coming before it are freely and thoroughly discussed, but after being passed upon by the board the minority joins the majority and there is no discord or knocking on the part of those whose views are not concurred in, and that is why the fair has continued to exist under circumstances not the best in the world.

At the close of the meeting of the directors of the Consolidated Telephone Co., held in Burlington, last Monday, Dr. M. J. Crouch, of Union, was president and manager of the company, N. E. Riddell having resigned. The doctor takes possession of the property at a time when it is in the best condition and the service at the highest point of efficiency in the history of the company, all of which is the result of the good work done by W. T. Black during his period of management.

This office has been overrun with work for several days, on account of the work for the horsemen striking it in a bulk. Several jobs were necessarily turned away, but it could not be helped as it was impossible to do the work in the time allowed for it. Monday morning found copy for several large ads on hand and others had to be changed, which also interfered with job work very materially.

The Recorder is anxious each week to issue a spicy and interesting local paper. If each subscriber in Boone county would hand us in one news item, on a postal card, or over the telephone or otherwise, what a newsy paper we could issue. If you have a visitor or any of your family are on a visit let us have it and we will be glad to print it. Try this.

A man by the name of Eldrid, who lived with Mrs. Mary Howlett attempted suicide Monday about 5 a. m., by shooting himself in the bowels with a 32 caliber pistol. He has a wife and several children. He was taken to a Covington hospital. It is thought the wound will prove fatal. No cause has been assigned for the shooting.

Monday was a good day, and an unusually large crowd was in town for the first day of circuit court. The horse show which was knocked out by the bad weather on county court day, took place Monday and there were a dozen or so stallions on exhibition, and were greatly admired by the large crowd present.

...thing that has caused so ... men to leave the farm ... to the towns is that ... latter offer better advant... for obtaining an education. ...e time has come in the his... of the State that the coun... school should be made good enough, not only for the country boy or girl, but for the town boy or girl or anyone else.—Mad... Ironville Hustler.

Larger school houses, better paid teachers and a compulsory law forcing all children to attend are some of the crying needs in Kentucky. It is interesting to realize that the educators are at last awakening to a true realization of conditions. It is to be regretted however, that they do not give more careful thought to the proposition before causing the Legislature to appropriate such enormous sums for the alleged "higher educational movement." The fact that the predictions of the educators failed to materialize before will make it more difficult to secure the passage of the laws that are now to be asked for.—Danville Advocate.

There are public schools in Kentucky where the teacher goes in morning, makes a fire and and reads a novel for a few hours and when no children come locks the door and goes home and then at the end of the month draws pay for teaching the number of children reported according to the census in the school district. There are hundreds of schools where the average attendance does not exceed ten and the teacher is being paid for fifty or sixty. It is in districts like these where nearly all of the illiterate children are to be found. Here is the real rural school problem, to get the children into school to stamp out illiteracy. We conclude this article as we began it, with the statement that it is better to educate all the children some than some of the children well, and that this is the highest purpose, and we would almost say the only purpose, for which the State established the free school.—Elizabethtown News.

Asphalt in Carter County.

A representative of the United States Geological Survey has been in Carter county investigating a field of natural asphalt rock recently discovered near the village of Soldier. He estimates that it covers an area of more than 500 acres and contains upward 5,000,000 tons of asphalt. In addition he has found that it overlies a bed of fire clay which will permit of both materials being mined at the same time when development is under way.

The fire clay industry has been important in Carter county for many years. Carter is one of the few counties in the State producing cannel coal. It also has bituminous cannel coal. It also has bituminous coal, iron ore and limestone in immense quantities. The discovery of asphalt makes possible the development of an additional industry and it is said that capitalists already have become interested. As the asphalt lies along the Chesapeake & Ohio railway the prospects for early operations is decidedly favorable.

Our own State Geological Survey is constantly finding new mineral treasures and is planning to issue a bulletin describing the mineral resources along the various railroad lines throughout the State. This would be an important publication and would be of inestimable value to the State. The rapid rate, however, at which discoveries are being made would require frequent revisions to keep the bulletin up to date.

A 600-acre asphalt district should augment materially the industrial and commercial activity in Carter Co., It is a distinct cause for congratulation on the part of Carter county. It is a distinct ty already liberally supplied with industries and with abundant materials for the creation of others.—Courier-Journal.

Averts Awful Tragedy.

Timely advice given Mrs. C. Willoughby, of Marengo, Wis., R. No. 1, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies failed, her aunt urged her to take Dr. King's New Discovery. "I have been using it for some time," she wrote "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." This matchless medicine has no equal for throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all dealers.

Pushing The Work.

The promoters of the Owenton and Dry Ridge railway and the representatives of the southern road, have laid off a site for a union depot at Dry Ridge. Men and teams have been put to work on the Owenton and Dry Ridge road and five miles of right away has been cleared off the culverts been put in making ready for the graders. The rainy season will soon be over and then the work can be carried on rapidly.—Owen County Democrat.

Brownstown, the county seat of Jackson county, Ind., has not had a colored man living in it, or within ten miles of it, for thirty years. Recently four colored men came here from Louisville, Ky., to work on the court house and they did not stay, because they could not find more places to eat where the [illegible]

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS.

Tom Smith was gotten with the goods on. After being searched at the station the policemen noticed he was well dressed. They asked him where he got such fine clothing. This question he refused to answer, only saying, "I will tell all I know when the trial takes place.

After looking up his record they decided to have him tried at once, and he was found guilty, and bailed over for $5,000. Just before getting his bail the Judge asked him where he buys such fine clothing.

"Don't you know?"

Judge.—"Why, of course I don't."

Tom Smith.—"you go to the United Clothing Store—you can buy suits from $3 up to $25; pay less and dress better—then you can dress as well as I do."

It Ought To Be Stopped.

"Who killed Cock Robin?" That is the query all over town now, for it is known that some of our best citizens have, within the last few weeks, been dining off robin pie. The practice of killing these beloved birds should not be tolerated in any community. They are the friendliest and most trusting of any of our wild songsters, and about the only bird except the pests of English sparrows, who will build their nests confidingly in the yards of the town and rear their young side by side with the children of human beings. All others of the feathered tribe seek the country and out of the way places for their nesting. The robin is the first harbinger of spring, which we greet with gladness; he is the beloved of legend and story; besides this, his usefulness in ridding the gardens and orchards and lawns of many noxious insects cannot be estimated. As far back as history goes there is a sentiment in every literature showing how the robin stands to his human brotherhood, and they in turn should protect his life and see that his species are not exterminated.—Harrodsburg Herald.

HEMP PROSPECTS.

A writer in the Lexington Leader says: Hemp breaking is about completed. The general offering to contract for this year's crop at six dollars by our local dealers will induce many farmers to plant for this crop again. The statement which is continuously made that farmers quit raising hemp by their inability to get the labor to cut and break it is not justified by the facts altogether. There has been no scarcity of laborers during the cutting and breaking of this crop. Its abandonment by our farmers is more correctly attributable to two facts, the high price of tobacco and the low price of hemp for ten years. The same quality of soil is required to grow good crops of each. The colored farm laborer is partial to working in hemp in preference to any other crop for the very good reason that he can earn a better wage, $1.50 to $2.50 per day. The other statement is on a par that the present generation of negro men will not work in hemp. I don't find that sustained by the facts either for the old generation of negro laborers are about all dead and the few remaining are too infirm to do but little or no labor, consequently the younger generation are certainly doing the work.

Met A Horrible Death.

Harmon Nazel, aged 11 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nazel, of near Peach Grove, met his death in a horrible manner, on Thursday about noon. He had gone into the barn to play, and about an hour later his body was found suspended from the loft of the barn with a rope around his neck. The rope had been placed there as a means of hanging a beef and had never been removed. Little Harmon was accustomed to swing on the rope in the "one hoss swing" fashion; that is to place a loop of the rope under his arms and swing with his body suspended, and when tired, to raise his arms and slide out off the loop. On Thursday, it is supposed, that when he meant to bring a terminous to his sport, he was not able to remove his head as fast as his arms and he was caught in the fatal embrace of the rope. When found the neck of the unfortunate child was broken.—Pendletonian.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps!

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy only 50c at all dealers.

of successful lives is the habit of saving, depositing what can be spared in a good bank to meet the emergencies of the proverbial rainy day. A little at a time makes a snug sum in a short time. The Equitable Bank and Trust Co., Walton, Ky., will accept any sum on deposit and pays four per cent. interest on what remains a year, or three per cent for what remains six months. Remittances by mail given prompt response and careful attention. This Bank has assets of over One Hundred Thousand Dollars. We qualify as administrator, executor, trustee, guardian, etc., of estates, which is much more satisfactory than a private individual in such capacity. Mail communications given careful attention. Every Farmer Knows

That even the best regulated and well made machinery will sometimes get out of order and cause trouble. That's why we contract for and handle the best lines only, the kinds that have been tried and tested and proven to be the best. Have you never noticed this?

Soon you will have to deal with the feeding problem. If you have several head of Cows, Horses, Hogs or Sheep, and must keep a big supply of feed on hand, a SILO is the thing to have.

By the use of a SILO we can show you how to save about 100 per cent. on your feed bills in six months' time, the only outlay being $150 for a SILO. Write us for particulars. The greatest convenience—the most economical device every invented for the farm.

In other lines of machinery we handle Dick's Feed Cutters, Grain Drills, Gas Engines, and Roofing materials of all kinds.

Proper Use of Fertilizer.

The tendency of fertilized corn to "fire" during a dry season is due largely to the way in which the fertilizer is applied. It is true that an application of more than 150 pounds to the acre will frequently cause firing. This is because all the fertilizer is applied in the row or hill. Corn will easily stand 250 pounds or more to the acre if only about 50 pounds are used in the hill and the rest drilled in between the rows with an ordinary wheat drill to a depth of say 2 1-2 inches. The roots in the latter case will spread across the rows getting sufficient moisture.

Pull up a stalk where all the fertilizer has been applied directly with the seed and you will find that the roots are bunched and have not grown out across the rows. They are simply staying where they are fed and, while you will note that they do start to grow they will circle back toward the plant food which the fertilizer contains. The roots growing so closely together cannot get medium enough and so the stalk suffers.

Let The People Be Heard.

Henry Prewitt, chairman of the State Democratic Committee, conferred with the Kentucky delegation in Washington last night concerning the adoption of a platform for the party in convention. The delegation favored a convention after the primary to nominate State officers.—C.-J.

Mr. Prewitt went to Washington eh, to ascertain what the Democratic host in Kentucky desired in the way of a platform. Why did not Mr. Prewitt have the Kentucky congressional delegation adopt the platform while he was among them and promulgate it when he returned to Kentucky? What is the use of going to the trouble and expense of calling a State convention, when in the opinion of Mr. Prewitt the congressional delegation are the all-wise as to what the party needs?

Primary Election Notice.

At a meeting of the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee, held at Burlington, Ky., March 22, 1911, it was ordered that a Primary Election be held in every voting precinct in Boone County on Saturday, July 1st, 1911, from 6 o'clock a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for State Senator, County Representative and County Clerk to be voted on at the regular election in November, 1911. All known Democrats entitled to vote at the regular election in November, 1911, shall be entitled to vote in this election.

A. B. Renaker was made a subcommittee of one to have ballots printed and to attend to all details in carrying out this call.

The entrance fee of each individual candidate in this primary Election is fixed at $40, to be paid to A. B. Renaker not later than June 16th, 1911 at which time the names of the candidates who have paid their proper entrance fee will be placed on the ballots.

The Lamb Crop in Kentucky.

This state, justly celebrated for its "spring lamb" trade, is raising its usual quotas of these lively little animals, and as fine in quality as usual. Generally by the first of March the whole crop is contracted for and at good prices. This year, owing to the reputed presence of scabies among Kentucky sheep, the buyers are afraid the lambs will be placed under an embargo and not be allowed to be shipped thru other states to the markets, unless detained and dipped at one or more points, which will cause heavy expense and shrinkage. The lambs are here, as fine as ever, the North and East want them, and some way of sending them to the big markets should be arranged. The little fellows are growing fine, grass is early and the crop promises to be better than ever.

THE FINE YOUNG STALLION

will make the season of 1911 at my farm two miles west of Walton, Boone County, Ky., at $10.00 to insure a living colt. Persons parting with mares forfeit the insurance money. A lien retained on colt until season money is paid. Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur.

PRINCE OLSEN was foaled in 1907, and is one model of his class. He weighs 1520 pounds and is nearly 17 hands in height. He is a beautiful black, and is a picture of symmetry and fine points of the draft horse. His breeding qualities are excellent.

PRINCE OLSEN was sired by Blackmon, a registered Percheron stallion owned by Ole G. Olsen, of Shabbona Grove, Illinois, where he was foaled in 1907, and from whom he was purchased by me this spring, selecting this horse over many others because of his excellent qualities. Prince Olsen is eligible to registry, and is one of the highest bred draft horses ever in this section of country. The dam of Prince Olsen was a high bred registered Percheron mare. I feel that farmers and breeders will make no mistake in breeding to Prince Olsen as it means a good, strong colt that will meet every requirement on the farm. One of the [illegible] of our horses is the size and strength. With the well bred Percheron like Prince Olsen these essentials are fully incorporated.

Come and see the horse and inspect his good points and you will breed to him.

is another fine Jack, three years old and a half brother to Ben. His fee will be $10.00 and he will be permitted to serve only a few mares.

Jacks are high in class, of excellent breeders. Take a look at them before breeding as it may pay you.

Thomas N. Bean, one of the oldest citizens of Boone county, died at his home in Walton Monday morning in the 90th year of his age, from old age. Mr. Bean was born in Monroe County, Virginia, January 9th, 1823, and was married to [illegible] of the same county May 7th, 1845. His aged companion of sixty-six years of wedded felicity survives him. She was also born in Monroe County, Virginia, Nov. 26th, 1821. The marriage was blessed with eight children of which three survive their venerable father, the children being Al Bean and Mrs. L. J. Stephenson of Walton, and Ollie Bean, of Norwood, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Bean came to Boone County, Ky., in 1871, and their forty years of residence here has surrounded them with many friends. They have 19 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren. Mrs. Bean is quite vigorous for one of her age and is able to get about the house without difficulty. Mr. and Mrs. Bean were about the most aged couple in northern Kentucky, and no doubt the oldest in Boone county. The funeral of Mr. Bean took place Tuesday afternoon from the Goshen Christian church, the remains being laid to rest in the Goshen cemetery.

The Combined Harness and Saddle Stallion,

GRAND CHIEF,

Will stand at Waterloo, Boone county, Kentucky, at Ten Dollars to insure a colt to stand up and suck. If a mare is parted with after being bred the money is due.

Grand Chief is a beautiful bay sixteen and one-half hands high, weighs 1,200 pounds, has splendid style and is a grand individual.

Grand Chief was sired by Senatio 7972, by Red Wilkes, sire of Ralph Wilks 2:06½, Ethurial 2:09, Blanche Louise 2:10 and the dam of Walnut Hall 2:08, Kingmond 2:09. Senatio's first dam by Dictator 113, sire of Jay Eye See 2:06, and the dams of Nancy Hanks 2:04, Gordon Prince 2:05, Gazette 2:07, Lockheart 2:08. Senatio's second dam by Mambrino Patchen 58, sire of the dams of Ralph Wilks 2:06, Jupe 2:07, Crawford 2:07, Bouncer 2:09, Bright Light 2:08.

Grand Chief's first dam by Blood Chief 3149, sire of the dams of Will Kerr 2:07, J H L 2:08. Grand Chief's second dam by Morgan Messenger 3169, sire of the dams of Greenfield Boy 2:13, and the grandsire of the dam of Sir Albert 2:09. Grand Chief's third dam by White's Blue Bull, sire of the granddam of My Star 2:08½.

Grand Chief's colts have been as successful in the show ring as the colts of anyother horse in the county.

W. G. KITE, Burlington R. D. 2.

Don De Gozee

the Belgin Daft Horse foaled in 1908

Will make the season at E. J. Aylor's stable, 1 1-2 miles from Hebron, on North Bend Road, at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt comes or mare parted with, or leaves the county.

Great care will be taken to prevent accidents but we will not be responsible should any occur.

DON DE GOZEE, despite his great size and weight, is well balanced throughout, perfectly proportioned and symmetrically built. He is as light action as stallions of much smaller type, and disposition much better than usually found in horses of blood strain.

DON DE GOZEE is a beautiful dark worrel, 16 1-2 hands, weight 1,600 pounds, broad, flat heavy bone, fine style and action. This great breed of draft horses is especially known for better action than any other draft horses, for heavy, good bone and good hoof, and gentle, kind workers. Don De Gozee, whose Belgian Stud Book No. is 21670. Dam—Della Wir brown mare, the great dr show mare of Campbell cou Ky.

HIGH VINE
No. 2733

Foaled in spring of 1904: by Highland Gaines, 1667; grand sire, Highland Denmark, 730; dam, Bessie Sable, 2882, by Shropshire Kentucky Squirrel, 1365. Second dam, Ida May by Fayette Denmark. Third dam, Maxey by Granger. Fourth dam Mare by Exper[illegible]

Breed to a Proven Sire.

HIGH VINE is a five gaited saddle stallion, seven years old, 16 hands, and weighs 1200 lbs., a rich golden chestnut in color, and a perfect model in confirmation.

HIGH VINE is a uniform breeder and reproduces his own kind. The show record of his two sets of colts is unequaled by the colts of any sire in this section of country. His colts were shown at various fairs last year and were never defeated in their class and in addition awakened public admiration everywhere. In several instances the owners of High Vine colts have been offered $200 for the colts at weaning time, and this handsome price was refused by the said owners as all of them believed the colts to promise much better as they developed. There must be something in the breeding when $200 offers for weaning colts are rejected by owners who are governed by business principles in the sale of the products of their farm. Take a look at High Vine's colts and you will see the style and attractive qualities that make the price in a sale.

HIGH VINE will make the season at the stable of W. Lee Gaines on the Lexington turnpike, midway between Walton and Richwood, Ky. $20.00 to Insure a liv[illegible] season money due if mare is [illegible]

No responsibility f[illegible]nts.

The General Purpose Stallion,

ROBERT WILLIS, 57255.

ROBERT WILLIS is a chestnut horse with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high and weighs 12[illegible] pounds, foaled in 1905. Individually he is a horse of gran[illegible] finish with plenty of substance, fine disposition, with the best of feet and legs. His blood li[illegible] are of the best as his pedigree will show. Ordinary mares bred to this horse will not fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as general-purpose horses and roadsters, as his foals have size, style, conformation and action, good heads, best of disposition, plenty of life and every indication of developing into useful and selling horses.

ROBERT WILLIS is a fast natural trotter with a perfect way of going, and with limited handling last year, after making a season, showed that he has [illegible] horse speed, and with a proper preparation, will easily take a mark of 2:20 or better.

He will make the season of 1911 at Clover Leaf Stock Farm at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with, or moved from the county with colt being bred, in which case the money becomes due and collectable at once.

Parties breeding must follow up the season.

Care taken to prevent accidents but not be responsible should any occur.

For further particulars address GARRISONN BROS.,
UNION, KY.

Phones—Consolidated, 42; Farmers system.

The Fine Saddle and Harness or General Purpose Stallion,

Harry Willis,

Is a handsome blood bay stallion with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high, weighs 1150 pounds, and was foaled in 1907.

His conformation, individuality, breeding and reproductive qualities all combined in one horse go to make that desire of all conservative breeders, an ideal stallion.

He is the personification of perfection, has a fine head and neck, strong, deep shoulders, short back, very fine quarters, clean, flat legs, good bone, fine mane and tail, good disposition and fine action.

He will make the season of 1911 at the farm of C. T. Northcutt, one and a half miles north of Waterloo and one and a half miles east of Belleview, at ten dollars to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur. Money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with.

Mares left on good grass at owner's risk, at 10 cents per day.

Jarry H. K. Glass, Jr.

Will stand at the same time and place at $8 to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Jerry H. K. Glass, jr., is a dark brown, mealy nose, very heavy bone, good head and ears, 14½ hands high, foaled in [illegible] 1907. A fine bre[illegible]

[illegible]'S FITZSIMMONS,

2844 A. S. B. A

[illegible]ake the season of 1911 at the Norman Stock Farm at Walton, [illegible] and if you want a show horse [illegible] to him.

[illegible]LL'S FITZSIMMONS is a dark bay, [illegible]lands, weighs 1200 lbs., with three white feet, snip and star, and lots of style and action. He was sired by

by Harrison Chief 1608, by Clark Chief (89); dam Kit Hardy (2880) by Indian Chief (1718); 1st dam Miss Berry 4034, by Rhoderick 104; by, Mambrino Le Grande (99); 3d dam, by Well's Yellow Jacket 112; 3d dam by Gray Eagle.

Miss Berry is also the dam of Woodland Chief, one of the finest show horses in Kentucky. Woodland Chief is a full brother to Bell's Fitzsimmons and a full brother to Rhoderick, and one of the finest geldings ever shown and sold to a party in Texas for $1,0.0.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is also the sire of the champion walk-trot gelding, Mat Coyne, showed at the Horse Shows in the fall of 1908 and sold for $3,600, and also the champion harness mare showed by C. C. Harris.

L. T. Anderson, of Maysville, one of the largest dealers in the state, says some of the highest class horses he has handled have been by Bell's Fitzsimmons.

The greatest show, harness and saddle horses of our state have sprung from the loins of Harrison Chief and Indian Chief. Where can you find a horse of better breeding than Bell's Fitzsimmons? He has been a winning show horse ever since a suckling colt, and has proven himself a successful sire. Some of the highest priced saddle, harness and walk-trot horses that have left the State have been sired by him.

Personal care over all stock. Mares left on good grass at 10c a day at owner's risk.

$15 00 to insure a mare in foal or parted with.

JOHN RENSLER,
C. R. BEST.
Phone 14, Walton, Ky.

Mr. Soden was buried at Highland, Saturday, after services at his late home by Rev. McMiller. The deceased lived here many years, formerly being an iron worker in Covington. He married Miss Fanny Rice and has made many friends. Mr. Soden was respected and loved by all.

Comparing the sentences of Tilford Miller and Ray Byland to us on a fence, it seems hard to figure, and while Ray's seems a long one and a just one, Miller's offense, a matter of about thirty dollars, which the loser recovered, sent him for two years, one a hard working, hard-up boy, just made one false step, the other a pompered, educated society, spoiled boy, smart enough to hide his transactions for some time from a number of people. Is justice always meted and does not money power and able lawyers influence the cause of many whom have friends and money?

F. F. Robinson, of Richwood, called on the Recorder one day during circuit court, and paid for three subscriptions—one for himself and one for each of two of his sons, and shortly thereafter his brother, Gaines Robinson, of the same neighborhood, came in and paid for two subscriptions—one for himself and the other for W. M. Lampton, of Magnolia, Mississippi. These two gentlemen have always been very liberal and loyal supporters of the Recorder, and were their example followed by each of its other subscribers its list would be a cracker-jack.

More Intelligence Needed In Hay Making.

"We don't know how to make grasses and we don't know how to make hay," is the startling, yet absolutely true statement of Dr. S. A. Knapp of the Bureau of Plant Industry, in a recent address. "Hay is baked to death. Animals eat grass because it tastes good. Your hays, your pea vines, your alfalfa, and even your wild grasses, if cut at the proper time and cured so as not to be sun baked, which takes away the flavor, will give a great product and you will have to feed very little grain. A mule isn't apt to overeat with grain. We must use more intelligence in feeding a horse. Keeping stock in the future must be more of a problem of pasture and hay than of grain. Grain is too strong as a main food and too expensive. It fevers the system, and therefore we must have grasses and luscious pastures—well drained, not old sour grass, but an abundant pasturage, sweet and nutritive, so that it is a pie counter to the animal.

"It has been the experience of England, Holland and Denmark that as land advanced in value and life became more strenuous they turned toward grass and it seems that the same will follow eventually in our case. In other words, they made up their minds that they could get more out of land from grass and live stock than they could by cultivating it. They only use the cultivated crop as a means of rotation, but the main crop is the grass crop. What are they doing with their grass? In Holland and Denmark it is the dairy problem, and they have been able to develop a cow that is almost a perfect machine for manufacturing these fine hays and fine pasture grasses into high-priced butter and cheese. Take their registered stock and those animals will average to produce for the farmer, 1,000 per cent net profit more than the ordinary cow here; that is tenfold. Profit lies in the best. This is true in every way; whether in the case of a horse, or a cow, or a citizen, the profit is in the best. We must do more intelligent farming."

What Doctor Knapp says with regard to raising hay and feeding it to the horse or cow is the same old story over again that has been preached by the officials of the Department of Agriculture with respect to grain. If we are to continue as the granery of the world, let us keep our corn, wheat, oats at home and feed it on the farm and then ship our beef, our veal our pork away. The fertility of the soil will be retained on the farm and the profit will be vastly greater.

Strawberries In Warren County.

The good news comes from Warren county that the strawberry crop is practically safe; that the fruit is beginning to put on the early blossoms and that a big production is assured. The growers are in fine humor and are anticipating a bountiful harvest and good prices. The combined acreage in Warren county is estimated at 375 and by next year it is believed it will be increased to 1,000 acres.

Warren county farmers have found out that they can raise strawberries in vast quantity and of unexcelled quality and they are going in strong for the berry business. They have organized themselves into an association and they do not have to trouble themselves much about getting their product to market. The buyers come to see them nowadays and the market is right at the patch—or at least not farther away than the railroad station. The growers buy their crates by wholesale and this year they will have them attractively labeled and every crate that goes out will bear the legend, "The Warren County Strawberry Growers' Association, Bowling Green, Ky.," with a picture of a tempting cluster of berries to make the package more attractive to the purchaser.

Warren county is proving to the world that it is not necessary for a farmer to go West and buy irrigated land under the Carey act, or otherwise, at $200 to $500 an acre to raise strawberries. Last year her growers sold forty cars of berries This year they will sell 125 and next year they expect to sell 375, and by that time pretty much everybody in Warren and the surrounding counties will be crazy about strawberry growing. But it will be a healthy craze and not the sort that is liable to land anybody in the "bughouse."

Warren county is doing a good thing for herself in turning her attention to strawberries. May she continue to grow them, bigger and better, until there is a berry patch on every hillside and more than a few in the valleys; until her farmers wear diamonds and travel in aeroplanes and until Kentucky is known as strawberry headquarters for the civilized world.—Courier-Journal.

Averts Awful Tragedy.

Timely advice given Mrs. C. Willoughby, of Marengo, Wis., R. No. 1, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies failed, her aunt urged her to take Dr. King's New Discovery. "I have been using it for some time," she wrote "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." This matchless medicine has no equal for throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all dealers.

The Springtime, "Gentle Anna."

You think that spring time has come Gentle Anna. Well, I trust you are right about it, but do not be too certain. As I write the air is balmy and suggestive of grass and apple bloom, but tomorrow it may change.

You say that you are stuck on spring; so am I. There is nothing so sweet as the fragrance of the apple blossoms, nothing more beautiful than the green meadow where the horses and cattle graze their full and scatter their last year's hair on the whispering breeze.

This is the time of year when the city man grows hungry for the farm life, or thinks that he does, and joyously sings to himself, "Oh, would I were a farmer, a farmer I would be, and list to the singing of the lark and the bark of the dogwood tree."

Of course if he were to try the real thing he would probably change his mind and conclude that farm life had many drawbacks. In his ignorance and innocence he would probably mistake a poison ivy for a beautiful house plant and as a result would look like a man who had inadvertently mixed up with an Irish insurrection. Or it may be that never having seen a hornet's nest at short range he would be tempted to investigate. No man ever investigates a hornet's nests but once. There are some things he may forget, but in case of the hornet's nest there is no occasion to repeat the refrain, "Lest we forget."

There are many delightful things about country life, but the man who says that it is all unbounded joy is a liar and the truth is not in him. The farmer needs to have more grit and more sense than the man in almost any other kind of legitimate business. There are so many things to keep him guessing all the time that unless he is a peach of a guesser he is liable to get left. The man who thinks that he can set a lot of egg plants and butterflies and make a success of the poultry and dairy business will find out that he is mistaken.

But then if he is a farmer who is really onto his job he can be more independent and have more satisfaction than in any other line of business. And as he gets closer to nature than men in other lines he ought therefore to be a truer and better man.—Mail and Breeze.

To be Investigated.

Lexington—Vote buying and selling is to be investigated by Circuit Judges and Commonwealth Attorneys thruout Eastern Kentucky, according to reports from various mountain sections in that part of the state. Heretofore in investigations of this character only vote sellers have been indicted, as the laws of Kentucky provide a penalty for that class of lawbreaking and none for the buyer. Now, however, the investigators promise to consider both.

Hindman, the county seat of Knott County, reports that 87 indictments were returned by the grand jury. This is in the same circuit district as Floyd County, where 210 indictments were reported last week. Magoffin will be the next county where the probe will be taken up. After that will come Pike, Johnson and other eastern counties.

Many men who, it is alleged, had taken part in buying votes have left their home counties so that they cannot be called upon to testify. Both political parties are alleged to have done about an equal share of selling and buying, and sensations are promised in a number of cases.

Circuit Judge Benton, of Clark County, ordered his grand jury to investigate vote selling in that county. He intimated that he would give similar instructions to the grand juries of Madison and Jessamine Counties.

Caused By A Defective Flue.

The frame residence occupied by uncle Clem Ambrose and wife, the venerable parents of W. B. Ambrose, on South Fork, burned to the ground Monday morning about 7 oclock. The building caught fire from a defective flue in the kitchen and burned rapidly despite the heroic work of neighbors. The house was completely consumed together with most of its contents, only a small part of the household furniture being saved. Mr. Ambrose was 81 years old Friday and he and his wife lived alone in the house at the time of the fire. They were removed to the home of their son, W. B. Ambrose, where they are being cared for.—Warsaw Leader.

Cut Out The Tobacco Crop.

There is a disposition on the part of the farmers in Kentucky to raise more to eat and less to burn. All have realized that it does not pay to grow too much tobacco, indeed the country would be better off today had tobacco growing been curtailed years ago and farm land improved. Almost every farm is short on lots, sheds, gardens and thorough bred stock. That a farmer will raise all tobacco and nothing to eat is a puzzling proposition that is being given more consideration this year than ever before. Thous ands of loads of provisions are shipped into the tobacco belts that should have been grown at home. Every farmer should raise what he eats and plenty of feed for his stock.—Owen Democrat.

of successful lives is the habit of saving, depositing what can be spared in a good bank to meet the emergencies of the proverbial rainy day. A little at a time makes a snug sum in a short time. The Equitable Bank and Trust Co., Walton, Ky., will accept any sum on deposit and pays four per cent. interest on what remains a year, or three per cent for what remains six months. Remittances by mail given prompt response and careful attention. This Bank has assets of over One Hundred Thousand Dollars. We qualify as administrator, executor, trustee, guardian, etc., of estates, which is much more satisfactory than a private individual in such capacity. Mail communications given careful attention. Your patronage solicited.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy only 50c at all dealers.

Every Farmer Knows

That even the best regulated and well made machinery will sometimes get out of order and cause trouble. That's why we contract for and handle the best lines only, the kinds that have been tried and tested and proven to be the best. Have you never noticed this?

Soon you will have to deal with the feeding problem. If you have several head of Cows, Horses, Hogs or Sheep, and must keep a big supply of feed on hand, a SILO is the thing to have.

By the use of a SILO we can show you how to save about 100 per cent. on your feed bills in six months' time, the only outlay being $150 for a SILO. Write us for particulars. The greatest convenience the most economical device ever invented for the farm.

In other lines of machinery we handle Dick's Feed Cutters, Grain Drills, Gas Engines, and Roofing materials of all kinds.

A few days ago the fireman on the ... train, while crossing the trestle between Drakesboro and Elk Valley saw a bird dog in front of the train on the trestle. It was too far for the dog to get to the end of the trestle before the train overtook it, and there was no way of getting off without leaping to the ground. Most humans would have chanced the ground, but on a trestle there is considerable space between the engine and the ties; so, crouching down in the middle of the track, the dog waited for the train. The train passed over him, and the dog got up and continued on his way to the end of the trestle.—Owensboro Inquirer.

About a month ago T. F. Lane, of Metcalfe county, was plowing corn ground, when one of his mules suddenly dropped one of his hind legs into a hole. He went back to examine the hole and found it to be about 10 feet deep and in the shape of a cistern. On the bottom was a mound upon which was a ball of large snakes the size of a wash tub, and the inner part of the hole seemed lined with snakes, all matir. There were three kinds, black, cow-snake and garter snake. He called Vernon Goodwin and George Nun to witness it. They secured a hook and hooked out twenty-three large ones and the others went into a cave.—Greensburg Record.

Short Tobacco Crop.

The tobacco crop will certainly be a short one in this section this year and the farmers have taken the right view of the situation. A shortage of tobacco grown in 1911 means that the old crop will be cleaned up at better prices, it means that the farmers will have time to fence and improve their land, it means that the farmer will have time to raise the necessities of life which he had to buy at such long prices, it means that he will have time to lift his nose from the grindstone and see what the rest of the world is doing and we think all these will be pleasures enough to pay him for not raising tobacco this year, aside from the fact that a short crop this year means better prices next and one years' rest to the soil.—Owen County Democrat.

Nailed Himself Up.

J. C. Bullock, a farmer of Pulaski county, finding a slat off the hayrack, got upon a feed trough to tack it back and stuck his head through the hole and nailed himself up and before he released it threw the hammer to the ground. The barn was such a distance from the house that he could make no one hear his cries and he had to stay penned in the rack from early morning until late in the afternoon when his son came to feed. He was in such a cramped condition that when he was liberated he fainted.

Primary Election Notice.

At a meeting of the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee, held at Burlington, Ky., March 22, 1911, it was ordered that a Primary Election be held in every voting precinct in Boone County on Saturday, July 1st, 1911, from 6 o'clock a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for State Senator, County Representative and County Clerk to be voted on at the regular election in November, 1911. All known Democrats entitled to vote at the regular election in November, 1911, shall be entitled to vote in this election.

A. B. Renaker was made a subcommittee of one to have ballots printed and to attend to all details in carrying out this call.

The entrance fee of each individual candidate in this primary Election is fixed at $40, to be paid to A. B. Renaker not later than June 16th, 1911 at which time the names of the candidates who have paid their proper entrance fee will be placed on the ballots.

A. B. RENAKER, Chairman.

A Plea For Good Roads.

There is not a citizen in the good county of Owen who has stopped to think the matter over or who has traveled around any who is not proud of our county. We have a soil that will grow almost anything. We have a soil that when worn out can easily be brought back to fertility on account of the lime-stone and clay foundation.

We have a soil that furnishes a good road bed and an abundance of lime-stone rock to macadamize our roads with and these rocks are almost on the roads being upon the surface of almost every farm. Then why not have the best roads in the world? The only thing lacking is that we have never made up our minds to have the good roads and all pull together in order to have them. We believe we have many good liberal hearted citizens in our country who will not hesitate to take up the good road movement. It is a business proposition that pays, in fact nothing pays better than good roads, and it is a pleasure to travel over good roads. In one sense work given upon a road is not given to someone else, it pays the man who gives the work.

The day is coming when laws will be made by our general assembly that will force us to care for our roads. Do we wish to wait like children to be made to work for our own interests. Why not get busy and lead the procession and bring our county to the front by a united effort upon our roads.

We are only tenants at will here, soon the call will come when we must enter upon the journey to the other world, there to give account of our stewardship here and our lease on li... We owe it to our children, our country and our God, to pass this county down to our children and the coming generation in good shape.

The man who wears out the roads and the land and hands them down to his children untenable and impassable is certainly a very and unjust man and a very poor citizen.

We owe it to ourselves and our state to keep our roads in repair and nothing will pay us more or bring us more pleasure.

So let us unite in one general effort with the united force of every citizen in the county to build up our roads accepting only that pay that accrues from good roads and the consciousness of the fact that we have done our duty to ourselves and our posterity.—Owen County Democrat.

Nothing In Early Grazing.

The cow after the frigid months of winter longs for the freedom of the pasture. But pit is better to keep her in the stabel or barn yard until the land is firm and she can easily secure an abundance of food without an undue amount of travel. There is nothing gained by this early grazing, but who will work serious injury to the young grass plants, trampling them under foot and delaying their growth until quite late in the season.

When the grass is far enough advanced to turn onto, it will be well to continue to give the cows some fodder and a small grain ration twice a day until the grass has more substance. The early immature grass is very soft and watery. As the grass advances gradually reduce the grain ration.

More young calves are killed by overfeeding than by being starved. Keep the young calf looking for more all the time. Feed in quantities that will come just a little short of satisfying its appetite.

Gives Aid To Strikers.

Sometimes liver, kidneys and bowels seem to go on a strike and refuse to work right. Then you need those pleasant little strike-breakers—Dr. King's New Life Pills—to give them natural aid and gently compel proper action. Excellent health soon follows. Try them. 25c at all dealers.

A new postal note will soon be issued at the postoffice in amounts of not more than $10.00 each. The notes will be valid for six months and will be redeemed in money at postoffices. Business houses will no longer have to carry on hand surplus stamps received in payment for goods.

THE FINE YOUNG STALLION

will make the season of 1911 at my farm two miles west of Walton, Boone County, Ky., at $10.00 to insure a living colt. Persons parting with mares forfeit the insurance money. A lien retained on colt until season money is paid. Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur.

PRINCE OLSEN was foaled in 1907, and is one model of his class. He weighs 1520 pounds and is nearly 17 hands in height. He is a beautiful black, and is a picture of symmetry and fine points of the draft horse. His breeding qualities are excellent.

PRINCE OLSEN was sired by Blackmon, a registered Percheron stallion owned by Ole G. Olsen, of Shabbona Grove, Illinois, where he was foaled in 1907, and from whom he was purchased by me this spring, selecting this horse over many others because of his excellent qualities. Prince Olsen is eligible to registry, and is one of the highest bred draft horses ever in this section of country. The dam of Prince Olsen was a high bred registered Percheron mare. I feel that farmers and breeders will make no mistake in breeding to Prince Olsen as it means a good, strong colt that will meet every requirement on the farm. One of the lacking features of our horses is the size and strength. With the well bred Percheron like Prince Olsen these essentials are fully incorporated.

Come and see the horse and inspect his good points and you will breed to him.

JOSEPH READNOUR,
Walton, Ky.

Also at the same place and under the same conditions I will offer for public service my two fine sure breeding jacks is a black Jack with mealy points five years old, 15.3 hands high, large bone and big body, very long ear, and has proven himself to be one of the best breeders in Kentucky. His mules are quick sellers and several of them have been sold at $125 at weaning time. His service fee will be $10.

DEWEY,

is another fine Jack, three years old and a half brother to Ben. His fee will be $10.00 and he will be permitted to serve only a few mares.

Both jacks are high in class, and are excellent breeders. Take a look at them before breeding; it may pay you.

There have been seven days this month that could properly be called good.

The loss from disease of hogs in the United States during the past year, was 43.5 per 1,000, the smallest ever recorded by the Bureau of Statistics. Reports received by the year indicate that losses due to epidemics of hog cholera are gradually decreasing.

A mob of 200 masked men formed at Seymour, Ind., Sunday morning and tore up the tracks of the Southern Indiana Traction Co., which had been laid across a park. The police and firemen were held at bay at the point of shotguns when they attempted to interfere.

Gov. Wilson has announced that before taking up the question of calling an extra session of the Legislature to redistrict the state he will call upon Alvin S. Bennett, secretary of the Republican State Committee, for maps showing the State by districts with the population of each district.

Ollie James attacked Senator Paynter's official record in his Harrodsburg speech, last Monday, and poured hot shot into it from start to finish. The Senator will have to be up and doing if he hopes to retain his present job for which James has been setting up the pins to win for quite a while.

From what is claimed to be the ablest legal authority in Kentucky it has been learned that in as much as several of the Democratic candidates for nomination for State offices have paid to the State committee their entrance fee, there is no way in which the primary election can be avoided; but then who wants the primary called off? Just such foolish chatter be hushed.

It really looks like we are going to have a Democratic State primary on July 1, to nominate candidates for State offices. During the past two or three weeks there has been no indication of another committee meeting, and we are almost pursuaded to believe that the "fellows" have at last found the kind of grease they were looking for, and that the thing will roll over like a ball-bearing wheel on July 1.—Henderson Herald.

The press of the State is almost unanimous in its desire to hold a platform convention, and if the Democrats of Kentucky hope to gain victory in November they must go before the people with an open assurance of sincerity and with a promise of deeds to be done and work to be accomplished, which will have telling effect on the future progress and development of the [illegible].—Paducah News-Democrat.

Senator Bradley, it is said, has written each of the candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor of Kentucky, to come on to Washington to discuss with him the political situation in Kentucky in their party. No doubt but the Senator hopes to pursuade several of the aspirants that they should stand aside in the interest of harmony in the party, but there are some among the candidates who are not in the habit of seeing things politically just as they appear to the Senator, and will very likely regard his harmony meeting as a fake.

Several of the companies operating big Atlantic liners see that their passengers are each morning served with the latest news just as they would be were they on land. The circulation of the Daily Bulletin, published by an English company, is said to be more than 2,000 a day, ten inches by six inches, excellently printed on fine glazed paper, and selling at two and a half pence, or five cents, a copy. It goes to press at one a. m. and is read over the breakfast just like newspapers ashore.—Harper's Weekly.

A VERY LARGE CROWD

In Attendance At The Entertainment At Library Hall Last Saturday Night.

The entertainment at Library Hall, last Saturday night, was favored with most propitious weather and a crowd equal to the capacity of the hall. The entertainment lasted about three hours, and everyone present was thoroughly satisfied that considerably more than the worth of the price of admission had been given. The parties who presented the plays had taken great pains in preparing for the characters they represented, and everything moved off as smoothly as though the troupe was composed of professionals. The auditorium had but recently been repaired and remodeled and a new piano put in which added materially to the general appearance of the hall as well as to stimulate those presenting the plays to put forth their best efforts. "Uncle Josh" will be repeated next Saturday night, to be followed by the farce "That Rascally Pat."

One very pleasing feature last Saturday night was the excellent music rendered by Mrs. Thomas Fowler on the piano, and Messrs. John Furlong and Kirb Tanner on violins.

Come out again next Saturday night and enjoy two or three hours excellent fun.

Has A Chip On His Shoulder.

It will be seen by his card elsewhere in this issue that Hon. J. W. Kennedy proposes making a public declaration of the platform on which he will make his campaign. Mr. Kennedy is pursuing the right course, in as much as a candidate who declares himself publicly on the issues that interest the voters cannot thereafter carry water on both shoulders. The candidate who has the courage to take the stump and publicly commit himself on the issues involved in the canvass in which he is engaged is entitled to the public's admiration altho he may be wrong. The Recorder does not know Mr. Kennedy's position in regard to a single subject set forth in his card, but it is satisfied that the voters will be done no harm by his enlightening them along that line. Mr. Kennedy has a chip on his [illegible] boys.

In The South Atlantic League.

Manager Del Howard has placed two more of his Colonel recruits. He completed arrangements today for the transfer of Pitcher El Sandford and Outfielder Johnny Burke to the Columbia, S. C., Club, of the South Atlantic League. Both are promising youngsters and the Louisville Club sends them South with a good string on them for more seasoning. They will probably be recalled at the close of the South tryout with the Colonels this fall. Columbia is the same team that Pitcher Powers was farmed out to a few weeks ago.—Louisville Post.

TO THE VOTERS.

In answer to the many inquiries received from voters from different parts of the county as to how I stand on the road question, the tax question, dog law, temperance question, prohibition question, the school question, the tobacco question and many other things, I had not thought of, I will say meet me at Burlington the first Monday in May, and I will discuss these matters publicly, and all other candidates are respectfully invited to take part in the discussion if they so desire.

J. W. KENNEDY.

Every family and especially those who reside in the country should be provided at all times with a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment. There is no telling when it may be wanted in case of an accident or emergency. It is most excellent in all cases of rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by all dealers.

Boone county farmers who desires to improve the breeding of their horses are referred to the advertising columns of the Recorder, as there they will find most any class of horse that is desirable in this locality with the pedigrees that are guarantees for the claims made by their owners.

Umbrellas, rain coats and rubber shoes have been good weather equippage to have on hand this spring.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The suit of Mary A. Cook, of Baltimore, Maryland, against the estate of the late Chas. Jenkins, of Petersburg, was dismissed for the want of prosecution.

The damage suits of Edith McAvoy against detective Wm. Sandford, of Covington, and John Ransler and others of Walton and vicinity, were dismissed for the want of prosecution.

In less than thirty-six hours after his arrival in Burlington, last Wednesday, Raymond Byland had plead guilty to the indictment charging him with embezzlement, the jury had fixed his punishment at five years in the penitentiary, and the court had pronounced its sentence.

The grand jury was in session four days but did not succeed in uncovering anything in the least sensational. The people of Boone county are mostly descendants of good, old Virginia stock, of a domestic class and observe the golden rule about as closely as anyother community that can be found.

Gov. Wilson has kept Judge Cammack pretty busy since his last court here, having assigned him to hold a court in Covington, one in Lexington and one in Beattyville. He wants Cammack to earn his salary.

The grand and petit jurors for the term cost $234.

Pretty good crowd in town each day while court was in session, the weather being such that the farmers could not do much at home.

The trustee of the jury fund for several years past has been advancing the money with which to pay the grand and petit jurors and in nearly every instance he has found the sheriff with enough of the State's money in his hands to make good the deficit.

The scene attending the sentencing of Raymond Byland, last Thursday just before noon, was as solemn an occasion as was ever witnessed in the present court house. His mother, wife and little child and his brothers were present and had enlisted the sympathy of all. The jury gave him 2 years more than anyone expected he would get. The remarks by Judge Cammack following the pronouncing of judgment were very affecting and appropriate.

Court adjourned until court in course Thursday afternoon, having disposed of considerable business during the four days term.

The grand jury, of its own motion in its written report, recommended that a heating plant be installed in the court house. The foreman, J. D. Mayhugh, of Walton, who is an up-to-date business man, says the present very inefficient plan of heating is a shame.

The grand jury made the following written report:

To the Honorable Judge of the Boone Circuit Court:—

We, the grand jury for the April term of 1911, would report we have been in session four days; that we have examined 20 witnesses and returned four indictments. We have examined the court house and jail and found the jail in good condition, also court house, except we recommend two cellar doors repaired and a ditch opened at back end of the court house for drainage. We recommend that the court house be heated by modern steam or hot water plant.

J. D. MAYHUGH,
Foreman.

Purchased The Warsaw Line.

The Warsaw Telephone Exchange was sold this week, R. H. Brown, who has owned the franchise for the past few years, selling out to W. T. Black, of Walton. The purchase price is understood to be $4,250. The line has recently been put in fine condition, having been thoroughly overhauled, and several important and beneficial changes effected. Mr. Black is one of the best telephone men in the State, and Warsaw people will be glad to know that the business has been transferred to a man who well knows how to handle this important public utility. The new owner and family will move to Warsaw next week and we welcome with pleasure this addition to the good citizenship of our town.—Warsaw Independent.

PUBLIC RENTAL OF LAND.

I will, on Saturday, April 29th, 1911, between the hours of one and two o'clock p. m., at the Equitable Bank in the town of Walton, Kentucky, proceed to rent publicly, from said date until December 31st 1911, the following described land, to wit:

A certain tract of land in Boone County, Ky., containing about 61 acres, adjoining the lands of John McElroy and others, and being the dower set apart to his widow Henrietta Powers, in the division of the lands of B. B. Powers deceased among his heirs at law.

It will be made known on day of renting what portion, if any, of said land may be cultivated, and what portion thereof shall be used for pasture only; and the right to enter on said land and sow fall grains and do all work incident thereto, is reserved for any purchaser of same when sold under order of court.

For the rental of said land the renter will execute a note with approved surety to the undersigned due on or before Dec. 31st, 1911, or may at his option pay cash at time of renting.

"THE TWO JOHNS."

I have had two most agreeable surprises in the last few months, which I had given up all hopes of ever realizing again in this life. My brother John T. Rice and his family, of Texas, made us a visit, last summer, after an absence of 30 years, and a few weeks since my brother, W. J. Rice, of Burlington, came with my old chum of younger days, John W. Rice, of Oklahoma. He had been gone from us over 25 years, so some of you, perhaps, can imagine of the happiness enjoyed during their short stay with us, but how true the old adage, "every sweet has its bitter," which I realized when I had to bid them good-bye, as I feel it is our last good-bye in this life, as we are growing in years, and must obey the summons when God calls, for "His will must be done not ours."

M. S. Rice.

A broken Barlow knife and a ring and four keys have been left at this office for indentification. They were found on the street.

The base ball page in the daily papers begins to look like spring has arrived.

The earth is thoroughly wet, a fact that many construe as a sure sign of a good crop year.

Wheat and rye are said to be doing well, and the prospects are better than an average crop of wheat are good.

Geo. Kreylich bought a bill of about 40,000 feet of lumber at Erlanger, one day last week, for his new residence.

B. B. Humes' embryo race horse is attracting considerable attention on the part of the admirers of the fleet footed animals.

Pear and cherry trees sent out a full bloom, last week, and the grass grew considerably, giving everything very much of a spring appearance.

It is hoped by everyone that the wind for the next forty days will not come from the direction it came last Sunday, as some old timers hold it will.

Captain Jacob Rief of Lawrenceburg, has two fine alligators, each three feet long, which were shipped to him from St. Petersburg, Fla., by Hon. Victor Oberting.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets assist nature in driving all impurities out of the system, insuring a free and regular condition and restoring the organs of the body to health and strength. Sold by all dealers.

On account of a very severe cold Miss Lucy Russell was unable to teach last Friday. Miss Lucy has quite a large school—about 50 pupils. There was no time lost between the expiration of the common school term and the beginning of her pay school.

The High School base ball team opened the season on its grounds, last Saturday, with a team calling itself the Fossils, the score being 13 to 11 in favor of the latter. Among the Fossils were four or five who ranked as the Boone's best players, last year.

Everything so far indicates a considerable reduction in the acreage of tobacco cultivated in this county this year, but it could be still further reduced to the advantage of many of the farmers were they to conclude to put in corn at least half the land they expect to cultivate in tobacco.

The grand jury does not frighten the boys like it use to. Many years ago upon the assembling of that body, a very considerable per cent of the county's population had urgent business out of the county and State. Now it is only occasionally a person skips to avoid going before the grand jury.

During a thunderstorm one night last week lightning struck A. C. Porter's telephone wire on a farmer's line, and ran into his residence, he finding his room full of balls of fire of various sizes when he awoke. It was rather an exciting spectacle when aroused from slumber by natures artillery.

The Boone County Medical Society met at the residence of Dr. J. G. Slater, of Walton, yesterday evening. The following was the program:

Orchitis and Epididymitis—Dr. F. L. Peddicord.

Paper—Dr. L. C. Hafer.

Puerperal Sepsis—E. Gustav Zinke.

Dr. and Mrs. Slater entertained in a magnificent manner.

Plan your work for each day of the week. Doing the same old tasks over and over becomes monotonous, and a little variation is an enjoyment. The usual dish washing cannot be done away with unless one keeps house like a bachelor, waiting until all the dishes are dirty and then washing them. The better way is to keep them clean, for company may come.

J. C. Hughes, of Richwood, president of the Boone County Board of Control, called on the Recorder one day while attending circuit court. Mr. Hughes has devoted much of his time to the interest of the pool and deplores its down-fall, but is glad to observe that the Boone county tobacco which the pool has been putting on the breaks is selling as well as that from anyother part of the State.

Dr. O. S. Crisler, County Live-stock Inspector, has been very busy for two weeks inspecting sheep and issuing certificates to the owners certifying as to their condition. There are a few over 400 owners of sheep in the county, and upon these he has to call and examine their sheep. Last week he did some official work in Verona and Union precincts. The sheep in every county in the State are being inspected for the purpose of getting the government to raise the quarantine before the shipping season comes. So far Inspector Crisler has found no flock that is afflicted with the scab.

LINGERING ILLNESS

Ends In Death of Manlius T. Garnett.

Former County Clerk Called From Life's Stage.

ANOTHER OLD CITIZEN HAS GONE

M. T. Garnett, bachelor, died of softening of the brain at the Boone House at 8:30 o'clock a. m., last Sunday, just three weeks to the day from the time W. D. Cropper arrived home with him from Bartow, Florida, where he had spent several of the winters last past. When he left Burlington the latter part of last October to return to Florida, he was in a bad condition both mentally and physically and he continued to grow worse until it was necessary to send for him. Upon his arrival at home he took his bed and John Robert Whitson, of Florence, was employed to nurse him and was at his bedside constantly until his death. Mr. Garnett had no immediate relatives in this county. Dr. W. C. McManama, of Louisville, a nephew, arrived Sunday morning shortly after his uncle died.

Manlius Thompson Garnett, born January 14, 1834, in the brick house owned by the late Jonathan Utz, on Gunpowder creek, two miles south of Burlington, was a son of Milton Garnett, whose wife was a Cave, a prominent family in this county many years ago. He was one of a family of four children, three sons, Jerry, John and Manlius, and one sister, who married Marshall McManama and is the only survivor of the family.

His mother died when he was about six years old, and shortly thereafter his father moved to Virginia where he married a second time, afterwards returning to Kentucky.

When a young man Mr. Garnett met with an accident, while working at a saw mill, that made him a cripple for life, and it was that misfortune that caused him to learn shoe and harness making, at which trade he worked many years with the late J. M. Riddell of Burlington.

He spent very little of his life elsewhere than in Boone Co., his longest period of absence being spent in Carroll county, where he lived for three years, one year of which time he served as clerk of the Carroll county circuit court.

In January, 1875, he became deputy under James W. Duncan, clerk of the Boone circuit court, and shortly thereafter he was appointed deputy by the late L. H. Dills, clerk of the Boone county court, holding both deputyships until he was elected to succeed his principal, L. H. Dills, as county clerk, which office he held for eight years.

Immediately upon the resignation of Fountain Riddell, president of the Boone County Deposit Bank, April 6th, 1903, Mr. Garnett was elected to the presidency of that institution, but having investments in Florida and desiring to spend the winters there he held the office until January 4th, 1904, when he resigned and Dudley Rouse was elected.

In every position of trust to which M. T. Garnett was called he labored faithfully and efficiently in the interest of the public and those he represented. He was prompt and correct, affable and companionable, and was held in the very highest esteem by all who knew him, and in his death the county has lost a citizen whose long and honorable life is worthy emulation.

The remains were taken to Bullittsburg Tuesday afternoon, where, after a brief service by Rev. C. V. Brooks, they were laid to rest in the Arnold lot in the cemetery near the church, a large number of distant relatives and friends being in attendance.

"UNCLE JOSH."

"Uncle Josh" will be repeated again at Library Hall Saturday evening, April 22. A new farce entitled, "Rascal Pat," will be added.

Chairs will be reserved for those desiring them at 35 cents each. You can secure these reserved seats, in advance by phoning A. B. Renaker.

Come out and enjoy another pleasant evening.

MRS. JENNIE OSSMAN,
Beaver Lick, Ky.

Monday morning dawned beautiful and bright, and at an early hour the farmers all over the county had begun to hustle and forget the bad weather that had caused them to suspend for several days the preparation for their 1911 crop, and should this weather continue, by next Saturday night there will be a great many very tired people in this part of the country, by which time the larger per cent of the corn ground will be broken and the entire crop of oats sowed.

The candidates for State Senator and county representative are not creating much enthusiasm on the part of the voters, but there is plenty of time yet in which the campaign can warm up even to a white heat.

GOOD ROADS.

Calloway has many miles of good gravel roads, and many more are coming, no doubt. There is not a dirt road in the county that hasn't enough gravel within easy reach to make a good gravel road of it in a few days.—Murray Times.

If Glasgow and Barren county had the nerve our friends of Fountain Run are said to have, we could soon have pikes all over the county. We are told by a gentleman just from Fountain Run that there are subscribed 400 teams for four days each to build a gravel road from Fountain Run to Scottsville—or rather to meet the pike built by Allen county. That is what we call enterprise and we congratulate our neighbors.—Glasgow Republican.

The Herald takes a broad view that the whole State should contribute to the aid of those counties unable of themselves to build good roads, satisfied that the enhanced value of lands along them will in a few years increase the assessment so largely that a considerable reduction in the tax rate can be made. It is therefore for the constitutional amendment to enable the State to thus contribute. In other words it is "for good roads" and willing not only to name the way to secure them, but to be taxed to that end.—Lexington Herald.

As if in adoption of the News suggestion that we abandon the present ineffective though costly system of county road-working and adopt as a preferable substitute the old plan of road overseers and warning in of the hands, the people living along the Burton road in the Knob Lick neighborhood turned out a few days ago with teams, plows, scrapers, shovels and other necessary tools unknown to the average road contractor, and in one day put a stretch of two and a half miles of road in the best condition it has been in for more than a year. This is one of the most difficult pieces of road in the county to work, but it is now in good condition for the year and has not cost the county one cent. The entire county should take off their hats in recognition of the public spirit shown by the citizens living along this road.—Sebree News.

There isn't a perch of surface stone in Scotland county, Mo., but its inhabitants do not despair of getting good roads. Not only have the county commissioners voted for a poll tax of $6 this year, but many farmers have volunteered to drag the roads. In the county are 1,200 miles of dirt roads. Concrete culverts are replacing the plank bridges which have been in use since the county first was organized. Big crops have been raised in the county this year, and many farmers have paid their poll tax in cash rather than work on the roads. Nearly all of the money which has been received from this source is being spent by the county commissioners in building modern concrete culverts. More than half of the roads in the county lie flat. The roads have been built with good drainage and are in condition that is good compared with what they were before they were graded. It has been estimated by merchants of Memphis, the county seat, that the new effort for good roads has added $5 to the value of every farm which adjoins the improved roads.

"Blue" and "Gray" To Meet.

In commemoration of the first land engagement of the Civil war, which occurred at Philippi, in Barbour county, Virginia (now West Virginia), on the morning of the third day of June, 1861, arrangements are now being made for a Reunion of the "Blue" and the "Gray," to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the battle in connection with a "Home-Coming Week" at Philippi, beginning on Monday, May 29th and ending on Saturday, June 3d.

This is the first celebration of this nature in West Virginia, and will prove of great interest to the veterans of the Civil war, especially those who participated in the memorable engagement, which marked the opening of hostilities between the land forces of the Union and Confederate armies, many of the survivors of which have already signified their intention of being present for the entire week.

Assurances have been given that the President of the United States will be present on June 3d, if possible, while other men of national prominence will attend during the week, including Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Speaker Champ Clark, Gov. Glasscock of West Virginia, Hon. Wm. Jennings Bryan, Congressman Richmond P. Hobson and many others.

In addition to the Anniversary of the Battle of Philippi, on June 3d, special features have been arranged for each day of the week, especially for National Memorial Day on May 30th, opening with a Grand Assembly on May 29th. One day will be set apart for the Old Soldiers, one for the Ladies, one for Native West Virginians, who came back to the "Mountain State" to renew their boyhood acquaintance—in fact there will be something of interest every day in the week.

The Rural School Situation.

The fact that there is no school in twenty-one of the 89 school districts of Breathitt county, if a fact, is a situation much to be deplored. There is no county in the State that is more in need of the enlightened influence of the school house. If there are twenty-one districts in Breathitt without schools there must be a large number of children who are not receiving even the rudiments of an education. Certainly it is important that these children should be educated. Breathitt county is developing commercially and industrially, in spite of the handicap of a bad reputation. It also should develop educationally. It is not by any manner of means the only county in the state that is struggling with such conditions. There are many such counties, and their number emphasizes the time liness and the momentousness of the present movements for the improvement of the rural schools. There are several live issues in Kentucky just now, but the education of the masses is the paramount duty.

We need better teachers, it is true, and in providing the State Normal Schools we have taken a long step toward that desirable end, but there is some reason for believing that we are building from the top down where we ought to be building from the bottom up. At least, we should be building more simultaneously, as it were, at both ends of the structure. It will be of little use to qualify our teachers if we have not schools for them to teach. If districts are without schools or schoolhouses we shall soon have a surplus of teachers many of whom will have to go to other States to secure positions that are commensurate with their ability.

Until the rural schools of Kentucky are improved there will be no marked advance in education. The consolidation of the schools would call for better paid and better qualified teachers, and we should thus be enabled to keep much of our teaching talent at home. The principal obstacle to consolidation is the condition of the roads in many counties which would render difficult the transportation of pupils, but it is in successful operation in various States and should be in Kentucky wherever conditions will justify it. The County Boards of Education have the authority under the present law to consolidate weak districts, but they have not exercised it to the extent that might have been expected. The recent educational conference in Louisville has offered a comprehensive programme for rural school betterment, and the next General Assembly should give us such legislation as may be requisite for carrying it out.—Courier-Journal.

(Home and School.)

We notice that in many of our schools writing is over looked as well as spelling. A few hours each night spent in practicing movements, etc., will do the work.

—o—

The parent puts the child into the teacher's care expecting that the child will be taught how to succeed in after life. The good teacher leaves his impress.

—o—

Many teachers fail to see that what is taught is thoroughly digested and that it is understood by the students. Reviews help.

—o—

Lessons should be brought up by the classes in good shape. When the class fails on good lessons they should not be censured for it. They should not be allowed to move another step until they have been gotten thoroughly.

—o—

Sparking is a great game and if allowed in school by the teacher it will soon take the place of everything else.

—o—

We notice that most young folks do not know how to write a check, a receipt, a sixty day note or a due bill. This speaks well for the teacher. Children should be taught to do things.

—o—

Few teachers pay enough attention to reading. Children in the lower grades should be heard to read twice each day. One recitation can only bring failure.

—o—

We hear a great deal said about mental training. It should be vocal training.

—o—

The education that fails to improve the individual along vocational lines is not the proper education.

—o—

The teacher who teaches the child with no thought of its future work, fails to do honor to the high calling of a teacher.

—o—

It is the duty of every teacher to know why the children in the district are not attending school.

—o—

Education teaches the child how to do things in after life. It lessens the chances of failure and helps the individual on to success.

—o—

Trustees should see that every child of pupil age is handed in by the census enumerator.

Resolutions of Respect.

Resolutions adopted by Ladies' Mite Society of Burlington, Ky.:

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father called to her final rest, March 4th, 1911, our sister, Florence McKim, and we realize our society has lost a faithful member. While she was not permitted to meet with us the last few years of her life, she was ever found faithful in the discharge of her duty to the society. Therefore be it resolved,

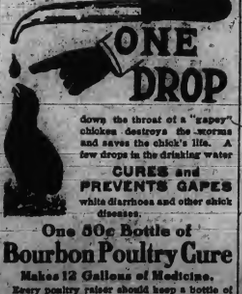
1st. That by the death of sister McKim we have lost one of our best members.

2d. That while we shall miss her, our loss is her gain.

3d. That we tender our sympathy to her loved ones in their bereavement, and that we each strive to consecrate ourselves anew to the work of the Master.

Committee.—Alice Snyder, Nannie Riddell.

Reaons Why You Should Get Your Glasses of Us.



We devote our whole time to fitting glasses. Our examination is thorough and accurate. All glasses made to fit each eye and the face. All our lenses are ground and frames repaired in our own shop. We duplicate any lens, no matter who made or prescribed it. Save the pieces and we will do the rest.

CHAPTER XII.—He returns to Beaver Island to get Marion. He learns from Obadiah Price that a warship has arrived to arrest Strang. Strang is killed by one of his own men. Nat finds Marion at Price's cabin. Obadiah is shot by one of the king's sheriffs. Dying, he tells Nat that, to save her from Strang, he had killed the couple whom Marion thought to be her parents. Price turns over to the naval officer evidence that he had been gathering for years, to destroy the Mormon kingdom.

CHAPTER XII.

Marion Freed From Bondage.

"Gone!" moaned Winnsome again. "She has gone—back—to—Strang!"

Neil was crawling to them like a wounded animal across the sand.

She started toward him but Nathaniel stopped her.

"She is the king's—wife—"

His throat was swollen so that he could hardly speak.

"No. They are to be married tonight. Oh, I thought she was going to stay!" She tore herself away from him to go to Neil, who had fallen upon his face exhausted, a dozen yards away.

In the wet sand, where the incoming waves lapped his hands and feet, Nathaniel sank down, his eyes staring out into the shimmering distance where Marion had gone. His brain was in a daze, and he wondered if he had been stricken by some strange madness—if this all was but some passing phantasm that would soon leave him again to his misery and his despair. But the dash of the cold water against him cleared away his doubt. Marion had come to him. She had saved him from death. And now she was gone.

And she was not the king's wife!

He staggered to his feet again and plunged into the lake until the water reached to his waist, calling her name, entreating her in weak, half choked cries to come back to him. The water soaked through to his hot, numb body, restoring his reason and strength, and he buried his face in it and drank like one who had been near to dying of thirst. Then he returned to Neil. Winnsome was holding his head in her arms.

He dropped upon his knees beside them and saw that life was returning full and strong in Neil's face.

"You will be able to walk in a few minutes," he said. "You and Winnsome must leave here. We are on the mainland and if you follow the shore northward you will come to the settlements. I am going back for Marion."

Neil made an effort to follow him as he rose to his feet.

"Nat—Nat—wait—"

Winnsome held him back, frightened, tightening her arms about him.

"You must go with Winnsome," urged Nathaniel, seizing the band that Neil stretched up to him. "You must take her to the first settlement up the coast. I will come back to you with Marion."

He spoke confidently, as a man who sees his way open clearly before him, and yet as he turned, half running, to the low black shadow of the distant forest he knew that he was beginning a blind fight against fate. If he could find a hunter's cabin, a fisherman's shanty—a boat.

Barely had he disappeared when a voice called to him. It was Winnsome. The girl ran up to him holding something in her hand. It was a pistol. "You may need it!" she exclaimed. "We brought two!"

Nathaniel reached out hesitatingly, but not to take the weapon. Gently, as though his touch was about to fall upon some fragile flower, he drew the girl to him, took her beautiful face between his two strong hands and gazed steadily and silently for a moment into her eyes.

"God bless you, little Winnsome!" he whispered. "I hope that some day you will—forgive me."

The girl understood him.

"If I have anything to forgive—you are forgiven."

The pistol dropped upon the sand, her hands stole to his shoulders.

"I want you to take something to Marion for me," she whispered softly. "This!"

And she kissed him.

Her eyes shone upon him like a benediction.

"You have given me a new life, you have given me—Neil! My prayers are with you."

And kissing him again, she slipped away from under his hands before he could speak.

And Nathaniel, following her with his eyes until he could no longer see her, picked up the pistol and set off again toward the forest, the touch of her lips and the prayers of this girl whose father he had slain filling him with something that was more than strength, more than hope. Life had been given to him again, strong, fighting life, and with it and Winnsome's words there returned his old confidence, his old daring. There was [illegible] in his veins. His doubts and his fears had been swept away. Marion was not dead, she was not the king's wife—and it was not of another that he had accepted proof of her love for him, for he had felt the pressure of her arms about his neck and the warmth of her lips upon his face. He had until night—and the dawn was just beginning to break. Ten or fifteen miles to the north there were settlements, and between there were scores of settlers' homes and fishermen's shanties. Surely within an hour or two he would find a boat.

He turned where the edge of the forest came down to meet the white water-run of the sea, and set off at a slow, steady trot into the north. If he could reach a boat soon he might overtake Marion in midlake. The thought thrilled him, and urged him to greater speed. As the stars faded away in the dawn he saw the dark barrier of the forest drifting away, and later, when the light broke more clearly, there stretched out ahead of him mile upon mile of desert dunes. As far as he could see there was no hope of life. He slowed his steps now, for he would need to preserve his strength. Yet he experienced no fear, no loss of confidence. Each moment added to his faith in himself. Before noon he would be on his way to the Mormon kingdom, by nightfall he would be upon its shores. After that—

He examined the pistol that Winnsome had given him. There were five shots in it and he smiled joyously as he saw that it had been loaded by an experienced hand. It would be easy enough for him to find Strang. He would not consider the woman—his wife. The king's wife! Like a flash there occurred to him the incident of the battlefield. Was it this woman—the woman who had begged him to spare the life of the prophet who had knelt beside him, and whispered in his ear, and kissed him? Had that been her reward for the sacrifice she believed he had made for her in the castle chamber? The thought of this woman, whose beauty and love breathed the sweet purity of a flower and whose faith in her king and master was still unbroken even in her hour of repudiation fell upon him heavily. For there was no choice, no shadow of alternative. There was but one way for him to break the bondage of the girl he loved.

For hours he trod steadily through the sand. The sun rose above him, hot and blistering, and the dunes still stretched out ahead of him, like winnows and hills and mountains of glittering glass. Gradually the desert became narrower. Far ahead he could see where the forest came down to the shore and his heart grew lighter. Half an hour later he entered the margin of trees. Almost immediately he found signs of life. A tree had been felled and cut into wood. A short distance beyond he came suddenly upon a narrow path, beaten hard by the passing of feet, and leading toward the lake. He had meant to rest under the shade of these trees, but now he forgot his fatigue. For a moment he hesitated. Far back in the forest he heard the barking of a dog—but he turned in the opposite direction. If there was a boat the path would take him to it. Through a break in the trees he caught the green sweep of marsh rice and his heart beat excitedly with hope. Where there was rice there were wild fowl, and surely where there were wild fowl there would be a punt or a canoe! In his eagerness he ran, and where the path ended, the flags and rice beaten into the mud and water, he stopped with an exclamation cry. At his feet was a canoe. It was wet, as though just drawn out of the water, and a freshly used paddle was lying across the bow. Pausing but to take a quick and cautious glance about him he shoved the frail craft into the lake and with a few quiet strokes buried himself in the rice grass. When he emerged from it he was half a mile from the shore.

For a long time he sat motionless, looking out over the shimmering sea. Far to the south and west he could make out the dim outline of Beaver Island, while over the trail he had come, mile upon mile, lay the glistening dunes. Somewhere between the white desert sand and that distant coast of the Mormon kingdom Marion was making her way back to bondage. Nathaniel had given up all hope of overtaking her now. Long before he could intercept her she would have reached the island. When he started again he paddled slowly, and laid out for himself the plan that he was to follow. There must be no mistake this time, no error in judgment, no rashness in his daring. He would lie in hiding until dusk, and then under cover of darkness he would hunt down Strang and kill him. After that he would fly to his canoe and escape. A little later, perhaps that very night if fate played the game well for him, he would return for Marion. And yet, as he went over and over his scheme, whipping himself into caution—into cool deliberation—there burned in his blood a fire that once or twice made him set his teeth hard, a fire that defied extinction, that smoldered only to await the breath that would fan it into a fierce blaze. It was the fire that had urged him into the rescue at the whipping post, that had sent him single handed to invade the king's castle, that had hurled him into the hopeless battle upon the shore. He swore, at himself softly, laughingly, as he paddled steadily toward Beaver Island.

The sun mounted straight and hot over his head; he paddled more slowly, and rested more frequently, as it descended into the west, but it still lacked two hours of shining behind the island forest when the white waterrim of the shore came within his vision. He had meant to hold off the coast until the approach of evening, but changed his mind and landed, concealing his canoe in a spot which he marked well, for he knew it would soon be useful to him again. Deep shadows were already gathering in the forest and through these Nathaniel made his way slowly in the direction of St. James. Between him and the town lay Marion's home and the path that led to Obadiah's. Once more the spirit of impatience, of action, stirred within him. Would Marion go first to her home? Involuntarily he changed his course so that it would bring him to the clearing. He assured himself that it would do no harm, that he still would take no chances.

He came out in the strip of dense forest between the clearing and St. James, worming his way cautiously through the underbrush until he could look out into the opening. A single glance and he drew back in astonishment. He looked again, and his face turned suddenly white, and an almost inaudible cry fell from his lips. There was no longer a cabin in the clearing! Where it had been there was gathered a crowd of men and boys. Above their heads he saw a thin film of smoke and he knew what had happened. Marion's home had burned! But what was the crowd doing? It hung close in about the smoldering ruins as if every person in it were striving to reach a common center. Surely a mere fire would not gather and hold a throng like this.

Nathaniel rose to his feet and thrust his head and shoulders from his hiding-place. He heard a loud shout near him and drew back quickly as a boy rushed madly across the opening toward the crowd crying out at the top of his voice. He had come out on the path that led to St. James. No sooner had he reached the group about the burned cabin than there came a change that added to Nathaniel's bewilderment. He heard loud voices, the excited shouting of men and the shrill cries of boys, and the crowd suddenly began to move, thinning itself out until it was racing in a black stream toward the Mormon city. In his excitement Nathaniel hurried toward the path. From the concealment of a clump of bushes he watched the people as they rushed past him a dozen paces away. Behind all the others there came a figure that drew a sharp cry from him as he leaped from his hiding-place. It was Obadiah Price.

"Obadiah!" he called. "Obadiah Price!"

The old man turned. His face was livid. He was chattering to himself, and he chattered still as he ran up to Nathaniel. He betrayed no surprise at seeing him, and yet there was the insane grip of steel in the two hands that clutched fiercely at Nathaniel's.

"You have come in time, Nat!" he panted joyfully. "You have come in time! Hurry—hurry—hurry—"

He ran back into the clearing, with Nathaniel close at his side, and pointed to the smoking ruins of the cabin among the lilacs.

"They were killed last night!" he cried shrilly. "Somebody murdered them—and burned them with the house! They are dead—dead!"

"Who?" shouted Nathaniel.

Obadiah had stopped and was rubbing and twisting his hands in his old, mad way.

"The old folks. Ho, ho, the old folks, of course! They are dead—dead—dead—"

He fairly shrieked the words. Then, for a moment, he stood tightly clutching his thin hands over his chest in a powerful effort to control himself.

"They are dead!" he repeated.

He spoke more calmly, and yet there was something so terrible in his eyes, something so harshly vibrant of elation in the quivering passion of his voice that Nathaniel felt himself filled with a strange horror. He caught him by the arm, shaking him as he would have shaken a child.

"Where is Marion?" he asked. "Tell me, Obadiah—where is Marion?"

The councilor seemed not to have heard him. A singular change came into his face and his eyes traveled beyond Nathaniel. Following his glance the young man saw that three men had appeared from the scorched shrubbery about the burned house and were hurrying toward them. Without shifting his eyes Obadiah spoke to him quickly.

"Those are king's sheriffs, Nat," he said. "They know me. In a moment they will recognize you. The United States warship Michigan has just arrived in the harbor to arrest Strang. If you can reach the cabin and hold it for an hour you will be saved. Quick—you must run—"

"Where is Marion?"

"At the cabin! She is at—"

Nathaniel waited to hear no more, but sped toward the breach in the forest that marked the beginning of the path to Obadiah's. The shouts of the king's men came to him unheeded. At the edge of the woods he glanced back and saw that they had overtaken the councilor. As he ran he drew his pistol and in his wild joy he flung back a shout of defiance to the men

Real Lover of Birds.

Miss Irene Osgood, an American woman living at Northampton, Eng., has what is said to be the only bird hotel in the world. When she first went to live in England she set aside four acres of her grounds and planted the land with every kind of bardy tree and shrub that bears fruits and berries eaten by birds. Nearer the house she built a pavilion with a tight roof as a protection against rain and snow, and here every morning she spreads a meal of suet, oats, cracked corn, meat and seeds. There are water troughs which are filled twice a day and kept fresh and sweet by frequent washings.

House Haunted? Low Rent!

When alien immigrants arrive in this country they often bring with them a stock of misapplied ingenuity. The tenant with a ghost is a game that is being played by foreigners in various parts of the United States, and, what is more, it is being played successfully.

The newcomer takes a house, and, after one or two payments of rent, complains that the premises are haunted. Quaking with simulated fear, he tells a tale of horror—of a headless man seen stalking from the coal cellar, a lady in white or of something invisible but groaning. Now, a ghost is the average landlord's prime aversion. Spectral visitors afford splendid subjects for gossip in the neighborhood, and prospective tenants seldom fail to hear and be warned off by the story.

Anxious that the report shall not get about, landlord confers with tenant, and in several such instances the result has been this—the tenant agrees to stay on, to say nothing about the matters to others and to put up with the ghost, providing the rent is substantially reduced.

COST HIS SALARY TO SLEEP

Newly Elected Senator Gets Object Lesson in High Cost of Living.

A newly elected senator came on early to Washington to arrange for rooms, and had an object-lesson furnished him on "the high cost of living." He wanted to start in "with the swim" and be at the center of things so he priced the "focusal" hotel.

"We make it $650 a month, two rooms and bath, to you, senator—without meals," said the clerk dreamily. When the senator caught his breath, he was two blocks up the avenue.

He tried another hotel; a moderately exclusive house whose lobbies were a sort of eddying pool of statesmen and "influential" lobbyists. To him the attendant flamen of this gilded shrine remarked: "Now, we have a choice two rooms with bath, at $350 per month—"

"Without eating—just for a sleeping-place!" broke in the senator, "why, I'd burn up with fever if I had to sleep at that price!"

The salary of a senator is $7,500, and it is figured on the high level of "simple living" in Washington that he ought to part with that much for assured rest at a good hotel. But the new senator didn't feel that way about it. Finally it was suggested that he might take a room at the simple hotel of the old days, at $1 per 24 hours, and save money, using the parcel room for baggage when away over Sunday. Then he could take a peep at Peacock alley and meet friends in the "lobby" which the more wealthy statesmen and tourists support.—National Magazine.

HIS PICTURE IN EVIDENCE

Should be Warning to Man With Weakness for Penny Arcade Photographs.

Should you feel a desire to visit a summer garden or a penny arcade and experiment by having yourself photographed in a ridiculous pose, remember the fate of Horace E. Todd, candymaker and formerly the husband of Beulah Todd.

Beulah Todd was granted a divorce last week by Judge Goodrich. She said that Todd was addicted to drink.

"And the proof?" the court suggested.

Beulah Todd drew from her purse a photograph postal card. It appeared to be a photograph of Horace E. Todd; his cheeks were puffed, his hair disheveled, his collar unbuttoned, and his necktie untied. In one hand he held a five-dollar bill, in the other hand, four aces. Beneath the picture there appeared this line: "A millionaire today; a tramp tomorrow."

"Is that a picture of your husband?" the court asked.

"It is."

"Divorce granted," the court decided. And Mrs. Todd, tucking the postal card safely away in her purse, walked from the courtroom.—Kansas City Star.

He is a fine telephone man and will make a good investment out of his purchase as the business is there.

J. W. Lancaster, president of the Walton Cement Works, spent from Saturday until Tuesday at Ghent with his family. Mr. Lancaster has been making some beautiful cement work at the plant here, comprising monuments, grave stones, urns, fancy paving and flooring for buildings, lawn rollers, and, in fact an assortment of articles that can be made of cement, that are marvels for beauty and cheapness. The company expects to go extensively into the manufacture of various articles, and will in a short time issue a large illustrated catalogue containing pictures of the work and prices.

The purchasing firm of B. B. Allen, O. W. Slaughter and R. A. Beaty, has suspended operation for the time being on account of the crowded condition of their warehouse at Walton, it being filled to its utmost capacity. They expect to resume purchasing as soon as they get some of the tobacco out of the way. Their purchase now aggregates about 700,000 pounds, a recent publication had it about 600, which was an error on the part of the printer—and they expect to buy a million pounds before the season is over. Mr. Shaw has been at Peebles, Ohio, for some time, where he bought over a million pounds.

Walton Lodge No. 87, Junior Order United American Mechanics holds its regular weekly meetings every Tuesday night. The lodge was recently instituted with the following officers: Councillor, Jas. Bolington; Vice Councillor, Dr. H. C. Black; Recording Secretary, W. B. Johnson; Assistant Recording Secretary, Lawrence Warth; Financial secretary, J. W. Youell; Treasurer, A. R. Edwards; Conductor, Ross Carroll; Warden, Claud Wayland; Inside Sentinel, Dudley Laws; Outside Sentinel, Omer Sanders; Junior Past Councilor, A. R. Edwards; Trustees, Hayes Abernathy, Brack Cook, Q. W. Shinkle; Chap. Bruce Dudgeon. The lodge has considerable work before it, 5 candidates being now ready for the three degrees. It is a good institution and will be helpful to the patriotic interests of the community.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Handsome Country Residence Licked Up By Firey Flames—Contents Partly Saved.

CAUSED BY A DEFECTIVE FLUE.

The two story residence of W. B. Arnold and sister, Miss Flora, in Belleview neighborhood, was destroyed by fire last Tuesday before noon, it caught in the L and is supposed to have resulted from a defective flue, as ironing clothes was in progress in that part of the building when the fire was discovered. The fire had made such progress when found that it was impossible to cope with it, although a large crowd of neighbors answered the alarm and was soon on the scene. The contents of the second story were a total loss, but most everything on the first floor was saved.

The residence was a two story building, the L of which was erected by L. P. Arnold along about 1857, and some time after the war he had a handsome front added. He occupied the residence until his death, since which time it and the farm has been owned by his children, W. B., and Miss Flora having occupied the residence for several years. It was one of the best and handsomest residences in Belleview precinct, and was situated about a mile from the town of Belleview on the Burlington pike.

Besides the residence, two out buildings were burnt, and it took a hard fight to save a large barn not far from the buildings that were destroyed.

The residence, out buildings and barns were insured in the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of this county, and it is understood that the amount of insurance on the property destroyed will approximate $1,200.

The Republican voters of Boone county are respectfully notified to meet in mass convention at the court house in Burlington, Kentucky, Saturday, April 29th, 1911, at 1:30 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing six delegates and six alternates to attend a Republican convention to be held at Paris, Bourbon county, on Wednesday, May 3d, 1911, to nominate a candidate for Railroad Commissioner in the third district of Kentucky.

A. M. Edwards, Chairman,
Republican Committee Boone Co.

The horse attached to the cart in which Harold Crigler and Robert McGlasson were going home from school, last Tuesday afternoon, scared at the umbrella which they hoisted to protect them from a light rain that was falling, and threw them out of the cart. Crigler escaped injury but McGlasson fell on his head, and was badly rattled as a result for some time before he left for home. The horse got loose from the cart but was soon caught, and hitched to the cart again and driven home.

If the weather is favorable next Saturday night a very large crowd will witness the entertainment at Library Hall, consequently you would better secure a reserved seat so as to be comfortable while the plays are in progress.

Jailer Sam Adams was the busiest man in the county last week. His duties as jailer, janitor of the court-house and janitor of the High School building kept him on the move, but he is one of those who fattens the most when busiest.

Milard Eldred, of Big Bone, who shot himself two weeks ago last Monday, with suicidal intent, died at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Covington, last Monday. His father lived in Covington, from whose home the funeral was conducted.

FIVE YEARS

In The Penitentiary Was Given Raymond Byland For Embezzlement

Arrived in Burlington Thursday Afternoon And Donned The Prison Garb On Saturday.

Raymond Byland.

Raymond Byland, assistant cashier of the defunct Richwood Deposit Bank, and who pleaded guilty to the charge of embezzling the funds of that bank, in the Boone Circuit Court, last week, and was given five years' term in the penitentiary at Frankfort, was taken to that prison last Friday by Sheriff B. B. Hume and County Attorney N. E. Riddell.

According to the young man's statements he had a rough time after he left home, which he says he did at the instance of friends. He worked at anything he could get to do while in California and often suffered from hunger having no money with which to buy food and unable to secure work. When arrested he was employed washing dishes in a restaurant. He had never seen a moment's peace after he fled and claimed to be glad to get back home and receive his sentence. At no time did he say anything implicated to implicate anyone in his down-fall, only remarking once that he could give some people a good deal of trouble. When arrested he was penniless, was glad to meet Sheriff Hume and start on the journey back to Kentucky.

Sheriff B. B. Hume.

To get Byland back to this county cost the State $415.25. That part of the cost covering the cost of the guard Gov. Willson was disposed to disallow, but it was shown that the Sheriff had economized in the mode of travel to an extent that saved an amount in excess of the cost of the guard, they traveling as second class when the Sheriff was entitled to a first class fare.

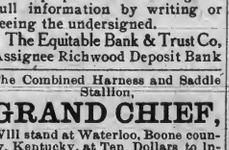
The Combined Harness and Saddle Stallion,

GRAND CHIEF,

Will stand at Waterloo, Boone county, Kentucky, at Ten Dollars to insure a colt to stand up and suck. If a mare is parted with after being bred the money is due.

Grand Chief is a beautiful bay sixteen and one-half hands high, weighs 1,200 pounds, has splendid style and is a grand individual.



Grand Chief was sired by Sensatio 7972, by Red Wilkes, sire of Ralph Wilkes 2:06¾, Ethrial 2:08¾, Blanche Louise 2:10 and the dam of Walnut Hall 2:08, Kingmond 2:09. Sensatio's first dam by Dictator 113, sire of Jay Eye See 2:06, and the dams of Nancy Hanks 2:04, Gordon Prince 2:05, Gazette 2:07, Lockheart 2:08. Sensatio's second dam by Mambrino Patchen 58, sire of the dams of Ralph Wilks 2:06, Jupe 2:07, Crawford 2:07, Bouncer 2:09, Bright Light 2:08.

Grand Chief's first dam by Blood Chief 3149, sire of the dams of Will Kerr 2:07, J H L 2:08. Grand Chief's second dam by Morgan the Messenger 3169, sire of the dams of Greenfield Boy 2:13, and the grandsire of the dam of My Star 2:08¾. Grand Chief's third dam by White's Blue Bull, sire of the granddam of My Star 2:08¾.

Grand Chief's colts have been as successful in the show ring, as the colts of anyother horse in the county.

W. G. KITE, Burlington R. D. 2.

The Handsome Young Harness Stallion,

Major Mateo,

Black horse; foaled 1906; 15.3 hands high; sired by Sam Mateo 21256 (race record (4) 2:13¼ (tr) 267 the sire of May Earl 2:10½ (tr) 2:05, Silverfinch (2) 2:21½, Abe J 2:10, Thoughtful 2:11½, Maud Mateo (3) 2:15½ and 27 others in 2:30 or better.

Sam Mateo was sired by the great Simmons 2:28, the sire of 140 in the 2:30 list, including McKaig Simmons 2:05¾, Dr. Madara 2:08, Tregantle 2:09¼, Hesperus 2:09¼, San Mateo 2:13¾ (tr) 2:07, also sire of the dams of the great mare Hamburg Belle 2:01¼, Bunda York 2:04½, the peerless Fereno 2:05¾, Bonnie Direct 2:05¾, and 63 other 2:30 performers. Simmons 2:28 is by George Wilkes 2:22.

The first dam of Major Mateo is Nellie H. (dam of Edison 2:26¾ (tr) 2:17), by Conspirator 8128, he by Batholomew Wilkes 7054, the sire of George Patchen 2:12¾, Grover 2:13¼, 2:22¾, and 20 others in the 2:30 list; he by George Wilkes 2:22.

Major Mateo is a horse of fine style and action, has great natural speed and is a pure gaited trotter, a fine breeder, good manners, and one of the handsomest horses in Kentucky. His colts have size, action and substance.

Major Mateo will make the season of 1911 at the "Willis Farm" 2½ miles north of Big Bone Springs, until July 1st, at $12.50 to insure a living foal, money due when foal is dropped or when mare is parted with or bred to another horse without my consent.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but I will not be responsible should any occur.

Pasture furnished at $2 per month.

PAT SHIRE

is a dark brown color, weighs 1,500 pounds. He will make the season of 1911 at Spring Water Stock Farm two miles south of Burlington, near the forks of Gunpowder creek at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but I will not be responsible should any occur.

No business done on Sunday.

Burlington, Ky., R. D. 2.

HIGH VINE
—No. 2733—

Foaled in spring of 1904; by Highland Gaines, 1667; grand sire, Highland Denmark, 730; dam, Bessie Sable, 2882, by Shropshire Kentucky Squirrel, 1865. Second dam, Ida May by Fayette Denmark. Third dam, Maxey by Granger. Fourth dam Mare by Expert, 77.

Breed to a Proven Sire.

HIGH VINE is a five gaited saddle stallion, seven years old, 16 hands, and weighs 1200 lbs., a rich golden chestnut in color, and a perfect model in conformation.

HIGH VINE is a uniform breeder and reproduces his own kind. The show record of his two sets of colts is unequaled by the colts of any sire in this section of country. His colts were shown at various fairs last year and were never defeated in their class and in addition awakened public admiration everywhere. In several instances the owners of High Vine colts have been offered $200 for the colts at weaning time, and this handsome price was refused by the said owners as all of them believed the colts to promise much better as they developed. There must be something in the breeding when $200 offers for weaning colts are rejected by owners who are governed by business principles in the sale of the products of their farm. Take a look at High Vine's colts and you will see the style and attractive qualities that make the price in a sale.

HIGH VINE will make the season at the stable of W. Lee Gaines on the Lexington turnpike, midway between Walton and Richwood, Ky. $20.00 to insure a live foal, season money due if mare is parted with.

No responsibility for accidents.

Make engagements ahead as his services are limited, and it saves annoying delays.

For the accommodation of those at a distance Mr. Gaines will pasture a few mares at $2.50 per month, with the best facilities for their care and keeping.

PREMIUM.—Free season for 1912 will be given the owner of the best High Vine colt exhibited at Florence fair at the High Vine colt show.

The General Purpose Stallion,

ROBERT WILLIS, 57255.

ROBERT WILLIS is a chestnut horse with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high and weighs 1250 pounds, foaled in 1905. Individually he is a horse of grand finish with plenty of substance, a fine disposition, with the best of feet and legs. His blood lines are of the best as his pedigree will show. Ordinary mares bred to this horse will not fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as general-purpose horses and roadsters, as his foals have size, style, conformation and action, good heads, best of disposition—plenty of life and every indication of developing into useful and selling horses.

ROBERT WILLIS is a fast natural trotter with a perfect way of going, and with unmited handling last year, after making a season, showed that he has race horse speed, and with a proper preparation, will easily take a mark of 2:20 or better.

He will make the season of 1911 at Clover Leaf Stock Farm at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with or moved from the county after being bred, in which case the money becomes due and collectable at once.

Parties breeding must follow up the season.

Care taken to prevent accidents but not be responsible should any occur.

Don De Gozee

the Belgin Daft Horse foaled in 1908 Will make the season at E. J. Aylor's stable, 1 1-2 miles from Hebron, on North Bend Road, at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt comes or mare parted with, or leaves the county.

Great care will be taken to prevent accidents but we will not be responsible should any occur.

DON DE GOZEE, despite his great size and weight, is well balanced throughout, perfectly proportioned and symmetrically built. He is as light action as stallions of much smaller type, and disposition much better than usually found in horses of blood strain.

DON DE GOZEE is a beautiful dark sorrel, 16 1-2 hands, weight 1,600 pounds, broad, flat heavy bone, fine style and action. This great breed of draft horses is especially known for better action than any other draft horses, for heavy, good bone and good hoof, and gentle, kind workers. Don De Gozee, was sired by Bayard De Gozee, whose Belgian Stud Book No. is 21670. Dam, Della Wise, brown mare, the great draft show mare of Campbell County, Kentucky.

WALTER RIDDELL,
E. J. AYLOR.

The High Class Saddle and Harness Stallion.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS,
2844 A. S. B. A

Will make the season of 1911 at the W. L. Norman Stock Farm at Walton, Ky., and if you want a show horse breed to him.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is a dark bay, 16 hands, weighs 1200 lbs., with three white feet, snip and star, and lots of style and action. He was sired by by Harrison Chief 1606, by Clark Chief (59); dam Kis Hardy (2930) by Indian Chief (1718); 1st dam Miss Berry 4084, by Rhoderick 104; by Mambrino Le Grande (99); 2d dam, by Well's Yellow Jacket 112; 3d dam by Gray Eagle.

Miss Berry is also the dam of Woodland Chief, one of the finest show horses in Kentucky. Woodland Chief is a full brother to Bell's Fitzsimmons and a full brother to Rhoderick, and one of the finest geldings ever showed, and sold to a party in Texas for $1,0.0.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is also the sire of the champion walk-trot gelding, Mat Coyne, showed at the Horse Shows in the fall of 1908 and sold for $3,600, and also the champion harness mare showed by C. C. Harris.

L. T. Anderson, of Maysville, one of the largest dealers in the state, says some of the highest class horses he has handled have been by Bell's Fitzsimmons.

The greatest show, harness and saddle horses of our state have sprung from the loins of Harrison Chief and Indian Chief. Where can you find a horse of better breeding than Bell's Fitzsimmons? He has been a winning show horse ever since a suckling colt, and has proven himself a successful sire. Some of the highest priced saddle, harness and walk-trot horses that have left the State have been sired by him.

Personal care over all stock. Mares left on good grass at 10c a day at owner's risk.

Cash $10.00 to insure a mare in foal or parted with.

JOHN RENSLER,
C. R. BEST,
Phone 14, Walton, Ky.

Also prepared to break colts and handle Saddle and Harness horses.

Imp. German Coach Horse,

Plutarch, 3183,

Will make the season of 1911 on Monday of each week in Burlington, Ky., and the remainder of the time at my stable one mile west of Idlewild, Ky., at $10 to insure a colt to stand up and suck.

Big Tom, a Spanish Jack, and Lanky Bob will make the season at my stable at $8 to insure a colt to stand up and suck.

I will give a return season for the best colt, the 1910 get of Plutarch, regardless of sex, to be shown at the Boone County Harvest Home this fall.

For pedigree and particulars call on or address the undersigned.

The Fine Saddle and Harness or General Purpose Stallion,

Harry Willis,

Is a handsome blood bay stallion with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high, weighs 1150 pounds, and was foaled in 1907.

His conformation, individuality, breeding and reproductive qualities all combined in one horse go to make that desire of all conservative breeders, an ideal stallion.

He is the personification of perfection, has a fine head and neck, strong, deep body, short back, very fine quarters, clean, flat legs, good bone, fine main and tail, good disposition and fine action.

Harry Willis by Col. Willis 37706, by Col. Kipp 15877, record 2:20½, sire of High Grade (P) 2:11¼, Colonel (P) 2:13¾, Pawling 2:21¼, Daisy Simmons 2:30, by Kenwood 45875, sire of Col. Kipp 2:20½, by Harry Clay 45, record 2:29, sire of four in the list and the dam of Bellini 2:13¾, sire of Farfella 2:09¾, Ora Bellini 2:09¼, Beatrice Bellina 2:08¼, Carlo 2:08¾, Tokio 2:09, Leonard 2:08 1-4, Albert C 2:09¾, Soprano (3) 2:08¾, winner of the American Horse Breeders' Futurity in 1909, and sold to John E. Madden for $7,000, also sire of Green Mountain Maid, dam of Electioneer 125, sire of Arion 2:07¼ and 56 others in 2:30 and dams of 188 in 2:30. First dam Belle H by Bondsman 37641, by Barron Wilkes 4758, by George Wilkes 519; second dam, Corinne by Simmons 2744; he by George Wilkes 519, Corinne's dam Lady Belle, she by Red Wilkes 1749.

He will make the season of 1911 at the farm of C. T. Northcutt, one and a half miles north of Waterloo and one and a half miles east of Belleview, at ten dollars to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur. Money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with.

Mares left on good grass at owner's risk, at 10 cents per day.

DEMOCRATIC SENATORS

To Settle The Differences Between The Regular and Progressive Republicans.

Washington, April 22.—The Democrats of the senate may be called upon to arbitrate the differences between the Republican regulars and progressives over the question of committees assignments.

This unprecedented situation was freely predicted tonight following the adjournment of a meeting of the Republican committee on committees of the senate, at which the demands of the "progressives" for the right to dictate one-fourth of the Republican members on all committees was again turned down.

The "progressives" today did not ask for a formal recognition of their wing of the party, but this made no difference in the vote of seven to four by which their original demands were defeated yesterday. It was said the progressives will appeal to the senate from the assignment of the committee on committees and in this way the Democrats will be called in to settle the difficulty.

Neither of the Republican factions is disposed to shirk the responsibility of the situation. If the dispute gets into the hands of Democratic senators it is predicted that the result may be far more consequential than the mere straightening out of the committee tangles. The snarl in the senate would be such that no one could forecast the legislative results of the session.

Just what action the Democrats would take as arbitrators in the committee dispute is speculative. A number of them are known to sympathize strongly with the insurgents, while many others unquestionably would vote to sustain party regularity. As a result the situation tonight seems almost hopelessly complicated.

At today's meeting a resolution adopted yesterday which provided for the organization of the committees in alphabetical order was reconsidered and Senator Gallinger, as chairman of the committee, was instructed to bring in a tentative list of assignments. But this action was not taken without strenuous opposition from the progressives who still insisted upon their right to designate their representatives on all the committees.

When they were voted down the progressives retired from the committee room. They do not relish the prospect of having Mr. Gallinger name the progressive members of the committees, and while they make no declaration to this effect, it is plainly their purpose to oppose the chairman's action whenever it fails to meet their requirements of one-fourth of the Republican committee assignments.

BASE BALL.

Last Saturday afternoon the High School ball team of this place crossed bats with the strong school team of Belleview, at the B. H. S. park. The main feature of the game was the batting of the Burlington boys. Rogers was hit rather freely at all times. Each team had on their new uniforms and made a nice appearance. The Belleview boys are a well behaved set of young men, and play ball without having any trouble. There are some good players on the Belleview team, but luck seemed to be against them Saturday. The Burlington boys won the game by the onesided score, 25 to 6.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy only 50c at all dealers.

You can change the color and style of finish on the wood work of any room at a cost of only two cents a square foot, and have a mission diningroom, den or sitting room without the expense of removing the paint or varnish—old furniture can be made to match. Watch my demonstrator at S. L. Edwards & Son's hardware store, Walton, on Thursday and Friday, May 4th and 5th, and ask all the questions you desire.

Black, the retiring manager, went to Warsaw Thursday to take up the Gallatin County Telephone Company, having purchased that property from R. H. Brown, for $4,500, and he will move to Warsaw at once. He is a fine telephone man and will make a good investment out of his purchase as the business is there.

J. W. Lancaster, president of the Walton Cement Works, spent from Saturday until Tuesday at Ghent with his family. Mr. Lancaster has been making some beautiful cement work at the plant here, comprising monuments, grave stones, urns, fancy paving and flooring for buildings, lawn rollers, and, in fact an assortment of articles that can be made of cement that are marvels for beauty and cheapness. The company expects to go extensively into the manufacture of various articles, and will in a short time issue a large illustrated catalogue containing pictures of the various and prices.

The purchasing firm of B. B. Allen, O. W. Slaughter and R. A. Allen, has suspended operation for the time being on account of the crowded condition of their warehouse at Walton, it being filled to its utmost capacity. They expect to resume purchasing as soon as they get some of the tobacco out of the way. Their purchase now aggregates about 700,000 pounds, —a recent publication had it about 600, which was an error on the part of the printer—and they expect to buy a million pounds before the season is over. Mr. Shaw has been at Peebles, Ohio, for some time, where he bought over a million pounds.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Handsome Country Residence Licked Up By Firey Flames—Contents Partly Saved.

CAUSED BY A DEFECTIVE FLUE.

The two story residence of W. B. Arnold and sister, Miss Flora, in Belleview neighborhood, was destroyed by fire last Tuesday before noon. It caught in the L and is supposed to have resulted from a defective flue, as ironing clothes was in progress in that part of the building when the fire was discovered. The fire had made such progress when found that it was impossible to cope with it, although a large crowd of neighbors answered the alarm and was soon on the scene. The contents of the second story were a total loss, but most everything on the first floor was saved.

The residence was a two story building, the L of which was erected by L. P. Arnold along about 1857, and some time after the war he had a handsome front added. He occupied the residence until his death, since which time it and the farm has been owned by his children, W. B., and Miss Flora having occupied the residence for several years. It was one of the best and handsomest residences in Belleview precinct, and was situated about a mile from the town of Belleview on the Burlington pike.

Besides the residence, two out buildings were burnt, and it took a hard fight to save a large barn not far from the buildings that were destroyed.

The residence, out buildings and two large barns were insured in the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of this county, and it is understood that the amount of insurance on the property destroyed will approximate $1,200.

The Republican voters of Boone county are respectfully notified to meet in mass convention at the court house in Burlington, Kentucky, Saturday, April 29th, 1911, at 1:30 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing six delegates and six alternates to attend a Republican convention to be held at Paris, Bourbon county, on Wednesday, May 3d, 1911, to nominate a candidate for Railroad Commissioner in the third district of Kentucky.

A. M. Edwards, Chairman,
Republican Committee Boone Co.

The horse attached to the cart in which Harold Crigler and Robert McGlasson were going home from school, last Tuesday afternoon, scared at the umbrella which they hoisted to protect them from a light rain that was falling, and threw them out of the cart. Crigler escaped injury but McGlasson fell on his head, and was badly rattled as a result for some time before he left for home. The horse got loose from the cart but was soon caught, and hitched to the cart again and driven home.

If the weather is favorable next Saturday night a very large crowd will witness the entertainment at Library Hall, consequently you would better secure a reserved seat so as to be comfortable while the plays are in progress.

FIVE YEARS

In The Penitentiary Was Given Raymond Byland For Embezzlement

Arrived In Burlington Thursday Afternoon And Donned The Prison Garb On Saturday.

Raymond Byland.

Raymond Byland, assistant cashier of the defunct Richwood Deposit Bank, and who pleaded guilty to the charge of embezzling the funds of that bank, in the Boone Circuit Court, last week, and was given five years' term in the penitentiary at Frankfort, was taken to that prison last Friday by Sheriff B. B. Hume and County Attorney N. E. Riddell.

According to the young man's statements he had a rough time after he left home, which he says he did at the instance of friends. He worked at anything he could get to do while in California and often suffered from hunger having no money with which to buy food and unable to secure work. When arrested he was employed washing dishes in a restaurant. He had never given a moment's peace after he fled and claimed to be glad to get back home and receive his sentence. At no time did he say anything calculated to implicate anyone in his down-fall, only remarking once that he could give some people a good deal of trouble. When arrested he was penniless, was glad to meet Sheriff Hume and start on the journey back to Kentucky.

Sheriff B. B. Hume.

To get Byland back to this county cost the State $416.25. That part of the claim covering the cost of the guard Gov. Willson was disposed to disallow, but it was shown that the Sheriff had economized in the mode of travel to an extent that saved an amount in excess of the cost of the guard, they traveling as second class when the Sheriff was entitled to a first class fare.

The Handsome Young Harness Stallion,

Major Mateo,

Black horse; foaled 1906; 15.3 hands high; sired by Sam Mateo 21255 (race record (4) 2:13¾ (tr) 207 the sire of May Earl 2:10½ (tr) 2:05, Silverfinch (2) 2:21¼, Abe J 2:10, Thoughtful 2:11¼, Maud Mateo (3) 2:15½ and 27 others in 2:30 or better.

Sam Mateo was sired by the great Simmons 2:28, the sire of 140 in the 2:30 list, including McKaig Simmons 2:05½, Dr. Madara 2:08, Tregantle 2:09½, Hesperus 2:09½, San Mateo 2:13¾ (tr) 2:07, also sire of the dams of the great mare Hamburg Belle 2:01¾ Bunda York 2:04½, the peerless Fereno 2:05¼, Bonnie Direct 2:05¼, and 63 other 2:30 performers; Simmons 2:28 is by George Wilkes 2:22.

The first dam of Major Mateo is Nellie H. (dam of Edison 2:26¾ (tr) 2:17), by Conspirator 5126, he by Batholomew Wilkes 7054, the sire of George Patchen 2:12¾, Genova Wilkes 2:23¼, and 20 others in the 2:30 list; he by George Wilkes 2:22.

Major Mateo is a horse of fine style and action, has great natural speed and is a pure gaited trotter, a fine breeder, good manners, and one of the handsomest horses in Kentucky. His colts have size, action and substance.

Major Mateo will make the season of 1911 at the "Willis Farm" 2½ miles north of Big Bone Springs, until July 1st, at $12.50 to insure a living foal, money due when foal is dropped or when mare is parted with or bred to another horse without my consent.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but I will not be responsible should any occur.

Pasture furnished at $2 per month.

TOM HUEY,

PAT SHIRE

is a dark brown color, weighs 1,500 pounds. He will make the season of 1911 at Spring Water Stock Farm two miles south of Burlington, near the forks of Gunpowder creek at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but I will not be responsible should any occur.

No business done on Sunday.

W. H. ROUSE,
Burlington, Ky., R. D. 2.

HIGH VINE
—No. 2783—

Foaled in spring of 1904; by Highland Gaines, 1667; grand sire, Highland Denmark, 730; dam, Bessie Sable, 2882, by Shropshire Kentucky Squirrel, 1865. Second dam, Ida May by Fayette Denmark. Third dam, Maxey by Granger. Fourth dam Mare by Expert, 77.

Breed to a Proven Sire.

HIGH VINE is a five gaited saddle stallion, seven years old, 16 hands, and weighs 1200 lbs., a rich golden chestnut in color, and a perfect model in confirmation.

HIGH VINE is a uniform breeder and reproduces his own kind. The show record of the get of colts is unequaled by the colts of any sire in this section of country. His colts were shown at various fairs last year and were never defeated in their class and in addition awakened public admiration every where. In several instances the owners of High Vine colts have been offered $200 for the colts at weanling time, and this handsome price was refused by the said owners as all of them believed the colts to promise much better as they developed. There must be something in the breeding when $200 offers for weanling colts are rejected by owners who are governed by business principles in the sale of the products of their farm. Take a look at High Vine's colts and you will see the style and attractive qualities that make the price in a sale.

HIGH VINE will make the season at the stable of W. Lee Gaines on the Lexington turnpike, midway between Walton and Richwood, Ky. $20.00 to insure a live foal, season money due if mare is parted with.

No responsibility for accidents.

Make engagements ahead as his services are limited, and it saves annoying delays.

For the accommodation of those at a distance Mr. Gaines will pasture a few mares at $2.50 per month, with the best facilities for their care and keeping.

PREMIUM.—Free season for 1912 will be given the owner of the best High Vine colt exhibited at Florence fair at the High Vine colt show.

HIGH VINE HORSE CO.,

The General Purpose Stallion,

ROBERT WILLIS, 57255.

ROBERT WILLIS is a chestnut horse with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high and weighs 1250 pounds, foaled in 1905. Individually he is a horse of grand finish with plenty of substance, a fine disposition, with the best of feet and legs. His blood lines are of the best as his pedigree will show. Ordinary mares bred to this horse will not fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as general-purpose horses and roadsters, as his foals have size, style, conformation and action, good heads, best of disposition, plenty of life and every indication of developing into useful and selling horses.

ROBERT WILLIS is a fast natural trotter with a perfect way of going, and with limited handling last year, after making a season, showed that he has race horse speed, and with a proper preparation, will easily take a mark of 2:20 or better.

He will make the season of 1911 at Clover Leaf Stock Farm at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with or moved from the county after being bred, in which case the money becomes due and collectable at once.

Parties breeding must follow up the season.

Care taken to prevent accidents but not be responsible should any occur.

Don De Gozee

the Belgin Daft Horse foaled in 1908

Will make the season at E. J. Aylor's stable, 1 1-2 miles from Hebron, on North Bend Road, at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt comes or mare parted with, or leaves the county.

Great care will be taken to prevent accidents but we will not be responsible should any occur.

DON DE GOZEE, despite his great size and weight, is well balanced throughout, perfectly proportioned and symmetrically built. He is as light action as stallions of much smaller type, and disposition much better than usually found in horses of blood strain.

DON DE GOZEE is a beautiful dark sorrel, 16 1-2 hands, weight 1,800 pounds, broad, flat heavy bone, fine style and action. This great breed of draft horses is especially known for better action than any other draft horses, for heavy, good bone and good hoof, and gentle, kind workers. Don De Gozee, was sired by Bayard De Gozee, whose Belgian Stud Book No. is 21670. Dam, Della Wise, brown mare, the great draft show mare of Campbell County, Kentucky.

WALTER RIDDELL,
E. J. AYLOR.

The High Class Saddle and Harness Stallion.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS,

2844 A. S. B. A

Will make the season of 1911 at the W. L. Norman Stock Farm at Walton, Ky., and if you want a show horse breed to him.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is a dark bay, 16 hands, weighs 1200 lbs., with three white feet, snip and star, and lots of style and action. He was sired by

by Harrison Chief 1606, by Clark Chief (59); dam Kit Hardy (2830) by Indian Chief (1718); 1st dam Miss Berry 4034, by Rhoderick 104; by Mambrino Le Grande (99); 2d dam, by Well's Yellow Jacket 112; 3d dam by Gray Eagle.

Miss Berry is also the dam of Woodland Chief, one of the finest show horses in Kentucky. Woodland Chief is a full brother to Bell's Fitzsimmons and a full brother to Rhoderick, and one of the finest geldings ever showed, and sold to a party in Texas for $1,0.0.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is also the sire of the champion walk-trot gelding, Mat Coyne, showed at the Horse Shows in the fall of 1908 and sold for $3,600, and also the champion harness mare showed by C. C. Harris.

L. T. Anderson, of Maysville, one of the largest dealers in the state, says some of the highest class horses he has handled have been by Bell's Fitzsimmons.

The greatest show, harness and saddle horses of our state have sprung from the loins of Harrison Chief and Indian Chief. Where can you find a horse of better breeding than Bell's Fitzsimmons? He has been a winning show horse ever since a suckling colt, and has proven himself a successful sire. Some of the highest priced saddle, harness and walk-trot horses that have left the State have been sired by him.

Personal care over all stock. Mares left on good grass at 10c a day at owner's risk.

$15 00 to insure a mare in foal or parted with.

JOHN RENSLER,
C. R. BEST.

Phone 14, Walton, Ky.

Also prepared to break colts and handle Saddle and Harness horses.

Imp. German Coach Horse,

Plutarch, 3183,

Will make the season of 1911 on Monday of each week in Burlington, Ky., and the remainder of the time at my stable one mile west of Hebron Lick, Ky., at $10 to insure a colt to stand up and suck.

Big Tom, a Spanish Jack, and Lanky Bob will make the season at my stable at $8 to insure a colt to stand up and suck.

I will give a return season for the best colt, the 1910 get of Plutarch, regardless of sex, to be shown at the Boone County Harvest Home this fall.

For pedigree and particulars call on or address the undersigned.

T. E. RANDALL,

The Fine Saddle and Harness or General Purpose Stallion,

Harry Willis,

Is a handsome blood bay stallion with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high, weighs 1150 pounds, and was foaled in 1907.

His conformation, individuality, breeding and reproductive qualities all combined in one horse go to make that desire of all conservative breeders, an ideal stallion.

He is the personification of perfection, has a fine head and neck, strong, deep shoulders, short back, very fine quarters, clean, flat legs, good bone, fine main and tail, good disposition and fine action.

Harry Willis by Col. Willis 37706, by Col. Kipp 15877, record 2:20¼, sire of High Grade (P) 2:11¼, Colonel (P) 2:16¼, Pawling 2:21¼, Daisy Simmons 2:30, by Kenwood 45875, sire of Col. Kipp 2:20½, by Harry Clay 45, record 2:29, sire of four in the list and the dam of Bellini 2:13¾, sire of Farfalla 2:09¼, Ora Bellini 2:09¼, Beatrice Bellina 2:08¼, Carlo 2:08¾, Toklo 2:09, Leonard 2:08 1-4, Albert C 2:09½, Soprano (3) 2:08¾, winner of the American Horse Breeders' Futurity in 1909, and sold to John E. Madden for $7,000, also sire of Green Mountain Maid, dam of Electioneer 125, sire of Arion 2:07¾ and 56 others in 2:30 and dams of 153 in 2:30. First dam Nellie H by Bondsman 37641, by Barron Wilkes 4753, by George Wilkes 519; second dam, Prime Daisy Simmons 2744; he by George Wilkes 519, Corinne's dam Lady Belle, she by Red Wilkes 1749.

He will make the season of 1911 at the farm of C. T. Northcutt, one and a half miles north of Waterloo and one and a half miles east of Belleview, at ten dollars to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur. Money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with.

Mares left on good grass at owner's risk, at 10 cents per day.

DEMOCRATIC SENATORS

To Settle The Differences Between The Regular and Progressive Republicans.

Washington, April 22.—The Democrats of the senate may be called upon to arbitrate the differences between the Republican regulars and progressives over the question of committees assignments.

This unprecedented situation was freely predicted tonight following the adjournment of a meeting of the Republican committee on committees of the senate, at which the demands of the "progressives" for the right to dictate one-fourth of the Republican members on all committees was again turned down.

The "progressives" today did not ask for a formal recogaition of their wing of the party, but this made no d... vote of seven to four by which their original demands were defeated yesterday. It was said the progressives will appeal to the senate from the assignment of the committee on committees and in this way the Democrats will be called in to settle the difficulty.

Neither of the Republican factions is disposed to shirk the responsibility of the situation. If the diapute gets into the hands of Democratic senators it is predicted that the result may be far more consequential than the mere straightening out of the committee tangles. The snarl in the senate would be such that no one could forecast the legislative results of the session.

Just what action the Democrats would take as arbitrators in the committee dispute is speculative. A number of them are known to sympathize strongly with the insurgents, while many others unquestionably would vote to sustain party regularity. As a result the situation tonight seems almost hopelessly complicated.

At today's meeting a resolution adopted yesterday which provided for the organization of the committees in alphabetical order was reconsidered and Senator Gallinger, as chairman of the committee, was instructed to bring in a tentative list of assignments. But this action was not taken without strenuous opposition from the progressives who still insisted upon their right to designate their representatives on all the committees.

When they were voted down the progressives retired from the committee room. They do not relish the prospect of having Mr. Gallinger name the progresive members of the committees, and while they make no declaration to this effect, it is plainly their purpose to oppose the chairman's action whenever it fails to meet their requirements of one-fourth of the Republican committee assignments.

BASE BALL.

Last Saturday afternoon the High School ball team of this place crossed bats with the strong school team of Belleview, at the B. H. S. park. The main feature of the game was the batting of the Burlington boys. Rogers was hit rather freely at all times. Each team had on their new uniforms and made a nice appearance. The Belleview boys are a well behaved set of young men, and play ball without having any trouble. There are some good players on the Belleview team, but luck seemed to be against them Saturday. The Burlington boys won the game by the onesided score, 25 to 6.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps!

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy only 50c at all dealers.

You can change the color and style of finish on the wood work of any room at a cost of only two cents a square foot, and have a mission dining room, den or sitting room without the expense of removing the paint or varnish—old furniture can be made to match. Watch my demonstrator at S. L. Edwards & Son's hardware store, Walton, on Thursday and Friday, May 4th and 5th, and ask all the questions you desire.

Chi-Namel.

FLICKERTOWN.

Miss Lottie Burns visited her cousin Miss Snelling Sunday.

F. M. Voshell and family, visited J. W. White and family, Sunday.

Willie White has returned after a three month's stay at Union.

Leslie Sebree and Russell Finn were in the city, Saturday and Sunday.

F. M. Voshell requests us to say he will charge for the service of his bull and male hog this year.

Oil Now Made Solid.

Tank steamers taking oil the world around may in time be a thing of the past. Now, they have got up solid oil, and they declare it is almost pure petroleum. Slight pressure, such as squeezing a cake of it in the hand, causes the oil to ooze out. The cake of petroleum, perhaps packed into a wooden case lined with tinfoil, thus preventing waste or evaporation, may be shipped all around the world.

Rich Agricultural Section.

It was mentioned at the annual dinner of the Lancashire Farmers' association that there were 137,000 cows in the county—a greater number than in any other county in England. Lancashire, too, had the largest acreage of potatoes, with the exception of Lincolnshire, in Great Britain, having 43,000 acres under cultivation.

ENJOYING GOOD HEALTH

In the Balmy Air of The Land of Beautiful Flowers.

To the Recorder:

One year ago I sent a letter from Chattanooga to the Recorder. I am now 570 miles further south, and in Florida, and I will write again to my friends and relations. We left Chattanooga on the 22d of February and arrived in Jacksonville the next morning, remained one day and night, continuing our way to Lake City, which is a beautiful place surrounded by thirteen lakes. At this place we spent a day and night, then went on to White Springs, our destination, where we were conducted to the Edgewood Hotel which is conveniently located and quite commodious and well planned. The proprietor and his wife are very pleasant and accommodating. This hotel is built in the edge of the woods, everything new and modern and has been occupied since January this year, and has been filled with people ever since from all over the United States, who come here to drink and bathe in the sulphur water from a spring that flows 32,400 gallons of water a minute.

They have a fine pool for diving and bathing, and one prepared for giving hot baths. I have [illegible] brought here on stretchers and diped in the pool on chairs, that were benefited so much as to walk in two weeks. This is a beautiful place. The trees are covered with moss and dame nature has formed such a lovely archway through the woods that it is called Lover's Lane. It is a rural, rustic place and quite a summer resort for the extreme southerners. The population is about 1,500 with bright prospects of more as soon as the new railroad that is under construction from Jacksonville reaches here.

This place has never been advertised, those who come here go away and tell their friends what the water has done for them. White Springs is 70 miles west of Jacksonville and 50 miles from Valdosta, Georgia, on the Suwannee river, from which the old time song that so many are familiar with took its name. The scenery along the river is beautiful, although the water is very dark from the vegitation, but there are fish and alligators both in the river. The atmosphere is grand. I have certainly been blest with the very best of health. I can hardly realize that more than eight months ago, I was sailover the continent from Southern Tennessee to the great Dominion of Canada, where I enjoyed the beautiful scenery and the fresh, pure air, and now what a change of scenes and climate, where I enjoy a sweet repose in the balmy air of the beautiful land of flowers. I am truly thankful and know the Lord has blest me by placing me with such lovely people that have given me this pleasure. I wish every body well.

Women

Women who suffer from female ailments, frequently neglect their trouble, till a general break-down follows. Don't wait till your case is as bad as that—take Cardui in time. It is a safe, reliable medicine, for all women.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. Rena Hare, of Pierce, Fla., tried Cardui and afterward wrote: "I was a sufferer from all sorts of female trouble, had pain in my side, drawing pains in my legs, could not sleep, had shortness of breath.

"I suffered for years, until my husband insisted on my trying Cardui. The first bottle gave me relief and now I am almost well."

Try Cardui.
It will help you."

The Courage of Captain Plum

who were pursuing him. Marion was at the cabin—and a government ship had come to put an end to the reign of the Mormon king! He shouted Marion's name as he came in sight of the cabin; he cried it aloud as he bounded up the low steps.

"Marion—Marion—"

In front of the door that led to the tiny chamber in which he had taken Obadiah's gold he saw a figure. For a moment he was blinded by his sudden dash from the light of day into the gloom of the cabin, and he saw only that a figure was standing there as still as death. His pistol dropped to the floor. He stretched out his arms, and his voice sobbed in its entreaty as he whispered the girl's name. In response to that whisper came a low, glad cry, and Marion lay trembling on his breast.

"I have come back for you!" he breathed.

He felt her heart beating against him. He pressed her closer, and her arms slipped about his neck.

"I have come back for you!"

He was almost crying, like a boy, in his happiness.

"I love you, I love you—"

He felt the warm touch of her lips.

"You will go with me?"

"If you want me," she whispered. "If you want me—after you know—what I am—"

She shuddered against his breast, and he raised her face between his two hands and kissed her until she drew away from him, crying softly.

"You must wait—you must wait!"

He saw now in her face an agony that appalled him. He would have gone to her again, but there came loud voices from the forest, and recovering his pistol he sprang to the door. Half a hundred paces away were Obadiah and the king's sheriffs. They had stopped and the councilor was expostulating excitedly with the men, evidently trying to keep them from the cabin. Suddenly one of the three broke past him and ran swiftly toward the open door, and with a shriek of warning to Nathaniel the old councilor drew a pistol and fired point blank in the sheriff's back. In another instant the two men behind had fired and Obadiah fell forward upon his face.

With a yell of rage Nathaniel leaped from the door. He heard Marion cry out his name, but his fighting blood was stirred and he did not stop. Obadiah had given up his life for him, for Marion, and he was mad with a desire to wreak vengeance upon the murderers. The first man lay where he had fallen, with Obadiah's bullet through his back. The other two fired again as Nathaniel rushed down upon them. He heard the zip of one of the balls, which came so close that it stung his cheek.

"Take that!" he cried.

He fired, still running—once, twice three times and one of the two men crumpled down as though a powerful blow had broken his legs under him.

The other two turned into the path and ran. Nathaniel caught a glimpse of a frightened, boyish face, and something of mercy prompted him to hold the shot he was about to send through his lungs.

"Stop!" he shouted. "Stop!"

He aimed at the fugitive's legs and fired.

"Stop!"

The boyish sheriff was lengthening the distance between them and Nathaniel halted to make sure of his last ball. He was about to shoot when there came a sharp command from down the path and a file of men burst into view, running at double-quick. He saw the flash of a saber, the gleam of brass buttons, the blue glare of the setting sun on leveled carbines, and he stopped, shoulder to shoulder with the man he had been pursuing. For a moment he stared as the man with the naked saber approached. Then he sprang toward him with a joyful cry of recognition.

"My God, Sherly—Sherly—"

He stood with his arms stretched out, his naked sword behind.

"Sherly, Lieutenant Sherly—don't you know me?"

The lieutenant had dropped the point of his saber. He advanced a step, his face filled with astonishment.

"Plum!" he cried incredulously. "Is it you?"

For the moment Nathaniel could only wring the other's hand. He tried to speak but his breath choked him.

"I told you in Chicago that I was going to blow up this damned island—if you wouldn't do it for me—" he gasped at last. "I've had—a hell of a time—"

"You look it!" laughed the lieutenant. "We got our orders the second day after you left to 'Arrest Strang, and break up the Mormon kingdom!' We've got Strang aboard the Michigan. But he's dead."

"Dead!"

"He was shot in the back by one of his own men as we were bringing him up the gang-way. The fellow who killed him has given himself up, and says that he did it because Strang had him publicly whipped day before yesterday. I'm up here hunting for a man named Obadiah Price. Do you know—"

"What do you want with Obadiah Price?"

"The president of the United States wants him. That's all I know. Where is he?"

"Back there—dead or very badly wounded! We've just had a fight with the king's men—"

The lieutenant broke in with a sharp command to his men.

"Quick, lead us to him, Captain Plum! If he's not dead—"

He started off at a half run beside Nathaniel.

"Lord, it's a pretty mess if he is!" he added breathlessly. Without pausing he called back over his shoulder: "Regan, fall out and return to the ship. Tell the captain that Obadiah Price is badly wounded and that we want the surgeon on the run."

A turn in the path brought them to the opening where the fight had occurred. Marion was on her knees beside the old councilor.

Nathaniel hurried ahead of the lieutenant and his men. The girl glanced up at him and his heart filled with dread at the terror in her eyes.

"Is he dead?"

"No—but—" Her voice trembled with tears.

Nathaniel did not let her finish. Gently he raised her to her feet as the lieutenant came up.

"You must go to the cabin, sweetheart," he whispered.

Even in this moment of excitement and death his great love drove all else from his eyes, and the blood surged into Marion's pale cheeks as she tremblingly gave her hand. He led her to the door and held her for a moment in his arms.

"Strang is dead," he said softly. In a few words he told her what had happened and turned back to the door, leaving her speechless.

"If he is dying—you will tell me—" she called after him.

"Yes, yes, I will tell you."

He ran back into the opening.

The lieutenant had doubled his coat under Obadiah's head and his face was pale as he looked up at Nathaniel. The latter saw in his eyes what his lips kept silent. The officer held something in his hand. It was the mysterious package which Captain Plum had taken his oath to deliver to the president of the United States.

"I don't dare move until the surgeon comes," said the lieutenant. "He wants to speak to you. I believe, if he has anything to say you had better hear it now."

His last words were in a whisper so low that Nathaniel scarcely heard them. As the lieutenant rose to his feet, he whispered again:

"He is dying!"

Obadiah's eyes opened as Nathaniel knelt beside him and from between his thin lips there came faintly the old, gurgling chuckle.

"Nat!" he breathed. His thin hand sought his companion's and clung to it tightly. "We have won. The vengeance of God—has come!"

In these last moments all madness had left the eyes of Obadiah Price.

"I want to tell you—" he whispered, and Nathaniel bent low. "I have given him the package. It is evidence I have gathered—all these years—to destroy the Mormon kingdom."

He tried to turn his head.

"Marion—" he whispered wistfully. "She will come," said Nathaniel. "I will call her."

"No—not yet."

Obadiah's fingers tightened about Captain Plum's.

"I want to tell—you."

For a few moments he seemed struggling to command all his strength.

"A good many years ago," he said, as if speaking to himself, "I loved a girl—like Marion, and she loved me—as Marion loves you. Her people were Mormons, and they went to Kirtland—and I followed them. We planned to escape and go east, for my Jean was good and beautiful, and hated the Mormons as I hated them. But they caught us and — thought — they — killed—"

The old man's lips twitched and a convulsive shudder shook his body.

"When everything came back to me I was older—much older," he went on. "My hair was white. I was like an old man. My people had found me and they told me that I had been mad for three years, Nat—mad—mad—mad! and that a great surgeon had operated on my head, where they struck me—and brought me back to reason. Nat—Nat—" He strained to raise himself, gasping excitedly: "God, I was like you then, Nat! I went back to fight for my Jean. She was gone. Nobody knew me, for I was an old man. I hunted from settlement to settlement. In my madness I became a Mormon, for vengeance—in hope of finding her. I was rich, and I became powerful. I was made an elder because of my gold. Then I found—"

A moan trembled on the old man's lips.

"—they had forced her to marry—the son of a Mormon—"

He stopped, and for a moment his eyes seemed filling with the glazed shadows of death. He roused himself almost fiercely.

"But he loved my Jean, Nat—he loved her as I loved her—and he was a good man!" he whispered shrilly. "Quick—quick—I must tell you—they had tried to escape from Missouri and the Danites killed him—and Joseph Smith wanted Jean and at the last moment she killed herself to save her honor—as—Marion—was going—to—do—and she left two children—"

He coughed and blood flecked his lips.

"She left—Marion and Nell!"

He sank back, ashen white and still, and with a cry Nathaniel turned to the lieutenant. The officer ran forward with a flask in his hand.

"Give him this!"

The touch of liquor to Obadiah's lips revived him. He whispered weakly:

"The children, Nat—I tried to find them—and years after—I did—in Nauvoo. The man and woman who had killed the father in their own house had taken them and were raising them as their own. I went mad! Vengeance—vengeance—I lived for it, year after year. I wanted the children—but if I took them all would be lost. I followed them, watched them, loved them—and they loved me. I would wait—wait—until my vengeance would fall like the hand of God, and then I would free them, and tell them how beautiful their mother was. When Joseph Smith was killed and the split came the old folks followed Strang—and I—I, too—"

He rested a moment, breathing heavily.

"I brought my Jean with me and buried her up there on the hill—the middle grave, Nat, the middle grave—Marion's mother."

Nathaniel pressed the liquor to the old man's lips again.

"My vengeance was at hand—I was almost ready—when Strang learned a part of the secret," he continued with an effort. "He found the old people were murderers. When Marion would not become his wife, he told her what they had done. He showed her the evidence! He threatened them with death unless Marion became his wife. His sheriffs watched them night and day. He named the hour of their doom—unless Marion yielded to him. And to save them, her supposed parents—to keep the terrible knowledge of their crime from Nell—Marion—was—going—to—sacrifice—herself—when—"

Again he stopped. His breath was coming more faintly.

"I understand," whispered Nathaniel. "I understand—"

Obadiah's dimming eyes gazed at him steadily.

"I thought my vengeance would come—in time—to save her, Nat. But it failed. I knew of one other way and when all seemed lost—I took it. I killed the old people—the murderers of her father—of my Jean! I knew that would destroy Strang's power—"

In a sudden spasm of strength he lifted his head. His voice came in a hoarse, excited whisper.

"You won't tell Marion—you won't tell Marion that I killed them—"

"No—never."

Obadiah fell back with a relieved sigh. After a moment he added.

"In a chest in the cabin there is a letter for Marion. It tells her about her mother—and the gold there—is for her—and Nell—"

His eyes closed. A shudder passed through his form.

"Marion—" he breathed. "Marion!"

Nathaniel rose to his feet and ran to the cabin door.

"Marion!" he called.

Blinding tears shut out the vision of the girl from his eyes. He pointed, looking from her, and she, knowing what he meant, sped past him to the old councilor.

In the great low room in which Obadiah Price had spent so many years planning his vengeance Captain Plum waited.

After a time, the girl came back.

There was great pain in her voice as she stretched out her arms to him blindly, sobbing his name.

"Gone—gone—they're all gone now—but Nell!"

Nathaniel held out his arms.

"Only Nell,"—he cried, "only Nell—Marion mine?"

"And you—you—you—"

Her arms were around his neck, he held her throbbing against his breast.

"And you—"

She raised her face, glorious in its love.

"If you want me—still."

And he whispered:

"For ever and for ever!"

THE END.

Work of Ingenious Ants.

The spinning ant is found in India, in Ceylon, in the islands of Malacca and in Australia. This ant weaves its nest between two leaves of a tree, preferably the mango. It begins to build, or to weave, by drawing two leaves together. To do this it runs a line of its working material—material similar to the spider's thread—the length of the leaf and around it. While at work it clings to the leaf with its nails and, at the same time, draws on the leaf nearest to it with its mandibles. Sometimes the two leaves suitable for nest building are too far apart. Then the builder calls in its fellow-ants and they help it to form a chain. Each ant clings to the waist of its neighbor by its mandibles. Thus enchained, they work to build the nest of their comrade.—Harper's Weekly.

Pleasant Old-Time Custom.

Leopold van Wedel, a Pomeranian noble, who made a journey through England and Scotland in the years 1584 and 1585, enjoyed the old kissing custom of that time. He related that one Alexander Hum, at North Berwick, treated him "splendidly" and that "Hum's wife and young damosel shook hands and kissed us, as is the way there." Nor was the salutation perfunctory in character, for Nicander Nucius, who was in England in 1545, wrote in reference to the custom: "Not only do those who are of the same family kiss the ladies on the mouth with embraces, but even those, too, who have never seen them."

Over 77 per cent of the total production of alchohol in Germany is obtained from potatoes. There are about 6,000 small and forty industrial distilleries in the empire.

QUIT RAISING TOBACCO

Breeding Horses and Mules, and Improving Their Farms.

From a trip over many tobacco counties we find that the farmers have made up their minds to raise less tobacco and one difference we note in the conditions is this; formerly when one farmer cut down the crop his neighbor doubled, this is not the case, many farmers will not only quit this year but they have made up their minds to never raise the weed again.

Their land is almost gone and tobacco has done it. They who quit tobacco years ago have better fences, better buildings, more grass, more money, and a better educated family and they are getting more out of life than the tobacco grower. From now on Kentucky farmers will raise more to eat and less to burn.

From now on these farmers will improve their farms and raise more fine stock and more hay and feed. The farmers of Lewis, Grayson and many other of the hill and mountain counties are utterly disgusted with the growth of tobacco. The demand for mules and fine horses have encouraged many farmers to go into the breeding business, all of which causes many to quit the growing of tobacco. In five years Kentucky will have more barns and more good stock than ever before and the shorter the tobacco crop the more time farmers will have to raise other crops, to send their children to school and to read and enjoy life.—Owen County Democrat.

NEWSPAPERS.

The total number of newspapers published in the entire world comprises between 5,500 and 6,000 dailies; of these over 900 are credited to Germany, 250 to Great Britain, while Paris alone has 150—more than London, New York, Philadelphia and Boston added together. Le Petit Journal, of Paris, has the largest circulation in the world; but the native dialect papers of India have the greatest number of readers, because they are circulated until completely worn out. The Post Zeitung, of Frankfort, Germany, is the oldest newspaper in Europe; but in China the Kin anaP a thousand years old, and the Tsing Pao, or Peking News, is the oldest newspaper in the world, having been regularly published for nearly 1,400 years. Its circulation is about 10,000. To indicate the extreme care that is exercised in publishing this paper, we should mention the fact that, until recently, at least, instant death was the punishment for an error in printing.—American Bulletin.

He declared it to be of fundamental importance that any party governed nation should have two available parties that the political life of all the people shall be at its best.

Morganfield—Sheriff James W. Carter of Union county fatally shot himself early today. Several weeks ago county officials in auditing Carter's books discovered what they declared was a $6,000 shortage in his accounts. Rather than institute impeachment proceedings the county officials had a conference with the sheriff and he was given until April 21st to provide for a correct balance sheet. Carter failed in his effort to make up the required $6,000.

The Crop Reporting Board of the Bureau of Statistics of the United States Department of Agriculture estimates, from the reports of correspondents and agents of the Bureau, that the average condition of winter wheat on April 1 was 83.3 per cent of a normal, against 90.5 on April 1, 1910, 82.2 on April 1, 1909, and 86.9 the average condition for the past ten years on April 1. There was an advance in condition from December 1, 1910, to April 1, 1911, of 4.4 points as compared with an average decline in the past ten years of 14.4 points between these dates.

After having carefully gone over nearly the entire winter wheat belt Oscar B. Lyle, the well known crop expert, says that the foundation has already been laid for a yield of 500,000,000 bush. compared with 446,000,000 bush. one year ago. Mr. Lyle says that in Missouri the promise could not be improved upon; that in Kansas the bulk of the state is doing excellently, that only the western part of the old reclaimed desert is spotted. Nebraska promises well, save in the southeastern part, and Oklahoma will produce an average crop, and Colorado and Illinois may be called above an average.

Synopsis of Stock Law.

The following synopsis of the stock law is in reply to Mr. J. S. Hume's request for information in regard thereto. The law is silent as to cattle coming in from another county, but if they violate a Boone county law they would certainly be responsible.

After the majority of the voters in a county or district vote against allowing cattle or any species thereof to run at large therein, it shall be unlawful for any person to allow his stock to run at large in that county or district, and for so doing he is subject to a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $25 for each offense, and the owner of the stock is liable for any damage his stock does, whether the place where the damages were committed were inclosed by a lawful fence or not, and the person damaged has a lien on the stock for the damages. It is the duty of the sheriff, constable and town marshall to impound stock running at large in territory where the stock law is in force.

Fruit trees ought to be sprayed twice regularly every year, once immediately after the blossoming period is past and again in a week or ten days. Whether or not they should be sprayed at other times depends entirely upon what pests are present on the trees and whether or not the trees have ever been sprayed before.

The Recorder is in receipt of a letter from Congressman A. B. Rouse in which he says: "At last I have persuaded the Postoffice Department to give Taylorsport a daily mail from Constance. The notice has gone out asking for bids to begin July 1st. This was a hard case on account of the small amount of business did at Constance the last fiscal year, which amounted to $23. The people along the route from Constance to Taylorsport can put up boxes and receive their mail as the R. D. people are served. I hope it will be well patronized, or the route will be discontinued."

Personal Mention.

James T. Gaines, of Idlewild, was in town at an early hour last Saturday.

R. W. Rouse, of Hebron, was transacting business in Burlington, Saturday.

James W. White, of Flickertown, came up Saturday to attend the creamery meeting.

Herbert McKim, of Cincinnati, was a Sunday guest of his aunt, Mrs. S. W. Tolin.

Robert and Russell Miller, of Big Bone, were Sunday guests of their aunt, Mrs. B. B. Hume.

Homer Chitterbuck and wife, of Covington, were Sunday guests of Mrs. Spencer Walrath.

Mrs. J. G. Furnish, of Covington, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Revill.

Noah Clore and wife, of Cincinnati, were Sunday guests of their daughter, Mrs. A. L. Nicholls.

V. W. Gaines, the hustling livestock trader of Bullittsburg, was in Burlington a few hours last Monday.

William Duncan spent last Saturday night and Sunday at home with his parents Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Duncan.

Eugene Long and wife, of Long Branch, were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Crisler, last Sunday.

Mrs. Timothy Westbay, of Covington, was the guest of Burlington friends last Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Earl Walton, of Petersburg, has been here several days with her mother who underwent a surgical operation last Monday morning.

Services at the M. E. church Sunday morning and night. Special music at both services by the Burlington choir. Edgar C. Riley will preach.

Mrs. G. G. Hughes underwent a surgical operation at her home, last Monday. Drs Paul and Applegate, of Cincinnati, and Peddicord, of Burlington, were the physicians.

D. C. Clark, of Louisville, was in Burlington, last Friday. He is interested in a contemplated sale of lots which it is expected to have at Walton some time next month.

Rev. C. V. Brooks and J. H. Stevens, of Idlewild neighborhood, were transacting business in Burlington, Thursday of last week, and made the Recorder office a pleasant call.

Sheriff B. B. Hume and wife arrived home Tuesday evening from a sojourn of a day or two in Iowa, where he went to look at some land belonging to Thos. and Elmer Fowler.

E. L. Riley, of Dayton, O., was over a few days last week, closing a deal whereby J. J. Duncan became the owner of a portion of Mrs. Riley's real estate in Bullittsville neighborhood.

Robert Griffith and wife moved to Sanders, Gallatin county, last Friday. Mr. Griffith conducted a box-ball alley in Burlington for several months at which business he did quite well for a while. He is a quiet unassuming gentleman.

J. W. Conner, of Union; Assessor T. G. Willis, of Bullittsville and County Attorney N. E. Riddell, went to Frankfort, Tuesday, to show the State Board of Equilization the error of its way in proposing to increase the valuation of taxable property in Boone county.

Thos. S Rhea, candidate for State Treasurer, was in Burlington, Tuesday, in the interest of his candidacy. Mr. Rhea is making a close canvass of the State, and if he makes as good an impression everywhere as he did in Burlington he will win the nomination in a walk.

Omer Porter, who enlisted in the U. S. Marine service a few months ago writes from Guantanamo, Cuba, that the temperature goes to 112, in the shade there, and that his face is so badly tanned his acquaintances here would not recognize him. He seems to be pleased with everything except the excessive heat.

Atty. D. E. Castleman has purchased residence property in Erlanger, to which he will move in the next few weeks. Mr. Castleman is a hustler from the word go, and he will be an addition to the citizens of Erlanger in every way. He has a very large practice in his already [illegible]

...Cleveland, ...
...Carl has been at ...
...the direction of Pres... ...
...Fall and Secretary Chas. D. ...
...investigating the system ...
...through which the United States ...
...government spends $1,000,000,000 a ...
...year.

Can any of this enormous sum be saved? is the question at the bottom of the inquiry. Can methods be revised, systems made more systematic, useless work and expense cut out and the cost of doing business cut down so as to save something out of the gigantic amount that annually goes to the support of Uncle Sam and his large growing family?

The experts have reached their first conclusion: Something can be saved. If it is only 1 per cent of the whole it means $10,000,000 a year—a tidy sum, even in the present day of big figures. If 10 per cent can be saved it means an annual return to the pockets of the American people of $1 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Senator Aldrich first drew attention to the possibilities for economy in the government by declaring that $300,000,000 could be saved annually if a competent business man would run the government on a business basis. But that would mean cutting out many of the bureaus, and cutting off many activities that are now looked upon as important lines of endeavor for the government to engage in.

The experts now finishing their first year and entering upon the most important stage of their work have gone at the problem with the idea of interfering with no phase of the government's work, but of seeing that that work is performed with the greatest economy of men and money, and that the government gets 100 cents' worth of work for every $1 spent.

And as a pleasant little curtain raiser for the big show that is to come later they have poked their finger into Uncle Sam's traveling expense account, and have decided that it is too big. Chairman Cleveland of the economy commission pointed it out to Secretary Norton; Secretary Norton carried it to President Taft and President Taft took the country into his confidence.

Think of spending $12,000,000 a year simply for traveling expenses! Enough to give every one of Uncle Sam's 500,000 employees a first-class trip from New York to Chicago, with Pullman fare and board in and something left over for the porter. Enough to give the population of a good-sized city a trip around the world! It was as much a surprise to the president and his advisers to find this bill for travel as it has been to the public. Appropriations have grown so large in the government departments, and they are distributed amongst such a variety of objects that no definite idea of what is spent in any one class of service has been possible until Cleveland and his experts had begun the whole fabric of expenditure on a scientific basis.

The government expects to spend in salaries in any one year, it was recently, just before he resigned as private secretary to the president.

Thousands are buried in the dusty recesses of antiquated accounts, where they cannot be reached and cannot be found. It is a discovery fact that up to 1909 goes into travel expenses curiosity. At present this has hardly been touched. Already many well-run business concerns have discovered that they can get the lowest mileage rates in one of the greatest items in a system of transportation, results in that direction of 10 per cent or more. Even Washington departments have found that they have to pay, in the whole aggregate of money, if not in the individual transaction, for the privilege of traveling on passes. Many government bureaus have followed the lead of business rather than the padding of the expense accounts by government employes.

Way to Economize.

Champ Clark has the idea of cutting in a recent speech. He said:

"There is only one way to economize, and that is for each man to begin economizing at home. To start the ball rolling, I propose to do a little economizing on my own hook. I am going to cut down my office staff. I shall go further. I am going to save the people $6,000 a year by getting rid of my automobiles. If I can not legislate rid of it, I will run it into the Potomac. The Republicans say it is cheeseparing and peanut politics, but the people have some sense, and they know that if we begin by cutting our own little grafts we will then be morally fortified to go after the bigger ones. I don't care what the Republicans say, I will co-operate with any man in this House who has a place for sensible economy. I don't care whether it is economy on a big scale or a little one. When I proposed, I will remember to bring forward a reasonable one."

DEMOCRAT PARTY IN CONTROL.

Alexandria, Ind.

The Recorder with its usual budget of interesting news comes rolling in on Big Four time, and we read every line.

There is something doing in Indiana for sure. The State is under Marshall law, the legislature has adjourned, and blind tigers are looking out for corner rooms at $700 per, etc. A protracted drought prevailed for two years over a large area of the State, but under the present system of irrigation the dryness has vanished for a time at least. There is no telling what will happen when Republicans get to voting the Democratic ticket and vice versa. When men are willing to abandon their party on any particular purpose, be it spite or anyother like cause it is good bye Judas and walk in Belzebub. The Republicans had it in for Hanley and voted any old way to vent their spleen. Venting your spleen in politics is like a two ended circle without any end.

The present administration promises to start on the job for four years, anyhow, hoping they may prove an alibi to the charge of being the cat's paw to the chestnut venders.

Old Kentucky ought to thank the Lord it is not the only one that has its troubles, Indiana, with its four per cent taxes, roads that are fierce to travel, ditch laws that are obnoxious, divorce laws that are inadequate to the condition, has fallen heir to the Democratic party, or the party has fallen heir to the state one or the other. If the Democrats can straighten out the situation to the satisfaction of themselves it is o. k.

Land in Indiana is bringing fabulous prices, and promises to go higher. Railroads, steam and trac tion cross and recross—are woven and interwoven into every section and are largely responsible for the high land values. Good roads of any kind contribute, perhaps, more largely to a State's prosperity than most people are willing to admit. They come high it is true. States are like people—they are not always so bad as they are painted.

Indiana has many admirable qualities—especially it went Democratic—and one of the admirable things about it is this: A man who don't want to work has no part nor parcel in the great volums of affairs here. It is hustle some more. So it goes, but your humble servant is like one of Boone county's good citizens said to another—"let daylight get up on a stump and wait for me to come, not me get up on a stump and wait for it to come to lay off corn rows."

P. T. F.

Some Good Dairy Notes.

Cows are apt to differ in the quality of the milk they give, looking at it from a standpoint of butter fat, but there can be no good reason why it should not be pure.

During the time that the cow is dry her feed should be principally roughage. A little bran daily may be allowed her during the last week.

The demand is so great that a market can be found for most any kind of butter, but that of first class quality can always be sold above market price.

Unless care is taken, there is much loss by imperfect skimming. A separator will prevent this.

A brush is much better than a cloth to clean milk pails and cans. It gets at places a cloth will not reach. Brushes should be dried bristle side down, or the water will soak and rot the wood and loosen the bristles.

See that the young calf gets plenty of pure water to drink as well as good, wholesome milk. It needs both.

It will not pay to turn the little calves out where they will be exposed to the cold spring rains. A chilled calf is apt to be a sick calf, and sick calves are unprofitable property. Give the calves dry quarters on cold rainy days.

Averts Awful Tragedy.

Timely advice given Mrs. C. Willoughby, of Marengo, Wis., R. No. 1, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies failed, her aunt urged her to have been using it for some time," she wrote, "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." This matchless medicine has no equal for throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all dealers.

What an easy thing to take a sample of soil from every field you expect to plant in any particular crop to The Agricultural Chemists at the State University and he will inform you in what element it is deficient for that crop and the fertilizer to apply to restore it. These are facts given you and not theoriam, facts which are being obtained by actual tests on the experimental farm there every year. Rest assured that your success in agricultural use of commercial fertilizers used by and under the guidance of the expert agricultural chemist.

Prompt relief in all cases of throat and lung trouble if you use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pleasant to take, soothing and healing in effect. Sold by all dealers.

THOS. S. RHEA CANDIDATE FOR STATE TREASURER.

Mr. Thomas S. Rhea, of Russellville, Logan county, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the office of State Treasures, subject to the primary election to be held Saturday, July 1st, 1911.

Mr. Rhea is one of the leading young business men of southern Kentucky and is Vice President and general manager of the Bank of Russellville.

He is thoroughly equipped for the public service, a man of ability, energy, quick and resourceful. He stands high in the councils of the Democratic party of the State and has been an efficient and active worker in every campaign since early manhood. He served four years as sheriff of Logan county with distinction to himself and the satisfaction of the people of the county.

Mr. Rhea is a native of Russellville and is a brother of the Hon. John S. Rhea, former Representative in Congress from the Third District, and of A. G. Rhea, the present sheriff of Logan county. His friends claim he will add strength at the final election, being capable, vigorous and popular.

That even the best regulated and well made machinery will sometimes get out of order and cause trouble. That's why we contract for and handle the best lines only, the kinds that have been tried and tested and proven to be the best. Have you never noticed this?

Soon you will have to deal with the feeding problem. If you have several head of Cows, Horses, Hogs or Sheep, and must keep a big supply of feed on hand, a SILO is the thing to have.

By the use of a SILO we can show you how to save about 100 per cent. on your feed bills in six months' time, the only outlay being $150 for a SILO. Write us for particulars. The greatest convenience—the most economical device every invented for the farm.

In other lines of machinery we handle Dick's Feed Cutters, Grain Drills, Gas Engines, and Roofing materials of all kinds.

The Maysville Public Ledger, which is warmly supporting Lieut. Gov. Cox for the Republican nomination for Governor, sails into Judge O'Rear in the following vigorous manner: No man has ever used stronger language to tear down the fabric of law and order in Kentucky than this eminent jurist. The Public Ledger hasn't the honor of O'Rear's acquaintance, and never even saw him, yet we've read with indignation and just horror of his violent and incendiary words during the blighting night rider tobacco war days. Think of such a man for the Governor's chair! Better a thousand times Gov. Cox, E. T. Franks or McCreary than such as he. If O'Rear is named by the Republicans, McCreary will sweep the State by 25,000 votes.

LETTER FROM TEXAS.

Salesville, Texas.

I will come to see my friends of old Boone with a letter to the Recorder. I used to live in Bellevieww. My father pastored the Baptist church while we lived there.

We left there the last of February, 1911. After visiting my grandparents, we left old Kentucky for Central Texas. We got to Weatherford, Texas, on the 13th of March. After staying there about a week, we came to Salesville. This is a nice little railroad town. It is about 45 miles from the city of Weatherford and nine miles from Mineral Wells of about 9,000 population. Land here is all the way from $40 to $80 per acre. We own 144 acres in 15 miles of Weatherford. It is all sandy land.

They have a fine school here of about a hundred and twenty-five enrolled.

I have lots of good friends in old Boone and some I'll never forget as long as I live.

People here have a fine ground for crops. The corn and wheat crops are looking fine. There has been some cotton planted, but not very much.

It is so warm here that I can hardly wear a coat. If it wasn't for the cool winds I guess I would burn up. The people here say they never saw any snow at all last winter. When I left Kentucky, I left snow on the ground and when we got here it was as warm as it ever gets in Kentucky.

All of you boys that play base ball with Belleview team show Burlington team where you live. Beat them playing ball worse than we did last year. I don't think they can be beaten much worse though. Didn't we beat them seven straight games last year. Some one write to me and answer that question. I have been playing ball some out here.

I must not write a long letter, for I may want to write to the Recorder again. So if this happens to escape the waste basket, I ask all that read it to please give me a letter and card party the fifth of May. Guess my age, between twelve and 20. My address is Salesville, Texas. All letters and post cards will be answered. Robt. S. Hensley.

THE FINE YOUNG STALLION

will make the season of 1911 at my farm two miles west of Walton, Boone County, Ky., at $10.00 to insure a living colt. Persons parting with mares forfeit the insurance money. A lien retained on colt until season money is paid. Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur.

PRINCE OLSEN was foaled in 1907, and is one model of his class. He weighs 1520 pounds and is nearly 17 hands in height. He is a beautiful black, and is a picture of symmetry and fine points of the draft horse. His breeding qualities are excellent.

PRINCE OLSEN was sired by Blackmon, a registered Percheron stallion owned by Ole G. Olsen, of Shabbona Grove, Illinois, where he was foaled in 1907, and from whom he was purchased by me this spring, selecting this horse over many others because of his excellent qualities. Prince Olsen is eligible to registry, and is one of the highest bred draft horses ever in this section of country. The dam of Prince Olsen was a high bred registered Percheron mare. I feel that farmers and breeders will make no mistake in breeding to Prince Olsen as it means a good, strong colt that will meet every requirement on the farm. One of the lacking features of our horses is the size and strength. With the well bred Percheron like Prince Olsen these essentials are fully incorporated.

Come and see the horse and inspect his good points and you will breed to him.

JOSEPH READNOUR,
Walton, Ky.

Also at the same place and under the same conditions I will offer for public service my two fine sure breeding jacks is a black Jack with mealy points five years old, 15.3 hands high, large bone and big body, very long ear, and has proven himself to be one of the best breeders in Kentucky. His mules are quick sellers and several of them have been sold at $125 at weaning time. His service fee will be $10.

BEN

DEWEY,

is another fine Jack, three years old and a half brother to Ben. His fee will be $10.00 and he will be permitted to serve only a few mares.

Both jacks are high in class, and are excellent breeders. Take a look at them before breeding; it may pay you.

Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Slater elegantly entertained the members of the Boone County Medical Society at their hospitable home last Wednesday evening, April 19th, when a most enjoyable evening was spent together. A splendid supper was spread and the hearty appetites indicated its enjoyment to the highest degree. Dr Gustav Zinke, an eminent physician of Cincinnati, had a very interesting paper which was presented by him in a most interesting manner. The following were the guests: Dr. Gustav Zinke, Dr. Phiney, Dr. C. A. Langdale, and Dr. Gordon McKim, all of Cincinnati; Dr. Peddicord, of Burlington; Dr. H. H. Hays, of Bullittsville; Dr. O. E. Senour, of Union; Dr. T. T. Metcalfe, of Independence; Dr. B. K. Menefee, Dr. H. W. Hamilton and Robt. W. Jones, of Walton.

GARRISON BROS., Owners.

Foaled in spring of 1904; by Highland Gaines, 1667; grand sire, Highland Denmark, 790; dam, Bessie Sable, 2883, by Shropshire Kentucky Squirrel, 1865. Second dam, Ida May by Fayette Denmark. Third dam, Maxey by Granger. Fourth dam Mare by Expert, 77.

Breed to a Proven Sire.

HIGH VINE is a five gaited saddle stallion, seven years old, 16 hands, and weighs 1200 lbs., a rich golden chestnut in color, and a perfect model in confirmation.

HIGH VINE is a uniform breeder and reproduces his own kind: The show record of his two sets of colts is unequaled by the colts of any sire in this section of country. His colts were shown at various fairs last year and were never defeated in their class and in addition awakened public admiration everywhere. In several instances the owners of High Vine colts have been offered $200 for the colts at weaning time, and this handsome price was refused by the said owners as all of them believed the colts to promise much better as they developed. There must be something in the breeding when $200 offers for weaning colts are rejected by owners who are governed by business principles in the sale of the products of their farm. Take a look at High Vine's colts and you will see the style and attractive qualities that make the price in a safe.

HIGH VINE will make the season at the stable of W. Lee Gaines on the Lexington turnpike, midway between Walton and Richwood, Ky. $20.00 to insure a live foal, season money due if mare is parted with.

No responsibility for accidents.

Make engagements ahead as his services are limited, and it saves annoying delays.

For the accommodation of those at a distance Mr. Gaines will pasture a few mares at $2.50 per month, with the best facilities for their care and keeping.

PREMIUM.—Free season for 1912 will be given the owner of the best High Vine colt exhibited at Florence fall stake High Vine colt show.
HIGH VINE HORSE CO.,
Walton, Ky.

The General Purpose Stallion,

ROBERT WILLIS, 57255.

ROBERT WILLIS is a chestnut horse with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high and weighs 1230 pounds, foaled in 1905. Individuality he is a horse of grand finish with plenty of substance, a fine disposition, with the best of feet and legs. His blood lines are of the best as his pedigree will show. Ordinary mares bred to this horse will not fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as general-purpose horses and roadsters, as his foals have size, style, conformation and action, good heads, best of disposition, plenty of life and every indication of developing into useful and selling horses.

ROBERT WILLIS is a fast natural trotter with a perfect way of going, and with limited handling last year, after making a season, showed that he has race horse speed, and with a proper preparation, will easily take a mark of 2:20 or better.

He will make the season of 1911 at Clover Leaf Stock Farm at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with or moved from the county after being bred, in which case the money becomes due and collectable at once.

Parties breeding must follow up the season.

Care taken to prevent accidents but not be responsible should any occur.

For further particulars address once.

Don De Gozee

the Belgin Daft Horse foaled in 1908

Will make the season at E. J. Aylor's stable, 1 1-2 miles from Hebron, or North Bend Road, at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt comes or mare parted with, or leaves the county.

Great care will be taken to prevent accidents but we will not be responsible should any occur.

DON DE GOZEE, despite his great size and weight, is well balanced throughout, perfectly proportioned and symmetrically built. He is as light action as stallions of much smaller type, and disposition much better than usually found in horses of blood strain.

DON DE GOZEE is a beautiful dark sorrel, 16 1-2 hands, weight 1,600 pounds, broad, flat heavy bone, fine style and action. This great breed of draft horses is especially known for better action than any other draft horses, for heavy, good bone and good hoof, and gentle, kind workers. Don De Gozee, was sired by Bayard De Gozee, whose Belgian Stud Book No. is 21670. Dam, Della Wise, brown mare, the great draft show mare of Campbell County, Kentucky.

WALTER RIDDELL,
E. J. AYLOR.

The Combined Harness and Saddle Stallion,

GRAND CHIEF,

Will stand at Waterloo, Boone county, Kentucky, at Ten Dollars to insure a colt to stand up and suck. If a mare is parted with after being bred the money is due.

Grand Chief is a beautiful bay sixteen and one-half hands high, weighs 1,200 pounds, has splendid style and is a grand individual.

Grand Chief was sired by Sensatio 7972, by Red Wilkes, sire of Ralph Wilks 2:06¾, Ethurial 2:09, Blanche Louise 2:10 and the dam of Walnut Hall 2:08, Kingmond 2:08, Sensatio's first dam by Dictator 113, sire of Jay Eye See 2:06, and the dams of Nancy Hanks 2:04, Gordon Prince 2:05, Gazette 2:07, Lockheart 2:08. Sensatio's second dam by Mambrino Patchen 58, sire of the dams of Ralph Wilks 2:08, Jupe 2:07, Crawford 2:07, Bouncer 2:09, Bright Light 2:08.

Grand Chief's first dam by Blood Chief 3149, sire of the dams of Will Kerr 2:07, J H L 2:08. Grand Chief's second dam by Morgan Messenger 3169, sire of the dams of Greenfield Boy 2:18, and the grandsire of the dam of My Star 2:06¾. Grand Chief's third dam by White's Blue Bull, sire of the granddam of My Star 2:06¾.

Grand Chief's colts have been as successful in the show ring as the colts of anyother horse in the county.
W. G. KITE, Burlington R. D. 2.

The Handsome Young Harness Stallion,

Major Mateo,

Black horse; foaled 1906; 15 3 hands high; sired by Sam Mateo 21255 (race record (4) 2:13¾ (tr) 207 the sire of May Earl 2:10¼ (tr) 2:05, Silverfinch (2) 2:21¼, Abe J 2:10, Thoughtful 2:11¼, Maud Mateo (9) 2:15½ and 27 others in 2:30 or better.

Sam Mateo was sired by the great Simmons 2:28, the sire of 140 in the 2:30 list, including McKaig Simmons 2:05¼, Dr. Madara 2:08, Tregantic 2:09¼, Hesperus 2:09¾, San Mateo 2:13¼ (tr) 2:07, also sire of the dams of the great mare Hambrey Belle 2:01¾, Bunda York 2:04¼, the peerless Ferneo 2:05¼, Bonnie Direct 2:05¼, and 63 other 2:30 performers; Simmons 2:28 is by George Wilkes 2:22.

The first dam of Major Mateo is Nellie H, (dam of Edison 2:20¼ (tr) 2:17), by Conspirator 8123, he by Batholomew Wilkes 7054, the sire of George Patchen 2:12¼, Genova Wilkes 2:23¼, and 20 others in the 2:30 list; he by George Wilkes 2:22.

Major Mateo is a horse of fine style and action, has great natural speed and is a pure gaited trotter, a fine breeder, good manners, and one of the handsomest horses in Kentucky. His colts have size, action and substance.

Major Mateo will make the season of 1911 at the "Willis Farm" 2½ miles north of Big Bone Springs, until July 1st, at $12.50 to insure a living foal, money due when foal is dropped or when mare is parted with or bred to another horse without my consent.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but I will not be responsible should any occur.

Pasture furnished at $2 per month.

PAT SHIRE

is a dark brown color, weighs 1,500 pounds. He will make the season of 1911 at Spring Water Stock Farm two miles south of Burlington, near the forks of Gunpowder creek at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but I will not be responsible should any occur.

No business done on Sunday.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS,

2844 A. S. B. A

Will make the season of 1911 at the W. L. Norman Stock Farm at Walton, Ky., and if you want a show horse breed to him.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is a dark bay, 16 hands, weighs 1200 lbs., with three white feet, snip and star, and lots of style and action. He was sired by

by Harrison Chief 1908, by Clark Chief (99); dam Kit Hardy (2330) by Indian Chief (1718); 1st dam Miss Berry 4084, by Rhoderick 104; by Mambrino Le Grande (99); 2d dam, by Bell's Yellow Jacket 112; 3d dam by Gray Eagle.

Miss Berry is also the dam of Woodland Chief, one of the finest show horses in Kentucky. Woodland Chief is a full brother to Bell's Fitzsimmons and a full brother to Rhoderick, and one of the finest geldings ever showed, and sold to a party in Texas for $1,000.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is also the sire of the champion walk-trot gelding, Mai. Copse, showed at the Horse Shows in the fall of 1906 and sold for $3,600, and also the champion harness mare showed by C. C. Harris.

L. T. Anderson, of Maysville, one of the largest dealers in the state, says some of the highest class horses he has handled have been by Bell's Fitzsimmons.

The greatest show, harness and saddle horses of our state have sprung from the loins of Harrison Chief and Indian Chief. Where can you find a horse of better breeding than Bell's Fitzsimmons? He has been a winning show horse ever since a suckling colt, and has proven himself a successful sire. Some of the highest priced saddle, harness and walk-trot horses that have left the State have been sired by him.

Personal care over all stock. Mares left on good grass at 10c a day at owner's risk.

$15 00 to insure a mare in foal or parted with.

JOHN RENSLER,
C. R. BEET,
Phone 14, Walton, Ky.

Also prepared to break colts and handle Saddle and Harness horses.

The Sheban hotel property on Lexington pike was sold not long since, at a good, round sum, making Mr. Sheban a handsome profit on his investment.

Erlanger is enjoying a steady, substantial growth both as a business and residence town, and will, in a few years, be the principal country town in this part of the State.

The Erlanger merchants all seem to be doing a good business. Especially is this true of Stanley Crouch, who, a few months ago, came here from Petersburg, Boone county, and opened up a large headquarters for hardware, farm implements, buggies, etc.

Erlanger will have a good base ball team on the diamond this year. By the way, hear that some of those who use to play with Erlanger contributed largely to the defeat of the Burlington school team by the Florence school team at the latter place last Saturday afternoon.

Erlanger has drawn on the capital of Boone for another installment of citizens, Atty. D. E. Castleman and family. Mr. Castleman has purchased the Victor residence on Crescent Avenue, to which he will move in the next few weeks. The family will be quite an accession to the town's good citizens and will be welcomed by all.

The electric railway which has been expected to reach Erlanger by the first of June every year for the last five, is not here but coming next year. Our people have been led to believe so often that the road would be extended to this place in a few months, only to be disappointed, that anything savoring of information along that line is now regarded as a joke.

To Make Land More Fertile.

The news dispatches tell of a company of New England farmers who have arranged to reclaim a vast area of rich land in Louisiana by drainage operations. This project and other enterprises designed to provide tillable land either through drainage or irrigation bring home the realization that the United States has reached a point where there are practically no more free lands available for settlement. Under these conditions irrigation and drainage enterprises will increase in number and we will no doubt see in addition scientific effort to reclaim and make fertile the worn out and abandoned farms of the East and Middle West.

Hitherto in our national life there has been the same wastefulness in our agricultural lands as in our other national resources. It has been cheaper to move West and take up new land than to fertilize the old farms. Accordingly we have not been compelled to face the problem of intensive agriculture and have much to learn from the older countries where density of population and limited cultivationaole areas have made it necessary to bring the soil up to its highest possible productivity.

While the agricultural schools and experiment stations under the Department of Agriculture are doing much to spread a knowledge of scientific agricultural methods our production per acre in the common food products is absurdly small when compared with countries where scientific agricultural methods have been practiced for many years. For example, the Japanese will average over forty bushels of rice to an acre on different qualities of soil when the average for our rice-growing States in this country is less than ten bushels per acre. The truck gardeners of Paris have long been famous for bringing land to a wonderful degree of fertility, and the Genevilliers district is an example of what can be done in the way of reclaiming desert tracts

The actual manufacture of soil has been made possible and it is no longer necessary to have naturally fertile land to start with it as told of the Parisian truck gardener, who rents his land that the contract provides that he may when he quits his tentancy, remove the soil to a certain depth his own labor and ingenuity having made the farm fertile. When the average American farmer is driven to equal industry and ingenuity our national production of farm products can be increased almost to an unlimited extent. When the necessity which has already made itself felt becomes more pressing there will be available for emulation examples of artificial fertility which seem impossible when compared with the scant production of our starved acres.—Courier Journal.

Gov. Joseph M. Brown of Georgia has sounded a note which will seem to a large part of the public to be both timely and strong.

Appealed to in the matter of a citizen of Georgia who has been sentenced to the penitentiary, and asked to sign a pardon, on wholly sentimental grounds, Gov. Brown has declared that there is no room for the exercise of sentiment, when a man has been duly tried and sentenced to be punished.

In effect, he holds that as punishment is not prompted by a spirit of hatred or revenge, so there can be no question of mercy in dealing with those who have demonstrated their unfitness to mingle with their fellows innocently and on harmonious terms.

Sentence s mean opportunities for expiation; and the most conclusive proof of worth in those who offend is a willingness to bear the consequences according to the law.

High-minded people of all ages and places have gladly imposed restrictions upon themselves, because by so doing they have hoped to lift their standards of thought and action. It seems evident that the truly repentant offender might readily welcome the penalties which communities have agreed upon, in those instances where faults have been committed.

Moreover, it has become plain that the pardoning power of officials has often been abused to an alarming extent.

There can be little doubt that if the decisions of the courts might be permitted to stand, there would be an extraordinary diminishment in the number of people who break the laws.—St. Louis Times

Had To Be "Showed."

A few years ago the tobacco trust sent out some advertisements which induced many Missourians to resume tobacco raising. The first year or two fair prices were paid for it and tobacco raising became more general. Now we understand that Howard county farmers have been selling their crops as low as four cents per pound. Is it any wonder that the American Tobacco Company recently declared an annual dividend of 62 per cent. when it can purchase tobacco at four cents per pound and sell it from 40 to 55 cents per pound? We however, do not object much to the price at which it is being purchased as it does not pay the producer for handling it.—Slater Rustler.

Offices At Auction.

Lincoln county has been paying a salary of $300 a year to its County Treasurer, but it will do so no longer. The Fiscal court a few days ago elected a man who agrees to pay the county $151 a year for the privilege of holding the office.

Two bank officials, representing rival banks were the only canvassers to make the same propositions for the position when the court met to hold the election. Candidate No. 1 announced that he would be glad to fill the office without salary. No. 2 hastened to make the same position to the court, whereupon No. 1 said he would pay $100 a year for the office. This was met and he raised his bid to $150. No. 2 went him one dollar better, and as there was nothing more doing in the bidding line, the office was knocked down to No. 2, who will pay $302 for the honor and privilege of handling the county funds for the next two years. This amount the county will receive, and in addition will save $400 that it heretofore has been paying for the services of a treasurer during his 2 years' term. All of which, it is presumed, will be gratifying to the taxpayers.

The competition in this race, which resulted so satisfactorily to the Fiscal Court and the county in general was due, of course, to the fact that two banks wanted the custody of the county money and were willing to pay something therefor. The plan smacks somewhat of putting an office on the auction block, but as the two candidates were able and willing to pay the freight and there was no other aspirant for the position it is not apparent that any one was prejudiced or discriminated against thereby. In any event the taxpayers of Lincoln county, who will be $702 to the good, are not likely to waste much time discussing the ethics of the transaction.

Couldn't Resist The Pressure.

Max Hanberry, a member of the Trigg County Bar, announces himself as a candidate for Governor. He does not state from which party he is expecting the nomination, but judging from his "Card" he will take it from either party.

He declares, "That owing to the terrific and irresistable pressure brought to bear on me and owing to the further fact that even Gus Willson has been elected Governor, and owing to the great personal and financial sacrifices it will mean to me, I have decided to accept it."

Mr. Hanberry named five "Cardinal principles" for which he stands. He is in favor of giving every yellow dog Democrat" a job which will keep him from want, exertion and worry. He favors giving every white Republican, especially those who voted for Willson, a pension.

He strongly advocates giving every negro voter a watermeion patch and a fish pond, with imported labor to care for the melons and handle them. He promises to give every married woman in the state a 40-horse power automobile of their own selection, together with two cart wheel hats and half a ton of chewing gum annually. For the young women he promises a wicket phaeton and a spotted pony without cost or care.

"So with some degree of impatience not on my own account, however, but on account of the dear people, I await inauguration," is the close of Mr. Hanberry's card.

Future Cattle Supply.

A corn belt cattle grower takes a sensible view of the future cattle supply. He insists that the corn belt farmers must grow more cattle, both because of the shortening supply of stockers coming from the public ranch lands, which are setting up, and because the corn belt lands and the fertility secured in cattle growing in order to keep it in good crop condition. We have urged this view of the matter many times, and it is becoming more important every year. Referring to this view this western cattle grower says:

"I believe that we will have a short run of range cattle this coming summer and fall, and think the conditions favor a some what higher fat cattle market after the present crop of beeves has been worked off. The better continues to push the big grazing outfits of the Northwest and Southeast off the map. The closing out feature is likely to necessitate the marketing of a considerable number of range cattle this year, but supply from that quarter, after the drain upon it of the past several years, can hardly be up to normal. Eventually the settlers will raise a lot of cattle, but it will be a long time before they are in a position to do so."

He is undoubtedly correct, and the country will very soon realize a shortage of beef cattle that will be felt, and the supply will have grown in the corn belt, for the range country cannot much longer supply the feeding cattle for finishing here.—Indiana Farmer.

The Boston Transcript, a Republican paper, recently published a brief account of each Senator. Of Senator Bradley it says:

"Merely an old school politician without an idea in the world except to be elected to something; has run for more offices than any man in Kentucky: Was elected Senator by a Democratic Legislature because some Democrats would not vote for their nominee. This is his first and last term."

HIGH VINE

—No. 2733—

Foaled in spring of 1904; by Highland Gaines, 1667; grand sire, Highland Denmark, 780; dam, Bessie Sable, 2883, by Shropshire Kentucky Squirrel, 1855. Second dam, Ida May by Fayette Denmark. Third dam, Maxey or Granger. Fourth dam, Mare by Expert, 77.

Breed to a Proven Sire.

HIGH VINE is a five gaited saddle stallion, seven years old, 16 hands, and weighs 1200 lbs., a rich golden chestnut in color, and a perfect model in confirmation.

HIGH VINE is a uniform breeder and reproduces his own kind. The show record of his two sets of colts is unequaled by the colts of any sire in this section of country. His colts were shown at various fairs last year and were never defeated in their class and in addition awakened public admiration everywhere. In several instances the owners of High Vine colts have been offered $200 for the colts at weaning time, and this handsome price was refused by the said owners as all of them believed the colts to promise much better as they developed. There must be something in the breeding when $200 offers for weanling colts are rejected by owners who are governed by business principles in the sale of the products of their farm. Take a look at High Vine's colts and you will see the style and attractive qualities that make the price in a sale.

HIGH VINE will make the season at the stable of W. Lee Gaines on the Lexington turnpike, midway between Walton and Richwood, Ky. $20.00 to insure a live foal, season money due if mare is parted with.

No responsibility for accidents.

Make engagements ahead as his services are limited, and it saves annoying delays.

For the accommodation of those at a distance Mr. Gaines will pasture a few mares at $2.50 per month, with the best facilities for their care and keeping.

PREMIUM.—Free season for 1912 will be given the owner of the best High Vine colt exhibited at Florence fair at the High Vine colt show.

The General Purpose Stallion,

ROBERT WILLIS, 57255.

ROBERT WILLIS is a chestnut horse with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high and weighs 1250 pounds, foaled in 1905. Individually he is a horse of grand finish with plenty of substance, a fine disposition, with the best of feet and legs. His blood lines are of the best as his pedigree will show. Ordinary mares bred to this horse will not fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as general-purpose horses and roadsters, as his foals have size, style, conformation and action, good heads, best of disposition, plenty of life and every indication of developing into useful and selling horses.

ROBERT WILLIS is a fast natural trotter with a perfect way of going, and with limited handling last year, after making a season, showed that he has race horse speed, and with a proper preparation, will easily take a mark of 2:20 or better.

He will make the season of 1911 at Clover Leaf Stock Farm at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with or moved from the county after being bred, in which case the money becomes due and collectable at once.

Parties breeding must follow up the season.

Care taken to prevent accidents but not be responsible should any occur.

NOTICE BREEDERS.

The High Class Saddle and Harness Stallion,

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS,

2344 A. S. B. A

Will make the season of 1911 at the W. L. Norman Stock Farm at Walton, Ky., and if you want a show horse breed to him.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is a dark bay, 16 hands, weighs 1200 lbs., with three white feet, snip and star, and lots of style and action. He was sired by

by Harrison Chief 1606, by Clark Chief (69); dam Kit Hardy (2980) by Indian Chief (1718); 1st dam Miss Berry 4034, by Rhoderick 104; by Membrino Le Grande (99); 2d dam, by Bell's Yellow Jacket 112; 3d dam by Gray Eagle.

Miss Berry is also the dam of Woodland Chief, one of the finest show horses in Kentucky. Woodland Chief is a full brother to Bell's Fitzsimmons and a full brother to Rhoderick, and one of the finest saddlers ever shown, and sold to a party in Texas for $1,000.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is also the sire of the champion walk-trot gelding, Mat Coyne, showed at the Horse Shows in the fall of 1908 and sold for $3,600, and also the champion harness mare showed by C. G. Harris.

L. T. Anderson, of Maysville, one of the largest dealers in the state, says some of the highest class horses he has handled have been by Bell's Fitzsimmons.

The greatest show, harness and saddle horses of our state have sprung from the loins of Harrison Chief and Indian Chief. Where can you find a horse of better breeding than Bell's Fitzsimmons? He has been a winning show horse ever since a suckling colt and has proven himself a successful sire. Some of the highest priced saddle, harness and walk-trot horses that have left the State have been sired by him.

Personal care over all stock. Mares left on good grass at 10c a day at owner's risk.

$15 00 to insure a mare in foal or parted with.

JOHN RENSLER,
C. R. BEST.
Phone 14, Walton, Ky.

Also prepared to break colts and handle Saddle and Harness horses.

The Fine Saddle and Harness or General Purpose Stallion,

Harry Willis,

Is a handsome blood bay stallion with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high, weighs 1150 pounds, and was foaled in 1907.

His conformation, individuality, breeding and reproductive qualities all combined in one horse go to make that desire of all conservative breeders, an ideal stallion.

He is the personification of perfection, has a fine head and neck, strong, deep shoulders, short back, very fine quarters, clean, flat legs, good bone, fine main and tail, good disposition and fine action.

Harry Willis by Col. Willis 37706, by Col. Kipp 15877, record 2:20¼, sire of High Grade (P) 2111, Colonel (P) 2:18¾, Pawkling 2:21¼, Daw Simmons 2:30, by Kenwood 45875, sire of Col. Kipp 2:20½, by Harry Clay 45, record 2:29, sire of four in the list and the dam of Bellini 2:18¾, sire of Farfella 2:09¼, Ora Bellini 2:04¾, Beatrice Bellina 2:09¼, Carlo 2:08¾, Tokio 2:06, Leonardi 2:06 1-4, Albert C 2:09¼, Soprano (3) 2:08¾, winner of the American Horse Breeders' Futurity in 1909, and sold to John E. Madden for $7,000, also sire of Green Mountain Maid, dam of Electioneer 125, sire of Arion 2:07¾ and Sphinx in 2:30 and dams of 153 in 2:30. First dam Nellie H by Bondsman 37641, by Barron Wilkes 4758, by George Wilkes 519; second dam, Corinne by Simmons 2744; he by George Wilkes 519, Corinne's dam Lady Belle, she by Red Wilkes 1749.

He will make the season of 1911 at the farm of C. T. Northcutt, one and a half miles north of Waterloo and one and a half miles east of Belleview, at ten dollars to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur. Money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with.

Mares left on good grass at owner's risk, at 10 cents per day.

For further particulars or pedigree, address

NORTHCUTT BROS.,
R. D. 2. Burlington, Ky.

Jerry H. K. Glass, Jr.

Will stand at the same time and place at $8 to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Jerry H. K. Glass, jr., is a dark brown, mealy nose, very heavy bone, good head and ears, 14½ hands high, foaled in fall of 1907. A fine breeder.

Don De Gozee

the Belgin Daft Horse foaled in 1908 Will make the season at E. J. Ayer's stable, 1 1-2 miles from Hebron, on North Bend Road, at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt comes or mare parted with, or leaves the county.

Great care will be taken to prevent accidents but we will not be responsible should any occur.

DON DE GOZEE, despite his great size and weight, is well balanced throughout, perfectly proportioned and symmetrically built. He is as light action as stallions of much smaller type, and disposition much better than ucually found in horses of blood strain.

DON DE GOZEE is a beautiful dark sorrel, 16 1-2 hands, weight 1,800 pounds, broad, flat heavy, bone, fine style and action. This great breed of draft horses is especially known for better action than any other draft horses, for heavy, good bone and good hoof, and gentle, kind workers. Don De Gozee, was sired by Bayard De Gozee, whose Belgian Stud Book No. is 21670. Dam, Della Wise, brown mare, the great draft show mare of Campbell County, Kentucky.

WALTER RIDDELL,

SENATOR McCREARY

Addresses A Large And Enthusiastic Crowd At The Court House.

OTHER CANDIDATES IN TOWN.

Hon. James B. McCreary was given an enthusiastic reception last Monday by the crowd that was in Burlington, and the large circuit court room could not accommodate all those who wanted to hear his speech. He spoke for an hour and a half and was given the closest attention thruout. If there was an anti McCreary man in Burlington last Monday he did not let his presence be known.

Senator McCreary said in part:

"Reference has been repeatedly made to a convention to adopt a platform, and also to certain State questions now being discussed.

"In the interest of harmony and united Democracy, I am in favor of a State convention of Democrats, to be held after the primary election is held, to adopt a platform. The plan of holding a State convention and adopting a platform after the primary election is held has been tried in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and other Southern States, and gave satisfaction.

"I am in favor of:

"First—General improvement of our educational system. There should be better schools, better schoolhouses and more of them, and more school children in attendance, and better pay for the teachers, and there should be county High Schools in every county as authorized by the existing common school law. Education is the foundation of progress, and if the people are properly and intelligently educated necessary progress is sure to come.

"Second—There should be such legislation as will provide better roads and bring the roads in each county of Kentucky to a high state of efficiency. The cost of bad roads is a continuing heavy expense, and the best remedy is the construction of good roads.

"Third—Tax revision is desired by many persons, and it is asserted that the business interests of the State demand it. Two commissions after considering this subject reported in favor of tax revision. If I am honored by being elected Governor, I will approve any bill passed by the General Assembly providing for the submission to the voters of the State of an amendment to the Constitution of Kentucky authorizing the General Assembly to revise our present tax system. This important matter will thus be left to the voters of the State to decide whether the General Assembly shall be authorized to revise our present tax system.

"Fourth—Divorcement of the State penal institutions from politics.

"Fifth—Nonpartisan management of the State Fair, and of the Farmers' Institutes required to be held in each county.

"Sixth—Business examination and inspection of banks.

"Seventh—Election of U. S. Senators by the direct vote of the people.

"Eighth—Organization and co-operation among farmers, and also among laboring men.

"Ninth—Faithful upholding of the cardinal principle written by Thomas Jefferson, which declares in favor of the freedom of religion, and also of that part of the Constitution of the United States which declares no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office of public trust under the United States, and which is also substantially set forth in Section 5 of the Constitution of Kentucky.

"On most of these subjects to which I have referred I have spoken so often that I did not think it necessary to speak of them in detail until I was asked for a specific statement. This is especially true as regards education, for I voted as a member of the Kentucky Legislature for the Common School law enacted thirty-six years ago, and have often made speeches in favor of better schools and general improvement of educational facilities, and it is true also as regards the election of U. S. Senators by the direct vote of the people, for I voted twice while I was a member of Congress in favor of this legislation, and I have made many speeches in which I advocated religious freedom, and the right of every person to worship God according to the dictates of his or her conscience."

The following Democratic candidates for nomination for State offices were in Burlington Monday: James B. McCreary for Governor; L. C. Littrell for Supt. Public Instruction; O. H. Pollard for Attorney General; Henry Bosworth, for Auditor.

What Might Have Been.

President LeBus said recently of tobacco prospects:

"I also noticed, some little, the sales on new tobacco, and the prices are fair considering the quality, which seems worse instead of better. The more I see of the new crop, the more I am convinced that had the old poolers backed the movement in 1910 as well even as they did in 1909, we would have won out easily. However, that now is a record of the past, and I believe the lesson will be worth much to the outsiders, as well as to the ones on the inside. I feel sure that the past experiences will be worth much in an educational way."

DENNY P. SMITH,

of Trigg County,

authorizes his announcement as a candidate for Attorney General subject to the Democratic primary, July 1st, 1911. Mr. Smith was born and reared on a farm in Trigg County, and is a striking example of a self-made man. He earned his way through the State College by labor upon the experimental farm, and after five years of hard work and study, graduated with honorable mention in June, 1893.

He was a member of the Board of Trustees, and helped to make the State College a University, and is now serving as member of the Board.

Sixteen years practice at the bar, two terms as County Attorney of Trigg County, and seven years as Commonwealth Attorney of his District (which position he now holds,) have fitted him to discharge the duties of Attorney General with credit. He has a reputation of being an able Lawyer, a forceful speaker, and a leader in the Democratic party in his District. Being a man of attainments and high character, if nominated and elected, he will make a most efficient Attorney General.

He has faith in the party, and in its real mission for purer and better government; and believes in progressive democracy and a grand fight upon Willsonism, Republicanism, and graft in Kentucky.

MEMORIAM.

Death has again entered our midst, and on Friday, April 21st, at 1 p. m., Mrs. Carrie M. Stephens, after a brief illness with pneumonia, was called to her final reward. Kind friends and loved ones hovered over her, administering to every want, doing all in their power to alleviate her suffering and if possible prolong her life. But her life's work was ended, and gladly she obeyed the summons to be at rest, and with her God. She was trusting Jesus as her personal saviour and felt assured there was a home for her beyond the skies, and was willing and anxious to go, asking her friends not to grieve for her, "that she was only going on before. Happy thought to the bereaved, and an incentive to press onward and upward where friends who die in Christ, may meet to part no more.

The deceased was the daughter of the late Wm. Neal, and was born August 29th, 1835, being at the time of her death 75 years, 7 months and 22 days old. She was married to Erastus Stephens August 12th, 1854. To this union three children were born, Mrs. Liberty A. Weaver, Mrs. Mary Love and Mrs. Fannie Weaver, two of whom with the husband and one brother and sister survive her, and, with a host of friends and relatives, mourn her death, but we feel assured that our loss is her eternal gain.

Mrs. Myrtle Clements.

Card of Thanks—We desire to thank our neighbors and friends for the kindness and sympathy shown us during the illness and death of wife and mother, Mrs. Carrie M. Stephens, who died April 21, 1911. Also to Bro. McMillan for his kind and comforting words, and Mr. Allison and Smith for their most efficient services.

Husband and Children.

Instructed for Craig.

The Boone county Republicans held a mass convention in the court house in Burlington, last Saturday afternoon, and selected six delegates to attend the district convention to be held at Paris, Bourbon county, on Wednesday, May 3, 1911, to nominate a candidate for Railroad Commissioner in the third district.

A. M. Edwards, chairman of the county Republican committee called the meeting to order, and having stated its object, called for the nominations for chairman. J. M. Baker nominated G. G. Hughes for chairman, and there being no other nomination, he was elected by acclamation.

The chair then called for nominations for secretary and Fritz Zimmer nominated H. M. Kenyon, who was elected by acclamation.

The following committees were appointed:

Resolutions—Fritz Zimmer, C. C. Hughes, Geo. Kotmyer.

Delegates—Fred Zimmer, J. M. Baker, Harry Roberts.

The committee on delegates reported the following:

A. M. Edwards,
J. M. Baker,
Dave Sanders,
G. L. Miller,
Jonas Stevens,

and any good Republicans who will attend and abide by the action of the convention.

The report was adopted.

The committee on resolutions reported as follows:

Resolved, That we instruct our six delegates to vote for John J. Craig for the office of Railroad Commissioner from this the third district at the convention to be held at Paris, Ky., on the 3d day of May, 1911, and use their influence and votes for him so long as he is before the convention.

The report as read was adopted.

Motion was made and carried that the proceedings of this the Boone county Republican convention be published in the Recorder.

G. G. HUGHES, Chairman,
H. M. KENYON, Secretary.

NOTES.

Several of the leading Republicans of the county failed to put in their appearance at the convention last Saturday.

A. M. Edwards, of Walton, chairman of the county Republican committee, was the first Republican from the outlying precincts to show up last Saturday.

Julius Utzinger and Jonas Stevens, of Idlewild neighborhood, are two Republicans who are always on hand when there is anything doing in the way of a party convention.

More than half the attendance at the Republican convention last Saturday, came from Constance voting precinct. The delegation was headed by Fred Zimmer, who is in his 81st year.

J. M. Baker, a deputy collector residing in Covington, came out Saturday to help the Republican convention along with its work. Mr. Baker is a native of Big Bone neighborhood and recognizes this county as his home and takes an active part in party politics here.

Tobacco Plants.

Tobacco plants coming up nicely in Larue county.

Tobacco plants plentiful and growing rapidly in Dickson county, Tenn.

Tobacco plants plentiful around Augusta, but the crop will be cut much from last year.

Tobacco beds in Bath county that were sown early are up, but the young plants are not doing much good.

Plants in Christian county, are coming out and showing up better but will be later than last year's planting.

Tobacco plants in Owen county are up and look fine, but the scarcity of beds is noticable. The acreage is cut fully in one-half.

A large acreage of tobacco will be put out in Brown county, Ohio, notwithstanding the present low prices, and all over the Burley district in Ohio the growers are preparing ground for a large crop this year.

More tobacco plant beds have been sown in the northern part of Dickson County, Tenn., this spring than for several years. Beds are reported in fine condition and not damaged any by recent freezes.

Reports from tobacco beds in Todd county, are that the cold weather practically killed half at least of the early beds and many were reseeded. The indications now point to a scarcity of plants and possibly a lighter planting than usual.

Average New York Lawyer.

The income of the average New York lawyer is no greater than that of a patrolman or a tradesman's clerk, according to figures compiled by the New York Co. Lawyers' Association.

A report prepared for the association shows that there are approximately 16,000 lawyers in Greater New York, or about one to every 275 inhabitants. This provides, it is estimated, an average of three or four clients to each lawyer.

Forty per cent of all the New York lawyers are having a struggle for existence, the report says, and only 30 per cent are making "a fair living."

Of the 10 per cent that are earning large fortunes by far the greater part are men whose names seldom appear in the papers. Many of those most talked about are not earning large incomes.

The Tobacco Outlook for 1911.

"The outlook at present is that preparations are being made to plant as large a crop, in general, of tobacco in the United States as is usual, except in some few sections. In the dark tobacco sections of Kentucky and Virginia there is at present a general feeling to plant a larger acreage than last year. The product of these sections has been selling for satisfactory prices to the farmers, and the 1910 crop is virtually out of the hands of the growers. The activity that has prevailed among the buyers of dark tobacco the past season has impressed the planters with the idea that the consumption is keeping ahead of the production, therefore the incentive for a large crop of dark tobacco. The future of the Burley is problematic, but everything indicates that an average crop will be attempted, it would be well for the Kentucky tobacco grower to ponder awhile before going to the extreme in cutting out the production of Burley, bearing in mind that it is spreading in other States. There may be some curtailment in the production of bright tobacco in the eastern part of North Carolina owing to the high price of cotton, as it is a cotton-growing section. The same may be said of South Carolina, but there is new territory opening for the cultivation of bright tobacco there. It is generally believed that in the old belts of Virginia and North Carolina the usual acre age will be planted. In the cigar leaf growing states there will be no decrease of the acreage plant ed."—Western Tobacco Journal.

In speaking of the weather and crops in past years, an article in the Mt. Sterling Advocate says: "In 1842, Isaac Cunningham, of Clark county, raised a large field of corn which averaged 28 barrels to the acre. Geo. W. Williams, in Bourbon county, raised 31 2-3 barrels to the acre, and 31 2-3 Walter C. Young, of Jessamine county got 78 2-3 barrels from two acres, or 39 1-3 barrels to the acre.

Kreitzer, the Sedamsville livestock dealer, took a load of hogs and a drove of cattle out of this neighborhood, Tuesday morning.

What A Squealing Pig Did.

In Rhode Island in 1811 a candidate for the Legislature was elected by one vote because one of the supporters of his opponent stopped to get a squealing pig out of a crack in the fence and reached the poll two minutes after it had closed. The man elected cast the vote that chose a Senator by one vote and the Senator cast the vote that declared war by a single vote in 1812. Reasoning from this, a writer says the war of 1812 was caused by the squeal of a pig. A similar case happened in 1815. The annexation of Texas was accomplished by a majority of one vote in the United States Senate, cast by Senator Hannegan, of Indiana. Senator Hannegan was elected to the United States Senate by one vote in the Indiana House of Representatives, that vote being cast by Madison Marsh, a member of the legislature from Madison Co., Indiana. Marsh in turn was elect ed to the Legislature by one vote.

COW PEAS WITH CORN.

Experience has taught that cow peas planted with corn will increase the yield of corn, besides growing an extra crop of peas on the same land worth nearly as much as the corn crop. Messrs. Anderson Brown, N. F. Armstrong and a number of other Scott county farmers have been planting cow peas with their corn for a number of years and they say that it has proven quite profitable. It is said that a field of corn planted this way will feed twice as many hogs as the crop of corn alone would fatten; besides greatly enriching the soil. Mr. Armstrong's method of planting the two crops together is to first plant the corn in check rows; then plow the corn one time the cross way, and then plant the peas between each hill of corn; plowing the corn only one way after the peas are planted.—Georgetown News.

The Warsaw Womans' Club has begun their annual campaign for more pretty yards in Warsaw. This year they are offering an ornamental shrub to the person whose premises show the greatest improvement in appearance during the coming summer.—Leader.

An effort which is making some progress is being made in some localities in the State to work up an opposition to McCreary, several of the harvesting machines in the State who, at first showed well of the efforts, but decided it is doomed to failure and are not pushing it along any more.

From the lowest to the highest politicians are showing up all over the country. It looks like the time has arrived that a man of ordinary ability can get in politics young if you are nursing a desire to engage in politics the sooner you get rid of it the better—there's nothing in it.

Good roads boom that has Kentucky will give the legislature some work on a matter of vital importance to the people to consider, that will require much thought and numerous bills passed for each of which will be blamed.

The legislators under the new law will be drawing $6 per day instead of $5 as heretofore. Some of the members are kicking on the increase, but it is only fair that they should receive the same pay as other employees.

An exchange says: "It is claimed that the Independent Order of Oddfellows has a membership of 800 in Adams county, O., and that while in a recent probe 1,700 citizens were caught and that they came from almost every walk in life, not a single member of the order of Oddfellows has been found with an indictment against his name."

The charge that a considerable block of the Ohio legislature has been accepting bribes has created a tremendous sensation in that State. The proposition to have investigating committees appointed has been rejected by the legislature in order that the grand jury may have a free swing in the matter, and that there may be no whitewashing done. Governor Harmon is on the war path, and will do all in his power to have the guilty parties brought to the bar of justice.

An adopted child can not inherit by descent from any of the kindred of the foster or adopted parents, under a decision handed down by the Court of Appeals in the case of Merrit vs. Norton, administratrix, on appeal from the Warren county Circuit Court. The court says that while a man and his wife can bind themselves to make a child theirs and their heir, they are powerless to extend this right on his part to the kin of the foster parents. This is the first time that the Court has ruled on this question of inheritance.

The Blue-Grass Clipper, published at Versailles, Woodford Co., has this to say of Dr. W. E. Sleet, who was born and raised at Verona, this county:

"Dr. W. E. Sleet, will leave on next Monday for Shelbyville, where he will locate for the practice of his profession he having sold his Midway practice to Dr. D. J. Thompson. Dr. Sleet has been a resident of Midway for 22 years. During that time he has built up a larege clientile. He has been successful in his practice and stands high with the profession. His hosts of friends here regret to see him leave, but wish him continued success in his new field."

At the Michigan experiment station, seed potatoes cut in halves and planted at the rate of twenty bushels to the acre gave a total yield of 317 bushels, or a net yield in excess of the seed of 297 bushels; seed cut in quarters and planted at the rate of nine bushels per acre gave a total yield of 254 bushels, or a net yield in excess of the seed of 245 bushels; seed cut in eighths and planted at the rate of five bushels to the acre gave a total yield of 221 bushels, or a net yield of 216; seed cut with a single eye and planted at the rate of four bushels to the acre gave a total yield of 178 bushels, or a net yield of 174 bushels. Two hundred and fifty-one bushels per acre was the yield from planting whole potatoes, 40 bushels to the acre.

The Burlington High School base ball team was defeated at Florence last Saturday afternoon by the High School team at that place. The Burlington team had its opponent beaten to a frazzle until about the last inning, when it took passage in an airship and the Florence boys took the victory. Prof. Yesley's clever rooting for his boys it is said is responsible for their pulling out of the hole. Be that as it may, the Burlington aggregation was knocked down and run over before it realized there was any danger.

HENRY BEAL DIES

Ignorant of His Wife's Death—Too Ill to Be Told of the Sad Event.

Was A Son of Mr. and Mrs. James Beall, of Hebron Neighborhood.

Ignorant that his wife died ten days ago, Henry M. Beall, twenty-five years old, of No. 1410 Florida Ave., died at the Gordon Keller Memorial Hospital at 11 o'clock yesterday morning after being confined there several weeks. Mr. Beall contracted pneumonia several weeks ago and was taken to the hospital. It was declared that Beall had tuberculosis, from which his wife suffered, and that he probably contracted the disease from her.

Following Mr. Beall being taken to the hospital, Mrs. Minnie Beall was taken seriously ill and died of tuberculosis. Mr. Beall was too ill to be informed of the sad event. Mrs. Beall's body was taken to Kentucky for interment by Mr. Beall's mother. Before the latter returned Mr. Beall himself died.

The body will be sent north this morning by Gooding & Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Beall leave a little girl about two years old, who will be cared for by her grandmother, Mrs. Anna Beall, of Kentucky.—From the Tampa Morning Tribune of April 21st.

We wish to thank our many friends for the kindness and sympathy shown us in this our time of trouble and sorrow.
James B. Beall and Family.

M. T. Garnett's Will Probated.

The will of the late M. T. Garnett, was probated in the county court last Monday, and Sidney Gaines, nominated in the will qualified as executor. The estate will amount to about $12,000. The only special devise is $200 to R. A. Brady. To the children of his deceased brother, Jerry Garnett, of Virginia, two-fifths are given; two-fifths to his sister, Mrs. McManama, and one-fifth to the children of his deceased half sister, Mrs. Elanor Goodwin, of Virginia.

Never hesitate about giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to children. It contains no opium or other narcotics and be given with implicit confidence. As a quick cure for coughs and colds to which children are susceptible, it is unsurpassed. Sold by all dealers. tf.

To the Wool Growers of Boone County:
Your association has ordered that the pooling close on the 15th of this month. Those desiring to pool their wool should do so by that time.

SOMEWHAT MIXED.

Marriage and an Auction Were Likely "Scrambled" Because of Too Much Hard Cider.

A Shoolcraftville editor who was full of hard cider, got a sale bill and a marriage mixed, says an exchange. The description ran as follows: "William Smith, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Smith, was disposed of at public auction to Lucy Anderson, on my farm one mile east of here, in the presence of 70 guests, including the following to wit: Two mules, 13 head of cattle. Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot, averaging 1,500 pounds on the hoof. The home of this charming bride was tastefully decorated with sawash plum spades, one sulky rake, one feed grinder, one set of double harness, nearly new, and just before the ceremony was pronounced Mendelssohn's inspiring wedding march was given by one much cow to be fresh next April, carrying a bunch of flowers in her hand and looking charming in a gown made of right spring wagon, three boxes of apples, three racks of hay, one grindstone, mourning de joie, trimmed with about 500 bushels of spuds.

"The bridegroom is well known and a popular young man, has always stood well among society circles of 12 Berkshire hogs, while the bride is an accomplished and talented school teacher of a splendid drove of Poland Chinas—pedigrees if desired.

"Among the beautiful presents were two sets of silver knives and forks, spring harrow, one wheelbarrow, 2cart and other articles too numerous to mention. The bridal couple left yesterday on an extended trip. Terms Twelve months' time to responsible parties; otherwise spot cash. Lunch will be served at the stable. After this, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will go to housekeeping in a cozy little home at the corner of Maple and Dr. R. L. Cranby, auctioneer.

PAPER MONEY.

The most interesting part of the work of the Treasury Department is its process of keeping the nation supplied with money. This process, in the case of paper money, begins with the purchase of the raw paper and the engraving of the plate. The paper is made after a secret formula. The plates are engraved with exacting care. The public is not permitted to see the engravers at work, nor is any one engraver permitted to prepare a whole plate. The money is never print ed from the original plate, but duplicates are prepared from it by a mechanical process. If this were not so, it would be practically impossible to detect counterfeiting since no two plates for printing money of the same denomination would be exactly like. The fine lines on the paper money are engraved by a machine which has as many combinations as the best safe lock, each combination producing a different design, no one but the operator knowing these combinations. These lines can never be successfully imitated by hand.

The highest bill printed has a face value of $10,000. Few ever come back, as the banks prefer them to any other kind of money. Twelve pounds of them take the place of two thousand tons of silver in a bank vault. It costs the Government 2 1-2 cents to issue a piece of paper money and redeem it. It takes about 30 days to complete the printing of a piece of paper money, and each bill is counted fifty-two times during the process.—Exchange.

Lynching In An Opera House.

Livermore, Ky., April 21.—The body of Will Porter, lynched negro, was buried today after one of the most dramatic lynchings in this State. Porter, who had shot and fatally wounded Frank Mitchell, 22, in a poolroom dispute, was dragged from his hiding place beneath the stage of the Livermore opera house and bound on the stage, while his captors, massed in the orchestra circle, riddled his body with bullets. The setting on the stage depicted a forest, and when Marshal Stabler and his deputies came to rescue Poter, the sight that met their eyes was a ghastly one. The body was suspended an uncouth center for the sylvan scenes set up around it. The lynchers had fled and it is said there will be no prosecution.

After the negro was captured he was dragged before the footlights and tried. His captors then ranged themselves in the orchestra pit and at a given signal began to shoot. For a minute or more the auditorium reverberated with the roar of the pistols and rifles, and then all was still. Leaving the negro where he lay, a limp and bloody bundle, the mob filed out into the streets and in a few minutes had dispersed. When Sheriff Beeler arrived from Calhoun, having made the journey in a fastmotorboat, there was nothing for him to do but take charge of the body, the glare of the footlights revealing in its entirety the deadly work of the mob.

DISEASE SPREADERS.

Everyone Should Recognize The Importance of Combatting The Housefly.

Timely admonitions against the housefly are making their appearance in the public prints. People are taking the housefly rather seriously nowadays and it is proper they should.

The time has been when nobody paid much attention to flies. They were regarded as a nuisance and nothing more. It is getting to be generally understood at present that flies are something more than a mere pest; that they are a fruitful source of disease and that it is an imperative duty of humanity to fight them with never ceasing vigilance.

The common housefly is frequently referred to in a newspaper as the typhoid fly, because he is recognized by the medical profession as one of the most effective agencies known for the spread of typhoid fever. That is not the only disease for which he serves as a distributing medium. He can carry tuberculosis germs and dozens of other germs on his feet, and he plays no favorites while engaged in the business of promoting disease. Like that "impartial fate" which [illegible] equal step "the palace or the cottage gate," the fly has no preferences as to where he deposits his freightage of death dealing bacteria.

It is a good idea to begin early in the annual warfare against the fly. We are to have a clean up day before long and that will help some in the campaign against the fly if the work be general. In the meantime it is well to see that the screens are in order before the common enemy makes his appearance in large numbers. Cleanliness around the house and premises is about the best possible method of discouraging the fly's visits. He is a "muckraker" by nature and he prefers to loaf around where muck heaps abound. The fewer muck heaps, the fewer flies.

Everyone should recognize the importance of combatting the fly. The fight against him should be aggressive and continuous. The anti-fly campaign is an anti-disease campaign, a movement to make the country healthier and, consequently, happier and more prosperous. Surely that is an end to be desired, and the extermination of the fly would go a long way toward achieving it. —Courier-Journal.

POULTRY NOTES.

A hot water bottle may be used in a home made brooder for warming motherless chicks, even a jug of hot water can be used, but be sure to put the cork in tight.

Give the growing chicks a little oil meal several times a week, good also for all poultry. It contains bone forming, and feather making material in a concentrated form.

Allowing dirt and filth to accumulate not only breeds lice, but also disease.

Nip all leaks, whether in the roof, indisposition, lice or whatever, in the bud, and be sure and nip good and hard.

Stopping leaks right at the beginning or, better, watching so closely, that all leaks are prevented, and allowing things to go until conditions become so bad there has to be "something did," is just the difference between profit and loss.

Hen's eating one egg doesn't amount to much, but unless stopped then, it is a matter of but a few weeks until the egg eating is a habit and one that will be almost impossible to cure except by the hatchet.

Likewise a few lice won't both er much, but how fast they increase; no race suicide there.

Investigate the cause of the first droopy or dead chick, if investigation is thorough and proper means are used, perhaps the loss will stop with that chick.

A safe rule is to quarantine all droopy chicks, right at once; have the quarantine quarter isolated as much as possible from the runs and give sun with fresh air in abundance, also disinfect after each chick, or hatch of chicks is taken from quarantine.

Burn, or bury all dead chicks, just as soon as found; better put lime on the chick before covering with dirt.

It is perhaps better for one to improve the breed they have unless it has proven itself of little worth, than to procure new breeds. The cost of getting a supply of a new breed is greater than to improve the one already at hand; then the chances are that you will not have better success with a new kind; very likely it is the care and feed given that cause the no profit. So while improving the breed, improve your methods also.

For beginners, it is perhaps best to get a start from some one in the neighborhood, who has made a good success with a well tried breed, unless there is inquiry for some new sort; if this seems to be the case, procure the best possible of that variety then work towards improving the ones you get. By all means don't allow them to go down hill. Sanitary conditions and care, with good feed will prevent this.

Balked At Cold Steel.

"I wouldn't let a doctor cut my foot off," said H. D. Ely, of Bantam, Ohio, "although a horrible ulcer had been the plague of my life for four years. Instead I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my foot was soon completely cured." Heals Burns, Boils, Sores, Bruises, Eczema, Pimples, Fever Sores. Best cure. 25c. at

MAGIC JAY,

(Trial 2:25)

Sired by Jay Bird 5080, sire of 137 including Hawthorn, 2:08½, Alceste, 2:07½, Justo, 2:08¼, Allerton, 2:08½, Gltcale Manito, 2:09½, Dulcie J, 2:09½, Early David, 2:10, Inoades, 2:10. Sired the dams of 91, including Baroness Virginus (3), 2:08½, Crescent Route, 2:08½, Bissie Drake, 2:08½, Codero, (4) 2:08½.

First dam by Magic Wilkes, 17190; second dam by John Berdine, 7217; third dam by Lexington.

MAGIC JAY was foaled April 23, 1905, stands 16 hands high, weighs 1200 pounds, has been handled but little for speed, but has shown a mile in 2:25. He is a son of the great Jay Bird, who sired 137 in the 2:30 list and has 8 in the 2:10 list.

MAGIC JAY'S dam is by Magic Wilkes, 1749, sire of 177, and sired the dam of 229.

MAGIC JAY will make the season of 1911 at Pleasant Hill Place at $10 to insure, money due when mare is parted with or is bred to another horse. Not responsible for accidents.

MIKE, Jr.

The Jack that has proven himself a first-class mule getter will make the season at the same place at $10 to insure a living foal, money due when mare foals or is parted with or bred elsewhere.

Walter Winans

Chestnut Stallion,

Will make the season at Ten Dollars to insure a mare in foal, and we will give Ten Dollars for best horse colt and same for best mare colt of get 1911.

He will be at Beaver on Mondays and Tuesdays, at my place on Wednesdays and at Burlington on the balance of each week. All necessary pains will be taken to prevent accidents but responsible for none should any occur.

WALTER WINANS 30400. Trotter. Trial 2:19. Sired by Robert McGregor 647, record 2:27½, sire of Cresceus 2:12½, McDougal 2:10½, Kentucky Star 2:08½, Lurline McGregor 2:11½, Tom McGregor 2:12, Nyanza 2:23½ and 84 others, and of the dams of Gratten Boy 2:08, Elloree 2:08½, York Boy 2:08½, and 47 others; son of Major Edsall 2:11.

1st dam Riley by Hot Spur, Jr., 3812, dam of Kate Ham 2:24½, Geo. T. Putney 2:28½, sire of Tom B 2:24½, and others, and of the dams of Ben Li 2:21 1-2, and 5 others, son of Hot Spur 172; dam, Patty, by Blind Tuckahoe; 2d dam, Nance by Telegraph.

2d dam, Tugles, by Membrine Gift 584. Record 2:20, sire of Membrinette 2:21, and 6 others, and of the dams of Sphinxetta 2:08½, Sandy Boy 2:12, Louis Owosso 2:16 1-4, and 18 others; son of Mambrino 29, etc.

Walter Winans is a compact made horse, 16 hands full and weighs 1250 pounds, a sure foal getter, breeds large and his colts are solid colors, either sorrel or bay. The fact that this horse is by the celebrated Robert McGregor 647 who is the sire of Cresceus 2:12 1-4, strongly recommends him to the world, Cresceus held the stallion record, not only of America, but of the world for about ten years.

This horse is of a kind disposition, nicely mannered and drives well single or double. He is in every way a high-class horse and with his royal breeding and blue blood ancestors; men with good mares should grasp this opportunity and raise such colts that will develope in horses of high grade. That even the best regulated and well made machinery will sometimes get out of order and cause trouble. That's why we contract for and handle the best lines only, the kinds that have been tried and tested and proven to be the best. Have you never noticed this?

Soon you will have to deal with the feeding problem. If you have several head of Cows, Horses, Hogs or Sheep, and must keep a big supply of feed on hand, a SILO is the thing to have.

By the use of a SILO we can show you how to save about 100 per cent. on your feed bills in six months' time, the only outlay being $150 for a SILO. Write us for particulars. The greatest convenience—the most economical device ever invented for the farm.

In other lines of machinery we handle Dick's Feed Cutters, Grain Drills, Gas Engines, and Roofing materials of all kinds.

Public School Per Capita.

Prospective teachers are looking forward eagerly to the announcement of the per capita to be paid by the State for public school purposes. This is ascertained by dividing the gross amount of the school revenues from various sources by the total number of children of school age reporting from the various counties.

The census is now being taken in the various counties and when these shall have been returned to the county superintendent the latter report the total number in the county to the office of the State Superintendent. It is not believed that the per capita will be less than last year, four dollars, and some believe it may be considerably more.

In past years, both Republicans and Democrats, have sometimes held back money that should have been distributed, in order to make a big showing the last year of the administration and thus carry favors with the voters.

Two years ago the State paid four dollars per pupil. Last year the assessed valuation of the State was much larger while the increase in the number of school children over that of the previous year was quite small and it could seem that there should have been increase in the amount per pupil paid by the State; such was not the case however, and in the opinion of some, a part of the fund which should have been distributed las. year has been held over to enable the Republican administration to make a big showing for the schools during its last year.

If this be true the per capita may be increased considerably and if it is not true, the amount will hardly be less than last year and may be more.

Nothing can prove more advantageous to a community from a commercial standpoint than good roads. Scott county is already pretty thoroughly piked, as far as mileage goes. But what is now badly needed is to put these pikes in better condition. The action of the Fiscal court in deciding to purchase machinery to do this work is a step in the right direction. With a yearly road revenue of $2,500 or more by judicious and intelligent management, the pikes of Scott county should in a few years be made to compare favorably with any other roads in the country. Let the good work be continued.

KENTUCKY ROADS.

If Kentucky would work its convicts on the roads the chances are that there would be fewer convicts and better roads.—Elizabethtown News.

—!!!—

Time was when good roads was a subject about which nobody could arouse enthusiasm, but things have changed now and the whole State is talking about the advantages of better highways.—Frankfort News-Journal.

—!!!—

A number of the citizens on the three miles of the Bloomfield turnpike, together with the county supervisor, gathered up their teams and hands and spent three days' work ditching that turnpike, and the best part of the narrative is that they did this of their own accord and without one cent of expense to the county.—Bardstown Standard.

—!!!—

The McCracken County Fiscal Court has set aside $20,000 to be expended in building additional gravel roads in McCracken county. The aid to be given thru the co-operation of the farmers living along the various thoroughfares to be improved will represent a similar sum, making the total to be spent on gravel road improvement in McCracken county $40,000.—Paducah News-Democrat.

—!!!—

One of the chiefest advantages of the good roads movement is the awakening of the people of Kentucky to the manner in which road funds now are being spent. Some of the road experts, who heretofore have been enjoying the lucrative occupation of spending the money appropriated by the counties for public highways, bid fair to extend their practical knowledge of highway construction by cracking stone for the State's use.—Paducah Sun.

—!!!—

The Gazette might favor the issual of county bonds for road purposes to the amount of $100,000 or $200,000, or whatever was necessary, believing that the money would be honestly spent and that it would be money well spent. But the Gazette is not much in favor of a State tax for road purposes, for several reasons. One reason is that the tax would be collected whether Hickman county roads were the better for it or not. Another reason is that it would require or be an excuse for another batch of salaried officers whose services would be paid whether Hickman county were the better for it or not. Another reason is that it would require or be an excuse for another batch of salaried officers whose services would be paid whether Hickman county roads were benefited or not. Still another reason is that we think roads are a local institution and that if we wanted them bad enough we would raise the money to build them.—Clinton Gazette.

Better Milch Cows.

The fact that there are hundreds of thousands of cows that make two or more pounds of butter every day, for ten to eleven months of the year, is conclusive that hundreds of thousands more can be had in the same way. These were secured, to take the place of the one-pound-a-day cows and the many poorer ones that are only expensive boarders. And no risking the monotony of "line upon line" on this topic, we give below what an experienced dairyman of the Wisconsin Agricultural College has to say on Better Cows:

The fact that here are a great many cows which will yield from two to three pounds of butter-fat daily should form a strong incentive to any dairyman who wishes to improve his herd, to feed his good cows in such a way as to secure from them the highest production of which they are capable and also to try to gradually raise the standard of production of the herd by a judicious weeding out of low producers and by adding to the herd, as opportunity offers, cows or heifers that give promise of becoming large producers. It should be remembered that the bull is at least "half the dairy herd," according to the testimony of good authorities, and the best pure bred bull that the farmer can afford to buy should be placed at the head of the herd. Every dairy farmer owes it to himself and to his family to do the best he can with the cows he has and he does not know whether his cows can do better than they are now doing until he experiments a little, giving them some new palatable grain feed, or a little more of the feeds they are getting, and watching the results of the milk record sheet. This involves individual feeding of cows and regular weighing of the milk, with occasional testing of this for butterfat, but that is the only way to know how the account stands with each cow, and whether these are doing as well as they ought to and will do under the right system of feeding and management.

The Circuit Court at Frankfort rendered judgment for $5,500 in favor of T. R. Griffin, of Somerset, and Armstrong and Harding, of Louisville against the Goebel Reward Commission, as a reward for the arrest and conviction of Henry E. Youtsey and James B. Howard, for the assassination of Gov. Goebel in 1900.

Turkey breeders who have been troubled by their charges straying are recommended by the London Agricultural Gazette to put a bell on a few of the leaders, old hens by preference.

Primary Election Notice.

At a meeting of the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee, held at Burlington, Ky., March 23, 1911, it was ordered that a Primary Election be held in every voting precinct in Boone County on Saturday, July 1st, 1911, from 6 o'clock a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for State Senator, County Representative and County Clerk to be voted on at the regular election in November, 1911. All known Democrats entitled to vote at the regular election in November, 1911, shall be entitled to vote in this election.

A. B. Renaker was made a subcommittee of one to have ballots printed and to attend to all details in carrying out this call.

The entrance fee of each individual candidate in this primary Election is fixed at $40, to be paid to A. B. Renaker not later than June 16th, 1911 at which time the names of the candidates who have paid their proper entrance fee will be placed on the ballots.

A. B. RENAKER, Chairman.
T. F. CURLEY, Secretary.

Test Your Seed Corn.

The testing of good corn, while always a matter of safety has seldom been so necessary as it is this spring. When husked last fall corn carried much more than the normal amount of moisture, 27 to 30 per cent was not at all uncommon. This in itself would have been cause enough for alarm if normal temperatures had prevailed. But November of 1910 had the lowest mean temperature of any November during the 23 years of the Experiment Station's records. Very early in November the mercury dropped to 10 degrees below freezing and day after day it was from 10 to 18 degrees below freezing. These two factors are without a parallel in recent years and should give the corn growers no little concern.

Three weeks ago the experiment station wrote to corn growers in all parts of the states for samples of corn from 100 representative ears which had been saved for seed, or for reports of germination tests already conducted by them. The samples received in response to this call have been germinated and reveal a condition which was expected. The range of germination is from 45 to 90 per cent much seed which had been handled with considerable care showing below 80 per cent. Such a state of affairs will result in a very poor and uneven stand of plants in corn fields unless every ear of corn intended for seed be carefully tested to determine whether it will grow.

In conducting the germination test it is important that the conditions which the corn will have to endure in the field be duplicated as nearly as possible. Condemn every ear of low vitality to the feed trough, where it will prove of some value but if used for seed will cause a loss of from $1.50 to $5. What can the corn grower do that will make him any more money than to weed out these worthless seed ears.—The Agricultural Experiment Station.

Anxiour to Pool Their Tobacco.

Many tobacco raisers in this neighborhood are talking very much in favor of pooling the 1911 crop of tobacco. People heretofore had opposed the Equity Tobacco Society are now out strongly in its favor believing it will be the only redemption to the tobacco grower, as the price which the American Tobacco Co., have so far paid this year is not enough to meet the actual expense of the grower in raising the crop. Not only are the tobacco raisers in dire circumstances owing to the price they receive for tobacco but every business man feels the effect of this sacrifice in price. The credit system and the lack of money circulation makes hardships for all.—Patriot Dept. Vevay Democrat.

Saved Many From Death.

W. L. Mock, of Mock, Ark., believes he has saved many lives in his 26 years of experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hard colds, hoarseness, obstinate coughs, lagrippe, croup, asthma or other bronchial affection, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well today because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe its the best throat and lung medicine that's made." Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free, or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by all dealers.

An Illinois correspondent who is a very successful hog grower says that he has carefully tested the value of feeding skim milk to pigs and young hogs, by taking two lots of five pigs each of the same litter. One lot was fed on skim milk with corn meal, and wheat middlings and bran. He found in 90 days feeding that the skim milk was worth 38 cents per 100 pounds, as compared with the other feeding. Both had plenty of pure water.

A touch of Rheumatism, or a twinge of Neuralgia, whatever the trouble is, Chamberlain's Liniment drives away the pain at once and cures the complaint quickly. First application gives relief. Sold by all druggist.

A train of 40 or 50 cars is required to haul one day's supply of cement in the construction of the Panama Canal. About 8,500 barrels are used daily.

THE FINE YOUNG STALLION

PRINCE OLSEN

will make the season of 1911 at my farm two miles west of Walton, Boone County, Ky., at $10.00 to insure a living colt. Persons parting with mares forfeit the insurance money. A lien retained on colt until season money is paid. Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur.

PRINCE OLSEN was foaled in 1907, and is one model of his class. He weighs 1530 pounds and is nearly 17 hands in height. He is a beautiful black, and is a picture of symmetry and fine points of the draft horse. His breeding qualities are excellent.

PRINCE OLSEN was sired by Blackmon, a registered Percheron stallion owned by Ole G. Olsen, of Shabbona Grove, Illinois, where he was foaled in 1907, and from whom he was purchased by me this spring, selecting this horse over many others because of his excellent qualities. Prince Olsen is eligible to registry, and is one of the highest bred draft horses ever in this section of country. The dam of Prince Olsen was a high bred registered Percheron mare. I feel that farmers and breeders will make no mistake in breeding to Prince Olsen as it means a good, strong colt that will meet every requirement on the farm. One of the lacking features of our horses is the size and strength. With the well bred Percheron like Prince Olsen these essentials are fully incorporated.

Come and see the horse and inspect his good points and you will breed to him.

Also at the same place and under the same conditions I will offer for public service my two fine sure breeding jacks is a black Jack with mealy points five years old, 15.3 hands high, large bone and big body, very long ear, and has proven himself to be one of the best breeders in Kentucky. His mules are quick sellers and several of them have been sold at $125 at weaning time. His service fee will be $10.

BEN

DEWEY.

is another fine Jack, three years old and a half brother to Ben. His fee will be $10.00 and he will be permitted to serve only a few mares.

Both jacks are high in class, and are excellent breeders. Take a look at them before breeding; it may pay you.

For Sunday School Workers

A Normal School was organized last Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Julia Rouse. Rev. Wayman is to take charge of the school as we believe he thoroughly understands the work. It is for the purpose of training young and old in Sunday school work, to prepare the young that they may be able to take the place of the old and to better the older folks. All are invited to join the class. The enrolled members are namely:

Mrs. H. C. Wayman,
Mrs. J. G. Slater,
Mrs. Owen Watts,
Mrs. Ruth Roberts,
Mrs. Julia Rouse,
Mrs. Sallie Hicks,
Misses Callie Benson,
Susie Johnson,
Nellie Johnson,
Isabel Tompkins,
Sallie Allen,
Lizzie Roberts,
Mabel Powers,
Maggie Johnson,
Milmot Kinslear.

All wishing to join the class with those already enrolled are requested to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Watts Saturday evening, May 6th. Much knowledge has in the past been gained from this course of study and many have better fitted themselves for teaching in Sunday schools. All taking the entire course of study with those who have taken it in the past will, in the end, graduate and receive a diploma. Misses Mamie Northcutt and Margaret Franks graduated in the work several weeks ago.

What You Eat in Apples.

Do you know what you are eating when you eat an apple? The National Horticulturist tells you. You are eating malic acid, the property that makes buttermilk so healthful. You are eating gallic acid, one of the most necessary elements in human economy. You are eating sugar in its most assimilable form, combined carbon, hydrogen and oxygen caught and imprisoned from the sunshine. You are eating a gum allied to the "fragrant medical gums of araby." And you are eating phosphorus in the only form in which it is available as the source of all brain and nerve energy. In addition to all these you are drinking the purest water and eating the most healthful and desirable fibre for the required roughness in food elements. The acids of the apple diminish the acidity of the stomach and prevent and cure dyspepsia. They drive out the noxious matters that cause the skin eruptions and thus are nature's most glorious complexion makers. They neutralize in the blood the deleterious elements that poison the brain and make it sluggish. The contained phosphorous is not only greater than in any other form of food but it is presented in a shape for immediate use by the brain and nerves, where it may flash into great thoughts and great deeds. The ancients assigned the apples as the food for the gods and its juices the ambrosial nectar to which they resorted to renew their youth. Men are the gods of today, and the apple is their royal food, the magic renewer of youth. Eat a rich, ripe apple every day and you have disarmed all diseases of half their terror.

The famous Haggin ranch of 50,000 acres, near Sacramento, Cala., has been sold. Its sale marks the passing of another of the great horse breeding establishments of the Pacific coast. The purchasers paid nearly $2,000,000 for the property and plan to cut it up into small farms. As late as 1891 there were 600 brood mares and 30 thoroughbred stallions on the ranch, and at one time in addition to the thoroughbreds there were also from 300 to 400 trotting bred horses on it.

After the 1909 Pooled Tobacco.

A lengthy statement of the condition of the pooled Burley tobacco has been sent out from Lexington from which we make the following extracts:

"The sales of the pooled tobacco will continue right along thru the spring and summer until it is all sold, unless there it a marked slump in prices, and if prices keep up well enough to cause no interruption, it is believed that all of the pooled tobacco will be disposed of by September 1, and before the new crop comes on the brakes. It will then be only a matter of distributing the proceeds, settling the details and bringing the pool to an end, and it is figured that before the beginning of a new year the Burley tobacco pool of 1909 will have passed into history.

While no official figures are given out at the Burley Society headquarters it is known that all of the pooled tobacco sold up to this time has averaged over 10 cents a pound, which is considered an excellent showing under the circumstances.

The members of the pool will therefore receive better prices for the second distribution than they did for the first, with prospects for still better prices for the remaining 60 per cent of the pool. Secretary J. M. Rankin, of the Burley Society, attributes the rise in price to what he considers the fact that the Burley tobacco crop of 1910 has been found to be fully 75,000,000 lbs., less than it had been estimated to be and that now near the close of the selling season buyers find that they cannot get the colory tobacco they desire from the crop of 1910 and are turning to the pool of 1909.

Sale of Fine Bunch of Cattle.

Mr. J. W. Parrish sold last week to Mr. Jonas Weil, the Lexington cattle king, what is perhaps the finest bunch of export cattle that ever left the bluegrass. There were 93 in all, and their average weight was close to 1,500 lbs. They brought the top price of 6c a pound. Mr. Parrish pronounced them the best lot he had ever handled and he has raised some of the best that Central Kentucky has ever produced. They were all in first class condition, not a one in the lot that did not show class. They were loaded on cars here Saturday for shipment to Baltimore. From there they will be sent to England to feed the Britishers who are the champion beef-eaters of the world. If our butchers could get hold of a few like these with which to supply their trade there would not be the kick about tough meat which one hears constantly. But the Britishers get all the best we have. Some American tourists, however, may get hold of a poterhouse or two from Mr. Parrish's lot, as they will probably be on the market by the time of the coronation of King George.—Blue-Grass Clipper.

Fine Horses Scarce.

Just why Gallatin county farmers do not take the same interest in fine horses as do those of our neighboring counties is something we have never been able to understand. The soil, climate, etc., are the same and the markets just as accessible. In other matters our people are as progressive. We have fine cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry. We also have a few fine horses, but nothing like we should have. We have in the county this season but a few fine stallions for public service, when we should have many. The difference in the prices of common and fine stock is becoming more marked each year and our people should awaken to the realities of the situation.—Leader.

An old Missourian recalls the quaint speech with which an old Federal soldier once introduced General James Shields, a citizen of two countries, a hero of two wars, general in two armies, a senator from two states and the man who came nearer whipping Stonewall Jackson than any other man ever did," and there, looking around and seeing no ladies in the audience, he added, "but didn't do it by a d—d sight!"—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Requesting his paper changed to R. R. 4, Petaluma, Cala., Walker Ryle writes:

"I am in the land of sunshine and flowers again. I landed in Petaluma Cala., April 13th, and now I am working for a man on a chicken ranch. I get $30 a month and board. We get between 15 and 18 hundred eggs per day. He has about 4,000 laying hens. I wish some of you could see some of the large chicken ranches around Petaluma. Well, how are all the old Boone county people?"

The Owen Co. Democrat sounds this very timely warning:

"The days of mud slinging are past; men are living upon a high plain. Anything said by one Democrat against the record of another will be taken up by the Republican party in the regular election. So be careful Democrats, dissention in our own party pleases the Republicans and helps them to win a victory besides the days of backbiting and jealousy should be remembered as only in the dark ages."

The sudden death of Mrs. Ida Wilson at Christ Hospital, Sunday morning, April 16th, came as a shock to her many friends in this neighborhood. She was taken to the hospital on the 10th of April and seemed getting along nicely when she commenced to grow worse on Saturday afternoon. The remains were conveyed to the home of the mother on Monday, from which the funeral occurred Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Kimball, of the Belleview Baptist church conducting the services. An unusually large crowd followed the remains to their last resting place in the Wilson cemetery, less than a mile from where she was born. Ida May Walton was born May 4th, 1870, was a daughter of the late George H. and Harriet Walton. She was married to Sam C. Wilson Sept. 29th, 1892, and unto this union three children were born. The oldest died in 1896, Robt. H. and Ida May survive. She joined the Baptist church in 1887, and has always tried to live up to its teachings. Thus from the blush of life's morning amid the Kentucky hills to its twilight shade at the setting of the sun, ever the same morning noon and evening, the model daughter wife and mother passed to her reward full of honors with no cloud to dim the golden glow of lifes evening sky.

We desire to express our sincere thanks for the sympathy and kindness shown us in our recent bereavement. We desire to thank the Ladies Aid K. of P. and R. A. Steele, and especially Colin Kelly and wife, for their kindness during our wife and daughter's illness.

CARD OF THANKS.

The members, who under the auspices of the Boone Library Association of Burlington, gave a presentation of their plays, "Uncle John" and "Rascal Pat,' at Petersburg, last Saturday evening, wish to publicly express their appreciation of the cordial greeting accorded them by the citizens of that community. On arriving at the hall in the early afternoon it was soon found that kind friends had placed everything needful at our disposal. All that remained for us to do was to place these articles. A most delightful supper was served to and enjoyed by us at the home of Mr. James Jarrell. When the curtain was rung up at 8 o'clock, the large Hall was filled with an attentive and seemingly appreciative assemblage as any before which the club has appeared. The people of Petersburg surely know how to take care of the stranger and that comes within her gates. All were kind but to Dr. Hubert Walton, Col. G. C. Graddy, Mr. E. T. Krutz, E. L. Helms, Miss Lou Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Berkshire, Mr. and Mrs. James Jarrell, and Herbert McKim, of Cincinnati, to we feel that we owe our special thanks for the many kindnesses shown us as a club.

For Sunday School Workers a Normal School was organized last Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Julia Rouse. Rev. Wayman is to take charge of the school as we believe he thoroughly understands the work. It is for the purpose of training young and old in Sunday school work, to prepare the young that they may be able to take the place of the old and to better the older folks. All are invited to join the class. The enrolled members are namely:

Mrs. H. C. Wayman,
Mrs. J. G. Slater,
Mrs. Owen Watts,
Mrs. Ruth Roberts,
Mrs. Julia Rouse,
Mrs. Sallie Hicks,
Misses Callie Benson,
Susie Johnson,
Nellie Johnson,
Isabel Tompkins,
Sallie Allen,
Lizzie Roberts,
Mabel Powers,
Maggie Johnson,
Milmot Kinslear.

All wishing to join the class with those already enrolled are requested to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Watts Saturday evening, May 6th. Much knowledge has in the past been gained from this course of study, and many have better fitted themselves for teaching in Sunday schools. All taking the entire course of study with those who have taken it in the past, will, in the end, graduate and receive a diploma. Misses Mamie Northcutt and Margaret Franks graduated in the work several weeks ago.

What You Eat in Apples.

Do you know what you are eating when you eat an apple? The National Horticulturist tells you. You are eating malic acid, the props that makes buttermilk so healthful. You are eating gallic acid, one of the most necessary elements in human economy. You are eating sugar in its most assimilable form, combined carbon, hydrogen and oxygen caught and imprisoned from the sunshine. You are eating a gum allied to the "fragrant medical gums of arabby." And you are eating phosphorus in the only form in which it is available as the source of all brain and nerve energy. In addition to all these you are drinking the purest water and eating the most healthful and desirable fibre for the required roughness in food elements. The acids of the apple diminish the acidity of the stomach and prevent and cure dyspepsia. They drive out the noxious matters that cause the skin eruptions and thus are nature's most glorious complexion makers. They neutralize in the blood the deleterious elements that poison the brain and make it sluggish. The contained phorphorous is not only greater than in any other form of food but it is presented in a shape for immediate use by the brain and nerves, where it may flash into great thoughts and great deeds. The ancients assigned the apples as the food for the gods and its juices the ambrosial nectar to which they resorted to renew their youth. Men are the gods of today, and the apple is their royal food, the magic renewer of youth. Eat a rich, ripe apple every day and you have disarmed all diseases of half their terror.

The famous Haggin ranch of 50,000 acres, near Sacramento, Cala., has been sold. Its sale marks the passing of another of the great horse breeding establishments of the Pacific coast. The purchasers paid nearly $2,000,000 for the property and plan to cut it up into small farms. As late as 1905 there were 600 brood mares and 30 thoroughbred stallions on the ranch, and at one time in addition to the thoroughbreds there were also from 300 to 400 trotting bred horses on it.

After the 1909 Pooled Tobacco.

A lengthy statement of the condition of the pooled Burley tobacco has been sent out from Lexington from which we make the following extracts:

The sales of the pooled tobacco will continue right along thru the spring and summer until it is all sold, unless there is a marked slump in prices, and if prices keep up well enough to cause no interruption, it is believed that all of the pooled tobacco will be disposed of by September 1, and before the new crop comes on the brakes. It will then be only a matter of distributing the proceeds, settling the details and bringing the pool to an end, and it is figured that before the beginning of a new year the Burley tobacco pool of 1909 will have passed into history.

While no official figures are given out at the Burley Society headquarters it is known that all of the pooled tobacco sold up to this time has averaged over 10 cents a pound, which is considered an excellent showing under the circumstances.

The members of the pool will therefore receive better prices for the second distribution than they did for the first, with prospects for still better prices for the remaining 60 per cent of the pool. Secretary J. M. Rankin, of the Burley Society, attributes the rise in price to what he considers the fact that the Burley tobacco crop of 1910 has been found to be fully 75,000,000 lbs., less than it had been estimated to be and that now near the close of the selling season buyers find that they cannot get the colory tobacco they desire from the crop of 1910 and are turning to the pool of 1909.

Sale of Fine Bunch of Cattle.

Mr. J. W. Parrish sold last week to Mr. Jonas Weil, the Lexington cattle king, what is perhaps the finest bunch of export cattle that ever left the bluegrass. There were 93 in all, and their average weight was close to 1,500 lbs. They brought the top price of 6c a pound. Mr. Parrish pronounced them the best lot he had ever handled and he has raised some of the best that Central Kentucky has ever produced. They were all in first class condition, not a one in the lot that did not show class. They were loaded on cars here Saturday for shipment to Baltimore. From there they will be sent to England to feed the Britishers who are the champion beef-eaters of the world. If our butchers could get hold of a few like these with which to supply their trade there would not be the kick about tough meat which one hears constantly. But the Britishers get all the best we have. Some American tourists, however, may get hold of a poterhouse or two from Mr. Parrish's lot, as they will probably be on the market by the time of the coronation of King George.—Blue-Grass Clipper.

Fine Horses Scarce.

Just why Gallatin county farmers do not take the same interest in fine horses as do those of our neighboring counties is something we have never been able to understand. The soil, climate, etc., are the same and the markets just as accessible. In other matters our people are as progressive. We have fine cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry. We also have a few fine horses, but nothing like we should have. We have in the county this season but a few fine stallions for public service, when we should have many. The difference in the prices of common and fine stock is becoming more marked each year and our people should awaken to the realities of the situation.—Leader.

An old Missourian recalls the quaint speech with which an old Federal soldier once introduced General James Shields to a Missouri audience. The introduction included a high tribute to Stonewall Jackson's generalship. Said the old Union soldier:

"Friends and Fellow Citizens—Allow me to introduce General James Shields, a citizen of two countries, a hero of two wars, general in two armies, a senator from two states and the man who came nearer whipping Stonewall Jackson than any other man ever did," and here, looking around and seeing no ladies in the audience, he added, "but didn't do it by a d——d sight!"—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Requesting his paper changed to R. R. 4, Petaluma, Cala., Walker Ryle writes:

"I am in the land of sunshine and flowers again. I landed in Petaluma Cala., April 13th, and now I am working for a man on a chicken ranch. I get $30 a month and board. We get between 15 and 18 hundred eggs per day. He has about 4,000 laying hens. I wish some of you could see some of the large chicken ranches around Petaluma. Well, how are all the old Boone county people?"

The Owen Co. Democrat sounds this very timely warning:

"The days of mud slinging are past; men are living upon a higher plain. Anything said by one Democrat against the record of another will be taken up by the Republican party in the regular election. So be careful Democrats, dissention in our own party pleases the Republicans and helps them to win a victory besides the days of backbiting and jealousy should be remembered as only in the dark ages."

The sudden death of Mrs. Ida Wilson at Christ Hospital, Sunday morning, April 16th, came as a shock to her many friends in this neighborhood. She was taken to the hospital on the 10th of April and seemed to be getting along nicely when she commenced to grow worse on Saturday afternoon. The remains were conveyed to the home of the mother on Monday, from which the funeral occurred Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Kimball, of the Belleview Baptist church conducting the services. An unusually large crowd followed the remains to their last resting place in the Wilson cemetery, less than a mile from where she was born. Ida May Walton born May 4th, 1870, was a daughter of the late H. and Harriet Walton. She was married to Sam C. Wilson Sept. 29th, 1892, and unto this union three children were born. The oldest died in 1896, Robt. H. and Ida May survive. She joined the Baptist church in 1887, and has always tried to live up to its teachings. Thus from the blush of life's morning amid the Kentucky hills to its twilight shade at the setting of the sun, ever the same morning noon and evening, the model daughter wife and mother passed to her reward full of honors with no cloud to dim the golden glow of lifes evening sky.

We desire to express our sincere thanks for the sympathy and kindness shown us in our recent bereavement. We desire to thank the Ladies Aid K. of P. and R. A. Steele, and especially Colin Kelly and wife, for their kindness during our wife and daughter's illness.

CARD OF THANKS.

The members, who under the auspices of the Boone Library Association of Burlington, gave a presentation of their plays, "Uncle Josh" and "Rascal Pat," at Petersburg, last Saturday evening, wish to publicly express their appreciation of the cordial greeting given them by the citizens of that community. On arriving at the hall in the early afternoon it was soon found that kind friends had placed every thing needful at our disposal. All that remained for us to do was to place these articles. A most delightful supper was served to and enjoyed by us at the home of Mr. James Jarrell. When the curtain was rung up at 8 o'clock, the large Hall was filled with an attentive and seemingly appreciative assemblage as any before which the club has appeared. The people of Petersburg surely know how to take care of the stranger that comes within her gates. All were kind but to Dr. Hubert Walton, Col. G. C. Graddy, Mr. E. T. Krutz, E. L. Helms, Miss Lou Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Berkshire, Mr. and Mrs. James Jarrell, and Herbert McKim, of Cincinnati, do we feel that we owe our special thanks for the many kindnesses shown us as a club.

The Entertainment Committee.

When communications reach this office as late as some did this week they have to be condensed in nearly every instance. A communication from Beaver neighborhood was mailed to the wrong party, who handed it in but too late for this week and it will be too old for next.

The Boone Library Dramatic club has an offer of $50 and all expenses to make a one night stand at Dry Ridge, Grant county.

Several of the women about town have donned their straw hats for summer.

Johnnie Hogan, of Hebron neighborhood, was in town yesterday.

If the manager of the Cincinnati Reds really desires to strengthen his pitching staff he might secure the services of Brady and Conner, of this county, at a reasonable figure.

Judge J. W. Cammack held court in Scott county, last week, and created a sensation by quashing all the indictments found by the grand jury at the preceding term because of the Sheriff's ignoring the requirements in getting a grand jury.

The bribery probe that was recently used so very effectively in Adams County, Ohio, appears to have been transferred to Columbus, the state capital, where it struck pay dirt in the legislature. Bribe taking has as much fascination for the lawmakers, apparently, in Columbus as it does for the one gallus voter of the Adams county hills. A lawmaker who will accept a bribe is the worst class of a criminal and ought to be given a perrmanent job in the pen.

At the Republican district convention held at Paris, Bourbon Co. last Wednesday and Thursday, Garrett, of Clark county, was nominated for Railroad Commissioner, defeating a combination of all the other candidates. The credit for Garrett's nomination is accorded Senator Bradley, who seems to have the Republican party in Kentucky in a sling so far, although to prevent O'Rear's nomination for Governor he is going to have the fight of his life.

Some go into conventions and refuse to support the nominee if he is not the man they want on the grounds that they are independent voters. They are mistaken. An independent voter does not participate in the conventions of either party, because he is independent and recognizes that when he participates in a convention that he is morally bound by its action. The fellow who goes into a convention and afterwards refuses to abide by its action is one who must rule the roost or break up housekeeping.

Anthony Bentler, who several weeks ago was convicted of running a gambling house in Covington, took an appeal from the judgment of the Kenton Circuit Court, and last week the Court of Appeals reversed the lower court, and now Bentler is a free man, very much to the gratification of all who are acquainted with the facts in the case. Bentler was convicted contrary to an old and well established principle of law—that where a man is compelled to testify he can not incriminate himself. The testimony Bentler gave when before the grand jury was done thru fear of punishment, the Common wealth's Attorney telling him if he refused to answer his questions he would have him taken before the Judge.

It looks like Judge O'Rear has the bulge on his opponents for the Republican nomination for Governor. It is strange how people will arrive at different conclusions based upon his record —some say he will be the easiest man for the Democrats to beat while others say he will be the hardest of the entire lot of aspirants. The truth of the matter is the Democrats are going to have a hard time to reclaim the State, regardless of who the Republican nominee is. It appears to be pretty well settled as to the Democratic nominee, and not withstanding the overwhelming demand for him there is a considerable element of socalled Democrats who will assiste the Republicans at the general election as usual.

Confidence Men Successful.

The following is taken from last Sunday's Enquirer:

A man representing himself to be the son of a Cincinnati oculist, called on Mrs. Robt. Baker, of Erlanger, Ky., Thursday and asked about the condition of her eyes. Mrs. Baker, who had been a patient of the oculist, told the man that her eyes were all right, but spoke of a friend, Mrs. John E. Walton, a widow, whose eyes needed attention, whereupon the man called on her and after an examination, gave her two pair of glasses and said his fee would be $35 and Mrs. Walton gave him a check for that amount and at the man's request made the check payable to Dr. Schaffr.

Yesterday the man appeared with another man whom he introduced as Dr. Schaffr, and another examination was made and he informed her that she would go blind without immediate attention. Then Dr. Schaffer told her that he never left his office to attend a patient for less than $150. Mrs. Walton thought this amount exhorbitant but finally compromised on $115, for which she gave him a check. The men then took the two pair of glasses, leaving another pair, valued at ten cents and disappeared.

A colored dramatic club came out from Cincinnati, last Saturday night, and gave a very creditable performance which was witnessed by a considerable crowd of colored people.

Starts Much Trouble.

If all people knew that neglect of constipation would result in severe indigestion, yellow jaundice or virulent liver trouble, they would soon take Dr. King's New Life Pills, and end it. Its the only safe way. Best for biliousness, headache, dyspepsia, chills and debility. 25c at all dealers.

To the Voters of Boone County:

Through courtesy to candidates for State offices discussion by local candidates was deferred on the first Monday until some other day, as the evening was too short for all to have their say, which was disappointing to the curious and a relief for the fearful. Realizing that voters are thinking for themselves, suggesting issues and sizing up candidates regardless of influence and sentiments that heretofore controlled, I will make partial amends for disappointment by outlining some of my questions I favor, for I think you have a right to know my stand on all questions.

I am heartily in favor of a [illegible] system, either by State or national aid or both, and all other public improvements so long as it does not burden the taxpayer.

I favor good schools, good school buildings and good teachers, and all necessary amendments to the present law that will increase its efficiency and give to all the children of Kentucky a good practical business education.

I favor ample appropriation for the agricultural department of the State College at Lexington.

I favor a better system of taxation, a strict examination of Banks, the passage of the Paris Green bill, a suspended sentence act, also an act regulating the collection of damages by working men.

Temperance is a moral question and, I will take the moral side on all questions, but so long as we have a dual government, State and National, and the National government refuses to observe and respect State and local laws, prohibition is impossible.

I favor nomination of U. S. Senators by direct vote.

I favor the organization and cooperation of Farmers and the holding of their products without taxation until sold, any tax on farm products before they enter the channel of trade and commerce is a tax on labor.

I favor retrenchment, reform and progress along every line, and as nothing stands still and must go forward or backward, there is no place for the standpatter or reactionary, so let them go way back and set down with Uncle Joe Cannon.

I can truly say that on entering the race I have no axes to grind, no enemies to punish or political bosses to dictate or special interest to satisfy, and can only reward my friends and supporters if nominated and elected by an honest and faithful discharge of the duties imposed by my election.

My opponents do not seem disposed to discuss these questions publicly, so I suppose I will have to play solitaire, and I am opposed to that.

Respectfully,
J. W. KENNEDY.

Horses vs. Automobiles.

When automobiles were first introduced many predictions were made that horses would become a drug on the market and that a good piece of horse flesh could be bought for a song. As a matter of fact horses are more expensive today than ever before and the demand is just as great.

The great source of production of horses is the average country farm, and the man who breeds horses for a purpose, and is careful in his selection, need have no apprehension of any over production. In every civilized country on the globe in the supply of commercial horses the same conditions prevail. The farmer might as well hesitate to raise cows as to eliminate horse breeding from the animal husbandry of the farm. There is not the remotest danger of science discovering some cheap substitute for milk, nor is there any danger that the horse will be relevated to the scrap heap through the development of mechanical power. When the steam railroad first made its appearance pessimists freely predicted the decadence of the horse; the prophecy was later repeated when the bicycle was in vogue, and still later when the automobile made its advent, but the horse continues to be in evidence in the industries that produce the necessaties of life.

Remedies For Scabies.

Two remedies for the elimination of scabies among the sheep of Kentucky have been officially determined upon by the Kentucky State Livestock Sanitary Board, and in the future the board will recommend the use of a preparation of lime and sulphur or a mixture of tobacco and other ingredients. These remedies were recommended by Dr. Payne of the Government Bureau of Animal Industry, and were selected by the Kentucky Board from 150 prescriptions received from various parts of the country. It is said these two remedies have been used with better results throughout the country than any tried under the supervision of the United States Government in its efforts to eliminate the disease from among the sheep of the country.

MAGIC JAY,

(Trial 2:25)

Sired by Jay Bird 5060, sire of 187 including Hawthorn, 2:06½, Alceste, 2:07½, Justo, 2:08½, Allerton, 2:09½, Gitchie Manito, 2:09½, Dulcie J, 2:09½, Early David, 2:10, Inoades, 2:10. Sired the dams of 91, including Baroness Virginus (3). 2:08¼, Crescent Route, 2:08½, Bissie Drake, 2:08¾, Codero, (4) 2:08¾.

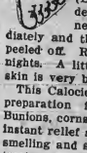
First dam by Magic Wilkes, 17190; second dam by John Berdine, 7217; third dam by Lexington.

Magic Wilkes was sired by the great Red Wilkes 1749 sired of 177 and sired the dams of 229.

MAGIC JAY was foaled April 23, 1905, stands 16 hands high, weighs 1200 pounds, has been handled but little for speed, but has shown a mile in 2:25. He is a son of the great Jay Bird, who sired 157 in the 2:30 list and has 8 in the 2:10 list.

MAGIC JAY'S dam is by Magic Wilkes, 1749, sire of 177, and sired the dam of 229.

MAGIC JAY will make the season of 1911 at Pleasant Hill Place at $10 to insure, money due when mare is parted with or is bred to another horse. Not responsible for accidents.



MIKE, Jr.

The Jack that has proven himself a first-class mule getter will make the seasou at the same place at $10 to insure a living foal, money due when mare foals or is parted with or bred elsewhere.

COMPOUND CALLOUSES
Tells Splendid Cure for Them and All Foot Troubles.

A compound callous is the secondary stage when it grows inward and presses on the nerves, causing intense pain. Callouses never cure themselves but always get worse, sometimes irritating the whole nervous system. The following is a most effective and speedy cure "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide in a basin of hot water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently massaging the sore parts. (Less time will not give the desired results.) The soreness will disappear immediately and the callous can be easily peeled off. Repeat this for several nights. A little olive oil rubbed into skin is very beneficial."

This Calocide is a very remarkable preparation for all foot ailments. Bunions, corns and ingrowing nails get instant relief and are soon cured. Bad smelling and sore feet need but a few treatments. Calocide is no longer confined to doctors' use. Any druggist has it in stock or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is usually enough to put the worst feet in fine condition. It will prove a blessing to persons who have been vainly trying ineffectual tablets and foot powders.

A Floating Palace.

We have in our possession a copy of "The Golden Rule Pilot," a paper published on the steamer Golden Rule, which ran between Pittsburg and New Orleans 33 years ago. It is the copy printed May 6, 1878, and was secured by Capt. J. S. Coleman while on his way up the Mississippi on that steamer. It contains an account of the sinking of the steamer Vigo, 20 miles above Carrollton, on the Kentucky river, also an article about the explosion of the towboat Warner, opposite the Memphis wharf. The Golden Rule was a floating palace compared with some of the craft that ply our well-locked rivers today. She had a library, brass band, and all the conveniences of a really modern hotel.—Carrollton News.

Walter Winans

Chestnut Stallion,

Will make the season at Ten Dollars to insure a mare in foal, and we will give Ten Dollars for best horse colt and same for best mare colt of get 1911.

He will be at Beaver on Mondays and Tuesdays, at my place on Wednesdays and at Burlington on the balance of each week. All necessary pains will be taken to prevent accidents but responsible for none should any occur.

WALTER WINANS 30400. Trotter. Trial 2:19. Sired by Robert McGregor 647, record 2:27¼, sire of Cresceus 2:12¼, McDougal 2:10½, Kentucky Star 2:08¾, Lurline McGregor 2:11¾, Tom McGregor 2:12, Nyanza 2:13¾, and 84 others, and of the dams of Gratten Boy 2:08, Elloree 2:08¾, York Boy 2:08¾, and 47 others; son of Major Edsall 2:11.

1st dam Riley by Hot Spur, Jr., 3612, dam of Kate Ham 2:24½, Geo. T. Putney 2:23½, sire of Tom B 2:24½, and others, and of the dams of Ben H 2:21 1-3, and 5 others, son of Hot Spur 172; dam, Patty, by Blind Tuckahoe; 2d dam, Nance by Telegraph.

2d dam, Tugles, by Membrine Gift 564. Record 2:20, sire of Membrinette 2:21, and 6 others, and of the dams of Sphinxette 2:08¾, Sandy Boy 2:12, Louis Owosso 2:16 1-4, and 13 others; son of Mambrine 29, etc.

Walter Winans is a compact made horse, 16 hands full and weighs 1250 pounds. a sure foal getter, breeds large and his colts are solid colors, either sorrel or bay. The fact that this horse is by the celebrated Robert McGregor 647 who is the sire of Cresceus 2:12 1-4, strongly recommends him to the world. Cresceus held the stallion record, not only of America, but of the world for about ten years.

This horse is of a kind disposition, nicely mannered and drives well single or double. He is in every way a high-class horse and with his royal breeding and blue blood ancestors; men with good mares should grasp this opportunity and raise such colts that will develope in horses of high grade.

The Business Principle

of successful lives is the habit of saving, depositing what can be spared in a good bank to meet the emergencies of the proverbial rainy day. A little at a time makes a snug sum in a short time The Equitable Bank and Trust Co., Walton, Ky., will accept any sum on deposit and pays four per cent. interest on what remains a year, or three per cent for what remains six months. Remittances by mail given prompt response and careful attention. This Bank has assets of over One Hundred Thousand Dollars. We qualify as administrator, executor, trustee, guardian, etc., of estates, which is much more satisfactory than a private individual in such capacity. Mail communications given careful attention. Aspinwall Potato Planter

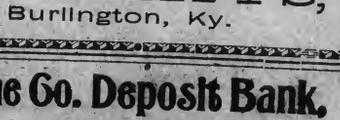
The Gem of the Potato Field.

This machine will plant ¼ to ½ faster than the machine which requires two men to operate it, and with much lighter draft; no other planter can compare with it. A marvelous construction with a new Picker that drops 99⅓ per cent. good with reasonable uniform seed. The misses have frequently been less than one in Five Hundred.

No changing or adjusting of Pickers for planting different sizes of Seed. No removal of pickers required to regulate the distance of Planting, simply a change of Gear wheels which can be made in less time than it takes to replace one Picker.

A canvass sack Hopper overcomes all tendency to clog or bridge with either whole or cut Seed.



Both Feed and Cover Tension regulate from the Seat. No removing of bolts, simply turning a thumb screw does the work.

We believe in producing machines with brains in them.

Last year there was quite a demand for timber for tobacco barns, but this year it is quite different. Five-cent tobacco does not call for new barns. This applies not only to this county, but to the whole Burley district.—Flemingsburg Times-Democrat.

While out feeding his horses early Tuesday morning George W. White, in the west end of Boyle county, was the victim of a peculiar accident. When he went into the barn the horses were either playing or fighting each other and biting at each other. When he entered the stall one of the horses bit at the other and in doing so missed and instead caught the ear of Mr. White and bit it off close up to the head just as smooth as though it had been removed with a knife.—Harrodsburg Herald.

M. A. Thompson, the poultry dealer who runs a huckster wagon, Wednesday morning unearthed a new form of swindling. Among the hens in a wagonload of chickens he found one which appeared sick and droopy, and he separated it from the rest. He noticed on lifting it that it appeared unusually heavy. On closer examination he discovered two iron nuts, one fastened under each wing in a position to be hidden from view. The two nuts weighted one pound and two ounces, which, added to the weight of the hen, made her quite "hefty." Mat don't want old iron at 12 cents a pound.—Dover News.

Fifty years ago Hickman made her first response to the call to arms in the great struggle between the North and the South. On April 27 Company E. First Kentucky Infantry, better known as the Alexander Guards, began their march from Fulton county for Virginia. The company was organized by Capt. Ed Crossland and Lieut. L. C. Randle, the movement having started at Moscow, which town at that time was the leading city of this section. Of the eighty-eight men enlisted on that occasion only three survive. They are C. A. Holcomb and J. P. Cusick, of Hickman, and Judge A. J. Lawson, of Obion county, Tennessee.—Hickman Courier.

—o—

The growing of forage crops and handling livestock on a large scale will be the pursuit of two prominent Bourbon farmers, who have decided to eliminate the culture of tobacco in the future. The farmers are Mr. Thomas H. Clay and his son, Mr. Thomas H. Clay, Jr. The Messrs. Clay raised only a small crop of tobacco last year, and for 1911 canceled the insurance on their tobacco barns and had them reinsured as stock barns. The depredations of night riders and the failure of farmers throughout the Burley district to agree upon a definite and fixed course to pursue has determined Mr. Clay and his son to cut out the growing of tobacco.—Paris News.

—o—

Dr. Browne had a collection of clay models that are unique as showing what has been resorted to by at least one tobacco grower to add to the weight of his crop. The cubes are chunks of dried clay each weighing almost exactly one ounce, one of which was taken from each hand of an entire crop of tobacco. The fellow had made a dough of dampened clay and when stripping tobacco placed a small chunk of it in the butt of the leaves and wrapped the tie leaf around it, hiding it from view or possible detection until the tobacco was unwrapped for stemming. By a little figuring it will be seen that this man's clay farm was selling at 10 cents per pound—a pretty stiff price for mud—and amounted to quite a sum in a big crop.—Dover News.

—o—

Two tons of concrete, a bucket of paint, a lot of zinc and various other supplies will be necessary to save the life of the monarch of the forest that stands at the Country Club entrance to Atkinson Park. This was decided upon after a consultation of tree doctors sent here by the eminent fungus specialist, Davie. And no sooner did the doctors finish their diagnosis of the case and agree on the remedy than the tree surgeons were put to work. It is a gallant old elm that has stood since the days when the Indian burned timber strips thru Kentucky to make Buffalo grass grow. Its cool shade reaches from the ninth golf hole on the one side to the bouldered slopes of the country Club bungalow. It is between six and seven feet in diameter and has been racked by cyclones and fungus growth below. Almost the entire heart is gone, and if the tree doctors are able to save it they will have made good in Henderson.—Hendreaon Journal.

Business With Farming.

It was not very long ago that the farmer was looked upon by city people as a sort of necessary evil and he was tolerated not thru choice but thru necessity. Now the farmer is being looked up to by the business man who seems to realize at last that the man who tills the soil holds the balance of power. As an insight to the present situation a recent interview with Mr. Bert Ball, secretary of the crop committee of the American Council of Grain Exchanges, is timely:

"The farmer has been bombarded with advice for so long it is little wonder that it slides off like water from a duck's back," said Mr. Ball. "We are showing him where he belongs in the great business equation, and are harmonizing all the activities in each county which are trying to obtain a larger yield of better grain in each locality. The balance of trade is going steadily against us. Every steamer takes away a million dollars in tourist money; we have a billion dollars worth of diamonds and imported luxuries to buy; our immigrants send other millions to their people abroad; we have millions to pay on our bonds and stocks held abroad; and money is always going out which is never coming back unless we put grain on a world basis where it belongs. Other vocations are with us in this work, the millers, the paint manufacturers, the railroads, the commercial clubs, the public schools, the bankers, the manufacturers of cereals, and many other lines all backing up the teachings of the Agricultural Department and the experiment stations of the State, and carrying it direct to the farm. We are insisting that the time has come when every farmer must mix a little business with his farming or the business man will have to mix a little farming with his business. The farmer must produce scientifically, or become merely a hired hand, a peasant."

To Make Gravy Without Meat.

Wherever possible, all vegetables may be baked with advantage, for they are best in that form, potatoes particularly. Many people, however, are at a loss to know how to make gravy without meat. This onion gravy will be found more satisfactory, than any meat gravy. Chop up very fine two medium onions and brown in flour, tablespoonful, of olive oil. Pure cotton seed oil, often sold as "salad oil," is cheaper and will do just as well. When onions are brown, add one level teaspoon of salt and a full tablespoon of whole wheat flour, stirring constantly until this is also browned, and then add cold water gradually, stirring, meanwhile, until proper consistency is reached.—From Physical Culture for May.

No Improvement in Steamboats.

An old time riverman, in the Waterways Journal, says: "When the matter is seriously delved into, one sees very little improvement in the construction of modern steamboats a pattern of some old boat. The cabin is about the same, and general plans show very little difference. Can it be possible that those boat constructors of years ago, at least fifty, knew it all, and that the present generation cannot offer suggestions in the way of material improvement, or at least an entirely new idea in boats? Something entirely new to show the old fellows that they knew a little but not all, for 75 years in advance.

Primary Election Notice.

At a meeting of the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee, held at Burlington, Ky., March 22, 1911, it was ordered that a Primary Election be held in every voting precinct in Boone County on Saturday, July 1st, 1911, from 6 o'clock a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for State Senator, County Representative and County Clerk to be voted on at the regular election in November, 1911. All known Democrats entitled to vote at the regular election in November, 1911, shall be entitled to vote in this election.

A. B. Renaker was made a subcommittee of one to have ballots printed and to attend to all details in carrying out this call.

The entrance fee of each individual candidate in this primary Election is fixed at $40, to be paid to A. B. Renaker not later than June 16th, 1911, at which time the names of the candidates who have paid their proper entrance fee will be placed on the ballots.

THE FINE YOUNG STALLION

will make the season of 1911 at my farm two miles west of Walton, Boone County, Ky., at $10.00 to insure a living colt. Persons parting with mares forfeit the insurance money. A lien retained on colt until season money is paid. Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur.

PRINCE OLSEN was foaled in 1907, and is one model of his class. He weighs 1520 pounds and is nearly 17 hands in height. He is a beautiful black, and is a picture of symmetry and fine points of the draft horse. His breeding qualities are excellent.

PRINCE OLSEN was sired by Blackmon, a registered Percheron stallion owned by Ole G. Olsen, of Shabbona Grove, Illinois, where he was foaled in 1907, and from whom he was purchased by me this spring, selecting this horse over many others because of his excellent qualities. Prince Olsen is eligible to registry, and is one of the highest bred draft horses ever in this section of country. The dam of Prince Olsen was a high bred registered Percheron mare. I feel that farmers and breeders will make no mistake in breeding to Prince Olsen as it means a good, strong colt that will meet every requirement on the farm. One of the tacking features of our horses is the size and strength. With the well bred Percheron like Prince Olsen these essentials are fully incorporated.

Come and see the horse and inspect his good points and you will breed to him.

JOSEPH READNOUR,

Also at the same place and under the same conditions I will offer for public service my two fine sure breeding jacks is a black Jack with mealy points five years old, 15.3 hands high, large bone and big body, very long ear, and has proven himself to be one of the best breeders in Kentucky. His mules are quick sellers and several of them have been sold at $125 at weaning time. His service fee will be $10.

BEN

DEWEY,

is another fine Jack, three years old and a half brother to Ben. His fee will be $10.00 and he will be permitted to serve only a few mares.

Both jacks are high in class, and are excellent breeders. Take a look at them before breeding; it may pay you.

THE SHELBY SENTINEL.

FRIDAY, APRIL 28, 1911.

For State Senator.

The Recorder is authorized to announce Hon. James W. Kennedy, of Union, a candidate for State Senator in the Senatorial District composed of Boone, Gallatin and Owen counties, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The Recorder is authorized to announce Hon. John W. Berkshire, of Petersburg, a candidate for State Senator in the Senatorial District composed of Boone, Gallatin and Owen counties, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The Recorder is authorized to announce Hon. S. W. Tolin, of Burlington, a candidate for State Senator in the Senatorial District composed of Boone, Gallatin and Owen counties, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

For Representative.

The Recorder is authorized to announce G. Elsworth Carroll, of Walton, as a Democratic candidate to represent Boone county in the General Assembly of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The Recorder is authorized to announce Mosby Allen, of Walton, as a candidate to represent Boone county in the General Assembly of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

For County Clerk.

The Recorder is authorized to announce W. R. Rogers as a candidate for the nomination for County Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

For State Treasurer.

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of Hon. Thomas S. Rhea of Logan county, for Treasurer of the State of Kentucky, subject to the Democratic primary election to be held July 1st, 1911.

Senator Stone, of Missouri, in a speech in the Senate urged intervention in Mexico and declared that Americans were being "murdered" Representative Sulzer, of New York, chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, gave out an interview reiterating his conviction that the United States must not intervene.

The Barnum Circus is working some of the country papers for very cheap advertising again. It is strange how some papers will charge regular patrons a living rate and then work for strangers for almost nothing. An exchange now on the Recorder's table is giving the circus $4 worth of advertising for a fifty cent ticket if it is doing the work at the same rate the Recorder was requested to do it.

The income tax amendment to the constitution, which was a plank in the last Democratic platform, has now been ratified by thirty States. To insure its acceptance thirty-five States are necessary. Only four States—Louisiana, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and West Virginia—have declared themselves in the negative. This leaves twelve States from which to secure the necessary five votes to make the amendment a part of the constitution.

Addams! Addams! So Say We All, Gentlemen!

Is there a Democrat but believes that if Senator McCreary gets the Gubernatorial nomination, the chances of his party's success will be in doubt? Is it not the part of wisdom, therefore, for him to turn to some one who can bring the people to victory? William Addams, of Harrison county, is such a candidate. Place your banner in his hands and he will give you the hope and enthusiasm that must land us all winners. A few weeks since we were left floundering, feeling that there were none to make an active fight to oppose Senator McCreary for the nomination, but since the manly stand and clean-cut statements of Mr. Addams, our doubts are at last thrown aside and hope has taken the place of our doubts in our party success.

There be times when our darkest periods are just before the dawn, and Democracy in Kentucky appears to have passed through them. From now on every one should feel, with such a man as Addams to lead, that success must surely come.

Mr. Addams has a number of relatives and friends in "Old Shelby," and, though this county is in Mr. McCreary's district yet it can be turned to the Harrison county man who can land the party triumph in November.

Let us stop our party bickerings. Addams is a man we can unite upon, and let us all, therefore, get together and be for Addams.

Let the party slogan be, "Party success," and Mr. Addams will be selected. He is the man of the hour, the man you want, the man you need, the man you must have.

Addams! Addams! So say we all! Addams!

Local Happenings.

The river is at a nice stage for the steamboat business.

Bargain baskets full of shoe snaps all the time at Davis' Rising Sun.

The Recorder printed some nice programs for The Walton High School commencement on the 26th inst.

Quite a number of Burlingtonites went over to Constance, last Saturday night, to attend Prices opera.

The low prices at which wool is quoted this spring is not very encouraging to the owners of sheep.

Farmers have had about ten days of as nice weather for their work as they could desire, and they have made good use of them.

George Kreylich is putting in the basement and foundation and assembling material for his new residence, which is to be one of the most modern in this county.

Land slides near the Rabbit Hash end of the Waterloo pike, has put the pike nearly out of business, and it will require considerable money and labor to restore the road.

The travel through Burlington, last Sunday, was equal almost to that of fair time. It was such a gloriously fine day that people could not refrain from being on the move.

W. J. Rice was engaged several days last week grading around the High School building, which adds very much to the view of the building from the road.

More than 1,800 newspapers and magazines are printed in Japan. Every town of more than 10,000 has one newspaper and usually more. The leading Tokyo daily claims a circulation of 180,000 copies.

C. C. Roberts, of Walton neighborhood, was on the jump early Monday morning looking for seed corn. He said he wanted something less than 40 bushels, and he obtained the required amount from J. E. Smith.

Horace Hewitt, the Aurora sewing machine man made a swing around through Boone last week, and did a very satisfactory business. Hewitt will sell you a machine at a reasonable price if you want to buy.

L. S. Beemon of the Limaburg neighborhood, is one of the early gardeners in that section. He reported peas nearly ready to bloom last week, while several other kinds of vegetables in his garden were well advanced.

In a letter from Marcus Collins, of Wynn, Arkansas, he writes: "I just got home from my place down on the coast. I have been there for three months. My place is a pecan orchard—large, paper shells for which I get 40 to 60 cents a pound.

The Recorder received a postal card from Lieut. W. H. Lassing mailed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, May 5th, requesting his paper directed to New York City, in care of the postmaster. The card said: "We leave for European cruise on Monday."

REMOVAL NOTICE.

Jeff Rouse, of Gunpowder neighborhood, was tried before County Judge P. E. Cason, last Monday, and found to be of unsound mind. He has been at home from the asylum at Lakeland only a few weeks, and he will now in the asylum for the second time. Mr. Rouse has many friends who deplore his condition.

Some very fine fish have been caught in the last few weeks in Gunpowder creek. Lloyd Weaver of upper Gunpowder, caught a black sucker that weighed three pounds, while David Williamson, of lower Gunpowder, caught a German carp that weighed fifteen pounds. It seems that anglers are not letting all the big fish get away this spring.

W. H. Pope, from down on the East Bend road, was transacting business in Burlington, last Saturday morning. Mr. Pope has lived where he now resides since 1847, which year his parents moved to his present location from what is now known as the Thomas house on Double Lick creek, and owned by the late B. R. Gaines. Of the heads of families then living along the road between Burlington and East Bend not one survives, consequently he is very much the oldest resident anywhere on that thoroughfare. Mr. Pope is in his 78th year and hale and hearty for one of his years.

Personal Mention.

R. S. Cowen spent a day in Rising Sun, last week.

C. M. Baldon and wife were in the city, yesterday, shopping.

Miss Olga Kirkpatrick was in the city, shopping, last Monday.

James Wilhoit, of Florence, was transacting business in Burlington, Tuesday.

Chas. and Russell Miller, of Big Bone, were guests of their aunt, Mrs. B. B. Hume, the past week.

H. G. Blanton and Mrs. Charles Gurney, of Erlanger, were guests of Burlington friends last Thursday.

Mrs. J. M. Lassing, of Frankfort, has been the guest of her parents near Belleview, the past week.

Hubert Rouse and wife and Frank Rouse and wife, visited at Elmer Kelly's, near Locust Grove, last Sunday.

Mrs. Morgan Beemon, of Limaburg, was a business caller at this office while in Burlington, last Monday.

County Clerk W. R. Rogers went to Walton, Monday, to look after his farming interests in that neighborhood.

Mrs. Maude Stills, of Walton, was the guest of Miss Emma Adams and mother, last Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Jonette Revill went to Clinton, last week, to attend her sister, Miss Pattie, who was stricken with malarial fever.

M. J. Corbin, of Belleview, passed through Burlington early Monday morning with several persons in his auto, headed toward the city.

Mrs. Elmer Kirkpatrick and little daughter, Irene, of Petersburg neighborhood, and W. L. Kirkpatrick, of Hopeful neighborhood, were Sunday guests of Mrs. Susan Kirkpatrick.

Miss Lucy Russell has been compelled to discontinue teaching on account of her health. Miss Lucy had a good school with which she was making good progress and it is hoped that she will soon recover her health sufficiently to resume her work.

Earl Smith waltzed into the Recorder's office shortly afternoon, last Saturday, and announced that "we are done planting corn—30 acres, which I planted in two days and one half." He also stated that his neighbor, G. T. Gaines, finished planting the Friday before. They are both farmers who keep a little ahead of the season all the time.

"Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

I notice in last week's Recorder that the Hon. J. B. McCreary made a speech before a large and enthusiastic audience at the court house, extracts of which are published in the Recorder, all of them being very good, but it seems to me that the most vital question which affects every woman, man and child in our State, was ignored, and that is the county unit question. He favors better school houses, etc., but what are our schools worth to us without the proper safe guards to protect our boys from being lured into the cesspools of the contaminating influences of the licensed saloons with their enticing influence? Some may say, "we have local option in our precinct, let others take care of themselves."

Am I my brother's keeper? Suppose Boone County had been governed by the county unit law several years ago when Al Clutterbuck was killed at Florence. There would have been no saloon there and he would, in all probability, be living today, and his assailant, instead of being confined in a felon's cell, would be a free man.

Are we our brothers keepers? This is not a political question, but, voters, remember when you cast your votes you are representing your wives, your daughters, your sisters and every boy under 21 years of age, who have no votes, but who look to you for protection. You are your brother's keepers, heed the responsibility.

OSCAR GAINES.

L. N. Early, of Petersburg, conducted funeral services over the remains of Mrs. T. B. Cottingham at her late home near Bright, Ind., May 4th, 1911, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. Mrs. Cottingham was a daughter of R. O. C. and M. A. Langdale, and the wife of Thomas B. Cottingham. With the exception of the first six years of her married life, her home was on the Langdale farm, where she was born Jan. 29, 1844. She died May 2d 1911, aged 67 years, 3 months and three days. She was a faithful follower of Christ, and her friends have good reason to think that she is now at rest.

Notice to Wool Growers.

To the Wool Poolers of Boone County:

I wish again to offer a few suggestions in regard to the proper handling of your wool, which, if observed, will save you much needless trouble and contention when you come to deliver your wool.

First—Be sure that the wool is dry before beginning to shear. If there are burs in the wool and you expect to pick them out, it is best that it be done before the fleece is shorn from the sheep as it will then not be torn or broken up. Dealers object to the fleece being torn to pieces.

Second—After removing all tags roll the fleece up with the outside of fleece out and tie with a small hemp twine. Do not use binder twine.

Third—Such as cots black wool and dead wool should be kept separate from the good wool and placed in a bag to themselves.

Fourth—Be careful in handling the wool while shearing, and not permit hay seed and other litter to get into the wool as such things are very objectionable.

Fifth—Remember the pool will close on the 15th of this month.

J. H. STEVENS,
President.

Mrs. Nannie Kelly Dead.

Mrs. Nannie Kelly, relict of the late W. B. Kelly, died at her home in Waterloo neighborhood, last Thursday, after a protracted illness, for several days during the latter part of which she suffered intensely.

Mrs. Kelly would have been 54 years old on the 19th inst., and was a daughter of the late Robert Terrill and Kathryn Riddell Terrill. Besides her mother and one brother, Lewis R. Terrill, of Lawrenceburg ferry, Mrs. Kelly leaves three sons, William, Chas. and Elmer, all of whom are married. The remains were interred in the Kelly family burying ground, last Friday, in the presence of a large crowd of relatives and friends. Mrs. Kelly's sister is Mrs. W. W. Mills, of Covington, who was with her several days previous to her death.

A Father's Vengeance.

would have fallen on any one who attacked the son of Peter Bondy, of South Rockwood, Mich., but he was powerless before attacks of Kidney trouble. Have The Sympathy of All.

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Gaines, of Carrollton, have a large number of relatives and friends in this county, who sympathize with them in their very sad bereavement, the death of their five year old daughter, Lida, on April 26th. She is said to have been the most attractive child in Carrollton—bright, vivacious and exceedingly lovable in every respect, and was the idol of her parents, who are heart-broken over her taking away.

O. H. POLLARD

Of Jackson, Breathitt County Candidate for Attorney-General Visits Boone County.

MAKES MANY WARM FRIENDS

O. H. Pollard, of Breathitt county, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Attorney-General, spent several days the past week in this part of the State in the interest of his canvass, and fully sustained his reputation as a hustler. Being a fine mixer he generally won to his cause the voters in each community where he appeared.

Mr. Pollard was born and raised in Eminence, Henry county, where he sold apples and blacked boots on the streets of Eminence in his early struggle for an education, and later daily swept the law office of Gen. W. P. Thorne, and devoted his leisure moments which were few, to the reading of blackstone and other law books in the office. Admitted to the bar at 21, he was elected County Attorney of Henry county when barely eligible, and filled the office with credit. Twnty-one years ago he migrated to the mountains where he has since resided. His steady rise in his profession to a position of leadership at the bar in Eastern Kentucky, and the esteem in which he is held by his fellow citizens in the county of his adoption is evidenced by the endorsement of his county paper which says:

"The Times delights in calling the attention of the Democrats of Kentucky to the candidacy of Judge O. H. Pollard of this city, for the nomination for Attorney General, before the Democratic Primary to be held July 1st.

Judge Pollard is one of the strongest men in the State. A Democrat of flawless record, he has for many years been one of the bulwarks of his party in Eastern Kentucky. Under his brilliant leadership as Chairman of the Campaign Committee in 1909, Breathitt County was wheeled back into the Democratic column, giving a majority of nearly 500, as against a republican majority of over 400 the previous year, and making possible the election of a Democratic Circuit Judge and Commonweaith's Atty. Judge Redwine, the successful candidate for Circuit Judge, made public acknowledgement of Mr. Pollard's services, when he gave out for publication on the day following the election an intervlew in which he said: "I owe my election to O. H. Pollard. His sagacity, coolness and untiring energy in the management of the campaign produced the results which gave us the splendid victory."

It is a fact worthy of mention that upon divers occasions previous to this when Judge Pollard served as Campaign Chairman, Breathitt County was always carried by the Democrats, and with increased majorities. His friends are proud of the fact that upon all occasions, when acting in this disinterested capacity, he never lost a battle, but without a single exception the largest majorities ever given by the party in this county, were in the campaigns under his management.

We believe we voice the sentiments of the Tenth District when we say we are proud to indorse a man like O. H. Pollard for the office of Attorney General. An able and experienced lawyer, a logical reasoner, an eloquent and forceful speaker, a man of unblemished character and a vertible bundle of nerve and energy, his nomination would add strength to the ticket and his election would reflect credit and honor upon the party in its administration of the affairs of Kentucky.

As a campaigner Mr. Pollard has few equals and no superiors in the State. The Democrats of the Tenth District in asking his nomination are presenting a man who fills every requirement, and is peculiarly fitted, by reason of his attainments and location for this place on the ticket.

Thinking men must recognize the importance to the party and in fact, the necessity of looking to this section in the future for recruits. The rapid increase in the population and the wealth of Eastern Kentucky as the consequence for the development of our resources, force this section to the front as the battle ground, of two contending parties. Democratic success depends upon a judicious distribution of officers and the character of the men selected as the party nominees. The people are demanding men of high moral character real ibility, and correct ideals. Such a man we have in our fellow towns man, O. H. Pollard.

Mr. Pollard's certificates as to character, ability and party fealty come up to the standard that the voters ought to require, and these reenforced by his location can not fail to make him a strong candidate in the primary and a great vote getter for the ticket at the general election next fall, and that is what the party will need.

The splendid work of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets is [illegible] to light. No such [illegible] for liver and bowel [illegible] known before, [illegible] for curing [illegible] headache, [illegible] digestion. [illegible]

The Growth of Cement.

The growth of the manufacture of cement in this country has been most remarkable. Two facts tell the story. Cement works were not known in this country till the year 1878. And yet by the year 1900 we were making 30 per cent. of all the cement used in the world. Since that date the industry has grown marvelously.

There are three kinds known to the trade, of which the Portland is the most familiar—so called because it happens to resemble a certain kind of gray rock on the island of Portland, near England. Portland cement was first made in England in 1825, and it was not till 1878 that the first cement works were built in the United States, at Copley, Pa. So late as 1894 the output of the few plants in this country was very small. In 1891 only 13 per cent. of all the cement used here was of home manufacture, the rest coming from England and Germany. After that the whole situation changed, and the United States now supplies the trade of the world.

No man knows how old this valuable material may be, for the ruins of ancient Rome are solid masonry laid with cement made from volcanic ashes mixed with lime and water. The ruined cities of the Aztecs in Central America also contain ancient masonry laid with cement, and walls built of cement and rubble. As we know it the material is a mixture of lime, silica and aluminum. These elements in the right proportion have the remarkable property of cohering until the product finally becomes as hard as stone. Lime is obtained by burning limestone, and silica with aluminum is the natural product of common clay.

The ease with which the material is handled makes its use desirable. It is far cheaper to handle crushed stone and cement than it is to handle great blocks and slabs of heavy stone. With concrete a new abutment for a bridge can be poured and molded into shape in a single day, whereas it used to take a gang of skilled masons all of a month to build it. By this means also a good, substantial house can be made in twenty-four hours.

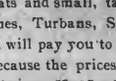
Most of our old flagstone quarries have long since been abandoned, and a majority of the cut stone quarries have been turned into the manufacture of crushed stone for roads and concrete works. Walks constructed of cement are not only cheaper than flagstone but better, and concrete everywhere is taking the place of masonry.—Courier-Journal.

The Family Physician.

Most people are attached to their family physician, but few of them think or speak kindly of their members of the profession. It is but fair to say that this is largely a reflection of the way a majority of the physicians of the old school of the same community spoke of or treated each other. The profession came to recognize the enormity of this evil and the disservice it had brought upon the people, and it has become one of the most harmonious of the vocations but the effect of this change has only reached the more intelligent classes and while the individual doctor stands high with a few people—his patrons—the profession as a whole ranks very low in public esteem. As a matter of fact, ours is the only vocation organized and working systematically against its own interests. In so far as it succeeds in preventing tuberculosis, typhoid fever and similar diseases it diminishes the incomes of its members. This is done because ours is essentially a humanitarian calling, in constant touch with sickness, suffering and death and that it has been found far easier and safer to prevent than to try to cure these diseases. For much the same reason physicians do more charity every day in every year than all other vocations combined, and never take out a patent on a new remedy or invention. These things explain in part why the average income of the physicians of Kentucky is less than $800. It is important that the officials and people be informed of these facts that a misconception of the purposes of the profession may not obstruct this most unselfish work. —Bulletin State Board of Health.

Observe The Laws of Health.

In 1910 there was 13,436 cases of tuberculosis under treatment in Kentucky, with 6,541 deaths resulting therefrom; 18,387 cases of typhoid fever, with 1,818 deaths; 10,981 cases of diphtheria with 2,336 deaths. The total number of deaths resulting from the above and all other diseases in the State during 1910 was 13,337. The average cost of each case of illness in the year, that is for medical care, drugs, nursing and loss of time, is placed at $94, which makes a grand total of $15,191,308, nearly double the annual revenue of the State. The State Board of Health claims that there would be a very great reduction in the above amount if all the people of the State would observe the laws of health strictly.



Hon. C. D. Newell of Maysville is presiding at the special term of the Circuit court which began here last Tuesday. The judge is an exceeding pleasant gentleman and lawyer and litigants appear to be satisfied with his ruling. This term was called for the purpose of closing the litigation growing out of the former suits of Owen County vs. ex-sheriffs which ex-sheriffs are now suing their deputies. The long fight is being waged by the parties and

When Sick

Women suffering from headache, backache, pain inside, or nervousness, or any other ailment resulting from female trouble, should get Cardui and use it regularly. Cardui has been found, by thousands of ladies, to relieve female weakness, by restoring to health the weak womanly organs.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. F. S. Mills, Murietta, Calif., tried Cardui and writes:

"I don't think anyone can recommend a medicine more highly than I can Cardui. I had a mishap, followed by inflammation. I positively believe I would have died, had it not been for Cardui. When I began taking it, I could not stand on my feet. After taking two bottles, I was cured, and I now weigh 165 pounds." Try Cardui—it will help you. Sold everywhere. E 45

HIGH VINE

—No. 2733—

Foaled in spring of 1904; by Highland Gaines, 1667; grand sire, Highland Denmark, 730; dam, Bessie Sable, 2882, by Shropshire Kentucky Squirrel, 1365. Second dam, Ida May by Fayette Denmark. Third dam, Maxey by Granger. Fourth dam Mare by Expert, 77.

Breed to a Proven Sire.

HIGH VINE is a five gaited saddle stallion, seven years old, 16 hands, and weighs 1200 lbs., a rich golden chestnut in color, and a perfect model in confirmation.

HIGH VINE is a uniform breeder and reproduces his own kind. The show record of his two sets of colts is unequaled by the colts of any sire in this section of country. His colts were shown at various fairs last year and were never defeated in their class and in addition awakened public admiration everywhere. In several instances the owners of High Vine colts have been offered $200 for the colts at weanling time, and this handsome price was refused by the said owners as all of them believed the colts to promise much better as they developed. There must be something in the breeding when $200 offers for weanling colts are rejected by owners who are governed by business principles in the sale of the products of their farm. Take a look at High Vine's colts and you will see the style and attractive qualities that make the price in a sale.

HIGH VINE will make the season at the stable of W. Lee Gaines on the Lexington turnpike, midway between Walton and Richwood, Ky. $20.00 to insure a live foal, season money due if mare is parted with.

No responsibility for accidents.

Make engagements ahead as his services are limited, and it saves annoying delays.

For the accommodation of those at a distance Mr. Gaines will pasture a few mares at $2.50 per month, with the best facilities for their care and keeping.

PREMIUM.—Free season for 1912 will be given the owner of the best High Vine colt exhibited at Florence fair at the High Vine colt show.

Imp. German Coach Horse,

Plutarch, 3183,

Will make the season of 1911 on Monday of each week in Burlington, Ky., and the remainder of the time at my stable one mile west of Idlewild, Ky., at $10 to insure a colt to stand up and suck.

Big Tom, a Spanish Jack, and Lanky Bob will make the season at my stable at $8 to insure a colt to stand up and suck.

I will give a return season for the best colt, the 1910 get of Plutarch, regardless of sex, to be shown at the Boone County Harvest Home this fall.

The General Purpose Stallion,

ROBERT WILLIS, 57255.

ROBERT WILLIS is a chestnut horse with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high and weighs 1200 pounds, foaled in 1905. Individually he is a horse of grand finish with plenty of substance, a fine disposition, with the best of feet and legs. His blood lines are of the best as his pedigree will show. Ordinary mares bred to this horse will not fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as general-purpose horses and roadsters, as his foals have size, style, conformation and action, good heads, best of disposition, plenty of life and every indication of developing into useful and selling horses.

ROBERT WILLIS is a fast natural trotter with a perfect way of going, and with limited handling last year, after making a season, showed that he has race horse speed, and with a proper preparation, will easily take a mark of 2:20 or better.

He will make the season of 1911 at Clover Leaf Stock Farm at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with or moved from the county after being bred, in which case the money becomes due and collectable at once.

Parties breeding must follow up the season.

Care taken to prevent accidents but not be responsible should any occur.

NOTICE BREEDERS.

Robert Willis will stand Monday and Tuesday of each week at T. E. Garrison's barn one-eighth of a mile north of Big Bone church, and the remainder of the time at Clover Leaf Stock Farm.

The High Class Saddle and [illegible] Stallion,

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS,

2844 A. S. B. A

Will make the season of 1911 at the W. L. Norman Stock Farm at Walton, Ky., and if you want a show horse bred to him.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is a dark bay, 16 hands, weighs 1200 lbs., with three white feet, snip and star, and lots of style and action. He was sired by

by Harrison Chief 1606, by Clark Chief (89); dam Kit Hardy (2880) by Indian Chief (1718); 1st dam Miss Berry 4084, by Rhoderick 104; by Mambrino Le Grande (99); 2d dam, by Bell's Yellow Jacket 112; 3d dam by Gray Eagle.

Miss Berry is also the dam of Woodland Chief, one of the finest show horses in Kentucky. Woodland Chief is a full brother to Bell's Fitzsimmons and a full brother to Rhoderick, and one of the finest weldings ever showed, and sold to a party in Texas for $1,0.0.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is also the sire of the champion walk-trot gelding, Mat Coyne, showed at the Horse Shows in the fall of 1908 and sold for $3,600, and also the champion harness mare showed by C. O. Harris.

T. T. Anderson, of Maysville, one of the largest dealers in the state, says some of the highest class horses he has handled have been by Bell's Fitzsimmons.

The greatest show, harness and saddle horses of our state have sprung from the loins of Harmon Chief and Indian Chief. Where can you find a horse of better breeding than Bell's Fitzsimmons? He has been a winning show horse ever since a suckling colt, and has proven himself a successful sire. Some of the highest priced saddle, harness and walk-trot horses that have left the State have been sired by him.

Personal care over all stock. Mares left on good grass at 10c a day at owner's risk.

$15.00 to insure a mare in foal or pasted with.

JOHN RENSLER,
C. R. BEST.
Phone 14, Walton, Ky.

Also prepared to break colts and handle Saddle and Harness horses.

The Fine Saddle and Harness or General Purpose Stallion,

Harry Willis,

Is a handsome blood bay stallion with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high, weighs 1150 pounds, and was foaled in 1907.

His conformation, individuality, breeding and reproductive qualities all combined in one horse go to make that desire of all conservative breeders, an ideal stallion.

He is the personification of perfection, has a fine head and neck, strong, deep shoulders, short back, very fine quarters, clean, flat legs, good bone, fine main and tail, good disposition and fine action.

Harry Willis by Col. Willis 37706, by Col. Kipp 18677, record 2:20¾, sire of Hugh Grade (P) 2:11¼, Colonel (P) 2:18¼, Pawling 2:21¼, Daisy Simmons 2:30, by Kenwood 45875, sire of Col. Kipp 2:20½, by Harry Clay 45, record 2:29, sire of four in the list and the dam of Bellini 2:18¼, sire of Farfella 2:04½, Ora Bellini 2:09, Beatrice Bellini 2:08¼, Carlo 2:08¼, Tokio 2:09, Leonard 2:08 1-4, Albert C 2:04½, Soprano (3) 2:08¾, winner of the American Horse Breeders' Futurity in 1909, and sold to John E. Madden for $7,000, also sire of Green Mountain Maid, dam of Electioneer 125, sire of Arion 2:07¼ and 56 others in 2:30 and dams of 153 in 2:30. First dam Nellie H by Bondsman 37641, by Barron Wilkes 4758, by George Wilkes 519; second dam, Corinne by Simmons 2744; he by George Wilkes 519, Corinne's dam Lady Belle, she by Red Wilkes 1749.

He will make the season of 1911 at the farm of C. T. Northcutt, one and a half miles north of Waterloo and one and a half miles east of Belleview, at ten dollars to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur. Money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with.

Mares left on good grass at owner's risk, at 10 cents per day.

For further particulars or pedigree, address

NORTHCUTT BROS.,

Jerry H. K. Glass, Jr.

Will stand at the same time and place at $8 to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Jerry H. K. Glass, jr., is a dark brown, mealy nose, very heavy bone, good head and ears, 14½ hands high, foaled in fall of 1907. A fine breeder.

Don De Gozee

the Belgin Daft Horse foaled in 1908

Will make the season at E. J. Aylor's stable, 1 1-2 miles from Hebron, on North Bend Road, at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt comes or mare parted with, or leaves the county.

Great care will be taken to prevent accidents but we will not be responsible should any occur.

DON DE GOZEE, despite his great size and weight, is well balanced throughout, perfectly proportioned and symmetrically built. He is as light action as stallions of much smaller type, and disposition much better than usually found in horses of blood strain.

DON DE GOZEE is a beautiful dark sorrel, 16 1-2 hands, weight 1,600 pounds, broad, flat heavy bone, fine style and action. This great breed of draft horses is especially known for better action than any other draft horses, for heavy, good bone and good hoof, and gentle, kind workers. Don De Gozee, was sired by Bayard De Gozee, whose Belgian Stud Book No. is 21870. Dam, Della Wise, brown mare, the great draft show mare of Campbell County, Kentucky.

HOME AND SCHOOL.

Keep the same teacher if that teacher is a progressive one, if not get a better one.

Teachers spend a week or two in your district before you begin school. Gather them in.

Do not rely on your certificate to do everything for you. Finish up your course of study.

Now is the time to hunt a good teacher for your school. Be sure you are right then go ahead.

We need everybody at the wheel in this rural school movement. Talk better school and better roads.

Take up a course of reading this summer and carry it through and spend less time in gossiping about some one else.

It is not always that a first class certificate means a first class teacher. Still a first class certificate means something.

Young man finish your high school course you will need it later. Get a high school diploma before going off to school.

There are thousands of places where a teacher can go and spend six weeks this summer improving himself in some subject upon which he is weak.

The County Superintendents in the state have never tried to get a law to better their condition. They should wake up. All the other forces are busy.

The parents who is made to realize the necessity of his child getting an education in order to become a happy useful citizen will be anxious to send him to school.

America's Only Woman Mayor.

Hunnewell, Kas.—Mrs. Ella Wilson, America's only woman Mayor, has proved herself of the militant brand by demanding that Gov. Stubbs remove the five town Councilmen who refused to meet the Mayoress, or to confirm the appointment of Mrs. Alice Hilton as city clerk, of Mrs. Rose E. Osborn, as City Marshal, the head of the Police Department.

The Councilmen—mere men all—declare they do not believe the State Executive will remove them.

Mrs. Wilson has complained to the Governor that her administration in office is being hampered by the obstructive attitude of the men Council members. The Councilmen declare they are going to fight the lady Mayor to a finish.

They have adopted as their slogan "Down with the suffragettes," but the suffragette Mayor holds the key to the situation. She possesses the town records, and no business can be transacted unless she will surrender them.

This she refuses to do, unless she is assured her wishes are carried out. There is to be an adjourned meeting of the City Council Monday night, but Mrs. Wilson has notified the Councilmen that she will not appear with the records unless "they be good."

To "be good" they must confirm the appointments of the City Clerk-ess and the Chief-ess of Police-ess.

The Chief-ess is especially angry because one of the Councilmen, who is a railroad agent, will not tell her who receives liquor shipped to the local depot.

Newport will put on a new form of Government commencing with the first of January, 1912. The city will elect a board of commissioners who will have the appointing of about all the city officials, an entirely new departure in city government in Kentucky.

SEWING.—I do all kinds of plain and fancy sewing, dressmaking, etc., and would be pleased to have the public patronage. Mrs. M. J. Vest, Walton.

Wm. H. Metcalfe, one of the prominent citizens of Kenton county, has been very ill the past two weeks with nervous trouble, but is now some better.

Mrs. Sallie S. Hicks of near Richwood, spent Friday here the guest of her daughter Mrs. W. Lee Gaines and family, and her many friends were delighted to meet her.

Mrs. Frank Rex, who formerly resided in this quarter, died at her home in Gallatin county, near Ryle, Monday, from paralysis. Mrs. Rex leaves a husband and several grown children.

Samuel C. Hicks spent a part of last week at Richmond, Ind., and while there purchased a new automobile which he brought thru to Walton Thursday, enjoying the trip very much.

Mrs. H. W. Nelson and two little sons of Cincinnati, spent part of last week here the guests of her sister Mrs. O. S. Watts and husband. Mrs Watts accompanied Mrs. Nelson home for a visit of several days.

Rev. B. M. Nelson, of near Beaver Lick, left Monday for Ghent, Carroll county, where he delivered one of his interesting lectures. Rev. Nelson is a very gifted orator and his addresses are always filled with interesting thought.

Walton Lodge, No. 719, F. and A. M., had a very enjoyable session last Friday evening, when J. Taylor Grubbs was given the entered apprentice degree. The lodge has a number of petitions for initiation and degrees, and is in a very flourishing condition.

Miss Queen Tillman spent Sunday in Cincinnati at the bedside of her sister Miss Willeve Tillman who is confined to the Bethseda hospital following an operation for appendicitis. She is much better and will be able to return home here in a few days.

David Hicks of Richwood, who recently returned home from a protracted visit to relatives and friends in Missouri, spent the past week here taking treatment from Dr. B. K. Menefee for rheumatism, being very badly affected with the disease since he went to Missouri.

At the election for trustees of the Walton Graded school district last Saturday, J. Ed. Bristow and John C. Bedinger were unanimously selected. Both are excellent gentlemen and worthy citizens who will discharge the duties of the office in a satisfactory manner.

Dr. J. G. Slater purchased a handsome Flanders automobile last week and drove it out from Cincinnati in a speedy manner. Dr. and Mrs. Slater and daughter Miss Nell enjoyed a pleasant day with friends at Big Bone Springs last Friday, making the trip in their automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Loomis, of Kenton county, were the guests of their daughter, Mrs. John L. Vest, and family. Mr. Loomis, who is secretary of the Kenton County Burley Society, was here distributing checks for the twenty per cent payment on tobacco pooled in that county in 1909.

John T. Grimsley, of Glencoe, who has been handling real estate at Latonia, spent Sunday and Monday here. He made the trip thither in his automobile, and the machine got out of repair thru the loosening of a bolt and it had to be taken entirely apart, necessitating the remaining here a couple of days.

Last Thursday, Bessie Lee Franks, the little daughter of Ollie Franks, fell into a cistern on the premises of Wood R. Miller while playing, and the little one was nearly drowned before being rescued by J. Waite Cross. The water was about six feet deep in the cistern and but for her immediate cries for help the little girl would have lost her life.

Robert L. Green, of Frankfort, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, was here last Thursday in the interest of his race. Mr. Green was born at Warsaw, Gallatin county, and has a host of friends in this quarter. He is well pleased with the [illegible] for the past [illegible] always been [illegible] his [illegible] Blue [illegible] doing nicely.

S. W. Bevarly, the public spirited councilman, has been about again this week soliciting subscriptions toward purchasing enough crude petroleum to successfully oil the streets of Walton, this year, the experiment last year having proven satisfactory. The citizens were very liberal in responding to Bro. Bevarly's importunities and he has about $320 subscribed, and the work of oiling the streets will be accomplished in a short time.

At the sale of the effects of the late Richwood Deposit Bank last Saturday there was a good sized attendance. The sale took place at the bank building at Richwood and the property consisted of the building, lot, safe vault, furniture and fixtures, and an interest in a tract of land in Kenton county, being one seventh in about 79 acres. The management of the sale was in the hands of Jno. L. Vest, Vice-President of the Equitable Bank and Trust Co., the assignee, and J. D. Doubman cried the sale. The propesty was sold in separate parts in the beginning, and then sold in its entirety, the land interest separate. The property consisting of the banking house and lot, safe, vault, furniture and fixtures, was sold to P. P. Hunter, of Cincinnati, for $1,555. The bidders were J. C. Bedinger, Jos. C. Hughes, J. G. Tomlin, P. P. Hunter, D. B. Wallace. The property as a whole brought about three hundred dollars more money than the separate bids, and that sale was ratified. J. G. Tomlin bought the interest in the land in Kenton county for $50. The price appeared to be satisfactory to all.

The question of the holding of the deposit of public funds usually furnishes a "bone contention" among banks in every community where public funds are accummulated, and the school fund in the Walton district afforded an opportunity for contention between the two banks of Walton. The Equitable Bank and Trust Company has been the custodian of this fund the past year, and at a regular meeting of the directors of that bank last Friday the matter was discussed along liberal lines, and it was considered that the Walton Bank and Trust Company had as many interests in the community and should have a fair division of the funds thereupon the directors passed a resolution in which they asked the other bank to join, requesting the Board of School Trustees to direct the treasurer of the fund to alternate annually between the two banks in making them the depositaries of this public fund. Then both banks signed the resolution and it will be presented to the School Board in due time. The Equitable Bank will have charge of the fund until July 1st, next, when it requested that it be turned over to the Walton Bank for the ensuing year. This action was done cheifly for the purpose of keeping the affairs of the public school out of any strife and that all of the citizens could and would work harmoniously for the success of the school as they have been doing and naturally want to do. With this spirit of amity and good feeling animating competitive business institutions in a town the principle of the good feeling will naturally extend to every other circle, and the citizenship will strive to see "who best can serve and best agree." The harmony and pleasant conditions of a community are largely brought by leading business men taking the initiative as in this case.

WHITEWASH

This is one of the most needed and yet most neglected practices on the farm. The exteriors of buildings should always be kept coated, both for appearance and preservation, but it is of the interior that we would now speak. Horse stables, cow barns hog and poultry houses should all be whitewashed at least once each year. Cow barns and poultry houses should be treated twice with either whitewash or some other disinfectant. Board or paling fences about a farm have a much nicer appearance if whitened once a year. A very serviceable wash is made of cement instead of lime and it is found more endurable, but it must be applied very quickly after mixing or the cement will set.—Ex.

The American Tobacco Co. has quit buying tobacco here for the season. During the past few months Mr. Brodie, the buyer, has purchased and handled at the Rising Sun warehouse 1,500,000 pounds of tobacco. During the same period J. O. Hamilton, independent buyer, has purchased 600,000 pounds. There are a number of crops in the country that have not been sold.—Rising Sun Local.

On May 4th I audited the Burley Tobacco Company books at Richwood, Ky., and found the Secretary's, R. W. Carpenter's work first class and correct; also Mr. Hughes' management all o. k.

WALTON.

Mrs. Rebecca L. Evans, the beloved wife of Rev. Dr. W. W. Evans, died at her home near Walton last Friday morning at 10 o'clock, after a lingering illness. Her death has been expected for some time owing to the condition of her health, yet her demise brings sorrow to many hearts as she was beloved by all who knew her. Mrs. Evans was born and reared at Crittenden, Ky., and became the wife of the Rev. Dr. W. W. Evans, minister of the Presbyterian church. Since this capacity he has served several prominent churches in Kentucky, and during the long period of forty years of married life Mrs. Evans was a true helpmeet, and had hosts of friends throughout the Commonwealth. She was the aunt of Mrs. Prof. John Uri Lloyd of Cincinnati, Mrs. Dr. Chas. Bird, of Greensburg, Indiana, and of Mrs. Wm. Metcalfe and Mrs. Lucy Williams and Mrs. Mary Fields of our own community. She was a woman of beautiful christian character, and thru a long course of suffering was always the same lovely resigned saint of God. A prominent minister of the Kentucky Synod writing of her says: "I have known her for forty-five years. If I had to alter, change, or amend anything she did, or failed to do, I would not know where to begin. Under all the changing circumstances of life, clouds or sunshine, prosperity or adversity, she has manifested the same gentle, submissive spirit which is only learned by sitting, as Mary did, at the feet of the Master." She passed quietly to rest on the 12th inst., and the funeral was from the home near Walton on the 13th inst., conducted by Rev. W. McC. Miller of Richwood. The burial was in the family lot at Crittender, the pall bearers being her nephews, Prof. John Uri Lloyd, and Hon. John T. Rouse of Cincinnati, Hon. Shelley Rouse, of Covington, and Dr. C. C. Metcalfe of Walton.

HAMILTON

Thomas Irvin Feldhaus was born July 15th, 1878, and died May 8th, 1911, aged 32 years, nine months and 19 days. He had been in ill health for a few years of a complication of diseases, but was bedfast only about one week. He leaves four brothers, one sister and many other relatives and friends to mourn his death.

Card of Thanks—We desire to thank the many friends and neighbors for the kindness shown us during the illness of our father, Thomas Feldhaus. We also wish to thank Rev. Nelson and especially Scott Chambers, for the efficient manner in which he conducted the funeral.

Won The Gold Medal.

There were twenty common school pupils who appeared last Friday and Saturday to take the examination for common school graduation. The examination was somewhat harder than usual, but all except four made the required per cent and passed. Miss Margaret Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Hughes, of Burlington, was one of the twenty applicants and making the highest average of any of those who have been examined this year, will be awarded the gold medal which, at the beginning of the year, was promised as a reward for the girl or boy making the highest average per cent at the examinations. Miss Nannie Hamilton, the justly popular educator at Verona, attended the examination with six of her pupils.

The gold medal above referred to will be the gift of Congressman A. B. Rouse.

ERLANGER.

The Congress base ball team of Covington, opened the base ball season in Erlanger, Sunday, with the Reiglers.

The local miniature reservoirs have been very popular resorts for many of our citizens for a week or two.

C. L. Gaines, cashier of the local bank, attended the bankers meeting held at Walton, Thursday of last week.

Pike street has been oiled. It's condition was horrible for a few days but the dust is knocked out for the remainder of the year, which is a great relief to the residences and business houses along that avenue.

The proposition to improve Erlanger Road has worked some of the citizens up to a very high pitch. It will cost a very large amount to accomplish the proposed improvement, and those owning the abutting property think they will have to pay too much for the benefits to be derived.

Boy and Goat Raised Fifty Bushels of Corn to the Acre.

To make two blades of corn grow where one grew last year is going to be a difficult task for Earl Hopping and his goat, but they have started a system of dry farming which the Benton county youth expects to see place him among the Boys' Corn Club winners in Arkansas for 1911. Last year this 15-year-old boy, aided solely by his goat, William IV, cultivated an acre of mountain land in Benton county and from this tract 50 bushels of corn was harvested. The acre was measured by government experts whose attention was attracted by the novel method of farming engaged in by the boy. People who passed the Hopping farm last year saw the boy diligently at work with a little plow he had manufactured himself out of old plow points discarded at the shop of a nearby blacksmith. They laughted, but when the corn continued to grow and several ears appeared on each stalk, they began to take notice. When the time came for harvest it was discovered that the boy and the goat had raised much more corn to the acre than many of the neighborhood farmers who used modern machinery. The boy explained his large yield by saying he kept continually working his crop. This year he states that he intends to do better than ever. Not one lb. of fertilizer was used on this flinty land. The surface looks more like the debris of an abandoned quarry where crushers had worked for years, so covered is it with small stones, but this nevered bothered young Hopping. Becoming interested in the boy, Commissioner of Agriculture Fred H. Phillips has seen that the youth this year has the best seed corn to be obtained, and has offered to furnish something better in the way of motive power, but the young agricultural king has declined the assistance, saying he and Bill can make it all right together. The boy is serious is going after a record of 100 bushels for the acre, however, and this fall, if he is even as successful as last year, he will be taken to the State Fair at Hot Springs to display his goat and crop.

NURSING AS A CAREER

A World Wild Call—Free Training Provided.

It is said that nursing is one of the most inviting fields of human service and that its financial return surpasses any other occupation open to young women. It develops all the native graces of womanhood and leads the way to positions of trust and influence. The demand for more nurses is a world-wide call.

The Philadelphia School for Nurses, located in Philadelphia, Pa., has undertaken to meet this demand by offering free scholarships to young women in all parts of the country. Room, board laundering, incidental expenses, special financial assistance and railroad fare home on completion of the Course, are provided. Length of Course two years. Also a Special Short Course and a Home Study Course for those who must quickly prepare for self support.

The Philadelphia School for Nurses is a benevolent institution conducted without hope of gain or profit in the interest of ambitious young women. Readers of this paper can get full information by writing the School at once.

Grow Pumpkins.

dant pasturage for live stock purposes pumpkins will soon be a close rival of silage crops as they contain a large amount of protein and albumen and a fair amount of ash and potash. They are well balanced, the ash and potash imparts strength to the bones and the protein builds the flesh and eighty per cent of the mature pumpkin can be utilized for feeding purposes. Experiments made have proved them excellent for dairy cows and are as much relished by the cows as a good piece of pumpkin pie by a hungry boy. They can be fed in natural state or cooked with corn meal. They are fine when cows are taken off grass and put on dry feed for the winter, serving as a milk tonic and preventing any ailments which might result from the change. They are also good for hogs, poultry, etc. They yield 30 to 40 tons per acre. A spray of Bordeau mixture will kill all the insects which might ruin your crop. The cost of growing them is very small compared to other kinds kinds of feed. Harvest before severe freezing weather, be careful not crack or bruise them and save stem. Keep in a cellar at about 45 degrees.

Try a crop. The stock will relish them and do well on them. Then those pumpkin pies.

Balked At Cold Steel.

Instead I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my foot was soon completely cured." Heals Burns, Boils, Sores, Bruises, Eczema, Pimples, Corns. Surest Pile cure. 25c at all dealers.

Then came the farmers free list bill, which untaxed agricultural implements and nearly everything the farmer uses. Here was a golden opportunity for all the farmers' friends.

Newspapers vs. Circulars.

A writer in the New York Times recently compiled some impressive figures as to the relative cost of advertising by the circular method.

In greater New York there are more than a million families. To put a circular into every one of these families, the Times' writer says, would cost for one-cent postage alone more than $10,000.

The paper, envelopes, labor of addressing, etc., would cost $5,000 more—"$15,000 for something that would not even be looked at by the public to whom it was addressed!" The average circular does not say as much as could be told in 200 lines in a newspaper and "in advertisement of that size placed in all morning newspapers could be put before every family reading English newspapers—about one million a day—for some $600."

This brings the conclusion that newspaper publicity, as to direct cost alone, is the cheapest there is by many, many times."

It should not require any argument to convince the average business man that newspaper advertisements are read vastly more extensively than circular advertisements. Possibly there are some persons who conscientiously read such advertising as is sent them by mail, but the great majority emphatically do not. As to the advertising matter that is thrown into front yards, on porches or under doors the amount of it that is read is so infinitesimally small that it is to be wondered at that any progressive business firm should resort to it under the deluded impression that it will help trade.

It is undoubtedly a fact that a large amount of money is wasted every day in advertising by the circular method—money that could be profitably spent in buying space in newspapers. All circular advertising is not value less, but much of it is a mere waste of money and it is easily susceptible of proof that better results can be obtained from newspaper publicity at a smaller expenditure.—Courier-Journal.

"BOOK LEARNING."

There was a time when farmers resented "book learnin," saying it had nothing to do with the hard work on the farm and growing crops. Things have gradually undergone a change. So has the land itself, some growing richer and much getting poorer each year. And the richer land generally belongs to men who read and study the cause of failures and how to remedy the defects in the land. These men find the ground is like animals or machinery, it needs care, feeding, resting; also change of diet and a dose of physic occasionally. Instead of such simple terms only as plow, corn, hay and potatoes, the progressive farmer must be familiar with such big words as carbohydrates, protein, nitrogen, phosphorus, potash albuminoids, leguminoids, balanced rations, nutritive rations, and know what these words convey and what relation they bear to one another and to the soil. Every book farmer is not a successful practical grower of crops, but there are certain elementary principles that every farmer should know, even if they do come in big words with many syllables, and if mastered they will help the farmer to keep bigger bank accounts.

SWAT THE FLIES.

Swat the fly, and thus forestall generation after generation of filthy and disease-breeding insects, says the Fulton Sun. Should the first one escape, swat the second and the third, and all their successors as fast as they appear. The essential facts as to the character and possibilities of the dangerous pests are well set forth in a "Fly Catechism" distributed among the children in the public schools of North Carolina, as follows:

Where is the fly born? In filth.

Where does the fly live? In filth.

Where does he go? Into the kitchen and dining room. He walks on the bread, fruits and vegetables; he wipes his feet on the butter and he bathes in the buttermilk.

Does the fly visit the patient sick with consumption, typhoid fever and call on you next?

What disease does the fly carry? He carries typhoid fever, tuberculosis and summer complaint. How? On his wings and hairy feet. What in his correct name? Typhoid fly. Kill the fly.—Ex.

Green R. Keller, who is a legislative aspirant, pays his respects to the State Board of Equalization in this vigorous manner: "The State Board of Equalization has notified our county authorities that a raise of 15 per cent. has been decided upon for county property and 10 per cent. on city property in this county and city. It is most likely that delegates will be sent to Frankfort to try and get the board to reconsider its conclusion. The State Board of Equalization is given authority, so says the Court of Appeals, to do its own sweet will and there is no power to call a halt. If the people will send the right man to the next Legislature some restraint will be put upon this arbitrary board. The statement comes from Frankfort that the assessed value of property in the State this year is twenty-two millions more than it was last, and yet this unrestrained taxing power has not seen fit to reduce the rate in a single county. Its continued raising of assessments is an outrage."

MAGIC JAY,

(Trial 2:25)

Sired by Jay Bird 5000, sire of 137 including Hawthorn, 2:08¼, Alceste, 2:07¼, Justo, 2:08¼, Allerton, 2:09¼, Gitchie Manito, 2:09¼, Dulcie J, 2:09¼, Early David, 2:10, Inoades, 2:10. Sired the dams of 91, including Baroness Virginus (3). 2:08¼, Crescent Route, 2:08¾, Bissie Drake, 2:08¾, Codero, (4) 2:08¾.

First dam by Magic Wilkes, 17190; second dam by John Berdine, 7217; third dam by Lexington.

Magic Wilkes was sired by the great Red Wilkes 1749, sired of 177 and sired the dams of 229.

MAGIC JAY was foaled April 23, 1905, stands 16 hands high, weighs 1200 pounds, has been handled but little for speed, but has shown a mile in 2:25. He is a son of the great Jay Bird, who sired 137 in the 2:30 list and has 8 in the 2:10 list.

MAGIC JAY'S dam is by Magic Wilkes, 1749, sire of 177, and sired the dam of 229.

MAGIC JAY will make the season of 1911 at Pleasant Hill Place at $10 to insure, money due when mare is parted with or is bred to another horse. Not responsible for accidents.

MIKE, Jr.

The Jack that has proven himself a first-class mule getter will make the seasou at the same place at $10 to insure a living foal, money due when mare foals or is parted with or bred elsewhere.

Walter Winans

Chestnut Stallion,

Will make the season at Ten Dollars to insure a mare in foal, and we will give Ten Dollars for best horse colt and same for best mare colt of get 1911.

He will be at Beaver on Mondays and Tuesdays, at my place on Wednesdays and at Burlington on the balance of each week. All necessary pains will be taken to prevent accidents but responsible for none should any occur.

WALTER WINANS 30400. Trotter. Trial 2:19. Sired by Robert McGregor 647, record 2:27¼, sire of Cresceus 2:12¼, McDougal 2:10¼, Kentucky Star 2:08¼, Lurline McGregor 2:11¾, Tom McGregor 2:12, Nyanza 2:28¾, and 84 others, and of the dams of Gratten Boy 2:08, Elloree 2:08¼, York Boy 2:08¼, and 47 others; son of Major Edsall 2:11.

1st dam Riley by Hot Spur, Jr., 3612, dam of Kate Ham 2:24¼, Geo. T. Putney 2:28¾, sire of Tom B 2:24¾, and others, and of the dams of Ben H 2:21 1-3, and 5 others, son of Hot Spur 172; dam, Patty, by Blind Tuckahoe; 2d dam, Nance by Telegraph.

2d dam, Tugles, by Membrine Gift 584. Record 2:20, sire of Membrinette 2:21, and 6 others, and of the dams of Sphinexeta 2:08¾, Sandy Boy 2:12, Louis Owosso 2:16 1-4, and 13 others; son of Mambrine 29, etc.

Walter Winans is a compact made horse, 16 hands full and weighs 1250 pounds. A sure foal getter, breeds large and his colts are well colors, either sorrel or bay. The fact that this horse is by the celebrated Robert McGregor 647 who is the sire of Cresceus 2:12 1-4, strongly recommends him to the world. Cresceus held the stallion record, not only of America, but of the world for about ten years.

This horse is of a kind disposition, nicely mannered and drives well single or double. He is in every way a high-class horse and with his royal breeding and blue blood ancestors; men with good mares should grasp this opportunity and raise such colts that will develope in horses of high grade.

MUSHROOM CORNS

Most Painful of All Foot Ailments. How to Cure Them.

The Mushroom corn is so called from its pitted cone top, resembling a tiny mushroom. It burrows deep into the toe and gets more inflamed than other corns. For the quick relief and cure of these and all corns and callouses the following is the most effective remedy known to science: Dissolve 2 tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of hot water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently massaging the sore parts. (Less time will not give desired results.) All soreness instantly disappears and the corn or callous can be easily peeled off. It may be necessary to repeat this for a number of nights for a complete cure, but if adhered to it will surely succeed. A little olive oil rubbed on the part is very beneficial. This Calocide is a very remarkable preparation for all foot ailments and is no longer confined to doctors' use. Any druggist has it in stock or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is usually sufficient to put the worst feet in fine condition. Bad smelling feet and tender feet need only a few treatments, likewise with inflamed bunions. This item will be welcomed by persons who have tried ineffectual powders and tablets.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, our Supreme Ruler, Almighty God, in His wise dispensation, has removed from this earth, Mrs. Ida Wilson, wife of our brother, Samuel Wilson, there fore, be it resolved by East Bend Lodge, No. 114, Knights of Pythias:

That we recognize that in her death our brother has lost a devoted wife, and ask to share our sympathy with him and hope to lessen, if possible, his deep sorrow for one who was a kind wife, mother, daughter, sister and neighbor, and commend him to the care and guidance of Him who doeth all things for the best, and

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our record, a copy sent to our bereaved brother, also a copy be sent to our brother's, George and Joe Walton and a copy sent to the Boone County Recorder for publication.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

WASHINGTON, May 15,—Special In six weeks the Democratic House of Representatives has passed more progressive and anti-trust legislation than the Republicans passed in 14 years administration of that branch of Congress.

The achievement up-to-date include the passage of a bill providing for the publicity of campaign contributions before instead of after elections; the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people; reciprocity with Canada and the farmers' free list bill, with other similar legislation to follow promptly.

Agitation for much of this legislation has been going on for years. The Republicans heard the demand of the people for relief, but could not enact such legislation as has been passed by the Democratic House because they had for years been receiving enormous campaign contributions from the tariff trusts and other interests which are opposed to progressive legislation of the character passed by the Democrats.

For the first time in a good many years the Capitol of the United States will be the scene of honest investigations of the big industrial trusts.

Heretofore it has been impossible for the government to control the trusts because the trusts controlled the government. Now it is to be determined whether the government of the people or special privilege shall occupy the saddle.

What Free List Bill Is—Upon close view the "farmers" free list bill becomes a mighty interesting measure. It untaxes many articles the farmers use, but it means about as much to all other consumers. It puts 100 articles of common use on the free list and it is estimated that it will save the buying public some $300,000,000. The measure won't hit the revenues hard, either. The tariff is nearly prohibitive on the 100 articles concerned, so that the custom houses get only $1,500,000 from this source.

Most of the Republican members of the House of Representatives who voted against reciprocity sought to defend their votes by declaring the measure would injure the farmers, and the tax they prided themselves upon being friends of the farmers at every turn in the road, they could not vote for the reciprocity bill.

But, lo and behold, when it came to voting a panic struck the ranks of the minority, and 109 Republicans, who had so loudly proclaimed their affection for the not persistently resist public sentiment and hope to retain their seats. No one believes that the tory senators, who voted with the progressives really wanted to vote as they did. They were prompted solely by a realization that the public demands a change in the method of electing senators, and that further defiance of the public would but hasten effective public resentment.

A remarkable vote for the United States Senate was recorded when the resolution to bring about the direct election of senators was made the unfinished business and thereby given precidence over all other measures. Thus a vote on the proposition is at last assured. Sixty-five senators voted on the side of the general proposition to five against. Every Democrat and every progressive Republican present voted in the affirmative. This does not mean that the fight over direct elections has been won outright. But it does mean that the great majority of the tory Senators have learned that they can not persistently tealst public sentiment and hope to retain their seats. No one believes that the tory senators, who voted with the progressives really wanted to vote as they did. They were prompted solely by a realization that the public demands a change in the method of electing senators, and that further defiance of the public would but hasten effective public resentment.

Lumber Made of Straw.

Making bricks without straw once led to an uprising in ancient Egypt, yet this task seems simple compared with that of making lumber without wood. Nevertheless, in Barberton, Ohio, lives a man who labored to produce lumber from straw, and finally achieved the desired ends. Now artificial lumber is being produced, and is being employed in many ways where wood was hitherto regarde as indispensable.

This artificial lumber varies in thiskness of ose-eighth of an inch upward, and ranges from narrow molding to boards four feet wide and twelve feet long. According to the inventor, it can be impregnated with certain chemicals to render it fireproof, can be made waterproof, during manufacture can be permeated with any desired color or can be given a polished surface finish. It is made under special processes from straw board or directly from straw and from waste paper, opening up a wide range of possibilities in the matter of crude material that commands attention at this time when the question of building material is coming in for such general consideration.

Starts Much Trouble.

If all people knew that neglect of constipation would result in severe indigestion, yellow jaundice or virulent liver trouble they would soon take Dr. King's New Life Pills, and end it. Its the only safe way. Best for biliousness, headache, dyspepsia, chills and constipation. 25c at all dealers.

Over The Echo River.

Last week while Mr. J. R. Scrivenor was building a fence close to the foot of the knob, he felt his right foot sinking in the ground and by jumping he avoided falling into a hole which was made by the earth caving in. The hole was found to be twenty odd feet deep and to have water in it. About the same time Mr. William Russell, who works on the farm of H. K. Jaggers, of the Hillview section, was plowing with a horse and a mule; when going through a flat bottom, the ground under the horse gave way and the horse sank in the ground up to his head.

Mr. Bessell removed the harness so the mule would not be pulled in and ran for help. The horse had a leg broken and died soon after being taken out. The hole fell in about fifteen or twenty feet It is conjectured by some of the old citizens of the community that this section is over the Echo River known so well by all who go thru the Mammoth Cave.—Smith Grove Times.

While grass will furnish abundant pasturage for live stock during the next few weeks, yet it should be remembered that late in July and August pasturage will be short. At that time also flies will trouble the cattle and the days will be exceedingly hot. The best way to secure success with stock raising in the summer is to supplement the pastures with some forage crops which will furnish green feed at the time when the pastures are parched.

Alfalfa will grow on many farms in Kentucky, and it will furnish pasturage or soiling from May to October.

Corn, stalks and all, cut in the roasting-ear stage and hauled to the pasture, and thrown in feed racks, will serve a useful purpose in supplementing the pasturage during the late sumer.

All classes of live stock will do much better during the summer if some kind of green feed is fed to them in addition to what pasturage they can graze during the dry weather. Many farmers have begun a practice of cutting the green crops and hauling them to the barns, rather than allowing the cattle to pasture the crops. In this way three times the number of cattle may be maintained on a small farm than can be kept with a pastueage system. But at the same time more labor is repuired. The best system for Kentucky farmers, at present, is to grow some additional pasturage crop, such as alfalfa or clover, to supplement blue grass, and in addition to cut some green corn as it is needed for the live stock. Different varieties of corn mature at different periods, and a continuos supply green corn for lste summer feed may be secured by growing different varieties for this purpose or by planting small patches of the same variety at intervals of two weeks.

In the North silos are filled in the fall and carried over winter and opened during the dry months of late summer. The silage proves a useful feed for both beef and dairy cattle and also sheep at that time.

The dairyman can afford to overlook this matter for everyone knows that when a cow has fallen off in milk it is a difficult task to ger her restored to a full flow. The driest part of summer is almost as trying a period on dairy cows as the worst part of winter, but the methods above described will do much to remove the difficulty.—J. H. Hooper of Kentucky Experiment Station.

Wall in The County.

During a period of 16 months while he has been jailer, Edmund Landrum has admitted to the jail 209 prisoners. Of these 75 were from the Police Court, 117 from the Quarterly Court and 17 were from the Circuit Court.

There are ten prisoners in the county jail at the present time, and that bastile is uncomfortably crowded. From the large number of prisoners it does not seem that the morals of the county are improving greatly.—Grant County News.

That is more people than have been in the Boone county jail in half a century, but it may be because all those who ought to have been there have not been caught.

Primary Election Notice.

At a meeting of the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee, held at Burlington, Ky., March 22, 1911, it was ordered that a Primary Election be held in every voting precinct in Boone County on Saturday, July 1st, 1911, from 6 o'clock a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for State Senator, County Representative and County Clerk to be voted on at the regular election in November, 1911. All known Democrats entitled to vote at the regular election in November, 1911, shall be entitled to vote in this election.

A. B. Renaker was made a subcommittee of one to have ballots printed and to attend to all details in carrying out this call.

The entrance fee of each individual candidate in this primary Election is fixed at $10, to be paid to A. B. Renaker not later than June 16th, 1911 at which time the names of the candidates who have paid their proper entrance fee will be placed on the ballots.

A. B. RENAKER, Chairman.
T. F. CURLEY, Secretary.

THE FINE YOUNG STALLION

PRINCE OLSEN

will make the season of 1911 at my farm two miles west of Walton, Boone County, Ky., at $10.00 to insure a living colt. Persons parting with mares forfeit the insurance money. A lien retained on colt until season money is paid. Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur.

PRINCE OLSEN was foaled in 1907, and is one model of his class. He weighs 1320 pounds and is nearly 17 hands in height. He is a beautiful black, and is a picture of symmetry and fine points of the draft horse. His breeding qualities are excellent.

PRINCE OLSEN was sired by Blackmon, a registered Percheron stallion owned by Ole G. Olsen, of Shabbona Grove, Illinois, where he was foaled in 1907, and from whom he was purchased by me this spring, selecting this horse over many others because of his excellent qualities. Prince Olsen is eligible to registry, and is one of the highest bred draft horses ever in this section of country. The dam of Prince Olsen was a high bred registered Percheron mare. I feel that farmers and breeders will make no mistake in breeding to Prince Olsen as it means a good, strong colt that will meet every requirement on the farm. One of the lacking features of our horses is the size and strength. With the well bred Percheron like Prince Olsen these essentials are fully incorporated.

Come and see the horse and inspect his good points and you will breed to him.

Also at the same place and under the same conditions I will offer for public service my two fine sure breeding jacks is a black Jack with mealy points five years old, 15.3 hands high, large bone and big body, very long ear, and has proven himself to be one of the best breeders in Kentucky. His mules are quick sellers and several of them have been sold at $125 at weaning time. His service fee will be $10.

BEN

DEWEY,

is another fine Jack, three years old and a half brother to Ben. His fee will be $10.00 and he will be permitted to serve only a few mares.

Both jacks are high in class, and are excellent breeders. Take a look at them before breeding; it may pay you.

A Nebraska farmer, in writing to a friend, was trying to give some idea of the productiveness of the soil out there. He said they had to mow the grass off the sod house floor to find the baby. One family near him had twin babies with only one cradle, and the kid that had to sleep on the floor grew twice as fast as the other, and they had to alternate to keep them growing even. Where the soil is richest a man dares not stand on one foot for any length, lest that leg becomes longer and cothers his walking.

The showers last week put the water in the creeks in fine condition for angling.

Four children in less than one year have been born to Mrs. John T. Dowdy, who lives near Mayfield. On May 6, 1910, twin girls were born to her, and on April 23, of this year, she presented her husband with twin boys, making four children in less than twelve months. Mrs. Dowdy is only forty years old, and is the mother of fourteen children.

Quite a number of farmers sheared their sheep the past week. The price of wool bids fair to be from 8 to 10 cents a pound less than it was last year, which is very discouraging. The price of lambs is also away off, and there are no buyers. By this time the lambs are generally all contracted for, but the dealers are too timid to take hold this spring.

The Massachusetts Experiment Station has found that the total cost of producing milk satisfactory in sanitary quality and containing from 4 to 5 per cent of butter fat will usually amount to from 4 to 5 cents per quart. The cost of keeping a cow for one year is estimated by the station at $137.07. Milk produced under more than average sanitary conditions or certified milk will naturally cost considerably more.

The confidence which for some months those best informed on the subject have had in the winter wheat crop appears to be justified by the government crop report. The condition is much better than it was in April and also exceeds by a narrow margin the ten year average. The feature of the report, however, which really for solidity and confidence is the acreage of 31,367,000, which exceeds that of last year by 1,940,000 acres. This is an increase of nearly 7 per cent. in one year, and if the condition holds there will be a conjunction with other crops if they shall prove as favorable as the basis upon which [illegible] Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Geo. B. Cox's authorized biography, as published in numerous daily papers a few days since, is a "spectacular" a specimen of egotism as ever appeared in print. Geo. B. does not hesitate to claim that he has made Cincinnati, morally and politically, the best city in the country.

According to the local papers in the several counties that have candidates for the Democratic nominations for State offices at the primary election on July 1st next, there is not a candidate among the whole lot but who will bring out the entire Democratic vote in the State at the general election. If these testimonials make good the Democratic party is certainly very fortunate in having such an array of vote getters from which to select its ticket, and its victory at the November election ought to be overwhelming.

Judge Cammack in Scott County.

Special Judge J. W. Cammack finally adjourned the May term of the Scott Circuit Court Friday afternoon, after a short session of eleven days with the docket cleaned up in splendid shape. From the time the bell tapped on the opening day of court until adjournment Judge Cammack kept the wheels of justice moving at a rate unprecedented in the history of the local courts. He convened court every morning at 8 o'clock and from that hour until late in the afternoon, with the exception of about an hour noon recess, he moved things at a rapid rate.—Georgetown News.

IN KENTUCKY.

Ed Sampson, a prominent farmer living at Blue Licks, went out the other day to see how his tobacco plants were doing, and upon lifting up the canvass he found he had a nice stand of timothy instead of tobacco plants. Mr. Sampson is quoted as saying: "I cannot account for the timothy being there," and says he intended sowing tobacco seed, but he himself might have made the mistake. Anyhow he has a nice bed of timothy to set out several acres of tobacco which is ready for the planting.—Carlisle Advocate.

One of the most interesting people attending the Federal Court in session here is Mr. John Shell, Sr., of Leslie county, who is 102 years old. Some of his neighbors say he is 104, but he does not claim so many. He does not look past 70, and his health is good. He hears well, sees well and talks well. He has one of the largest mules in Leslie county and can easily mount it from the ground, although he was too old to join the army during the Civil War. He tells many interesting tales, one of particular interest being his trip from Tennessee to Kentucky in his 12th year, when every now and then he saw a sweep-pole with a maul hung to it, with which the people "ground" meal and flour, there being no mill in that country at the time. His wife is still living, and also is 102 years old.—London Sentinel.

A boy, or a young man, named Mitchell came over from Garrard county Monday with a horse he wanted to sell for $175. He said he had worked three years for the horse. A man came up with a mule and wanted to trade for the horse. The young man said no, he wanted to sell the horse. Another man who was evidently in cahoot with the mule man came and asked the man what he would take for his mule. "Two hundred dollars." "I'll give $175, he said. He wouldn't take that, and the prospective buyer went away. The Garrard boy then traded for the mule, which was of small value, thinking to sell him for $175. When he approached that prospective buyer he was told, "No, I don't want to buy the mule." The boy saw how he had been worked and, procuring a gun, was leveling it at them when he was arrested. Judge Greenleaf fined him $50. Of course, the court did right, yet sometimes it seems a pity that a gun is not just a little bit quicker.—Richmond Pantagraph.

Rising Sun was astonished Thursday morning by the news that Edith Berkshire had killed herself by taking carbolic acid at the home of her mother, on Poplar street. She left a letter to her mother, but gave no reason for the rash act. Her age was 47 years. She was a native of Boone county, Ky., but had lived in this city many years. She had been twice married—first to Mr. Ward, and then to Mr. Stephens. She was divorced from Mr. Stephens, and had her maiden name, Edith Berkshire restored to her. She left a son by her first husband, who with her mother and many other relatives survive her.—Rising Sun Recorder.

A Mean Trick.

Two or three years ago W. P. and Bert Sullivan stocked their pond with young bass furnished by the government, at which time there was no other fish in the pond, but since the young bass were put in the pond some person or persons unknown to Messrs. Sullivan have stocked the pond with sun fish. Of this the owners of the pond were entirely ignorant until one day this week when the elder Sullivan concluded to try to catch a mess of bass, which he supposed were of considerable size. His surprise and anger were great when the little sun fish made a furious assault upon his hook, and not a sign of anyother kind of fish was discovered. So far as fishing is concerned the pond is ruined.

GROUP SIX.

Kentucky Banker's Association Holds Fine Meeting at Walton.

The third annual meeting of Group Six of the Kentucky Bankers' Association was held in Tomlin's Hall at Walton, Thursday, May 11th, and was the most successful of all the meetings held by this group. There were about seventy representatives present from the various banks in the district, Louisville and Cincinnati being represented. The meeting was called to order by President Chas. H. Lee, Jr., of Falmouth, who made a pleasing address, and introduced Rev. Dr. W. W. Evans of the Presbyterian church, who invoked the blessings of God on the assemblage and the proceedings of the meeting. Hon. J. G. Tomlin made the address of welcome which was responded to by Claude E. Ford of the Fifth-Third National Bank of Cincinnati, a former resident of Walton. H... Kennedy Helm of Louisville, Attorney for the Kentucky Banker's Association made a very able address on Banks and the Laws, and he was followed by Dr. Ben L. Bruner, Secretary of State, Frankfort, on State Bank Examinations and the Responsibility of Bank Directors, giving much valuable information. Dr. Bruner has charge of all of the State Banks and has accomplished a great deal for their regulation and betterment. "Interest on Time Deposits" was presented in a thoughtful address by E. S. Clark of Falmouth. The noon hour having arrived the visitors were invited to the Christian church where a magnificent dinner was spread by the good ladies of that church. On the reconvening of the meeting Arch B. Davis, Secretary of the Kentucky Bankers' Association, discussed the State Association and its helpful influence to the banks generally. "Uniform Size of Checks, and the kind of checks to be given away," was a well timed paper presented by John C. Miller of the Equitable Bank, Walton, and he suggested some very much needed reforms along this line. "The Aldrich Central Bank Law," was the subject of an able address by E. S. Lee of the First National Bank of Covington. Hon. J. N. Kehoe, of Maysville, President of the Kentucky Bankers Association, captivated all with his splendid address on "The General Welfare of the Banking Fraternity." It was filled with valuable suggestions. "What Brings Success to a Country Bank," was the subject of a splendid paper by A. B. Renaker of the Peoples Bank of Burlington, and it won much praise. "Certified Checks," was handled in an exhaustive manner by Hon. Charles Eugene Clark of the First National Bank of Ludlow. The Round Table, with the subject, "The Essential Elements of Successful Banking," was conducted by A. M. Larkin of the German National Bank of Newport, and discussion followed with interesting details as long as the limited time would permit. The meeting was a great success in every way and everybody manifested an intense interest in all of the proceedings The meeting was held in the beautiful new hall erected by J. D. Tomlin who very kindly tendered the use of the building. President Lee handled the meeting in a very pleasing manner. D. B. Wallace officiated as the secretary. The chair appointed as a nominating committee to select officers for the ensuing year E. S. Lee, J. C. Revill and B. W. Records, and they reported as follows: For President, D. B. Wallace; Vice-President, A. M. Larkin; Secretary-Treasurer, F. J. Herder of Covington; Executive Committee, E. S. Clark of Falmouth; D. L. Bell of Bedford; Ed. Zeisz of Covington. The Chair appointed as a Committee on Resolutions, R. R. McMurtry of Dayton; C. L. Gaines of Erlanger; Ed. Zeisz of Covington who made their report as follows:

We, your Committee on Resolutions, respectfully beg leave to report the followlng:

Appreciating the success attained by Group Six in maintaining the high success of its meetings and feeling honored as being the Group that each year has set the pace for the Groups in the entire State, and the present meeting of Group Six being more successful than any of its predecessors, we feel that the officers of Group Six have reason to be congratulated on their successful efforts, therefore be it

Resolved. That we realize more than ever the benefits derived from the group meetings, the valuable information obtained, the spirit of good feeling that is promulgated, and the building up of good principles that mean safety to every community, and we therefore recommend that all of the bankers of the State give their unqualified support to the group system.

Resolved. That we extend our thanks to the officers of Group Six for their untiring efforts in the organization of Group Six and the splendid program arranged, and we feel grateful to those who so kindly took a part on the program and presented so many valuable and profitable suggestions.

Resolved. That we endorse the suggestions of Dr. Ben L. Bruner, Secretary of State, regarding bank examinations and the careful selection of directors, and the responsibility of directors of the banks, and we appreciate his splendid address containing so many valuable suggestions, showing that he is in perfect harmony with all banks and bankers who have a proper respect for the law and just regard for the safety of the funds entrusted to their care.

Resolved. That we endorse the suggestions contained in the paper of John C. Miller regarding a uniform size of checks to be used by all banks as the adoption of a uniform sized check would save time, trouble and expense.

Resolved. That we appreciate most heartily the information regarding the law and the banks relation thereto, given in the practical address of the Hon. T. Kennedy Helm, Attorney of the State Bankers Association and feel that the enlightenment given the bankers will be of much value to them.

Resolved, That we return our most grateful thanks to our State President, Hon. J. N. Kehoe, and to our State Secretary, Arch B. Davis, and others, for their presence and the help they gave the meeting.

Resolved. That we return our thanks to the ladies of the Christian church for the management of the dinner; to J. G. Tomlin for the use of his hall, and to all who contributed to the success of the meeting.

The reports of both committees were adopted by unanimous vote.

On motion a rising vote of thanks was tendered C. H. Lee, the retiring president for the able and kindly manner with which he managed the affairs of Group Six during the three years of his incumbency in office.

The meeting adjourned at 4:30 o'clock in time to give the visitors opportunity to make their trains.

The following is a list of those present from a distance:

A Mammoth Lemon.

Wesley Underhill, residing about two miles out on the East Bend road, was in Burlington, one day the past week exhibiting a beautiful and perfect specimen of lemon that weighted one pound and a quarter. On the tree which, Mr. Underhill has grown, are four other lemons of good size, the smallest being about as large as an ordinary walnut. Mr. Underhill has been several years growing the lemon tree, keeping it in the house during winter time, and transplanting it repeatedly, until it has grown so large he says he will not transplant it agin to save it.

ADVICE TO ROAD BUILDERS.

Engineering Skill, Competent Supervision and Money Are Needed

The true value of a system of highways to the state depends upon many conditions, among which may be cited continuity, thus providing for the requirements of transportation over distances greater than can be economically traversed on inferior and sometimes nearly impassable roads; hardness and smoothness of surface with easy grades, permitting a reduction in the cost of haul, and an administration that will furnish an economical and judicious expenditure of the funds used in construction and maintenance, says C. W. Cooley, state engineer of Minnesota. It has been shown that 95 per cent of all products carried by rail or steamship must first be transported over the primary roads of the country, and it is therefore to these, the most important of which at this time are the common earth roads, that our attention is at present directed.

One of the greatest mistakes generally made with the opening up of a road system in a new country is that induced by the belief that no engineering skill is necessary and that any man versed in the handling of tools of road machinery is thoroughly competent to build a road. Such a mistake frequently finds its legitimate fruitage in expensive changes of location, regarding or insufficient drainage and requiring after the expenditure of large amounts of money for construction that much more must be provided to remedy the errors originally made.

The subject of road building on a plan commensurate with the necessities and financial ability of the people then resolves itself into but three parts—first, sufficient engineering skill to properly locate and drain our highways; second, competent supervision in construction, and third, money to pay the bills.

Ban on Bank Promoters.

Commenting on the announcement of the Controller of the Currency to the effect that no more charters will be issued for national banks when there is evidence that bank promoters are active in the project, the Owensboro Messenger remarks:

"It is an excellent move on the part of the Controller of the Currency. It could be followed with reference to State banking projects with as great benefit as will follow the new rule laid down at Washington, for there are 'promoters' of State banks also, and the promoters is the only one who generally gets out before the inevitable crash comes to a bank established in a locality where a bank isn't needed. Kentucky knows the fact only too painfully well to require discussion of the subject. The locality that really needs a bank will get it in due time and without the necessity of promotion."

Recent events in Kentucky have fully demonstrated that the promotion of State banks has been largely overdone. There have been a number of failures of banks brought into existence thru the activities of the promoter, and bank failures are not conducive to the welfare of any community. Every failure of a small bank means that somebody has lost some money, and frequently the burden of the loss falls on those who can ill afford it. Moreover every bank failure tends to weaken public confidence in ok... nks.

The starting of a bank in any locality where there is no demand for it and no large amount of business is a mistake that is likely to be seriously repented of by persons who contribute of their means to the establishment of the enterprise. It is right that there should be some limitation placed upon the perigrinating promoter, who goes from hamlet to hamlet to convince the dwellers therein that all they need to make them happy and prosperous is to chip in funds for a bank. Once having convinced them to the subscribing point he proceeds to collect his rakeoff and departs for some other village to repeat the operation.

The State is paying more attention to banking affairs at present than has been the custom in the past and there are hopeful signs that the industry of establishing wild cat banks has seen its best days. It would have been better if the regulation had begun sooner. In the indiscriminate issue of bank charters there is possibility of untold evil.—Courier-Journal.

Hogs, the Great Money Makers.

Buy a calf at weaning time for ten dollars, and if it's a heifer it will be two years or more before it becomes it forty-dollar cow. Purchase a pig at weaning time, even if it costs five dollars, and in six months' time it can be made into twenty dollars' worth of pork. If it is a sow, in one year's time it will bring a litter of pigs which, with the sow, will be worth anywhere from from forty to sixty dollars. Few things on the farm run into money as fast as hogs.

But the day is past when any old hog will do. Now it must be a hog of one of the best breeds, and the best of all breeds is the one that suits the man best. Any farmer will do better with the breed or individual that he has been finds the hog to which he should stick to it, and with new blood, feed ... and he can de... money will come ... over. And do ... to pay a big price ... a hard boar. ...

CHANGES

IN KENTUCKY SCHOOL LAWS

Suggested by Legislative Committee of Educational Association

The Legislation Committee of the Kentucky Educational Association met in Frankfort recently and adopted a tentative schedule for further consideration:

1. That the present State Board of Education and the present State Board of Examiners be abolished, and that a State Board of Education shall be substituted therefor consisting of seven members, as follows: The State Superintendent of Public Instruction, chairman, ex-officio, the Attorney General, the Commissioner of Agriculture, and four professional school men appointed by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

2. That the County Board of Education shall have power, when practicable and desirable, to provide for supervisors for the rural schools.

3. That the Legislature be asked to provide legislation which will enable a county to vote upon the proposition of bonding itself for building and equipping school houses.

4. That Section 14464b, Kentucky Statutes, Carroll Edition, which provides for the extention of the boundary of graded common schools be abolished, and provision for further establishment of independent graded common schools, except in cities of the first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth classes, be prohibited, except when they shall have voted and levied an amount of tax equal to double the maximum amount of tax which can be levied by a county board of education.

5. An efficient Compulsory Law to be enacted.

6. That the power to locate county high schools shall be vested in the County Board of Education.

7. That the minimum number of pupils required for a sub-district shall be changed from forty to thirty pupils.

8. That vacancies in the office of sub-district trustee shall be filled by the County Board of Education instead of the Division Board of Education.

9. That sub-district trustees shall be elected viva voce instead of by the present system of secret ballot.

10. That colored schools within the boundary of white graded schools be under the jurisdiction of the County Board of Education and subject to the provisions of the County School District Law.

11. That the County Superintendent of Schools be required to give bond to the State for an amount not exceeding twice the amount of money he shall receive at any installment.

12. That the minimum salary of a county superintendent shall be $1,000.00, and the maximum salary shall be $2,000, and that he be required to devote his whole time and service to his professional duties; and that he submit to proper supervision according to law.

13. That School Revenue Inspectors, whose duties shall be similar to those of the State Inspector and Examiner, be appointed by the State Board of Education.

14. That teachers in the County High Schools shall hold certificates of qualification which shall be as follows: State Diplomas, State Certificates, granted by the State Board of Education, State University Diplomas, life diplomas from the Department of Education of the State University, or life diplomas granted by the State Normal Schools.

15. That the work of the State Reading Circle Board shall be transferred to and conducted by the State Board of Education instead of by the Kentucky Educational Association.

16. That all plans for the erection of school houses shall be submitted to and approved by the State Board of Education.

17. That the power of having

NO REAL GOOD MULES.

Every mule, no matter how good has a mean streak about him that is at some time or other going to make an exhibition of itself. This was the case of a very good-natured mule belonging to Mr. W. C. Higginson Sun day when this streak came forth and the animal jumped a high fence into another field where a mule colt about ten days old was kept. The old mule began picking the colt up by the neck and throwing it against the ground, and did this four or five times before Mr. Higginson and son, George, could get to him. When they did reach the scene the mule turned upon them, ran over Mr. Higginson, badly bruising and cutting him about the body. Mr. Higginson was ready for the count, and the infuriated animal then turned his whole time and attention to George, who was kicked out of the ring in short order, but as he was very close to the mule's heels he received more of a push down than a kick and was uninjured. The two men finally succeeded in getting hold of the mule's ears and persuaded him to submit by choking.—Morganfield Post.

The High Class Saddle and Harness Stallion,

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS,

2844 A. S. B. A

Will make the season of 1911 at the W. L. Norman Stock Farm at Walton, Ky., and if you want a show horse breed to him.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is a dark bay, 16 hands, weighs 1200 lbs., with three white feet, snip and star, and lots of style and action. He was sired by

by Harrison Chief 1606, by Clark Chief (89); dam Kit Hardy (2830) by Indian Chief (1718); 1st dam Miss Berry 4034, by Rhoderick 1... by Membrino Le Grande (99); 2d dam, by Wells's Yellow Jacket 112; 3d dam by Gray Eagle.

Miss Berry is also the dam of Woodland Chief, one of the finest show horses in Kentucky. Woodland Chief is a full brother to Bell's Fitzsimmons and a full brother to Rhoderick, and one of the finest geldings ever showed, and sold to a party in Texas for $1,000.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is also the sire of the champion walk-trot gelding, Coyne, he showed at the Horse Shows in the fall of 1908 and sold for $3,000, and also the champion harness mare showed by C. C. Harris.

L. T. Anderson, of Mayville, one of the largest dealers in the state, says some of the highest class horses he has handled have been by Bell's Fitzsimmons.

The greatest show, harness and saddle horses of our state have sprung from the loins of Harrison Chief and Indian Chief. Where can you find a horse of better breeding than Bell's Fitzsimmons? He has been a winning show horse ever since a suckling colt, and has proven himself a successful sire. Some of the highest priced saddle, harness and walk-trot horses that have left the State have been sired by him.

Personal care over all stock. Mares left on good grass at 10c a day at owner's risk.

$15 00 to insure a mare in foal or parted with.

The Fine Saddle and Harness or General Purpose Stallion,

Harry Willis,

Is a handsome blood bay stallion with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high, weighs 1150 pounds, and was foaled in 1907.

His conformation, individuality, breeding and reproductive qualities all combined in one horse go to make that desire of all conservative breeders, an ideal stallion.

He is the personification of perfection, has a fine head and neck, strong, deep shoulders, short back, very fine quarters, clean, flat legs, good bone, fine main and tail, good disposition and fine action.

Harry Willis by Col. Willis 37708, by Col. Kipp 15877, record 2:20¼, sire of High Grade (P) 2:11¼, Colonel (P) 2:18¼, Rawling 2:21¼, Daisy Simmons 2:20, by Kenwood 45875, sire of Col. Kipp 2:20½, by Harry Clay 45, record 2:29, sire of four in the list and the dam of Bellini 2:18¼, sire of Farfella 2:09¼, Ora Bellini 2:09¾, Beatrice Bellina 2:08¾, Carlo 2:08¾, Tokio 2:09, Leonard 2:08 1-4, Albert C 2:09¾, Soprano (3) 2:08¾, winner of the American Horse Breeders' Futurity in 1909, and sold to John E. Madden for $7,000, also sire of Green Mountain Maid, dam of Electioneer 125, sire of Arion 2:07¾ and 56 others in 2:30 and dams of 158 in 2:30. First dam Nellie H by Bondsman 37641, by Baron Wilkes 4758, by George Wilkes 519; second dam, Corinne by Simmons 2744; he by George Wilkes 519; Corinne's dam Lady Belle, she by Red Wilkes 1749.

He will make the season of 1911 at the farm of C. T. Northcutt, one and a half miles north, of Waterloo and one and a half miles east of Belleview, at ten dollars to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur. Money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with.

Mares left on good grass at owner's risk, at 10 cents per day.

Jerry H. K. Glass, Jr.

Will stand at the same time and place at $8 to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Jerry H. K. Glass, Jr., is a dark brown, meaty nose, very heavy bone, good head and ears, 14¾ hands high, foaled in fall of 1907. A fine breeder.

Imp. German Coach Horse,

Plutarch, 3183,

Will make the season of 1911 on Monday of each week in Burlington, Ky., and the remainder of the time at my stable one mile west of Idlewild, Ky., at $10 to insure a colt to stand up and suck.

Big Tom, a Spanish Jack, and Lanky Bob will make the season at my stable at $8 to insure a colt to stand up and suck.

I will give a return season for the best colt, the 1910 get of Plutarch, regardless of sex, to be shown at the Boone County Harvest Home this fall.

For pedigree and particulars call on or address the undersigned.

T. E. RANDALL,

The General Purpose Stallion,

ROBERT WILLIS, 57255.

ROBERT WILLIS is a chestnut horse with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high and weighs 1250 pounds, foaled in 1905. Individually he is a horse of grand finish with plenty of substance, a fine disposition, with the best of feet and legs. His blood lines are of the best as his pedigree will show. Ordinary mares bred to this horse will not fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as general-purpose horses and roadsters, as his foals have size, style, conformation and action, good heads, best of disposition, plenty of life and every indication of developing into useful and selling horses.

ROBERT WILLIS is a fast natural trotter with a perfect way of going, and with limited handling last year, after making a season, showed that he has race horse speed, and with a proper preparation, will easily take a mark of 2:20 or better.

He will make the season of 1911 at Clover Leaf Stock Farm at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with or moved from the county after being bred, in which case the money becomes due and collectable at once.

Parties breeding must follow up the season.

Care taken to prevent accidents but not be responsible should any occur.

NOTICE BREEDERS.

—o—

Robert Willis will stand Monday and Tuesday of each week at T. E. Garrison's barn one-eighth of a mile north of Big Bone church, and the remainder of the time at Clover Leaf Stock Farm.

Don De Gozee

the Belgin Daft Horse foaled in 1908 Will make the season at E. J. Aylor's stable, 1 1-2 miles from Hebron, on North Bend Road, at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt comes or mare parted with, or leaves the county.

Great care will be taken to prevent accidents but we will not be responsible should any occur.

DON DE GOZEE, despite his great size and weight, is well balanced throughout, perfectly proportioned and symmetrically built. He is as light action as stallions of much smaller type, and disposition much better than usually found in horses of blood quality.

DON DE GOZEE is a beautiful dark sorrel, 16 1-2 hands, weight 1,600 pounds, broad, flat heavy bone, fine style and action. This great breed of draft horses is especially known for better action than any other draft horses, for heavy, good bone and good hoof, and gentle, kind workers. Don De Gozee, was sired by Bayard De Gozee, whose Belgian Stud Book No. is 21870. Dam, Della Wise, brown mare, the great draft show mare of Campbell County, Kentucky.

SNAPPED A BURSTING BOMB.

Luck of a Photographer in Getting a Wonderful Picture.

One of the most remarkable photographs ever obtained was that of the actual exploding of the bomb which was thrown at the king and queen of Spain on the occasion of their wedding.

It was secured by an operator for one of the largest firms of press photographers and, according to the London Strand Magazine, proved a veritable gold mine, appearing in close on 3,000 publications.

The photograph was secured more or less by a piece of good luck. The operator was on a stand with his camera in the place allotted to him by the police, waiting for the procession to appear. The camera was placed facing down the street up which the procession was to come.

From the moment it came in sight until the royal carriage was within about thirty yards of him the operator secured three pictures. He then readjusted the camera so as to get a good picture of the king and queen in their carriage, which was about ten yards from him.

At the instant that the operator pressed the ball and exposed a plate a dark object was hurled at the royal carriage from a balcony window, and then followed instantly a binding flash and a noise like a thunderclap. The operator was hurled half stunned to the ground, his camera following him. When he was able to stand he saw a terrible scene below him. The large crowd was stampeding in all directions.

Any one luckless enough to fall in that storm of rushing humanity was instantly trampled to death, and several did fall. Some thirty people in all were killed on that occasion, of whom at least half were simply crushed or trampled to death in the panic that followed the explosion. It is very remarkable that all the plates in the operator's camera were broken with the exception of the last one he had exposed, which depicted the actual scene at the moment of the explosion.

BEES HATCHED DUCKLINGS.

Captain C. C. Bryant has an inventive original turn of mind and the thought occured to him a few weeks ago that the heat generated by a hive of bees might be used to hatch eggs. So he tacked a piece of linen across the inside of the bee hive, immediately above the bees, and on this he placed raw cotton and deposited nineteen Indian Run duck eggs in the bee "incubator." The eggs were covered with more cotton and that with a piece of deerskin with the hair left on, and over that a board was placed so that all the heat generated by the bees would be retained in the cotton. In due time the eggs began hatching and up to date ten lusty ducklings have been lifted out of their cotton nest. One of the bee-hatched ducklings has a well developed third leg, dangling from the upper part of its body. The three-legged freak is not due to the strain of the poultry, but to the baby duck's instinctive desire for more legs to make his early escape from the neighborhood of the bees. Captain Bryant is well pleased with the success of his experiment and expresses his intention to run his incubator all summer.—Versailles (Ind.) Republican.

Some Worms.

The Cynthina Log Cabin furnishes the following, and says the accuracy of the statement is vouched for by a relative of the girl:

Miss Nellie Florence, age 15 years, daughter of Mr. James Wilt Florence, of the Republican vicinity, became sick at the stomach and threw up a lot of angle-worms, or earthworms, commonly known as fishing worms. The worms were of various sizes and it was found that there were 159 of them.

Wm Woodward and family, of Devon, were Sunday guests of Mrs Amanda Carpenter.

Mrs Soden's farm was not sold the day of the sale as the bids did not justify an acceptance

Will Rice and family, Mrs Walter Grubbs and Clara May, were Sunday guests of Thomas Rice

A few days ago an automobile, with three freshies in it met three young ladies with a horse that is afraid of autos, and they drove off of the pike as far as the fence would permit, when the auto left the pike and just grazed the vehicle the ladies occupied just for pure devilitry These fellows will ride too often

As J J. Tanner and Mrs. Wilkins were coming up the hill near Wood Carpenter's, on the pike, a few days since, their buggy was nearly demolished by being struck in the rear by an auto Mr Tanner and the lady were thrown out, but, fortunately, escaped injury Mr. Tanner succeeded in holding his horse The auto No was 229, but evidently two figures were eraced and the correct number is believed to be 16229 The chaffaeur was a mulato while the other occupants were two ladies and a man The man pretended to be very indignant at Mr Tanner, but it was all bluster The accident was the fault of the autoists as Mr Tanner was driving in a walk when his vehicle was struck, and the two conveyances were moving in the same direction Such performances are calculated to result in somebody getting shot The damage to Mr. Tanner's vehicle is about $25, while his driving horse is ruined

IT WONT DOWN.

Lorimer to Be Investigated By The U. S. Senate Again.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED.

Washington, May 22.—An immediate investigation of sweeping scope of the renewed charges that Senator Lorimer, of Illinois, is not entitled to his seat is provided for in two resolutions by Senators Dillingham and La Follette, and the whole subject figuratively held the boards in the Senate to-day. Senator La Follette called up his resolution and made a speech arranging the Illinois Senator, whom he charged with personal knowledge of the spending of money in behalf of his election. Both the Democratic steering committee and the Republican members of the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections discussed the charges of corruption in the Lorimer case, and Senator Dillingham, chairman of the Elections Committee, presented his resolution of inquiry as a substitute for the La Follette resolution.

The La Follette measure provides for a renewed inquiry into the Lorimer case by a special committee, while the Dillingham measure directs the Committee on Privileges and Elections to make the inquiry. The Democratic Senators will support the Dillingham resolution. It is likely the Elections Committee will be directed to investigate through a subcommittee to be chosen from its own members, but affirmed by the Senate. Senator La Follette, who was apparently surprised by the Dillingham measure counts upon a number of progressives to support his resolution.

GUNPOWDER.

Little colts are beginning to make their appearance.

Rev. Tomlinson had the misfortune to lose a valuable colt last week.

Mrs. Susie and Miss Jessie Utz called on Aunt Jemima Tanner last Saturday.

Fruit is all right and if conditions are favorable there will be a fair crop of all kinds.

Charles Aylor and wife entertained G. C. Barlow and family and Leslie Barlow and family, last Sunday.

Meadames Lucy Tanner, Cora Blankenbeker and Lizzie Bartell dined with M. R. Tanner and wife last Sunday.

F. A. Utz passed thru our burg last Friday enroute to Union to look after his interests in that neck of the woods.

Mrs. Anna Tanner and children, of Norwood, Ohio, visited friends in this neighborhood from Saturday until Sunday evening.

There was considerable corn planted last week but the crop is not all planted and several in the neighborhood are not thru breaking. The extremely wet weather in the early spring threw the farmers back with their work very greatly.

Anna Belle Zimmerman, daughter of Henry Silas and Mary Frances Zimmerman, was born March 21, 1889, died May 16, 1911, aged 22 years 1 month and 24 days. She is survived by her mother and her brother, Noah, who will greatly miss her in the home. She united with Hopeful Lutheran church during the ministry of Rev. Slater, thus early giving her life to Christ; the influence of her sweet and gentle disposition was like the fragrance of a beautiful flower, making her beloved by all who knew her. Like the beautiful fragrant flower, she was so frail that when that dread disease, tuberculosis, attacked the system, she faded away. As the fragrance of a flower increases in dying, so the christian, when death is near, exerts a more powerful influence than thru life. As a member of the church, the S. S. and the Luther League, she will be so much missed, and we often wonder at our Father's providential dealings, but we know that He doeth all things well, and that our loss is Anna's gain for she has gone to be forever with the Lord.

The funeral services were conducted by Pastor Tomlinson at Hopeful, last Friday. After the very impressive service the remains were buried in Hopeful cemetery. The family extend their thanks to those who so kindly assisted during the illness and death of their loved one.

Irvin Hood, of Constance, was granted a certificate of probity, etc., by the Boone county court, a few days ago. He has prepared himself for the practice of law by attending a night school in Cincinnati for some time. Mr. Hood is a very fine young gentleman, and will make a success of the practice of law if he enters the field actively.

All election officers who have keys and seals to Ballot boxes will please return same to County Clerk's office at once.

W. R. ROGERS.

DEVON.

Miss Gertrude Meiman is having a gay visit with her aunt, Miss F. Meiman and Frida Scheild, below Erlanger.

Miss Alice Cary and sister, Julia, of Illinois, are guests of their sister, Bridget, called here by the death of their brother.

Mrs. J. Meiman and children will be guests of her parents this week, who will entertain the College Girls, 50 in number with an all day outing, and also celebrate the golden wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mersman, who will entertain with a large reception.

The Death Angel has again visited the Cary family and robbed them of their beloved brother, James, who died Saturday at 10 a. m. He had been sick for a long time but bore his suffering with patience. He was good to the poor and all that was noble and good to his sisters and brothers always having a kind word for everyone, but the ways of Providence are unscrutable, and all we can do is to bow in submission to the Divine will, assured that these afflictions are not sent in anger are proofs of a loving father's care. "His paths are in the sea and his footsteps are in the deep waters. He causeth all things to work togeter for good," to those who put trust in Him. The remains were laid to rest in the beautiful St. Mary's cemetery. Rev. Kathman, a warm friend of Mr. Cery, delivered the sermon, while Rev. McGafferty, of Florence, conducted the last sad rights at the Florence Catholic church. With deepest sincerity the family desire to thank their many friends who were so kind to them during his illness and at the time of his demise. Especially do they thank Rev. McGafferty, Rev. Hartman and Rev. Kolbe for their consoling words; Mr. Allison, the undertaker, for the efficient manner in which he conducted the funeral, and all neighbors and friends, the pallbeares, and those who contributed the beautiful floral pieces.

A friend.

Mr. Elliott, of Williamstown, was in this neighborhood last week.

Mr. John Rivard, of Covington, was the guest of relatives here Sunday.

SALES DISCONTINUED.

Burley Society Taking An Inventory of Stock On Hand.

SMALL SALES RECENTLY.

Lexington May 22—It is announced at the Burley Tobacco Society headquarters here today that the society had for the present discontinued the sales of the pooled crop of 1909, which had been offer ed throughout the sale season on the breaks of Louisville, Cincinnati and this city. The object of suspending the sales, it is stated, is to take an inventory of the stock left on hand of the pooled tobacco, and this is being done now under the direction of several graders in the employ of the society. Since the 20 per cent distribution by the society on the the 10th of May, when approximately $2,600,000 was distributed among the growers, very little pooled tobacco has been sold, and until the inventory is completed, no more it is stated, will be placed onthe open market until definite plans for the future are formulated. The recent rains have put the ground in fine condition for setting out tobacco plants, and thousands of plants were put out today in Fayette county and other sections of the Burley Belt. It is expected that the acreage this year will not be as large as that of last year, as the tendency in many counties is to cut down the production of the weed.

UNION.

J. J. Cleek has been sick for some time.

Dr. O. S. Crisler was here last week inspecting sheep.

W. P. Utz and wife, of Florence, were Sunday guests of friends at this place.

Miss Sara Black, of Constance, visited friends here a few days last week.

Joseph Huey had a fine horse badly cut in a wire fence, last Wednesday.

Miss Gladys Rouse entertained a few of her young friends, Thurs day evening.

Miss Edith Kelly, from near Hathaway, has been the guest of Misses Una and Ella Adams, the past week.

Misses Virginia and Rachal Conner were in the city shopping, one day last week.

Misses Virginia and Addie Conner pleasantly entertained Miss Eva Smith, Sunday.

The Medical Society was delightfully entertained Wednesday evening by Dr. O. E. Senour.

Miss Emma Hauser, of Newport, and Mr. Cassady, of Louisville, attended church here Sunday.

Mrs. Chas. Beach, of Covington, was the recent guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Rice.

Elsworth Carroll was mingling among friends here, Tuesday. Mr. Carroll is a candidate for Representative.

J. T. Bristow has beautified his place by giving his house a new coat of paint, while Claude Carpenter has erected a new barn on his premises.

Dr. O. S. Crisler, the county's livestock inspector, will complete his work in the next week or ten days. He has been very active ever since his appointment, and has furnished thru the columns of the Recorder, from time to time, information which is necessary for the owners of sheep to possess in order to avoid coming in conflict with the rules and regulations governing the government quarantine that has been in force against the sheep of this State for some time. This week he has published in another column the rules with which shippers of lambs and sheep have to comply and it will be to their benefit if they will read the rules closely and compiy with them strictly before attempting to make a shipment.

Several of the Recorder's faithful correspondents failed to show up this week, and it is presumed they are busy planting corn and preparing their tobacco ground.

W. L. Kirkpatrick bought six flocks of sheep one day last week, the owners of three of the flocks making a clean deal with a view to quit handling sheep.

Have you noticed that advertisement of the Moeschle Edwards Co. on page fourth? Great roofing THAT—Get Wise.

Hayden Hodges, of East Bend, is roroofing Chas. Birkle's residence.

No tobacco plants have been reported as transplanted in this county.

At present water seems to be plentiful at the local creamery site.

There are better fish in the creek than have been caught.

The weather has been delightful all this week.

Personal Mention.

Miss Pinkie Cowen was shopping in Cincinnati, last Saturday.

Hubert Gaines was transacting business in the city yesterday.

D. B. Hoffman, of Petersburg, was a Sunday guest at S. W. Tolin's.

Sheriff B. B. Hume made a business trip to Lawrenceburg, yesterday.

Clarence Norman, of Gunpowder, was a visitor to Burlington, Tuesday.

John Furlong and wife, of Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, were Sunday guests at Kirb Tanner's.

Miss Jennie Lee Castleman has been employed to teach in the Erlanger school next year.

Mrs. M. L. Riddell and daughter, Miss Laura Frances, were in the city, yesterday, shopping.

Mrs. Maud Fowler is busy preparing the the 1911 tax books for her father, Sheriff B. B. Hume.

A. B. Renaker and wife are visiting his mother and other relatives at Dry Ridge, this week.

Miss Mary Thompson is at home after a protracted visit with her friends at Fortress Monroe, Va., and elsewhere.

Mrs. C. M. Baldon came home last Sunday from Cincinnati, where she was operated on for tumor of the breast.

Ewing Flick, of Belleview, made the Recorder a brief call, one day last week, while transacting business in Burlington.

C. C. Roberts came down from his farm near Walton, last Friday, to attend the fish fry at W. H. Rouse's on Saturday.

Everett Walton and wife moved to Erlanger, last week. Mr. Walton has a position at Ludlow with the Q. & C. Railway Co.

County Clerk W. R. Rogers went to Walton yesterday to look after his farming interest which are under the supervision of C. C. Roberts.

Newton Sullivan went over rural route 3, a few days since, to get acquainted with the scrive, as he will sub for carrier Conley hereafter.

G. M. Allen, candidate for the Democratic nomination to represent the county in the next General Assembly, was canvassing in this section, last week.

Miss Pattie Revill, who was stricken with malarial fever down at Clinton, where she was teaching recovered sufficiently to return home the latter part of last week. She stopped at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. G. Furnish in Covington for a rest of a few days.

W. F. McKim, who left Burlington several years ago, made the town his first visit since he left Monday. He appears to be holding his own well, and things around the old town looked quite natural to him. He was in town only a short time and several of his old acquaintances did not get to see him.

R. J. Underhill and wife visited his brother, Jerry and wife near Cheviot, Ohio, last Sunday. Mr. Underhill found his brother well pleased with his new home and getting along nicely. It was Mr. Underhill's first trip out in that part of Ohio, and he says it is a great country, improvements of all kinds and of the best class are to be seen in every direction.

Robert B. Huey, of Commissary, went to Georgetown, last Sunday night to be at the bedside of his son, Garnett, who was that day operated on for appendicitis. The young man is a student at Georgetown College, this being his second year in that institution. He was attacked on Saturday by the disease, and the attending physician decided that an immediate operation was necessary, and it had been performed when his father arrived. He had had other attacks of the same disease.

Taxes will be dus again in a few days.

Remember the Erlanger minstrels at Library Hall next Saturday night.

The work on both the creamery and W. L. Kirkpatrick's residence is progressing nicely.

Chicago is preparing to dig its own subways. It is to be hoped the hole will be large enough for Senator Lorimer to crawl into.

One of the indicted Ohio legislators says he has not committed any crime against the laws of the State. Then there should be some amendment to the laws.—Louisville Post.

Charles Clore and Frank Hossman, of Hebron, are engaged remodeling D. E. Castleman's future residence in Erlanger. Mr. Castleman has quite a force of hands at work over there.

The dry spell lasting since April 30th was broken by a good shower Saturday afternoon and followed Sunday by a good soaking rain making a good season for setting tobacco, softening the clods and rendering land in good condition for cultivation. Grass seed sown this spring has been damaged by the dry weather.—Georgetown News.

Certificate of Inspection.

Each movement of sheep from a county, or railroad shipment, must be accompanied by a "Certificate of Inspection," made out especially for that particular movement or shipment.

Inspectors will notify all shippers who purchase sheep in their county to this effect and also that they should only buy sheep from flocks which have been inspected on the farms where originating, and found free from scabies. After purchasing a "lot" of sheep and determining on a date of shipment, the shipper will make application to the inspector for a certificate; giving the number of head in the lot and stating from whom purchased. The inspector will then refer to his record (which should be kept in a book containing all inspections) and if all the shipper's purchases are from flocks which have been inspected and found free from scabies, a certificate will be issued, writen in ink or indellable pencil, in the shippers name, covering the entire lot, or two certificates if going under two billings to different markets. The shipper will turn this certificate over to the railroad company to be attached to the way-bill. This certificate should be marked "for railroad shipment."

If the shipper should apply for a certificate for sheep originating in flocks which have not been inspected, it will then be necessary to inspect such sheep before issuing the certificate and as the Board's regulations require inspections to be made before movement, all inspections should be made on the farm, if possible to do so.

Certificates covering sheep to be trailed, should be issued in the same general manner as for railroad shipments, and inspectors will demand that sheep being trailed into their counties be accompanied by a certificate. Such sheep if inected, should be returned to their former pasture if not dangerous to do so, or quarantined and proper action taken. If not infected they should be quarantined until knowledge be learned concerning their former premises.

Both of these classes of certificates shall be issued on the "Certificate of Inspection" blank of the Kentucky Live Stock Sanitary Board and be stamped with the following:

The Sheep designated in this certificate if moved Interstate shall be subject to the regulations of the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry.

All certificates will be issued in duplicate, the original to be given to the shipper or trailer and the duplicate forwarded to this office.

Certificates covering shipments or movements of sheep which have been previously inspected and reported to this office, need not be again reported, but if that be a first inspection of the entire lot or portion of same, said report shall be made out covering such animals as have not been previously reported.

Please return to this office all certificate books which are not stamped as above required.

Very Respectfully,
A. J. PAYNE.
State Live Stock Inspector.
May 2nd, 1911.

Railroads And The Farmer.

The railroad companies are finding that farm product furnish a very large portion of their revenue, in freighting from one portion of the country to another. Shipments of these products, of one kind or another, make constant business for the roads thruout the year. Even the output of the great steel mills is not sufficient to give them regular and constant business. So some of these railroads companies, like the N. Y. Central and the Pan Handle lines are aiding the farmers to make their farms more productive than they have been heretofore, by giving them the benefit of what science has done for agriculture. They buy run down farms and put practical and scientific farmers in charge of them who build them up and make them more productive than ever, and show the neighboring farmers how to double the yields of corn, wheat and hay.

James J. Hill is said to be the father of scientific farm exploitation. Results of his agitation for "more per acre at less cost" may be seen everywhere in the North west. Having the upper hand in three big railroad systems in the Northwest, although "retired," he is waging a campaign that is in every township in his vast territory. Trains known as "grain specials," "potato specials," "corn specials," "alfalfa specials," and "conservation specials" are stopping at small stations, where farmers gather and hear the gospel of scientific farming every day.

It is pleasant to see the railroad companies and the farmers working thus in harmony for the same end, bigger and better crops. The motive in each case is a selfish one, and therefore more likely to accomplish the purpose intended. The movement is one of the most promising signs of the times. The agricultural papers will keep a sharp lookout upon the experiment and make full reports of what is done, so that the whole country will get the benefit.

Live Stock Inspector O. S Crisler has been engaged all this month making diligent search for scabies among sheep in this county, but so far has not found a sheep afflicted with that disease.

Outlook for Tobacco.

(Farmers Home Journal.)

Plants scarce in Shelby county.

—o—

Plants scarce in Logan county.

—o—

Very few plants in Green county.

—o—

Hills made around Adairville, but no plants yet.

—!!!—

Plants around Sharpsburg, are small and need rain.

—o—

Lots of plants and growing nicely in Marshall county, Tenn.

—o—

No transplanting yet in Christian county. Very few are large enough to plant.

—o—

Nicholas county growers are much discouraged. Plants are reported small and weakly.

—o—

Growers in Madison county have been compelled to water their beds in order to save their plants.

—o—

There is a scarcity of plants in Robertson county, and the dry weather is causing much damage.

—o—

Plants around Paris, Tenn., are recovering somewhat from the set-back the cold weather gave them.

—o—

Beds are doing well in Woodford county, though not so large an acreage is expected to be grown as in former years.

—o—

Growers doubt if a full crop of tobacco will be raised in the "Black Patch" this year. Plants are not doing well, cutworms are busy and labor conditions are not the best.

—o—

Plants in Fayette county, disappointingly small and indifferent and complaints are coming in from every section of the county to the effect that plants are small, backward in growth and beds are full of weeds.

—o—

The transplanting of tobacco in Greens county, Tenn., has just commenced and the size of the crop greatly depends on the weather for the next ten days. If there is plenty of rain the crop will be large, though not as large as last year.

—o—

Planters in Dickson Co., Tenn., report they are ready to begin transplanting as soon as it rains. The recent warm days have greatly benefited tobacco plants, which had been retarded in their growth by previous cold weather.

—o—

Ground is being prepared in Montgomery county, though few growers have plants large enough to set. Plants are small and need rain. Will commence transplanting about the 20th of this month. Weeds in many places more plentiful than plants.

—o—

According to press dispatches, the tobacco crop in Virginia will not be planted on as large an area as last year, but better attention to preparation of the land and fertilization, will be given so that this year's crop will be one of the best.

—o—

The date for the next distribution from the 1909 pool has not been announced but it is said to be the intention of the leaders of the Burley Society to dispose of all of the remainder before the 1911 crop can be placed on the market.

—o—

Tobacco plants in Bath county have come up much better than usual, but the continued rainy weather of the past few weeks has also produced a large crop of weeds and tobacco raisers are compelled to put in a good deal of time weeding their plant beds.

—o—

The supply of plants around Clarksville, Tenn., seems irregular, fairly abundant in some localities and positively scarce in others. The hot weather has greatly stimulated the growth and with suitable rains plantings will commence next week.

—o—

The tobacco acreage in Nicholas county, has been greatly reduced and a number of farmers who in the past years have been depending solely upon the income from the tobacco crop are now devoting their attention to other crops and are endeavoring to put into practice a system of diversified farming.

"I wouldn't let a doctor cut my foot off," said H. D. Ely, of Bantam, Ohio, "although a horrible ulcer had been the plague of my life for four years. Instead I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my foot was soon completely cured." Heals Burns, Boils, Sores, Bruises, Eczema, Pimples, Corns. Surest Pile cure. 25c at all dealers.

Evansville, Ind., May 21.—During a hard rain here an alligator about two feet long fell from the clouds, landing on the doorstep of the home of Mrs. Hiram Winchell, in Vine street. The reptile crawled up on the porch and Mrs. Winchell and several members of the family, hearing some thing flop against the door, opened it and were horrified to see the alligator upon their porch. They rushed and got brooms and sticks of stovewood and soon killed the saurian. The hide was saved by Mrs. Winchell, who will have it stuffed. Several of the neighbors of Mrs. Winchell saw the alligator.

For Sale—Several male pigs, cow and calf and platorm spring wagon suitable for the creamery business. Apply to Geo. Blyth, Burlington.

Sired the dams of 91, including Baroness Virginus (3). 2:08¼, Crescent Route, 2:08¾, Bissie Drake, 2:08¾, Codero, (4) 2:08¾.

First dam by Magic Wilkes, 17190; second dam by John Berdine, 7217; third dam by Lexington.

Magic Wilkes was sired by the great Red Wilkes 1749. sired of 177 and sired the dams of 229.

MAGIC JAY was foaled April 23, 1905, stands 16 hands high, weighs 1200 pounds, has been handled but little for speed, but has shown a mile in 2:25. He is a son of the great Jay Bird, who sired 137 in the 2:30 list and has 8 in the 2:10 list.

MAGIC JAY'S dam is by Magic Wilkes, 1749, sire of 177, and sired the dam of 229.

MAGIC JAY will make the season of 1911 at Pleasant Hill Place at $10 to insure, money due when mare is parted with or is bred to another horse. Not responsible for accidents.

MIKE, Jr.

The Jack that has proven himself a first-class mule getter will make the seasou at the same place at $10 to insure a living foal, money due when mare foals or is parted with or bred elsewhere.

TO CURE SORE BUNIONS

Treatment Marvelously Quick for This and All Foot Troubles.

"Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of hot water; soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently massaging the sore parts. (Less time will not give desired results.) Repeat this each night until cure is permanent." All pain and inflammation is drawn out instantly and the bunion soon is reduced to normal size. Corns and calluses can be peeled right off and will stay off. Sore, tender feet and smelly, sweaty feet need but a few treatments. A twenty-five cent package of Calocide is usually sufficient to put the worst feet in fine condition. Calocide is no longer confined to only the doctors' use. Any druggist has it in stock or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. This will prove a welcome item to persons who have been vainly trying to cure their foot troubles with ineffective tablets and foot powders.

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

Wheat, bran and oats make strong bones in the colt.

A poorly nourished, stunted two year old filly should not be bred.

Too many farmers sacrifice quality in the selection of a ram.

Don't leave a horse heated by driving to stand exposed in a cold wind.

It never pays to keep old, worn-out animals except as a matter of sentiment. It is well to cull very closely in cattle, swine and poultry.

There is nothing like milk for making hogs out of pigs. It is their natural feed, and when used with a grain ration will develop pork more rapidly than anyother feed. It pays to keep cows just for the pigs.

Do not feed pigs too much corn while they are young. Corn is a fat producing food nad does not accelerate growth. Feed shoats tankage, shorts and bran in sufficient quantity to cause rapid growth.

The Wyoming experiment station, after repeated trials, concludes that corn and the bearded or Scotch barley, when fed with alfalfa, were about equal in value for mutton production. Barley in this test proved to be a shade the better. Twenty-seven per cent less alfalfa and 28 per cent less grain were required where barley replaced either in a ration.

Never hesitate about giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to children. It contains no opium or other narcotics and be given with implicit confidence. As a quick cure for coughs and colds to which children are susceptible, it is unsurpassed. Sold by all dealers. tf.

Walter Winans
Chestnut Stallion,

Will make the season at Ten Dollars to insure a mare in foal, and we will give Ten Dollars for best horse colt and same for best mare colt of get 1911.

He will be at Beaver on Mondays and Tuesdays, at my place on Wednesdays and at Burlington on the balance of each week. All necessary pains will be taken to prevent accidents but responsible for none should any occur.

WALTER WINANS 30400. Trotter. Trial 2:19. Sired by Robert McGregor 647, record 2:27½, sire of Cresceus 2:12½, McDougal 2:10½, Kentucky Star 2:08½, Lurline McGregor 2:11½, Tom McGregor 2:13, Nyanza 2:13¾, and 84 others, and of the dams of Gratten Boy 2:08, Elloree 2:08½, York Boy 2:08½, and 47 others; son of Major Edsall 2:11.

1st dam Riley by Hot Spur, Jr., 3612, dam of Kate Ham 2:24½, Geo. T. Putney 2:23¾, sire of Tom B 2:24½, and others, and of the dams of Ben H 2:21 1-3, and 5 others, son of Hot Spur 172; dam, Patty, by Blind Tuckahoe; 2d dam, Nance by Telegraph.

2d dam, Tugles, by Membrine Gift 584. Record 2:30, sire of Mcmbrinette 2:21, and 6 others, and of the dams of Sphinexetta 2:08¼, Sandy Boy 2:12, Louis Owosso 2:16 1-4, and 13 others; son of Mambrine 29, etc.

Walter Winans is a compact made horse, 16 hands full and weighs 1250 pounds, a sure foal getter, breeds large and his colts are solid colors, either sorrel or bay. The fact that this horse is by the celebrated Robert McGregor 647 who is the sire of Cresceus 2:12 1-4, strongly recommends him to the world. Cresceus held the stallion record, not only of America, but of the world for about ten years.

This horse is of a kind disposition, nicely mannered and drives well single or double. He is in every way a high-class horse and with his royal breeding and blue blood ancestors; men with good mares should grasp this opportunity and raise such colts that will develope in horses of high grade. The Big Three in the Hay Field

They cut prepare and gather a hay crop quicker, better and with less work than any other machines you can buy.

The WALTER A. WOOD
Admiral Mower
is the only one with genuine underdraft. The driving power is always in proportion to the heaviness of the work. The only one with self-form lift—cutter bar never gets out of line with pitmen. The only one with floating frame—no neck weight on the horses. No vibration.

The teeth on the WALTER A. WOOD
No. 10 Steel Rake
have independent holders and each has a coil spring to relieve strains. Rakes clean, dumps easily and lasts a life-time. The most economical rake you can own.

The WALTER A. WOOD
Steel Tedder
combines strength and simplicity. Relief springs on forks prevent breakage. The lightest running tedder made.

We shall be glad to demonstrate all three machines to your entire satisfaction.

HIS FAITH TRIED BY FACTS.

Scientists Knew Water Wouldn't Enter Submarine Boat, but Feared the Demonstration.

Everybody knows that if an uncorked bottle is placed mouth downwards in water the air in the bottle will restrict the entrance of the water, that is to say, only as much will enter as is required to compress the air in the bottle enough to equal the pressure of the water. If the air pressure could be increased not a drop would enter. This principle is made use of in submarine boats. These contain an air chamber in which the air pressure is made a trifle greater than the water pressure outside. When a door is opened in the boat no water enters and the crew are able to pick up sponges, oysters or other spoils at the sea bottom. It is told of a scientist that with great difficulty he was persuaded to trust himself under water in a submarine boat. When, near the bottom, it was proposed to unscrew the panel in the bottom of the boat, in order to let the scientist see the result, he was greatly alarmed, but in spite of his expostulation the door was thrown open to the water. Not a drop entered, however, and the learned man was reassured. Gazing on the smooth surface of the water, he remarked: "I knew it couldn't come in. But if I had not seen it I should never have believed it!"

Experiment in Electricity.

Prof. S. Wentworth, having an experimental farm near Roseville, Cala., has been subjecting both vegetation and farm animals to the influences of electric currents, declaring that his experience has already proved astunding. For example, he reports upon a flock of 2,000 sheep, divided into two flocks of 1,000 each. One of these flocks pastured beneath the power wires of a big electric plant, while the other flock was far removed. Under electrical influences he reports that the ewes averaged two lambs each, while the ewes in the other flock bore an average of less than one lamb. Also he reports the yield of wool 30 per cent. greater than in the flock removed from the electrical currents. The conducting wires are of high voltage, and their effect upon a crop of wheat sown under them is anticipated at 100 per cent. increase above other fields.

There is not an interurban railroad in Kentucky west of Louisville, while on the other side of the river the country is becoming a network of them. If Kentucky is to keep abreast with Indiana in the line of development and commercial progress she must begin the building of interurban lines, and the sooner she begins the better, because Indiana already has a good lead in the race.—Owensboro Inquirer.

It has cost more than $22,000,000,000 to run the United States government since 1875.

It costs a per capita of $12.10 per annum from every man, woman and child in America to pay the costs of government.

Every voter in the U. S., contributes $75.35 to the support of the government.

These are three of the points made by Representative John G. McHenry, Democrat of Pennsylvania, in a speech which has just been published in a belated issue of the Congressional Record. Figuring that the wage earners of the United States earned $2,611,540,532 for 1910, Mr. McHenry points out that it takes nearly one-half of all the earnings of these wage-earners to run the National government.

The farmers of the country ought to realize, says the member from Pennsylvania, that it takes the whole hay crop and corn crop of the United States to pay the present running expenses of the nation. He says the system of government and the consequent burden of taxation is growing out of all proportion to the production and earning of the people.

He figures that if, to the cost of the National government there is added the cost of the State, county and municipal governments, the cost of government per capita is $25 for every man, woman and child, or $125 for every family, and in this connection he says:

"When we come to consider that the average annual earnings for working men in this country are less than $475, and of this amount he must pay more than one-third for the purpose of government in a time of peace, it is time all men to give this matter their immediate and serious attention.

Tompkinsville, May 18.—Mrs. Polly Boone, aged 104 years, died at the home of her son, Samuel Boone, of infirmities incident to age. She was closely related to the noted pioneer Daniel Boone. She was blind and had been for about five years, but was active and had a good memory until recently. She spent her life in Kentucky except a few years in Tennessee, just across the State line. She never saw a train in her life and was never on board a steamboat. Mrs. Boone was the oldest woman in Southern Kentucky.

She is survived by her son and three sets of grand children, which number about fifty.

The Boston Tribune-Democrat offered a year's subscription for a correct answer to the conundrum, "Why is a newspaper like a woman?" The prize was won by Mrs. Mary Roberts, of Springfield, Mo., and the answer was: "Every man should have one of his own and not be running after his neighbor's."

IN KENTUCKY.

The Meade County Fiscal Court was in session last week and appropriated $6,025.50 to build pikes in the county.—Brandenburg Messenger.

Sunshine and dry weather have given us good roads in Daviess county, hence the explanation for the complete cessation of interest in improving the county's highways.—Owensboro Inquirer.

A Cumberland county editor bemoans the fact that there is only one road in that county that is passable without danger of the rider's losing his mare. We have roads in North Caldwell, it is said, where the mountain donkey is the only safe and sane method of transportation.—Princeton News.

Allen county has built twenty-two miles of pike during the last three years. During the same time their assessed property valuation has increased 40 per cent. Does it pay to build good roads? The increased taxes pays the cost and the people have the benefits without costing them a cent.—Glasgow Republican.

There are among our people many very ardent advocates of good roads and one of them is especially zealous in the matter. In fact he believes in them so strong that he has paid for a two-line ad. which has been running in the paper for the past several weeks urging everyone to keep to the right of the road. If everyone would heed the splendid advice and drive to the right side of the road all the time the roads would last just twice as long.—Danville Advocate.

A suggestion of an economical way of graveling public roads was made by Supervisor Hargrove at the last meeting of the Fiscal Court that should have the approval of every citizen of the county and the backing of the fiscal officers. Mr. Hargrove said that if he was empowered to have every roadhand work six days this year on their respective roads and be allowed to secure teams to haul gravel at $1 per day he could gravel more roads at less expense than was ever done—and he can. In fact the supervisor has recently graveled a stretch of road on this plan and in many sections there are people ready to cooperate in that way.—Murray Gazette.

There is a remedy for both the school question and the road question which would eliminate illiteracy in Kentucky and get us out of the mud also. For education, pass a compulsory educational law, not a pretended compulsory law, but one that means what it says and says what it means and endorce it or fine the Trustees, the Constable, the Sheriff and county officials if it is not enforced. Amend Section 4748b of Kentucky Statutes so as to permit any county or magisterial district to vote a road tax by a majority vote, and extend the right of the Fiscal Court to issue bonds for such county or magisterial district or levy a tax as indicated by the people of the county or district. This amendment would enable every magisterial district to do just as it pleases as to the road question. Some districts in our county would vote a heavy road tax in a hurry for gravel or stone roads, but the county as a whole would not, in our opinion. But if one district could do it, the rest would drop in line in self-protection. As it is in our county we think it is in many other counties.—Smithland Banner.

Primary Election Notice.

At a meeting of the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee, held at Burlington, Ky., March 22, 1911, it was ordered that a Primary Election be held in every voting precinct in Boone County on Saturday, July 1st, 1911, from 6 o'clock a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for State Senator, County Representative and County Clerk to be voted on at the regular election in November, 1911. All known Democrats entitled to vote at the regular election in November, 1911, shall be entitled to vote in this election.

A. B. Renaker was made a subcommittee of one to have ballots printed and to attend to all details in carrying out this call.

The entrance fee of each individual candidate in this primary Election is fixed at $40, to be paid to A. B. Renaker not later than June 16th, 1911 at which time the names of the candidates who have paid their proper entrance fee will be placed on the ballots.

A. B. RENAKER, Chairman.
T. F. CURLEY, Secretary.

Harrodsburg, May 18.—Circuit Judge A. L. Walker adjourned court from the temporary court rooms in the upper story of the operahouse, which has been used for this purpose since the old courthouse was condemned, to the yard in front of the old courthouse this morning, after Col. Gaither, an attorney, had fainted rom the oppresive heat. Judge Walker's seat was prepared under one of the famous old elms, and comfortable chairs were placed for the attorneys and spectators. A number of minor cases were heard, after which his honor trated everyone to ice cold lemonade and adjourned this term of court.

History records that the first open-air church service held in Kentucky was here, and it can now go down that the first open-air Circuit Court in the State was held here.

THE FINE YOUNG STALLION

will make the season of 1911 at my farm two miles west of Walton, Boone County, Ky., at $10.00 to insure a living colt. Persons parting with mares forfeit the insurance money. A lien retained on colt until season money is paid. Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur.

PRINCE OLSEN was foaled in 1907, and is one model of his class. He weighs 1520 pounds and is nearly 17 hands in height. He is a beautiful black, and is a picture of symmetry and fine points of the draft horse. His breeding qualities are excellent.

PRINCE OLSEN was sired by Blackmon, a registered Percheron stallion owned by Ole G. Olsen, of Shabbona Grove, Illinois, where he was foaled in 1907, and from whom he was purchased by me this spring, selecting this horse over many others because of his excellent qualities. Prince Olsen is eligible to registry, and is one of the highest bred draft horses ever in this section of country. The dam of Prince Olsen was a high bred registered Percheron mare. I feel that farmers and breeders will make no mistake in breeding to Prince Olsen as it means a good, strong colt that will meet every requirement on the farm. One of the lacking features of our horses is the size and strength. With the well bred Percheron like Prince Olsen these essentials are fully incorporated.

Come and see the horse and inspect his good points and you will breed to him.

BEN

is a black Jack with mealy points five years old, 15.3 hands high, large bone and big body, very long ear, and has proven himself to be one of the best breeders in Kentucky. His mules are quick sellers and several of them have been sold at $125 at weaning time. His service fee will be $10.

DEWEY,

is another fine Jack, three years old and a half brother to Ben. His fee will be $10.00 and he will be permitted to serve only a few mares.

Both jacks are high in class, and are excellent breeders. Take a look at them before breeding; it may pay you.

Investigation by the Department of Agriculture, through various dairying sections, show that good dairymen as well as poor ones "seem to be in clusters." The influence of a few progressive dairymen who study their business is apt to permeate the entire section. In others the example of those who do not read and study dairy methods is followed by others, and they are all ignorent together, with the result that they receive very little profit from their cows

Everybody is complaining of the dry weather. The dry hot weather is telling on all vegetation. It is said to be especially bad on young clover. The wheat ,oats and hay crops will be considerably injured unless rain comes at once. Tobacco plants are plentiful, but most of them are small, and not many will be ready to set this month. Many are watering their tobacco beds. The ground is so hard that it can not be properly prepared.—Trimble County Democrat.

Although the entries to the Democratic primary do not close until June 15, fifteen days before the date of the primary, it is the purpose of the Executive Committee, it is said, to let the contract for the printing of the ballots the night of June 1, and have the work done immediately after that date. This action is said to be necessary in order to get all of the ballots and other paraphernalia distributed to the various voting precincts in the State in time to conduct the primary July 1st.

The Court of Appeals has rendered a decision which will hold County Fiscal Courts to a more strict responsibility in the making of road and bridge contracts. In effect the decision is that a Fiscal Court has no power to delegate the right to make contracts to a committee not composed of members of the court.

The opinion was handed down a few days ago in a case appealed from Floyd county and the situation thereby created is a peculiar one. The Fiscal Court of Floyd county appointed a committee, not composed of members of the court, to make a contract for three iron bridges. The contract was let to the lowest bidder and the bridges were constructed at a cost of $15,000. By the time the work was finished the old Fiscal Court had been succeeded by a new court. When the question of payment for the bridges came up the point was raised that the former court's action in appointing a committee of outsiders to negotiate the letting was not legal. Payment there upon was refused and the bridge committee filed suit for the $15,-000. It won the case in the lower court, but an appeal was taken by the county and the Court of Appeals has upheld the contention of the Fiscal Court.

Under the circumstances, the higher court says the county of Floyd cannot be compelle d to pay for the bridges. At the same time, the opinion goes on to say, "the county will not be allowed to use these bridges without paying for them and the bridge company may take down and remove the bridges and material used in their construction as this is its only remedy under the law."

It is rather embarrassing condition of afairs all around. The company has built the bridges and the county needs them. If they are removed the county will have to build more and the company will have three second hand bridges left on its hands, and "the last state will be worse than the first" for all persons concerned. There is a lesson in the decision, both for Fiscal Courts and for persons and corporations who bid on road and bridge work, and they will find it mutually advantageous to study it thoroughly.

Frankfort, May 23.—The State Board of Equalization has now passed on the assessments of each county in the state, and it is practically certain that the equalized value of the property in Kentucky this year will be $816,-000,000, which is an increasse of $30 000,000 over the assessed value which was $816,000,000. Much of the increase this year came from the rural districts, as the action of the board in taking the five-per-cent increase off Jefferson County materially reduced the equalized value as a whole.

Carlisle, May 23.—The drouth which has played so much havoc with the farmers through this county in the past few weeks was brought to a close with good rains today. Only a few farmers, however, have been able to take advantage of the tobacco season, as there are but few plants large enough to be transplanted, and not much ground is ready. Reports indicate that a few acres in various sections of the county were planted in tobacco to-day.

Owenton May 23.—While attempting to "bat" an ear of corn, which had been thrown in the air by Smith Keightly, a fifteen year-old white boy, a negro employe of the lad's father, let a loaded whip handle slip from his hand, striking the Keightly boy in the head and fracturing his skull. Young Keightly and the negro had been playing together for some time, and when the accident happened the negro overcome with grief. The boy is not expected to live.

AT LIBRARY HALL.

Burlington, Friday and Saturday Nights, June 2d and 3d,

FRIDAY EVENING, June 2—Two plays, "Our Aunt from California," and "The Freshman," Library Hall 8 o'clock.

SATURDAY EVENING, June 3—Comic Opera, "The Captain of Plymouth," Library Hall, 8 o'clock.

SUNDAY MORNING, June 4—Baccalaureate Sermon by Rev. Wells, Baptist church, 11 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, June 7—Commencement Exercises—Address by Harlan Collier Runyan, of Latonia, Library Hall, 8 o'clock.

The Full Commencement Program will be published next week

NOTES:

The Baccalaureate Service will be an impressive one. Special songs have been arranged for, and we know what to expect from our popular and beloved minister, Bro. Wells. This will be one of the most important events of Commencement week.

Harlan Collier Runyan, a minister of the [illegible] church, is a forceful and eloquent speaker. His address alone will well repay coming a long distance to hear. Besides this and the graduate's address, several features will be added to make the exercises most interesting. Admission free.

The plays to be given Friday and Saturday evenings have qualities different from anything yet attempted here. "The Freshman" is clean and wholesome and introduces the school spirit and breathes in that school atmosphere that is so proper in school plays and yet so hard to find. It sparkles from start to finish. Don't miss it.

"Our Aunt from California" calls forth acting of a high quality. The excellent impersonation of the "Aunt" by one of her young nieces will bring down the house.

You will have to see and hear "The Captain of Plymouth" to appreciate it. It is, perhaps, the best comic opera ever written outside of the professional. Miles Standish and his awkward soldiers, Wattawamut and his braves, the lovesick Katonaka and the beautiful love story of John Alden and Priscilla are all brought in.

Admission to each play 25 cents.

The Erlanger Minstrels.

Don't let this one go by. The last of the season. The Erlanger Minstrels, with new music, Songs, Jokes and Skutches. Always some thing doing. The Managers of this show have gone to an unlimited expense to make this show a success, and we hope it will meet with your approval as it has with others. Here are just a few of the leading acts. Harnett & Kramer in their new novelty act entitled, HOTEL TAKE YOUR TIME. Hoard Bros., the great Banjo players, Eva Gangsuary in a great act entitled, I JUST DON'T CARE, and a few others. Mr. R. Rollencutter will play the part of our dear teacher in SCHOOL DAYS, which is a laugh from start to finish, all the actions of a boy in schools of to-day is shown in this act. Come and see for yourself and I know you will enjoy it.

Tickets will be on sale at Mr. Kelly's store, so come early and pick out your seat.

Reserved Seats..... 35 cents.
General Admission.....25 cents.

A Dee-lightful Affair.

The annual fish fry was given at W. H. Rouse's, last Saturday, about twenty persons participating in the festivities, Kirb Tanner was chief cook, and the excellent manner in which he dished up the fish fully sustained his already well earned reputation for being able to pull off an excellent culinary performance. Mrs. Rouse furnished the coffee and corn bread, neither of which could have been improved. Eating fish began about ten a. m., and was engaged in at intervals until late in the afternoon, when a thunder storm broke up the day's pleasure.

A New Hair Grower.

They do say that Chas. Westbay has employed Onnie Rouse to restore, if possible, the hair on his head, and Onnie is using a solution of beer and soot for that purpose. Developments are anxiously awaited by the patient and many of his friends who are likewise afflicted with be a pleasure to the Recorder to announce the success of the treatment.

More Rain Needed.

Several neighborhoods in this county have been visited by good rains the past week, and in every instance they were needed. Some of the farmers had to quit breaking land for corn on account of the ground getting too hard to work. The grass, wheat and tobacco plants needed the rain as did the corn that had been planted but had not come up.

After Your Trade.

W. M. Rachal & Co., of Union, have a new advertisement in this issue, in which they quote a few very reasonable prices as a sample of what you may expect to be charged for goods purchased from them. They always please their customers both in quality and prices of goods, hence their large trade.

Doctor's Meet.

The Boone County Medical Society met with Dr. Senior, of Union, Wednesday, May 17th, the following physicians being present:

Phinney, Long, McKim, Langsdale, Cincinnati.
Carlyle, Rabbit Hash.
Meeker, Slater, Walton.
Hays, Bullittsville.
Senior, Union.
Hafer, Florence.
Peddicord, Burlington.

Drs. Langsdale, Hafer and Peddicord read interesting papers on medical topics, which were discussed enthusiastically by all present.

After the literary program was finished the society enjoyed an old fashioned fish fry. The fish were fried just right, and with refreshments served with them were very much enjoyed by all present.

Prof. Sammons, Hon. J. W. Kennedy and Prof. Voshell were present and helped to entertain the society with their jokes and wit.

Society adjourned to meet at Erlanger, June 21st, where they will be guests of Dr. Furnish, of Covington.

Adams-Stilley Marriage.

Samuel Adams, 44, of Burlington, and Mrs. Maud Stilley, 28, of Walton, were married at the home of the bride, last Sunday evening, Rev. H. C. Wayman, of the Baptist church officiating. The bride is a daughter of John G. Crisler, of Walton, and the groom is Boone county's clever and efficient jailer.

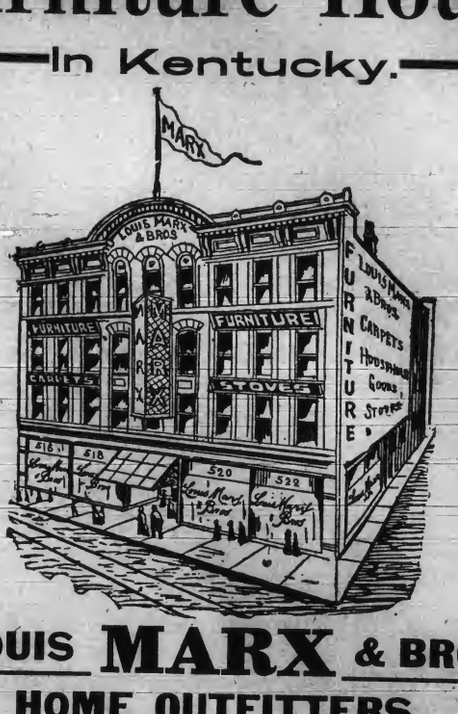
Mr. and Mrs Adams came home last Monday evening, and about 8 p. m. they were waited upon by a band of charivariers armed with all kinds of instruments of noise. Anticipating the visit Mr. Adams had provided a box of good cigars which he did not delay in passing, consequently the charivari was brief tho furious while it lasted.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams will go to housekeeping in a residence which he bought near the telephone exchange and upon which he has done considerable work repairing with the nuptial event in view.

Base Ball News.

The Rising Sun base ball team, in which are three or four Boone county players, defeated the Admirals, a Cincinnati team, last Sunday, 14 to 3.

The Erlanger and Boone base ball teams will meet on the grounds at Burlington, next Saturday afternoon. If you want to see the first game of the season, which, no doubt, will be a good one, come out.



In opening the ball season of 1911 the Burlington management has secured for Saturday's attraction at the Burlington park, the strong Erlanger team. In the box for the home team will be the veteran Brady, who will again hold his old rivals as if in the hollow off his hand. At the receiving end will be the peerless Slayback. Play will be called at 3 p. m. Come out and see the game.

Prof. A. M. Yeajey, of Florence, came over, with his ball team, last Saturday afternoon, and won another game from the Burlington High School team, the score being 9 to 5. One fact about the game that makes the professor and his boys jubilant is that four of the Boones were in the Burlington line-up, but were not the least annoying to them, to whom all the opposing players looked alike.

A Father's Vengeance.

would have fallen on any one who attacked the son of Peter Bondy, of South Rockwood, Mich., but he was powerless before attacks of Kidney trouble. "Doctors could not help him," he wrote, "so at last we gave him Electric Bitters and he improved wonderfully from taking six bottles. Its the best Kidney medicine I ever saw." Backache, Tired feeling, Nervousness, Loss of Appetite, warn of Kidney disease that may end in dropsy, diabetes or Bright's disease. Beware, Take Electric Bitters and be safe. ...s of the Steamboat Redstone.

A recent number of the Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune contains the following article concerning the explosion of the steamboat Redstone. While incorrect in some of the details, it is, in the main about right, and we publish it as a matter of interest to the present generation of readers, as well as the older ones, who like to read the old story of over half a century ago:

April 3, 1852, occurred the explosion of the steamer Redstone on the Ohio river, a packet that plied the waters between Cincinnati and Madison, and was acknowledged to be the fastest boat on the river, any where.

It was principally owned by parties in Lawrenceburg, Ind., the largest shareholder being Colonel Ezra G. Hayes, who still resides in that city. The people of the city were very proud of the Redstone, for they regarded it as the only representative on their town coursing the waters of the Ohio. And every time it landed at the wharf, whether going up or down the Ohio, crowds of persons would assemble on the shore to cheer it on its way.

April 3, 1852, a bridal party went aboard at Madison enroute to Cincinnati. The day was bright and beautiful, and with over 50 merry passengers on board the boat moved up the river as gayly as a gondola of joyous Venetians. When a short distance beyond Carrollton, Ky., a number of persons were standing on the Kentucky shore and signaled the boat to land for more passengers.

The captain gave the command, the engineer obeyed and the pilot rounded the vessel in the swollen stream, and it glided to the shore. Rev. Perry Scott, whose handsome home overlooked the waters, with a party of friends stepped aboard. The captain yelled out:

Pull in the plank. Move out."

The signal bell clanged the starting notes. The huge side-wheels began to turn. The band struck up its liveliest tune. The partners for a waltz were forming. Rev. Scott stood upon the deck of the moving steamer waving his handkerchief in adieu to friends on the shore and shouting his farewell to a fond mother who was watching him from the door of the not far distant home, when a mighty roar rent the air, and the bursting steamer was hid from view by the clouds of debris that darkened the sight, as a terrific explosion shook the earth and splashed the water from shore to shore.

The echo of the suddenly suspended music was overwhelmed by the shrieks of the wounded and dying, for both of the boilers of the boat had burst, and in their collapse carried death and destruction to everything within the circle of their power.

Rev. Scott was never seen again, nor was a vestige of his corpse ever found. The handkerchief with which he waved his last farewell was discovered in the branches of a tree not far beyond the banks of the disturbed river, and the military cape that hung from his shoulders when death, in dynamic fury, stripped him of his life, was found on the opposite shore, but the brave and loving form that stood beneath its somber folds when swift destruction met him was never again beheld by human eye.

Captain Thomas Pate and Jackson, the pilot of Rising Sun, were both blown from the boat, but escaped without fatal injuries. The two engineers were brothers, George and Joseph Berry, of Beaver, Pa., and both were blown to death. A portion of the dismembered body of one of these unfortunate brothers was found lodged in an apple tree far away on the Indiana side of the river.

The mutilated body of one of the cabin boys was found several hundred yards distant on the roof of an old stable. The arm and hand of the young bride was all that was ever found of her body, and that was identified by the initials on her wedding ring that encircled her clammy finger, and from which cruel death had failed to separate her.

An orphan girl, she had married a young lover from Louisville, named Weston, and was going on a bridal trip to visit an only sister residing near Covington, Ky., when overtaken by death. The body was never found, and the bloody fragments of the fair young wife was laid away in a little grave by itself.

Seventeen persons in all were killed, and six of the bodies of that number were never found. The river was full and high from recent rains and the rushing current carried everything that came within its reach far from the scene of the disaster. The boat was torn asunder by the force of the explosion and then caught fire.

Its shattered hull danced on the agitated waters like a ball of flame until its burnt and charred ruins sank from sight beneath turbid waves swirling around it.

James E. Goebel, Ell Grismann, and Edmund Durbin, all young newspaper men of Lawrenceburg, Ind., had accepted an invitation from the owners of the boat to take a pleasure trip upon it, and the three friends were standing on the deck of the steamer when the explosion occurred and met a horrible death. Their bodies were afterward found, and side by side at the old cemetery at Lawrenceburg, while [illegible] stands a towering [illegible] reared by sympathizing [illegible] with the following [illegible] to mark their last [illegible] of those who were killed by the explosion of the steamer Redstone, near Carrollton, Ky., on April 3, 1852."

Goebel had gone through the perils of the Mexican war, under command of Colonel James H. Lane, and had returned home only a few days previous.

The destruction of the Redstone was brought about by a peculiar incident. On the extreme edge of the broken bank of the river stood a large tree, with wide-spreading branches that overshadowed the waters when the river was high, and for years the restless stream had been silently assaulting the roots of the lone tree and undermining its deep foundation. When the boat threw the waters into violent motion as it rounded in to land, the circling waves dashed against the base of the tree and completed the work of destruction that had long menaced it. When the steamer again agitated the waters in its effort to leave the shore the toppling tree sank into the stream, its long limbs becoming entangled in the huge wheel of the vessel, and the struggle to release itself caused the explosion.

Fireman John Kain had a most miraculous escape from death. He was hurled high in the air by the explosion, but fell back into the water unhurt, and floated down the river several miles by the swift current, clinging to a piece of timber until finally rescued almost exhausted.

His experience did not prejudice him against river life, for he secured a similar position on the steamer Fanny Fern and continued his vocation on the water until February, 1855, when the little boat exploded opposite the mouth of the Big Miami river, east of Lawrenceburg, then took fire and burned until the waters closed over its ruins.

The old hull is still visible in low-water-time and is a source of great annoyance to passing steamers during the dry seasons of the year. The boat was loaded with barrels of whisky belonging to the Gaff Distilling Co., of Aurora, and when the fire reached the hold of the doomed vessel its intensity was augmented by the burning liquor, that sent forth a brilliant blaze of bluish hue and shot forks and fiery flames across the surrounding waters.

Kain was the only person killed. He was thrown in the water by the force of the explosion, and discharging himself from the debris he swam to the shore almost unharmed. But as he stood on the bank watching the steamer succumb to the destroying elements his ears were assailed by the piteous howling of a pet hound that remained tied in an uninjured part of the deserted boat, and he at once plunged into the river for the purpose of reaching the doomed vessel and rescuing the dog.

But before he could get to the imprisoned animal, fire had extended to the barrels of inflamable material and the furious flames enveloped the beast, and it fell unconscious into the water and sank beneath the bubbling surface.

His scorched and blackened corpse was found near the sunken wreck weeks afterward, but as no one ever claimed the decomposed body it was buried on the bank of the river near the present residence of Joseph Sattler, an old fisherman.

Dairy Pointers.

Don't mix the morning and night milk unless both are quite cool.

There is no liquid that will absorb odors more quickly than warm milk.

The animal that pays the best is bound to be in evidence as dairymen become better informed.

It is a mistake to suppose that a good cow of inferior breeding is qualified to drop a good calf.

Clover is one of the best forage crops for cows and is one of the best crops a dairyman can put in.

Before selecting a pure-bred sire to head the herd of cows, it is necessary to canvass the situation thoroughly.

In building up a dairy herd from common stock, much time will be saved if the best cows are selected to form the breeding herd.

There are few cows which will not stand more quietly during the milking process if they have nothing else to attract their attention.

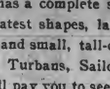
Milk that is properly pasteurized and then kept at a low temperature will keep much longer, as a rule, than that which is not so treated.

Separate the cream while the milk is still warm and in cold weather first run hot water thru the separator to warm it. Strain the milk into the separator thru a wire gauze.

A New Collecting Wrinkle.

A new wrinkle in the gentle art of collecting past due bills was invented a few days ago by the proprietress of a boarding house at Riverside, N. J.

The lady in question waited until a boarder who had failed to pay up was in the bath tub and then, through the aid of a masculine helper, made a raid upon his clothes. The debtor was informed that unless he settled his bill he would not get his clothes and must content himself to continue his ablutions or risk arrest by appearing on the streets as a masculine Godiva.



The distressed debtor raised a window and shouted for help, which came in the form of a policeman. A compromise followed. The boarder got his clothes, paid all the money he had and went out to look for another boarding house. Who says this is not a progressive age?—Ex.

HIGH VINE

—No. 2783—

Foaled in spring of 1904; by Highland Gaines, 1667; grand sire, Highland Denmark, 730; dam, Bessie Sable, 2882, by Shropshire Kentucky Squirrel, 1885. Second dam, Ida May by Fayette Denmark. Third dam, Maxine by Granger. Fourth dam Mare by Expert, 77.

Breed to a Proven Sire.

HIGH VINE is a five gaited saddle stallion, seven years old, 16 hands, and weighs 1200 lbs., a rich golden chestnut in color, and a perfect model in confirmation.

HIGH VINE is a uniform breeder and reproduces his own kind. The show record of his two sons of colts is unequaled by the colts of any sire in this section of country. His colts were shown at various fairs last year and were never defeated in their class and in addition awakened public admiration every where. In several instances the owners of High Vine colts have been offered $900 for the colts at weanling time, and this handsome price was refused by the said owners as all of them believed the colts to promise much better as they developed. There must be something in the breeding when $200 offers for weanling colts are rejected by owners who are governed by business principles in the sale of the products of their farm. Take a look at High Vine's colts and you will see the style and attractive qualities that make the price in a sale.

HIGH VINE will make the season at the stable of W. Lee Gaines on the Lexington turnpike, midway between Walton and Richwood, Ky. $20.00 to insure a live foal, season money due if mare is parted with.

No responsibility for accidents.

Make engagements ahead as his services are limited, and it saves annoying delays.

For the accommodation of those at a distance Mr. Gaines will pasture a few mares at $2.50 per month, with the best facilities for their care and keeping.

PREMIUM.—Free season for 1912 will be given the owner of the best High Vine colt exhibited at Florence fair at the High Vine colt show.

The General Purpose Stallion,

ROBERT WILLIS, 57255,

ROBERT WILLIS is a chestnut horse with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high and weighs 1230 pounds, foaled in 1905. Individually he is a horse of grand finish with plenty of substance, a fine disposition, with the best of feet and legs. His blood lines are of the best as his pedigree will show. Ordinary mares bred to this horse will not fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as general-purpose horses and roadsters, as his foals have size, style, conformation and action, good heads, best of disposition, plenty of life and every indication of developing into useful and selling horses.

ROBERT WILLIS is a fast natural trotter with a perfect way of going, and with limited handling last year, after making a season, showed that he has race horse speed, and with a proper preparation, will easily take a mark of 2:20 or better.

He will make the season of 1911 at Clover Leaf Stock Farm at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with or moved from the county after being bred, in which case the money becomes due and collectable at once.

Parties breeding must follow up the season.

Care taken to prevent accidents but not be responsible should any occur.

The High Class Saddle and Harness Stallion,

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS,

2844 A. S. B. A.

Will make the season of 1911 at the W. L. Norman Stock Farm at Walton, Ky., and if you want a show horse breed to him.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is a dark bay, 16 hands, weighs 1200 lbs., with three white feet, snip and star, and lots of style and action. He was sired by

BRACKEN CHIEF 2148,

by Harrison Chief 1606, by Clark Chief (59); dam Kit Hardy (2830) by Indian Chief (1718); 1st dam Miss Berry 4034, by Rhoderick 104; by Membrino Le Graude (99); 2d dam, by Wall's Yellow Jacket 112; 3d dam by Gray Eagle.

Miss Berry is also the dam of Woodland Chief, one of the finest show horses in Kentucky. Woodland Chief is a full brother to Bell's Fitzsimmons and a full brother to Rhoderick, and one of the finest geldings ever showed, and sold to a party in Texas for $1,000.

BELL'S FITZSIMMONS is also the sire of the champion walk-trot gelding, Mat Coyne, showed at the Horse Shows in the fall of 1908 and sold for $3,600, and also the champion harness mare showed by C. C. Harris.

L. T. Anderson, of Maysville, one of the largest dealers in the state, says some of the highest class horses he has handled have been by Bell's Fitzsimmons.

The greatest show, harness and saddle horses of our state have sprung from the loins of Harrison Chief and Indian Chief. Where can you find a horse of better breeding than Bell's Fitzsimmons? He has been a winning show horse ever since a suckling colt and has proven himself a successful sire. Some of the highest priced saddle, harness and walk-trot horses that have left the State have been sired by him.

Personal care over all stock. Mares left on good grass at 10c a day at owner's risk.

$15 00 to insure a mare in foal or parted with.

JOHN RENSLER,
C. R. BEST,
Walton, Ky.

Phone 14,

Also prepared to break colts and handle Saddle and Harness horses.

The Fine Saddle and Harness or General Purpose Stallion,

Harry Willis,

Is a handsome blood bay stallion with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high, weighs 1150 pounds, and was foaled in 1907.

His conformation, individuality, breeding and reproductive qualities all combined is the horse to make that desire of all conservative breeders, an ideal stallion.

He is the personification of perfection, has a fine head and neck, strong, deep shoulders, short back, very fine quarters, clean, flat legs, good bone, fine mane and tail, good disposition and fine action.

Harry Willis by Col. Willis 37706, by Col. Kipp 15877, record 2:20½, sire of High Grade (P) 2:11¼, Colonel (P) 2:15¾, Pawling 2:21¼, Daisy Simmons 2:30, by Kenwood 45876, sire of Col. Kipp 2:20½, by Harry Clay 45, record 2:29, sire of four in the list and the dam of Bellini 2:13½, sire of Farfella 2:09½, Ora Bellini 2:09½, Beatrice Bellina 2:08¾, Carlo 2:08¾, Tokio 2:09, Leonard 2:06¼-4, Albert C 2:09½, Soprano (3) 2:08¾, winner of the American Horse Breeders' Futurity in 1909, and sold to John E. Madden for $7,000, also sire of Green Mountain Maid, dam of Electioneer 125, sire of Arion 2:07½ and 56 others in 2:30 and dams of 153 in 2:30. First dam Nellie H by Bondsman 37641, by Barron Wilkes 4758, by George Wilkes 519; second dam, Corinne by Simmons 2744; he by George Wilkes 519, Corinne's dam Lady Belle, she by Red Wilkes 1749.

He will make the season of 1911 at the farm of C. T. Northcutt, one and a half miles north of Waterloo and one and a half miles east of Belleview, at ten dollars to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur. Money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with.

Mares left on good grass at owner's risk, at 10 cents per day.

For further particulars or pedigree, address

NORTHCUTT BROS.,

Jerry H. K. Glass, Jr.

Will stand at the same time and place at $8 to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Jerry H. K. Glass, jr., is a dark brown, mealy nose, very heavy bone, good head and ears, 14½ hands high, foaled in fall of 1907. A fine breeder.

Don De Gozee

the Belgin Daft Horse foaled in 1908 Will make the season at E. J. Aylor's stable, 1 1-2 miles from Hebron, on North Bend Road, at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt comes or mare parted with, or leaves the county.

Great care will be taken to prevent accidents but we will not be responsible should any occur.

DON DE GOZEE, despite his great size and weight, is well balanced throughout, perfectly proportioned and symmetrically built. He is as light action as staillons of much smaller type, and disposition much better than usually found in horses of blood strain.

DON DE GOZEE is a beautiful dark wonel, 16 1-2 hands, weight 1,600 pounds, broad, flat heavy bone, fine style and action. This great breed of draft horses is especially known for better action than any other draft horses, for heavy, good bone and good hoof, and gentle, kind workers. Don De Gozee, was sired by Bayard-De Gozee, whose Belgian Stud Book No. is 21670. Dam, Della Wise, brown mare, the great draft show mare of Campbell County, Kentucky.

SOME GOOD PIG POINTS.

Do all know that stone coal is eaten with great relish by hogs? Some haul a part of a load and dump in the hog lot, others take the slack from the fuel pile and give to them.

We salt the slack, and they eat it as greedy as if it were corn.

The feeding value is no doubt small, but there is something in it the hogs crave, so we supply it.

When wood was used as fuel, good hog handlers would give them a (weekly feed of salt and ashes, great buckets of it, usually as a Sunday tit bit, and the more charcoal it contained, the better it was.

Try these home varieties and go less on the stock foods, they are much cheaper, and will perhaps be as great a health promoter.

Hogs are cleanly animals if given a half chance.

Swine have the least natural protection of any farm stock, they may not be fine haired, but they are certainly thin haired, and so provide them a shelter and wind break.

Don't allow them to be crowded in their sleeping quarters. Over crowding results in coughs, lung fever and quite frequently in the smaller, or weaker ones, becoming smothered from over laying. Hogs are mortgage lifters but if allowed to root hog or die" the lifting will not be in race with airships.

Give them a show.

While winter bound, give them clover or alfalfa hay, cabbage and pumpkins. All this promotes their health and wells doing, consequently their being profitable stock.

Have a feed platform or floor, of cement if possible. Less feed will be required, and how much more satisfactory than to feed in the mud. Keep the feeding place clean by using a scoop or rough broom.

Give the farrowing sows all the succulent feed possible, and but enough corn to keep them in good condition. Keep them in a dry roomy pen, and give enough clean bedding.

Too much corn is a cause of much loss at this time. An overfat sow is heavy and slow, so if a pig is once caught it is either killed out right or crippled.

Keep the hogs gentle, especially the mothers. A vicious, or wild mother should be fattened and sold as soon as possible.

Weed out the ones that bring small, or weak litters, no profit in such hogs, unless they will raise from seven to eleven pigs. Get rid of them and procure some that will.

Skim milk is fine for all hogs, especially for the mothers and shoats; oil meal in the slop is excellent.

Don't feed much until the pigs are a day or so old. Both mother and pigs will do better.

Whether clover is your hold in coil building or not, by all means have a patch of clover or alfalfa for the hog's pasture. If that is not possible, have rye, too late for this season, but one can sow oats for this purpose. If you have never tried it, take the word of those who have, that good pasture will mean a better growth, healthier hogs and on less grain, than you can possibly secure by dry lot feeding.—A. S. in Indiana Farmer.

Law had its inning at Elkton when the prop of insanity was promptly knocked by the jury from under the Banks case. Some of these days the good old alibi will get its.—Hopkinsville New Era.

State Board of Equalization.

We are informed in the dispatches from Frankfort that the State Board of Equalization has increased the valuation of property to the extent of $22,000,000. The assessment in a large number of counties has been raised. In no instance, it appears, has it been lowered. The best that any county can hope for at the hands of the board nowadays is to be let alone.

In the light of the body's performances in recent years the term Board of Equalization is palpably a misnomer. It could be more appropriately designated the State Board for Increasing Taxes. Its arbitrary methods, with its apparent disposition to believe that its sole mission on earth is to augment the burdens of the taxpayers, are causing widespread dissatisfaction over the State and a number of legislative candidates are openly advocating its abolition. The general feeling is well expressed in the following extract from an editorial article in the Elizabeth town News:

"The State Board of Equalization grew out of the act that some counties gave in their property too high, while others gave it in too low. The bill was framed and passed while Gen. Fayette Hewitt, of this county, was Auditor. It has no other function and was created for no other purpose except to equalize. Unless it can be held down to the purposes for which it was established it should be abolished. If it raised a few millions this year it may raise many more millions next year and there is no limit to the extent it may go. As it is, thousands of poor people in the State are forced under its present exactions to pay taxes on more property than they are worth."

It is a simple fact, as stated in the foregoing except, that there is no limit to the extent to which the board may go. If it saw proper to double the assessment in every county of the State there would be no relief short of a revolution. Obviously there is need for it to be shorn of its power, since it is becoming a menace to the progress of the State. As it is operated at present it has ceased to be an equalising board and has become a mere machine for squeezing the taxpayers. It is one of many bad features of Kentucky's revenue system—a system so chaotic and complicated that the courts are kept busy trying to interpret its various phases.

A Never Failing Sign of Good Girl.

An old gentleman was heard to remark the other day: Once I was young but now I'm old and I've never seen a girl unfaithful to her mother that came to be worth a one-eyed button to her husband. It isn't a guess, it isn't exactly in the Bible, but it is written large and awful in the life of a misfit home. If one of you ever comes across a girl with a face full of roses, who says as you come to the door, "I can't go for thirty minutes for the dishes are not washed," you wait for the girl; you sit down on the doorstep and wait for her. Because some other fellow may come along and carry her off, and right there you have lost an angel. Stick to that girl and stick to her like a burr to a mule's tail.—Eldorado News.

ADMINISTRATORS NOTICE.

Those having claims against the estate of the late Lucinda Rouse will present them to the undersigned proven according to law.

A Big Success.

The Butler Creamery is a Pendleton county institution that every citizen feels proud of.

Beginning business in October of less than four years ago with several hard knocks, it has reached the proud distinction of being an unquestioned success to its organizers, as well as proving of its inestimable value to its patrons.

The capacity of this creamery is five thousand gallons per day and they are now handling over twenty-five hundred gallons, which is five hundred gallons increase over the same date last year.

June is the largest month, when their daily receipts will exceed three thousand gallons. Their expenditure last month was nine thousand dollars and during the year they pay to the people of that section more than one hundred thousand dollars and the average price throughout the year is about 19c. per gallon.

As we figure it, there is $61 profit on each cow during the year taking as a basis the average farm cow giving three gallons of milk per day, and in addition to this each cow is worth to the farm about $20. Hence with a herd of 12 cows you can get free pay for your produce.

This firm also manufactures casein, made from the skimmed milk, which is used principally for the manufacture of glue, but is also used to make billiard balls, buttons and various articles; this commands a ready sale, and while it was an experiment with the company, it has proven a valuable acquisition, and aids them greatly in keeping up the price of milk.—Pendletonian.

Donning His War Paint.

Weighing in time for the Democratic candidates for State officers is set for the first of June. It appears that some of the candidates are fearful to put up their money, as it is reported that a slate has been made and that these candidates are not on their slate.

Be we Democrats and suffer such?

If report be true the same parties who caused the defeat of the Democratic party four years ago, by proscribing and making their own platform are endeavoring to again get in the saddle, not caring who is turned down, or which party wins so long as they can accomplish their own hellish designs in defeating the honest Democrats who dared to oppose them.

The News favors no man. It's principles are Democratic only, but the editor has his personal choices and will exercise them only as a private citizen, but he will serve notice that he will fully ventilate any unprincipled dealings before the State primary.—Carrollton News.

The conductor of a train was having trouble with a German who would not pay the whole fare. In despair, he at length stopped the train and told the man to get off. This the German gladly did, and running ahead of the engine he began to walk the ties. The engineer whistled for him to get off the track. The German turned around and shook his fist at the train:

"You needn't vistle!" he said. "I von't come back."

Samuel C. Hicks spent Tuesday at Williamstown where Mr. Hicks made a large purchase of wool for a Louisville firm.

A. W. Smith spent last Friday in Cincinnati, going there to meet his daughter, Mrs. Berry Noell, who was returning from Florida for a visit.

Miss Lutie Miller left Monday for Lexington to spend the week in attendance of the District Missionary Conference of the M. E. church.

Miss Louise Green returned home last week from a delightful visit of a month with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Green, of Owenton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ralph Edwards and his mother, Mrs. S. L. Edwards, enjoyed a very pleasant visit to Cincinnati last Thursday in his automobile.

Dr. Harry W. Hamilton spent the week at Owensboro, attending the annual session of the Ky. Dental Association, and had a very enjoyable trip.

Miss Katie Bolington has taken the place of night operator of the Walton telephone exchange to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Maud Stilley.

Miss Willeve Tillman who has been in a hospital in Cincinnati, and underwent an operation for appendicitis, was able to return home here Monday, and is about well.

Roy D. Stamler moved his pool room from the opera house build ing Monday to the new building of J. G. Tomlin, and now has very handsome and comfortable quarters.

Mrs. J. B. Harris and sister Miss Mattie Rouse of Lexington, and their brother Clifford Rouse of Louisville, spent Sunday here with their parents Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rouse.

J. B. Oder, of Cynthiana, was the guest of W. Lee Gaines last Friday and in company with Mr. Gaines went to Carrollton to purchase some mules for a special market.

John C. Miller spent Wednesday at Big Bone Springs with relatives and friends, and attending the funeral of his old friend John A. Kite. Mr. Miller's wife accompanied him.

Everett K. Stephens, who purchased the grocery of Robt. W. Jones, has moved into his handsome new store building, where he will be pleased to welcome his many friends.

O. S. Watts spent part of last week in Ohio, Indiana and in this territory, purchasing wool. He has made a considerable purchase, paying 20 cents per pound for the best grade.

Howard Smith and little son Allen, of Covington, spent Sunday here with his father A. W. Smith and family. Howard has a nice position in a large retail drug store in Cincinnati.

Miss Nannie Terrill, a popular and pleasant young lady of Petersburg, returned home last week after a very pleasant visit of several weeks here to her sister Mrs. C. Scott Chambers.

Rev. Wm. J. Clarke of Sparta, has been holding a meeting at the Christian church at Piner, Kenton county, near here, and is doing a fine work for the church, as he is a most convincing and entertaining speaker.

Edward Taylor is making some neat improvements to his residence among other things the building of a handsome veranda which will be supported by handsome pilars made especially for the purpose by the Walton Concrete and Cement Mfg. Co.

F. J. Mayer and C. E. Ford of the Sixth-Third National Bank, Cincinnati, were here Tuesday in their automobile, enroute to Harrodsburg Mercer County, on a visit to relatives and friends, and attending the meeting of Group Eight of the Kentucky Bankers' Association.

A. C. Arnold of Williamstown, arrived here the first of the week to take charge of the barber shop of Hayes Abernathy while the latter goes on the road for the Walton Concrete, Cement Mfg. Co., he feeling that outdoors work would benefit his health.

W. M. Rachal and J. W. Conner, two prominent and popular citizens of Union, were here Tuesday making arrangements for the closing of a contract with Geo. P. Nicholson for the erection of some improvements to the Union Creamery, the building of a modern cess pool for sanitary purposes.

Rev. L. A. Kohler of Cincinnati, will hold their regular semi-monthly services at the Walton Christian church next Sunday. Subjects of the sermons: Eleven o'clock a. m., "Cheerfulness." 7:30 p. m., "The Little Coat that Moth Did Not See." The church is in fine spiritual condition and Rev. Kohler is doing fine pastoral work as well as some excellent preaching.

H. R. Dixon of Virginia, who has been the assistant to S. W. Beverly, station agent at C. & N. Railroad Co., at Walton, has been given a regular position at Campbellsburg as telegrapher and station man. His place at Walton is being acceptably filled by J. T. O'Neal who came here recently from Dry Ridge.

Dr. S. R. Harover, of Maysville, and R. D. Ross, of Covington, were visitors here and at Big Bone Springs a part of last week. Dr. Harover is interested in the property at Big Bone Springs, and Mr. Ross is the cashier of the L. & N. Railroad Company at Cincinnati, and both were looking up prospects at Big Bone.

J. E. Snyder, formerly of Petersburg, who is now with the Cincinnati Oil Works Co., spent Friday here with his many friends. He is doing very well in the business, but his Boone Co. friends who purchase oil in quantities, ought to give him their business. Mr. Snyder has his office at 323 Sycamore Street, Cincinnati.

The Walton Graded School closes Friday night, May 26th. There are four graduates, viz: J. Clifton Mayhugh, Misses Lovenia Fay Edwards and Anna Haley, of Walton, and Pattie Lee Callahan, of Verona. The work of the school has been very satisfactory the past year and the teachers and pupils reflect credit on the institution.

Mrs. Berry Noel and two little children of Sanford, Fla., arrived here last week on a visit to her father A. W. Smith, expecting to remain a couple of months. Mr. Noel is following his trade of painting and is doing well, and has purchased property at Sanford with a view to making that place their permanent home. Mrs. Noell's many friends welcome her back to Walton.

John C. Miller, of the Equitable Bank, spent last Thursday in Cincinnati on business for his store at Landing, and also spent a part of the time at the bedside of his aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, who is suffering from a broken hip sustained by a fall about a month ago, at her home in Covington, and he reports her improving very nicely with every prospect of early recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Bevarly entertained about twenty of the young people last Saturday with a delightful birthday party in honor of the ninth birthday anniversary of their daughter Miss Virginia Bevarly. The afternoon was a most happy one for all and particularly for Miss Virginia who is a most lovable little girl, and who did all in her power to make her little friends enjoy the occasion. Nice refreshments were served.

The stockholders of the Walton and Verona Turnpike Co. met at the Equitable Bank last Saturday and elected directors for the ensuing year as follows: J. W. Cluster, C. L. Griffith, Walter Vest, J. H. Watson, Eli Conrad, J. S. Noell, B. S. O'Neal. The other officers are President, C. L. Griffith; Vice-President, J. H. Watson; Secretary and Treas., Equitable Bank and Trust Co. Chas. L. Griffith is the superintendent. The road is fairly prosperous and on a paying basis.

The many friends of Mrs. Maud Stilley tendered her a "shower" last Wednesday in view of her approaching nuptials, the friends congregating at the residence of Mrs. Susie Watson, and inviting the bride-elect to the gathering, where she was presented with some very handsome and useful presents. Mrs. Stilley expresses her heartfelt gratitude to the many kind friends for their beautiful presents, and their very kind remembrances, appreciating the tokens more than she can express in words.

Joseph McCormick and brother, Will McCormick, of Verona, were visitors here last Thursday making arrangements to have the Walton Cement Mfg. Company erect a fine monument over the grave of their father Nicholas McCormick, at Verona. Jos. McCormick is in charge of the L. & N. Railroad Company's station and business at LaGrange, and Will has charge of the Company's business at Verona. Both are excellent young men and are very highly esteemed by their employers and the public generally.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ault, of Indianapolis, spent part of the past week here guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Poor, and the many friends of Mrs. Ault were delighted to welcome her back to her old home. They came in specially to assist her father celebrate his 56th birthday, which took place Monday, and was celebrated in a most felicitous manner by a fine dinner and other pleasing features, together with the good wishes of a host of friends that Mr. Poor might live to enjoy many more such happy anniversaries.

Sunday evening a very pretty and happy wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride in Walton, when Samuel Adams of Burlington, and Mrs. Maud Stilley were united in the holy estate of matrimony, Rev. H. C. Wayman of the Baptist church performing the ceremony in his usual happy and impressive manner in the presence of a few invited friends. The groom is the jailer of Boone County, and is one of the county's popular and deserving citizens. The bride is a most excellent lady of most attractive qualities and is beloved by a large circle for her pleasant disposition and affable manners. For some time she has been in charge of the Walton telephone exchange during the night service, and the patrons regret the loss of her excellent services, but join her many friends in best wishes for a bright and happy future. After the marriage ceremony a wedding supper was served, and amid a shower of best wishes Mr. and Mrs. Adams departed on the evening train for Cincinnati where they spent a couple of days, going thence to Burlington where they will make their future home.

Mrs. A. G. DeJarnette, of Williamstown, spent part of the past week here with friends and relatives and accomapnied by Mrs. Mollie Ford enjoyed a pleasant visit to Warsaw, where they were guests of Mrs. Sallie Donaldson.

Cream Colored Postal Cards.

Cream colored postal cards, printed in red ink, are soon to take the place of the present cards of black ink design. This is an effort to present an artistic card, and the government is prepared to spend $65,000 more this year than last in this decorative effort. This may seem extravagance, but when one learns that the profit on the sale of postal cards exceeds $8,000,000 a year, the extra expense seems justified. Besides, the department hopes that the cards will be so much more attractive that added sales will more than meet the extra expense. The postal card proved its usefulness long ago, and its extended use in the commercial world in recent years has given it an increasing importance. For the transmission of notices and of information not of a private nature the postal card is a great saver of time and money. If we should ever adopt 1 cent postage for first class matter the price of the postal card will probably take a corresponding drop. When that time comes postal cards can sell two for a cent and still show a profit of $4,000,000 to the government.

The Way to Peace and Plenty.

It is a noticiable fact that farmers have not made the preparation for tobacco this year that they usually do in fact those who intended last spring to grow tobacco are almost out of the notion. This is the best thing that ever happened to Kentucky. If farmers will sow their land in small grain and then in clover and blue grass and begin to raise what they use and a few good lambs, calves, hogs and colts each year they will begin to prosper. The condition the ground has been in this season will cause much land to be left unbroken that would have been plowed. There will be a supply of hog and hominy this fall if we have rain in season. A decrease in tobacco means that we will soon have back the beautiful fields of clover and blue grass for which this state was once famous and then our farmers will live in peace and plenty.—Owen County Democrat.

VOL. XXXVI. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY JUNE 1, 1911. NO. 35.

INFORMATION WANTED.

A Few Questions to be Propounded to Candidates.

NOW SPEAK OUT GENTLEMEN.

The people of Kentucky can have insured to them, when the next session of the Legislature ends, good roads, good school buildings, bipartisan control of the penitentiaries, the power to revise the tax system, if they see fit, the overthrow of the lobby and the other reforms of which the State stands in such sore need, if every Democratic newspaper in Kentucky will demand and secure from the Democratic candidates in its legislative district, a pledge as to the way in which his vote, in the event that he is elected, will be cast on the following measures:

1. State aid for good roads.
2. The right of the counties to issue bonds to build schoolhouses.
3. A bipartisan board of control for the State's penal institutions, appointed by the Governor, and approved by the Senate, in the place of the political machine and lobby now constituted by the Board of Penitentiary Commissioners maintained at the State's expense. The abolition of the contract labor system. The employment of the convicts in the building of roads.
4. The overthrow of the lobby by the use of the initiative and referendum, if it can be accomplished in no other way.
5. State inspection of State banks.
6. Popular election of United States Senators.
7. A primary for the nomination of all State officers by both parties, the expense to be met by the State, the poor man to be given an equal chance with the rich in offering for office.
8. A constitutional amendment giving the people the right, if they so desire, to revise the tax system.
9. The removal by law, of the peace officer who fails to protect his prisoner.

The Times here pledges itself to put these questions directly up to every legislative candidate who announces in Louisville or Jefferson county. It now puts these questions directly to Senator McCreary and to Mr. Addams, the candidates for the Democratic nomination for the governorship. It will make known their response or their failure to respond. It requests of them an answer before the day set for the primary.

The one and only time in which the people control the politicians is when the politicians are dependent on the people for nomination and election. The one and only time in which the people have the power to exact pledges is before nomination and election. The man who goes to Frank fort unpledged is free to make his own terms. The man who goes pledged cannot escape responsibility if his pledges are violated.

There have been strong forces at work in both parties to keep Kentucky illiterate, her roads unbuilt, her prisons the richest spoil in a system of spoils, her taxes oppressive, her elections the prey of the powerful, her lack of law and order a byword for others, a curse to herself. Strong forces will be needed to right these wrongs. The Times as a Democratic newspaper believes that the Democratic press and the people of Kentucky possess the power requisite. As a Democratic newspaper, it calls on them to exercise it, before the power is taken from them by their failure to act.—Louisville Times.

RELL SULLIVAN DEAD.

Passes Away Tuesday Afternoon at His Home Near Waterloo.

The death of Rell Sullivan, of Waterloo neighborhood, Tuesday afternoon, was a great shock to all who knew him, as but few were aware of his illness which was of only a few hours duration. While milking his cows Monday evening he was stricken with apoplexy and never regained consciousness. He was a son of Jasper Sullivan, of Waterloo, was a most excellent, industrious and prosperous citizen, supposed to be in the prime of life, his age being 40 years. His wife, a daughter of James R. Akin, of McVille, survives him. He leaves no children. Mr. Sullivan was a member of the Odd-Fellows Lodge at Belleview and his funeral will be under the auspices of that fraternity.

Shortly afternoon last Sunday a cloud formed over this immediate neighborhood and was driven back and fourth for an hour or so during which time a fine rain fell, giving the ground a pretty thorough wetting. Several times during the rain there were keen claps of thunder and a considerable sprinkle of large hail stones.

The rain fall was confined to a very limited territory, not extending far north or south of Burlington.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

As Mrs. Peddicord and Mrs. Dix were returning from the city, Tuesday afternoon, driving Dr. Peddicord's mare, which is a very high spirited animal, they met the mail auto at G. G. Hughes near town on the Florence pike, when the mare became frightened and ran the buggy against a telephone [illegible] king loose from the buggy and running up into town. The two ladies were thrown out of the vehicle, but, fortunately, escaped with no serious injuries, altho pretty badly shaken up. Lawrence Phipps, who was in charge of the auto did all in his power to prevent the accident, backing his machine a considerable distance, and motioning for Mrs. Peddicord to drive into G. G. Hughes barn lot, but she mistook the signal to mean to come on. It was a narrow escape. Peddicord saw the accident from in front of his residence, havin[illegible] gone out to see if his wife was coming, fearing that she would meet the auto.

RICH AND POOR ALIKE

President Taft Refuses to Pardon Walsh and Morse.

Laws Should be Tightened When They Affect Rich Men of Country.

Washington.—President Taft denied the applications for pardon of Charles W. Morse, of New York and John R. Walsh, of Chicago, two of the most prominent bankers ever convicted and sent to federal penitentiaries under the national banking laws.

Not only did the president refuse to pardon either, but he also declined at this time to exercise any sort of executive clemency in the cases or to shorten the sentences imposed upon the two men by the courts in which they were convicted.

In denying the pardons, President Taft took a firm stand that the national banking laws, or any other laws, must be upheld when they affect the rich man, even more than when they affect the poor.

"The record in the Walsh case," the president said in a long opinion, "shows a moral turpitude of that insiduous and dangerous kind to punish, for which the national banking laws were especially enacted.

"Truth is," he continued, "that in the mad rush for wealth in the last few decades the lines between profit from legitimate business and improper gain from undue use of trust control over other people's property and money has sometimes been dimmed, and the interest of society requires that whenever the opportunity offers, those charged with the enforcement of the law should emphatically distinguish between honest business and dishonest breaches of trust."

Walsh began serving a five year sentence in 1910, and is eligible to parole in September. Morse began a fifteen year term in 1910, and he will be eligible for release in 1915. The president granted him leave to renew his application for pardon after January 1, 1913.

The Recorder's friend E. E. Kelly, the merchant came into the office a few mornings since, to give the paper a nice item in the way of a fish story which he had read. When he related the story the boys gave him the ha-ha, and showed him the item in the Recorder, where he read it the day before. Mr. Kelly's intentions were good but his material was old to the Recorder. Come again, Gene.

A government man was at the county clerk's office a few days since investigating the title to the land on which the town of McVille stands, with a view to condemning the entire town, the condemnation proceedings growing out of the work of building the government lock and dam just above Rising Sun, which work is expected to begin within the next few months. If Uncle Sam needs the town of McVille in his business the will acquire it without calling his army and navy to the scene.

Seven thousand five hundred dollars! This was the amount of the public's money expended to refurnish the offices of Postmaster General Hitchcock under the Taft policy of "cut-to-the-quick" economy. Asked to cite a parallel to this extravagance, Mr. Hitchcock's representative said this amount was nothing to what the Equitable Life Insurance Company and other Wall street firms expend.

FARM GUMPTION.

How to Kill Weeds---The Trouble With the Honey Bee.

Keep The Rattles Out of The Mower.

Name your farm.

Any shade in the pasture? Why not?

The golden text for June is keep the soil stirred.

If you want to kill weeds, cultivate or hoe them when the sun shines hot.

The trouble with the honey bee is it does not carry honey at both ends.

Now please don't let the mower rattle all to pieces. Keep it well oiled and every nut screwed up tight, and don't let the knives or guardes get dull.

Remember, brother farmer, that that the hot weather and hard work tax the strength of your wife. She will enjoy going to the store with you and riding slowly home in the cool of the evening.

To keep moles from a bed, sink a close mesh wire netting a foot wide into the soil around, allowing it to extend about two inches above the surface. If you have no netting, use boards. Either will prevent the entrance of moles into the bed.

The harvest season is the most trying of the year. There is so much to be done, so little time to do it in and so few hands to accomplish it, that we are often at our wit's end. Let us, however, a care lest we attempt too much and lest we put too much a burden upon the wife and daughter. The sanitariums are filled with men and women who have broken down from work and worry at middle life. The utmost we can hope to gain is not worth such a fearful sacrifice.

Cut clover hay when about half the blossoms are brown; cut timothy just as the bloom is falling. Curing clover: Cut it as soon as the dew is off in the morning. At noon shake out the bunches, rake into windrows before evening dews get on it, and let it lie until next day. Next day shake out the hay as soon as the dew is off. You ought to be ready to haul, on a hot day, by eleven o'clock, or certainly after dinner. It spoils clover hay to get too dry. It should never be put into the barn when wet with rain or dew; but a little sap won't hurt it. Curing timothy: If the crop is not too heavy and rank, cut as soon as the dew is off, let it cure a few hours, rake into windrows, and haul to barn the same day. If crop is rank, cut it in the afternoon; it will wilt some during the night and dew will not hurt it. Next day's sun will dry it in a few hours, when it can be raked into windrows; haul it to the barn in the early afternoon.

TRUST BUSTED.

The American Tobacco Company Declared a Trust by the U. S. Court.

Washington, May 29.—The Tobacco Trust decision is characterized by Attorney General Wickersham as a "most comprehensive and sweeping victory for the Government."

The trust is held to be a combination in restraint of trade—a monopoly in violation of law.

The decision affects sixty-five American corporations, two English corporations and twenty-nine individual defendants.

An opportunity is given the trust to disintegrate and re-create a condition of transacting business not repugnant to law.

If at the end of six to eight months the corporations fail to bring themselves within the law a receivership and dissolution by court decree will follow.

The trust is held to have been guilty of intimidation and clearly to have shown a purpose to stifle competition.

Chief Justice White announced the decision, which was practically unanimous, with Justice Harlan dissented on several points.

As in the Standard Oil case, Justice Harlan resents the application of the "rule of reason" to the Sherman anti-trust law.

The court having held the defendant corporations guilty of wrongdoing, Justice Harlan "is not at all anxious" to perpetuate any new combination growing out of them.

Lightning Kills Few.

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robt. Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at all dealers.

BASE BALL.

Erlanger Defeated by a Score of Eight to Five.

The base ball season was opened at the Burlington park last Saturday afternoon by the Burlington and Erlanger teams in the presence of about 100 people. Slater and McCarty for Erlanger, and Brady and Slaback for Burlington were the opposing batteries. For four innings it was anybody's game, and a pitcher's battle the honors being even altho at that stage of the game the score stood 1 to 0 in favor of Erlanger, two hits and an error in the fourth having netted one run. In the fifth inning Burlington got busy with the bat and with a base on balls, five singles and one double put across six runs.

The sixth inning yielded Erlanger a double and a single and another score was the result.

Smith the second man up for Burlington in the seventh waited it out. Conner made an out, but Ryle hit a homer, making the score 8 to 2.

Erlanger showed a disposition to rally in the eighth and with two singles and a tripple put three more runs across the plate, which was the last done in the way of scoring the final result being 8 to 5 in favor of Burlington.

Base hits—Clore, Slayback, Ryle, Smith, Cook, Berkshire, Smith 3. Kelly.

Two base hits—Pink Smith, Berkshire.

Three base hits—Sandford, Cook, Slater.

Home run—Ryle.

Struck out—By Brady 9; by Slater 4.

Base on balls—Slater 1.

Hit by pitcher—Brady 1.

NOTES.

The weather was excessively hot and the batteries could hardly stand it.

There were no squabbling, everything going off nicely and smoothly.

Irvin Rue was in charge of the ticket office, and looked after the cash closely.

Brady showed his old time form in the box and put thru some of his old time tricks.

The Burlington team is counting on being a very strong country aggregation this season.

Berkshire, Sandford, Smith and McCarty, four good Belleview players assisted Erlanger.

The ground was in fair condition, considering the fact it had not been used before this season.

With last Saturday's line-up Burlington fans have nothing to fear below the professional aggregations.

Conner worked at third for the home team and covered lots of territory and pulled off several nice stunts.

Sandford took care of short for Erlanger and worked well, having several nice pick-ups and good throws to first base.

Ryle's home run was no more than a two base hit, but the fielder lost the ball in the grass and Ryle went on home.

Slater had something on his balls that puzzled the Burlington sluggers, and they landed squarely on but a few of them, although they expected to hit him fiercely.

To play good ball requires warm weather but that of last Saturday over did the matter, but, fortunately, the players got thru the game without any bad effects from heat.

The rooters had considerable fun but did not indulge in any abusive language, which is often the case and mars the enjoyment of those who do not endorse uncooth behavior towards visitors.

Brady got into very deep water in one inning. An Erlanger player occupied each base, and he only put that old noodle to work and succeeded in preventing all but one man from scoring. In that inning the Burlington rooters became very nervous.

The Burlington club will play the strong Hebrons at Burlington park next Saturday afternoon. Hebron has a strong young team having won four straight games this season. Walton and Goodridge will be the battery for Hebron, Brady and Slayback for Burlington.

The B. H. S. school will play Union Graded school at the old park after the Burlington and Hebron game.

SCHOOLS OF STATE

Gross Neglect Charged After Investigation of Conditions in Eighteen Counties.

Mismanagement of Affairs In County Superintendent's Offices in some Counties.

Frankfort, May 27.—State Inspector McKenzie R. Todd today filed with Gov. Wilson a rather voluminous report of an investigation made in eighteen counties into the condition of the schools. The investigation, made upon advice of the Attorney General, that it is within the province of the State Inspector.

The many defects in the Kentucky school system are pointed out by Inspector Todd in this first report, which is to be followed by others as the investigation is proceeded with. It is of vital interest to school officials, teachers and all who are engaged in school work. The report is too comprehensive to be given in full, but it constitutes a most important document. In the course of his report Mr. Todd says:

The counties inspected up to this time are Breathitt, Lee, Boyd Lewis, Pike, Floyd, Johnson, Madison, Clarke, Jessamine, Boyle, Fayette, Bourbon, Scott, Woodford, Wolfe, Campbell and Kenton.

From the reports of these inspections that have been filed in my office I find that in many instances there has been gross neglect and mismanagement of the affairs of the county superintendent's office. The duties of the county superintendent are varied and the different departments of his office require "that he keep complete records of the administration of the school affairs of the county, but from these reports I find that this is done in the various counties is conducted with very inadequate record, and with less attention to the proper filing of papers than is any other office in the county.

I will group together under separate paragraphs the particular features that I observe from these reports as illustrating the lack of proper management of the office of county superintendent.

1. The failure to keep and preserve proper and necessary teachers' certificate records.

2. Failure to make a satisfactory settlement with the County Judge at the close of the school year showing the disbursement of the State school funds apportioned to the various districts of the county.

3. The failure to preserve as permanent records the monthly reports of time taught and the orders upon which the teachers' salaries are paid.

4. The granting of teachers' certificates to different applicants who had not passed the examinations with the grades necessary to warrant the issuance of certificates as required by law.

5. Making inaccurate reports to the State Superintendent of the census enumeration of children for different districts as a basis for the apportionment of funds to these districts.

6. The general county school conditions.

In almost every county there are teachers using certificates which have expired by limitation or have been renewed by the county superintendent in accordance with laws authorising such renewals, under certain conditions. Yet, in almost every county, we find that the county superintendent has failed to make the necessary record of the renewals of these certificates and, so far as the records show, these teachers have been teaching, or are teaching now, without any certificate of qualification in effect.

It is proper in this connection that an exception be made in the case of Boyd county, where, for several years past, full record has been kept of the renewals of county certificates.

INFIRMARY INMATE

Who Gave $50,000 To Unfortunate Persons, Dies From Heat.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., May 27th—David T. Wagner, 94 years old, died suddenly at the County Infirmary of heat prostration. Wagner was not a believer in any church nor in any fraternal order, but he tried to live up to the golden rule. It was his practice in active life to give to charity all the money he made, and it is estimated that he gave away fully $50,000 during his life to unfortunate people. He was always a money maker, and it is said no unfortunate person ever called upon him and was turned away. Wagner went to the California gold fields in 1849, and returned several years later with a fortune estimated at $100,000. Although he had wealthy relatives in Pennsylvania the body will be buried in potter's field.

The dry weather in May has had a bad effect on the hay and oats crop, neither of which is not very promising.

Personal Mention.

W. W. Conner, of Union, was transacting business in Burlington, last Monday.

Howard Kelly and wife visited relatives in Limaburg neighborhood, last Sunday.

C. C. Roberts, of Walton neighborhood, spent Saturday and Sunday in Burlington.

E. K. Stephens of Bullittsville neighborhood, was a guest at O. P. Phipps', last Monday.

Judge Cason found a diamond (?) ring in front of the court house, Monday morning.

A. W. Gaines and James Kelly will today be ordained deacons of the local Baptist church.

Leonard Kite and wife, of Waterloo, were Sunday guests of her father, R. S. Cowen and wife.

John H. Aylor, of Gunpowder neighborhood, was transacting business in Burlington, Tuesday.

Live Stock inspector O. S. Crisler, went to the south end of the county, Monday, on official business.

James Smith and wife, of Rocky Fraucis, were Saturday and Sunday guests of Thomas Rice and wife.

Mrs. Nannie Maurer, who has been attending Normal school at Richmond, returned home last Sunday.

Mrs. John M. Botts and son Carl, of Petersburg, were the Sunday guests of her daughter, Mrs. Dudley Blyth.

J. W. Berkshire, of Petersburg, candidate for State Senator, was in Burlington, most of the day Tuesday.

Frank Finnell, of Dry Ridge, Grant county, has been employed as buttermaker for the Clover Leaf Creamery.

Cecil Gaines and wife and Mrs. Amelia Corbin, of Erlanger, spent decoration day with Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Snyder.

Sam Wilson, of Rabbit Hash, was a Saturday and Sunday guest of his brother-in-law, H. D. Brady, of Middle creek.

Elmer Kirkpatrick, wife and daughter, of near Aurora Ferry, were Sunday guests of his mother, Mrs. Susan Kirkpatrick.

Elbert Jones and wife, of Crescent Springs, were Sunday guests of his parents, Thomas Jones and wife out on Belleview pike.

D. B. Castleman and family are now citizens of Erlanger. Bro. Edgar Riley will move to Mr. Castleman's Burlington residence.

Bert Sullivan bought a nice runabout and a set of harness from O. P. Phipps, last Monday. Think there will be anything doing?

Sidney Fenton and wife, of Newport, have been the guests of his sister, Mrs. Edgar Berkshire, out on Belleview pike, for several days.

Mrs. McAtee, of Ludlow, spent several days the past week at this place with her mother and sister, Mrs. Ada Conner and Mrs. R. B. Carver.

Miss Nellie Berkshire came out from the city, last Saturday to spend a few days with her father, Edgar Berkshire and wife out on Belleview pike.

Mrs. S. P. Tilley was called to Columbus, Ohio, one day last week, where her husband was quite ill and expected to submit to a surgical operation.

R. B. Huey returned, Sunday, from Georgetown, where he spent last week at the bedside of his son, Garnett, who was operated on the Sunday before for appendicitis.

Earl Smith got one finger fastened in this gearing of a riding plow, Tuesday, and it was badly mashed. He had considerable trouble releasing the finger, having to loosen a bolt or two.

Mrs Laura Martin arrived home, last Saturday from Golden Pond, Trigg county, where she had been several months. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Furnish and two children.

Newton Sullivan made his first trip as sub., last Monday, over R. D. 2 for carrier Conley. Some of the boys did not expect Newton to return for two or three days, but he reported at the postoffice on time in the afternoon.

G. E. Carroll, candidate for the Democratic nomination for county Representative in the next General Assembly, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. B. B. Hume, one night the past week. He is making a close canvass of the voters in the county.

H. W. Blyth and wife, of Lawrenceburg, were Saturday and Sunday guests of his sister, Mrs. Dudley Rouse and other Burlington relatives. Mr. Blyth has located permanently in Lawrenceburg, where his many Kentucky friends will be glad to know he is doing well.

Miss Grubbs, of Taylorsport, and Mrs. F. L. Sayre, of Hebron, were among the Recorder's appreciated callers, last Monday. Miss Grubbs came over to visit the last resting place of her grandparents, Dr. James Grubbs, and that her father, Dr. Bruce A. Grubbs, in the old cemetery.

$1,450,000

Amount On Which Unpaid Taxes are Due On The Estate of the Late Amos Shinkle,

If Action of County Judge Is Approved by The Court of Appeals.

IT IS A BIG TAX DECISION.

Dispatches from Covington tell that the county Judge of Kenton has placed the untaxed portions of the estate of the late Amos Shinkle at $1,450,000 for the years 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910, and has directed that taxes be collected thereon, plus a penalty of 20 per cent, for nonpayment. It is a big tax decision, and the state will get some money if the action of the county judge be approved by the court of appeals to which the case is to be taken.

The omitted property, is, of course, personalty. Real estate cannot escape under the present taxing system, and neither can visible personal property, and it is evident that the executors of the estate had not reported the personalty in the shape of stocks and bonds for taxation or the state revenue agent would not have brought the suit, and the county judge would not have done that which he did. It is a big judgment, but there are like cases in each and every county in the state, for the reason that stocks and bonds are not returned for taxation on one plea or on another, and when the case does happen to get a judgment the commissions to the revenue agents eat deeply into the amount recovered.

Is there any way in which situation brought about as in the Shinkle case can be avoided and the state get its revenue, without the aid of revenue agents and without constant appeals to the courts? There ought to be some way—but there will not be a way found while realty and personalty are lumped together, taxed together at the same rate and treated as though they were identical in their elements.

It is not to be denied that all property within a state and protected by the state, ought to contribute to the revenue of the state—but where, under the specious pretense of making all taxation equal, the same rate is levied on real estate and on personal estate—of the character of the property in the Shinkle case—without regard to the income derived from that personalty by the owner, he is going to conceal it or take it out of the state. A just and an equitable tax on personalty of the character mentioned—a tax having regard to the interest-bearing qualities of the personalty—would bring the personalty to light willingly by the owner. False returns would be largely diminished, the state would acquire a revenue without the aid of revenue agents. It would save the enormous commissions paid to them, and it would keep capital in Kentucky.

Breeding a New Animal.

Possibly no branch of animal breeding has attracted so much attention and gives promise of producing a new beast of burden as has that of crossing the zebra with horses and donkeys. For several years investigations have been in progress at the Experiment Station of the Bureau of Animal Industry, of the Department of Agriculture, with a view to the production of a new and useful hybrid of the mule type. While this work of the Department is not new, yet the work of the Bureau of Animal Industry differs from that done elsewhere in the fact that the largest type of zebra—the Grevy—is being used. The Bureau received its first incentive from the impression made by the splendid conformation, large size, and the great beauty of a Grevy zebra at the National Zoological Park which had been presented to President Roosevelt by the King of Abyssinia.

The results with zebra-ass hybrids thus far have been successful. Eleven of these hybrids have been foaled, six colts and five fillies. Two colts and four fillies are now alive and vigorous. They are apparently as hardy and endure the cold of this climate as well as the donkeys. These hybrids show a decided improvement over either parent in action, conformation, and disposition. Their sire weighs 800 pounds and is 13 1-2 hands high. The average weight of their dams is 550 pounds and the average height 12 hands. The weight of the hybrids at the age of one year was more than 500 pounds each, and measured 12 hands in height. They have good action, a neat clean-cut appearance, and are as easily handled as horse foals of the same age. These zebras-asses will be kept until they reach the breeding age, after which they will be tested as to fertility, among themselves, and also with horses, zebras and asses. Considering the apparent similarity of the species to which zebras and asses belong, there may be a possibility of their hybrids being fertile.

The wheat crop in this county is looking fine and gives promise of an abundant harvest.—Grant County News.

Certificate of Inspection.

Each movement of sheep from a county, or railroad shipment, must be accompanied by a "Certificate of Inspection," made out especially for that particular movement or shippment.

Inspectors will notify all shippers who purchase sheep in their county to this effect and also that they should only buy sheep from flocks which have been inspected, on the farms where originating, and found free from scabies. After purchasing a "lot" of sheep and determining on a date for shipment, the shipper will make application to the inspector for a certificate; giving the number of head in the lot and stating from whom purchased. The inspector will then refer to his record (which should be kept in a book containing all inspections) and if all the shipper's purchases are from flocks which have been inspected and found free from scabies, a certificate will be issued, writen in ink or indellable pencil, in the shippers name, covering the entire lot, or two certificates if going under two billings to different markets. The shipper will turn this certificate over to the railroad company to be attached to the way-bill. This certificate should be marked "for railroad shipment."

If the shipper should apply for a certificate for sheep originating in flocks which have not been inspected, it will then be necessary to inspect such sheep before issuing the certificate and as the Board's regulations require inspections to be made before movement, all inspections should be made on the farm, if possible to do so.

Certificates covering sheep to be trailed, should be issued in the same general manner as for railroad shipments, and inspectors will demand that sheep being trailed into their counties be accompanied by a certificate. Such sheep if inected, should be returned to their former pasture if not dangerous to do so, or quarantined and proper action taken. If not infected they should be quarantined until knowledge be learned concerning their former premises.

Both of these classes of certificates shall be issued on the "Certificate of Inspection" blank of the Kentucky Live Stock Sanitary Board and be stamped with the following:

The Sheep designated in this certificate if moved Interstate shall be subject to the regulations of the U. S. Bureau of Animal industry.

All certificates will be issued in duplicate, the original to be given to the shipper or trailer and the duplicate forwarded to this office.

Certificates covering shipments or movements of sheep which have been previously inspected and reported to this office, need not be again reported, but if that be a first inspection of the entire lot or portion of same, 24B report shall be made out covering such animals as have not been previously reported.

Please return to this office all certificate books which are not stamped as above required.

Very Respectfully,
A. J. PAYNE.
State Live Stock Inspector.

DO NOT TELL IT ALL

Being Silent Necessary to Successful Climbing.

Girl Who Submits Her Plans and Airs Her Plans to Acquaintances Display Sure Signs of Mediocrity.

The girl who submits all her little plans to her next door friend, and airs all her inmost feelings to her newest acquaintance, and who never undertakes anything but that she asks for advice in a dozen different places, we seldom include on our list of climbers.

The girl climber, like her brother, is generally sufficient unto herself when it comes to ideas, convictions and confidence. She never goes around fizzing with emotion because she is afraid So-and-so might go the wall, or this, that or the other thing might turn topsy turvy, and what's your opinion, please? Don't you think so, too? What would you do if you were in my place?

The strong, capable, brainy girl will never pose as the one who wants advice and assistance. She would think it a confession of weakness. Nor does she boast of what she can do before she can show what she would boast of.

Wearing your heart on your sleeve and your head in that state of careless abandon where it will let out most anything just for the joy of wiggling your tongue is a sure sign of hopeless mediocrity.

As Clyde Fitch noted, you can always see a certain admirable silence about the real climber.

Who hasn't heard of that railroad president who was known as the silent one, and who believed, and proved, that in private plans and personal enterprises silence is not only important, but often, if success is at stake, absolutely essential?

The arguments in favor of silence in your personal affairs are generally these:

If no one knows your plans no one can laugh in his sleeve when they fail to pieces.

If you are not given to crow about what you can do failure won't come half as hard as when everybody can wink and grin about it.

If you want no one's advice but your own you may be saved much self-reproach.

The mind doctors insist that silence in your private undertakings will protect you against the adverse mental influence of your neighbors, and will help to reduce your fear thoughts.

The more you acquaint your friends and associates with your intentions and anticipations, the more they expect the climax of this, the consequence of that, and the sequel of the last chapter, until finally they have worned the whole iliad of your existance out of you. Maybe next time you meet these people with a pang of regret.

A clever primary teacher once knew never could leash her enthusiasms about the puffs received from her So-and-so in her career as a teacher. In a pretty subtile way she would always sing her own praises, and rehearse for your benefit all the compliments and bouquets received from inspectors. No one enjoyed her conceited bubblings, and instinctively some of her sister teachers wished that something would happen to chill her enthusiasm.

In the end something did happen which made Miss Swagger forget her wonderful trails and abilities, for the time being at least.

SPRING BRINGS SORE FEET HERE IS A POSITIVE CURE

With the advent of warm weather comes foot troubles to thousands of people. The increased temperature and heaviness of the atmosphere causes swelling and excess perspiration. This brings on a series of foot troubles. The treatment given below will be welcomed with joy by an army of sufferers. It acts like magic. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of hot water; soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently massaging the sore parts. Less time will not give the desired results.) Repeat this each night until the cure is permanent." All soreness disappears immediately. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. Bunions are reduced to normal and the inflammation drawn out. Sweaty and smelly feet, tender and swollen feet need but a few treatments. This Calocide is a remarkable drug. Formerly used only by doctors but any druggist now has it in stock or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is claimed to cure the worst feet.

Up to Joe and Bill.

Joe Blackburn and Bill Ellis—the the last of the Mohicans of Democracy of Kentucky left standing, Beckridge, Carlisl, Lindsay, McKenzie, Oscar Turner, Albert Willis, Asher Caruth, Herschel Goodnight, all gone; Proctor Knott an invalid and very feeble; Watterson wedded wisely to journalism and devoting the leisure of his old age to trvel and the enjoyment of it. We have no young fellows, unhappily, who measure up to public expectations as the successors of these great men. But Blackburn and Ellis, either or both of them, could start out tomorrow and rescue the Democratic party of Kentucky from the perils that now beset it. It is six weeks until the primary. The name of Ellis or Blackburn would electrify all Kentucky. The pity is neither of them is willing to make the sacrifice.—Owensboro Messenger.

The County Board of Examiners of Madison county are a busy lot this week. Last week one hundred and sixty-six applicants took the first teacher's examination.

Walter Winans

Chestnut Stallion,

Will make the season at Ten Dollars to insure a mare in foal, and we will give Ten Dollars for best horse colt and same for best mare colt of get 1911.

He will be at Beaver on Mondays and Tuesdays, at my place on Wednesdays and at Burlington on the balance of each week. All necessary pains will be taken to prevent accidents but responsible for none should any occur.

WALTER WINANS 30400, Trotter. Trial 2:19. Sired by Robert McGregor 647, record 2:27¼, sire of Crescens 2:12¼, McDougal 2:10¼, Kentucky Star 2:08¾, Lurline McGregor 2:11¾, Tom McGregor 2:12, Nyanza 2:18¾, and 84 others, and of the dams of Gratten Boy 2:08, Elloree 2:08¾, York Boy 2:06¾, and 47 others; son of Major Edeail 2:11.

1st dam Riley by Hot Spur, Jr., 3612, dam of Kate Ham 2:24¼, Geo. T. Putney 2:28¼, sire of Tom B 2:24¼, and others, and of the dams of Ben H 2:21 1-3, and 5 others, son of Hot Spur 172; dam, Patty, by Blind Tuckahoe; 2d dam, Nance by Telegraph.

2d dam, Tugies, by Membrino Gift 684. Record 2:20, sire of Membrinette 2:21, and 6 others, and of the dams of Sphinexetta 2:08¾, Sandy Boy 2:12, Louis Owosso 2:16 1-4, and 13 others; son of Mambrino 29, etc.

Walter Winans is a compact made horse, 16 hands full and weighs 1250 pounds, a sure foal getter, breeds large and his colts are solid colors, either sorrel or bay. The fact that this horse is by the celebrated Robert McGregor 647 who is the sire of Crescens 2:12 1-4, strongly recommends him to the world. Crescens held the stallion record, not only of America, but of the world for about ten years.

This horse is of a kind disposition, nicely mannered and drives well single or double. He is in every way a high-class horse and with his royal breeding and blue blood ancestors; men with good mares should grasp this opportunity and raise such colts that will develope in horses of high grade.

JOHN H. AYLOR.
HARMON H. JONES.
MONTE ELAYBACK, Mgr.

MAGIC JAY,

(Trial 2:25)

Sired by Jay Bird 5060, sire of 137 including Hawthorn, 2:06¾, Alceste, 2:07¾, Allerton, 2:09¼, Gitchie Manito, 2:09½, Dulcie J, 2:09¾, Early David, 2:10, Inoades, 2:10. Sired the dams of 91, including Baroness Virginus (3), 2:08¾, Crescent Route, 2:08¾, Bissie Drake, 2:08¾, Codero, (4) 2:08¾.

First dam by Magic Wilkes, 17190; second dam by John Berdine, ?217; third dam by Lexington.

Magic Wilkes was sired by the great Red Wilkes 1749, sired of 177 and sired the dams of 229.

MAGIC JAY was foaled April 23, 1905, stands 16 hands high, weighs 1200 pounds, has been handled but little for speed, but has shown a mile in 2:25. He is a son of the great Jay Bird, who sired 137 in the 2:30 list and has 8 in the 2:10 list.

MAGIC JAY'S dam is by Magic Wilkes, 1749, sire of 177, and sired the dam of 229.

MAGIC JAY will make the season of 1911 at Pleasant Hill Place at $10 to insure, money due when mare is parted with or is bred to another horse. Not responsible for accidents.

MIKE, Jr.

The Jack that has proven himself a first-class mule getter will make the season at the same place at $10 to insure a living foal, money due when mare foals or is parted with or bred elsewhere.

IN ABJECT TERROR

Did Roger Warren Meet His Death On the Scaffold.

The Last Man Who Will Pay The Penalty by Hanging in Kentucky

Frankfort, May 25.—In abject terror of death Roger Warren died on the gallows, an arrant coward at the end, fighting to prevent the drop being sprung which would send him to eternal sleep. The last man who will be hanged in Kentucky gave a pitiful exhibition in the presence of a large crowd and the trap door fell from under his feet as he uttered the words: "I don't want to die. I won't die."

He was hanged at 4:33 o'clock and his neck was not broken. He was pronounced dead eleven minutes after the drop. The body was cut down after there was no longer any doubt about the man being dead and taken in charge by the coroner, who prepared the body for burial.

Warren, who was hanged for the murder of a convict in the penitentiary here, almost collapsed before he was taken from the jail and had almost to be carried up the steps of the scaffold. He had spent the night cursing and abusing everybody in the crowd of curious people who stood in front of the jail. He was given a drink of whisky in the hope that it would brace him up for the final ordeal, but it had no effect on him. The Rev. Walter Vreeland, chaplain at the penitentiary, was with the condemned man to the end and prayed for him, while a quartet sang religious songs, but so great was the terror of death that the negro probably never knew what was being said or done for him.

A crowd began gathering about the courthouse at 3 o'clock, and by daylight, at 4 o'clock, a large crowd was clamoring for admission to the enclosure in which the scaffold had been erected. Trees, houses and telephone poles, from which a view of the scaffold could be obtained, were crowded with curious people. Warren did not sleep during the night and was so nervous he could hardly sit still, his hands and body constantly twitching. The man who had killed three men and cut perhaps a dozen others had begun to realize that he was to die, and he showed how he felt when he was asked if he wanted to go to heaven or hell. He replied to this inquiry:

"I want to go to heaven, but I want most to stay here. It is a better place than heaven."

Whole Dam Possum Family.

(Lebanon Enterprise.)

J. M. Shreve, who lives on High street, is a great chicken raiser and devotes considerable time to raising a breed that he considers the best variety that can be raised. For some time he has been missing both hens and chickens, and he resorted to every means within his power to find out the cause of such havoc in his poultry yard. He consulted the members of his family, and finally called in all his neighbors and friends to receive their advice as to the best course to pursue. A steel trap was suggested as a good thing to try, and Mr. Shreve was persuaded to at least get one, set it in the hen house and await results. The first night brought forth fine results, for the next morning a young 'possum was found in the trap. This program was carried on for three nights and each night a young 'opossum was found in the deadly embrace of the faithful trap. Saturday night Mr. Shreve, thinking that the 'possum family was about extinguished, hesitated as to whether it was necessary to continue operations, and gave the trap a rest. But as the sports was getting interesting, and odds were being offered that there were still remaining more of these little "pesks," ready to again feast on chicken, either fried or baked, Mr. Shreve yielded to the pleading of his friends and again set the trap. Sunday morning dawned clear and bright. The neighbors began to gather early. The excitement was intense. 'Possum or no possum was the word that passed from mouth to mouth. At the proper moment Mr. Shreve gave command to advance. Military order was disregarded, and a race was made to the poultry-yard. Mirable dicu, what should appear to the wondering gaze of the inhabitants of High street but old mother 'possum securely fastened in the embrace of the faithful steel trap, and five little 'possums dancing the Highland fling around their captured mother.

Lunatic With a Gun.

A near-sighted sportaman strolled into a little hotel on the shore of Loch Carron and, complaining, said: "Just seen a seal, shot at it three times, and missed it each time." At dinner an hour later, he sat next to a tourist, who had a bandage around his head. "Had an accident?" growled the other. "Attempted murder, you mean. I was having a bath about an hour ago, when some lunatic with a gun fired at me three times from the shore, and shot part of my ear off. I don't know why such animals are allowed out without a license." Then silence reigned supreme.—London Telegraph.

Primary Election Notice.

At a meeting of the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee, held at Burlington, Ky., March 20, 1911, it was ordered that a Primary Election be held in every voting precinct in Boone County on Saturday, July 1st, 1911, from 6 o'clock a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for State Senator, County Representative and County Clerk to be voted on at the regular election in November, 1911. All known Democrats entitled to vote at the regular election in November, 1911, shall be entitled to vote in this election.

A. B. Renaker was made a subcommittee of one to have ballots printed and to attend to all details in carrying out this call.

The entrance fee of each individual candidate in this primary Election is fixed at $40, to be paid to A. B. Renaker not later than June 18th, 1911 at which time the names of the candidates who have paid their proper entrance fee will be placed on the ballots.

SCRAPPING.

The Republican Brethren Are Not Dwelling Together In Unity.

FRANKS IS VERY FRANK.

Franks in his speech at Barboursville is quoted by the Associated Press as saying: "O'Rear's election would sound the death-knell of civil liberty in Kentucky." Barboursville, the home of Caleb Powers, whence largely came the mountain army that marched on Frankfort and took charge of the state house grounds until Goebel was assassinated, was surely a fitting place for the denunciation of night riders and O'Rear as their exponent by this brother Republican.

At Hopkinsville, Judge O'Rear said that he defied any of his opponents to take the other side of the question, meaning of course opposition to the stand he had taken in the situation, incident to the tobacco troubles.

Referring to Judge O'Rear's defi, Mr. Franks said that he was only too glad to take the other side. He said he did not want the support of the night rider element, and that he did not expect to get it, as every sympathizer of the movement was and is an ardent supporter of Judge O'Rear. He said, however, that the Judge had driven away and had forfeited the support of more citizens, who stand for law and order, than he had gained night riders.

"Law and order, we must have, and other things will follow," Mr. Franks said. "Law and order must prevail before Kentucky can hope to take her place with her sister states. Mob law must give way to the law of the land. Law-upholding officials will have to take the place of the official who is afraid to do his duty. Night riding must be put down for good, and then Kentucky will forge to the front."

"Judge O'Rear's position on this question is one that will not be approved by the law abiding people of Kentucky. It should not be approved. He has hurled defiance at his opponents and dared them to take the other side of the question. Here and now I accept his challenge and go out to battle to the end that the reign of terror of a few months ago will be impossible in Kentucky at any time in the future."

Surely men who believe as Mr. Franks claims to do could not support O'Rear under any circumstances and just as certainly men who believe as O'Rear claims to do could never vote for Mr. Franks.

The Republican brethren have some troubles of their own, it seems.—Owensboro Messenger.

Crop Outlook In Indiana.

From information supplied the various wheat scouts who have invaded practically every wheat county in Indiana, indications for the 1911 yield practically all certain exceed the expectations of former years. In fact, only calamitous weather can now retard the magnificent crop outlook. More wheat was planted for this crop than ever before, and the plantings germinated early and are now in first-class condition. The Hessian fly damage seems confined to but one or two counties in the entire wheat zone, and, even there, is far under the damage reports heralded a fortnight ago. Dry weather has been effective in one or two sections, but if a rain falls within the next ten days the wheat will be safe.

Corn shows equally as well as wheat. Oats, however, will be the lowest in yield of any of the cereals, basing this estimate at present conditions. Oats were damaged by hot, dry weather. The reports from the various counties speak very optimistically of the prospective harvest of fruits and vegetables. In one county alone, nearly 500 acres have been sown in watermelons by one person, which is probably the largest watermelon field in the state if not the United States. Cherries will not be up to average in a number of counties, but all other fruits are making a good showing. Strawberries down around New Albany are being picked, and from now on until the end of the season will supply the bulk of the trade.

THE FINE, YOUNG STALLION

will make the season of 1911 at my farm two miles west of Walton, Boone County, Ky., at $10.00 to insure a living colt. Persons parting with mares forfeit the insurance money. A lien retained on colt until season money is paid. Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur.

PRINCE OLSEN was foaled in 1907, and is one model of his class. He weighs 1520 pounds and is nearly 17 hands in height. He is a beautiful black, and is a picture of symmetry and fine points of the draft horse. His breeding qualities are excellent.

PRINCE OLSEN was sired by Blackmon, a registered Percheron stallion owned by Ole C. Olsen, of Shabbona Grove, Illinois, where he was foaled in 1907, and from whom he was purchased by me this spring, selecting this horse over many others because of his excellent qualities. Prince Olsen is eligible to registry, and is one of the highest bred draft horses ever in this section of country. The dam of Prince Olsen was a high bred registered Percheron mare. I feel that farmers and breeders will make no mistake in breeding to Prince Olsen as by means a good, strong colt that will meet every requirement on the farm. One of the lacking features of our horses is the size and strength. With the well bred Percheron like Prince Olsen these essentials are fully incorporated.

Come and see the horse and inspect his good points and you will breed to him.

Also at the same place and under the same conditions I will offer for public service my two fine sure breeding jacks is a black Jack with mealy points five years old, 15.3 hands high, large bone and big body, very long ear, and has proven himself to be one of the best breeders in Kentucky. His mules are quick sellers and several of them have been sold at $125 at weaning time. His service fee will be $10.

BEN,

DEWEY,

is another fine Jack, three years old and a half brother to Ben. His fee will be $10.00 and he will be permitted to serve only a few mares.

Both jacks are high in class, and are excellent breeders. Take a look at them before breeding; it may pay you.

Work Them on the Roads.

The Courier-Juornal and other papers are commending the action of the Warren county judge and jailer in making the prisoners work on the roads, which the law gives them the right to do. Those officials in every county should take the advantage of the right and make the charges upon the county pay in some degree for the tax they impose on it. The average man who is sent to jail cares nothing for the disgrace of it, but rather enjoys the right to spend a week or a month in idleness at the expense of the people. It would be different if these men had to labor. It would keep them from committing crimes and make them shyer of getting into the hands of the law. Prisoners serving out fines could not be put to a more useful employment than working the roads, especially in those counties where they are practically impassable.—Lexington Herald.

STOCK IS WORTH PAR.

Don't Sell For Less, Say the The Executive Board and President of the Burley Tobacco Society.

Burley tobacco growers who hold stock in the Burley Tobacco Society are advised by the Executive Committee to hold on to their stock, and have issued the following statement:

"In view of the fact that we have information from some counties that a few of our members are disposing of their stock in the Burley Tobacco Company for less than fifty cents on the dollar, we feel it our duty and take pleasure in informing our members or stockholders in the company, that it is our best judgment that the stock is worth one hundred cents on the dollar or more.

"At the present time we cannot tell what the earnings of the company will be, but it looks very bright for laying up a good surplus, or a nice dividend, and we advise that no member sell his stock, and in the event he does that he not take less than par.

"EXECUTIVE BOARD BURLEY TOBACCO SOCIETY.
"CLARENCE LEBUS, PRES."

Frankfort, May 30.—Central Kentucky was soaked by a drenching rain tonight for an hour, and the backbone of the drouth that has cost the farmers, stockmen, fruit growers and horsemen thousands of dollars, is broken.

The rain was the most opportune in years, for the plant beds were practically destroyed where they were far off from the rivers and creeks. The farmers have been hauling water to all of the plant beds in this section of the state for days. Only the stout-hearted remained on the job, and many of the growers who had prepared their fields for tobacco early in the season have plowed them up and put them in other crops. The rain came just in time to save the tobacco crop.

Editor Boone County Recorder:—
Dear Sir—I have not words to express to you the value your paper has been to me in my big closing out sale of all my fine Clothing, Hats, Shoes, and Mens Furnishings. Many hundreds of people who came, said they saw my ad. in your paper, where I was closing out. After taking them thru the entire store, showing them goods and prices they openly expressed they never saw anything like it before—such fine goods sold for so little money, and, besides, the low prices. When the purchase amounts to $25.00 we pay railroad fare. Been too busy to get ad. ready for this week—will try and have one for next.
Respectfully,
WM. STEPHENS.

TOBACCO POOLERS

Selling Their Warehouse Stock at 40 Cents on the Dollar.

Frankfort, May 27.—Stock owned by farmers in Equity warehouses is being purchased, it is understood, by employees of the American Tobacco Company, but as most of the stock is being sold through brokers it is not known who are the actual buyers. The purpose of buying the stock is to get control of the warehouses and break up the prospect for another pool.

Some of the stock is being sold at 40 cents on the dollar, indicating that the failure to make the pool last year has put the grower in hard lines, and that he is willing to take almost any sum for his tobacco holdings to get rid of them. The farmers here interested in the Equity warehouses are advising against the sale of stock.

The stock in this county is being bought up at 30 cents on the dollar, and it matters not for whose benefit it is being bought it is for the purpose of getting it out of the control of the growers.

STATE BANKS

In Kentucky Are Warned To Clean Up By Supe Intendent Bruner.

Frankfort, May 30.—Irregularities amounting to over $250,000 have been discovered by bank examiners among banks and bank officials in Kentucky within the last 10 days, according to the statement of Secretary of State Ben L. Bruner. Information came to him to-day that another bank in this state is out $80,000, and the Directors have been notified to get the money together hurriedly or else the bank will be closed.

Dr. Bruner declines to give the name, saying that the bank officials have deceived the Directors and stockholders, and that he wants to give the Directors every opportunity he can to make good before he takes action. He adds that the depositors will not lose one penny of the money, but says it is time for the Directors and stockholders to be looking into the affairs of the banks and see how they are being conducted.

He reiterated the statement that there is no need for alarm, and that the banks on the whole are in a much better condition to-day than they have been at any time since he came into office. The stockholders and Directors, and not the depositors, are the persons connected with the banks who should begin the investigation, he says.

Local Happenings.

Irvin Rue finished setting tobacco last Monday.

The weather last week was just the kind to destroy the cut worms.

Seventeen year locusts have made their appearance in some localities.

You want to have your ground ready to take advantage of the next tobacco season.

Who ever saw such a torrid period in the month of May as that of last week?

Both banks and the county offices at the court house observed Decoration Day.

John H. Aylor's fine registered stallion will be on exhibition in Burlington next Monday.

A good driving glove has been left at this office. Owner will please call and get same.

Several of the young people of Burlington spent Tuesday afternoon on Gunpowder creek.

Master Commissioner James A. Duncan was doing business in Hebron neighborhood, one day last week.

This county was visited by a fine rain Tuesday night, and a considerable per cent of the tobacco crop has been pitched.

A considerable crowd of Erlanger young people spent Decoration Day down on Gunpowder creek at camp Cliff Hedges.

Edgar Berkshire was in town, last Saturday, selling the first home grown strawberries that have reached the local market this spring.

The rain Sunday afternoon reduced the temperature very much. About noon some of the local thermometers were crowding the 100 mark.

It looks like something might be doing when a young man goes from Burlington to Big Bone to see a minister. Apply to Jack Eddins for specifications.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will brace up the nerves, banish sick headache, prevent despondency and invigorate the whole system. Sold by all dealers.

Dr. W. Ed. Grant, member of the faculty of the University of Louisville, medical department and city health officer has been elected dean of the university medical department.

Grover Jarrell has been improving the looks of the fence along the pike at the Odd-Fellows cemetery. A twelve foot iron gate will be put in at the main entrance.

Some heavy blasting is being done in the cistern that is being excavated at the creamery. The blasting is necessary to get through the ledges of stone that have been reached.

We desire to thus publicly thank the county officials for the liberal present they made us, assuring them that their liberality is heartily appreciated.
Samuel Adams and wife.

The three candidates for State Senator and the two for county representative have been going some the past two weeks. They have now just one month in which to complete their work of canvassing the county.

W. C. Goodridge had his fine Black Badger colt in town, one day the past week. He considers it the best of the dams five colts, each of the other four being a premium winner every time it was shown.

In some fields crows have been very destructive to the young corn. Much of the corn had roots so strong the crows could not lift the grain out of the ground but broke the stalk off so low down as to ruin it.

For the first time in the history of the service, it is said, the deficite in the Postoffice Department has been entirely wiped out and a $7,000,000 surplus for the current fiscal year is in the Treasury to the departments credit.

In writing a receipt for a subscription to the Recorder, a few days since, the figure one occurred 16 times in expressing the date the subscription began and the date it expired and including the ones that were written in the date of the receipt.

The indications are there will be a scarcity of teachers for the common schools in this county this fall, unless the examinations to come bring out a much larger attendance on the part of persons desiring certificates than those of the past few months have done.

A small crowd attended the performance given at Library Hall last Saturday night by the Erlanger minstrels. The night was excessively hot and many who would have attended, remained at home. Burlington is not noted for patronizing entertainments given by other than home talent, no matter how good they are.

On account of an impression being general over the state that under the ruling of Department of Agriculture all lambs must be dipped before being shipped, Dr. A. J. Payne, in charge thereof the fight on sheep scabies in the state, has asked the newspapers of the state to say that the rule is that lambs from infected flocks must be dipped before being shipped. Lambs from non-infected flocks can be shipped without dipping but they must be inspected.

The Catholic congregation of St. Paul's church, Florence, is about ready to begin the erection of a $15,000 church edifice and parsonage on the seven acres of land recently purchased on the Lexington pike opposite the fair grounds. When completed the church building will be the finest in Northern Kentucky outside of the cities. It will have a splendid location and plenty of ground which will add to its appearance.

"It cured me," or "it saved the life of my child," are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diaarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea or bowel complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures. Sold by all dealers.

Allen Black, at one time manager of the Big Bone base ball team, is now pitching excellent ball in the Blue Grass League of this State. Mr. Black has a host of friends in this county who hope his good right arm will develop into a terror for all who face him when on the mound. Mr. Black's home is with his father M. Black, who is a native of Big Bone, but a resident of Constance precinct.

The consideration of the revenue needs of the government was what caused the bulk of the Democratic majority to decide upon cutting the raw wool duty in two. The tax on raw wool last year brought $21,000,000 into the treasury and the government cannot afford to give up that sum while there is no income tax.

If you are not satisfied after using according to directions two thirds of a bottle of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, you can have your money back. BUMPED THE BUMPS

OLD LADY'S EXPERIENCE AT CONEY ISLAND.

Undignified Descent Amused the Crowd and Also Brought Offer of Financial Reward, If She Would Repeat It.

I went down to Coney Island one night. They tell me it's a good place to find missing people. My land, Lizzie, you never see such a place! Such a banging and rattling and music playing and hollering, you'd think all bedlom was let loose! It seems to me that city folks' idea of having a good time is to be bumped and jolted and swished around like plates in one of them new-fangled dish washing machines, which I never could see the use of nohow.

I was plumb daft with it all. By and by I got so's I just followed them in front of me blind like a sheep. There was once when I found myself going up a long narrow stair. At the top you went into a little house-like, and everybody was sitting down on doormats-like, and being shoved through a little door. Then I thought I was in a crazy house for sure and I turn to escape down the stair again, but what with all the crowd pressing up, I couldn't get down, and before I well knew it I was sitting down on one of them doormats myself with my feet sticking out in front of me. I ain't been so close to my feet in years. Then the fellow give me a shove — Lawkamassy! Lizzie! It was like falling over a pressypuss in bed! I went down in that there slide faster than the Empire State express!

Having my umbrella in one hand and my knitting bag in the other I couldn't lay holt of anything. All I could do was holler, and that I did right smart. It wa'n't like no cellar door you understand, but as crooked as a ram's horn. I slammed against one side, then the other, I slewed around and lost the dormat, and then I went over a dam-like, and fetched up at the bottom all of a heap, and feeling like grandmother's rag doll! And Lizzie, there was a couple of thousand loafers of both sects standing there just waiting to see me do it! They let out a roar like the hull of Bashan! I hope they split themselves laughing! Maybe I wasn't mad! I tell you I would have given them a good piece of my mind, only the breath was all shook out of me! I just brandished my umbrella at them, and walked away dignified.

Well, that wasn't the end of it! You'll scarcely believe what I'm going to tell you next, Lizzie. There was a spruce young fellow followed me down the walk and when we got a little ways off, he came up and tipped his hat real polite. "Excuse me, madam," says he, "I represent the management of this here park. We will pay you $15 a week throughout the season if you will repeat that act twice every night."—Hutchinson Footner, in Putnam's.

His Wife the Boss.

The man edged toward the door. Before the doctor could stop him he had quietly turned the key.

"No more for me," he said.

"What! Go back on your word?"

"I haven't. I kept my bargain."

"You haven't paid your price."

"That isn't my fault. I'm not responsible for your mistakes. Besides, I don't see that you can do anything about it. Any exposure would—"

The doctor rushed forward and stopped in front of the man, who looked on imperturbably.

"Aren't you going to give me back my property?" he asked.

"How can I? It doesn't belong to me any more. But, doctor, I'll tell you what I will do."

"Well, well?"

"You drop in and see my wife about it, and I'll be agreeable to anything she says. Good morning."—Chesterton Todd in Life.

Tangled Home.

Mrs. Hasker—How is your friend, Mr. Wallman?

Hasker—Poorly, he's home sick.

Mrs. Hasker—Homesick? Then why doesn't he go home?

Hasker—He is home. Didn't I just tell you he was?

Mrs. Hasker—You said he was homesick, and I don't understand how he can be homesick and home at the same time.

Hasker—I didn't say he was homesick; I said he was home sick."

Mrs. Hasker—You didn't say he was homesick, but said he was homesick! What do you mean by such nonsense?

Hasker (impatiently)—I said he was home and sick at home.

Mrs. Hasker—Gracious! Why didn't you explain in the first place?—Judge.

A Judicial Expert.

The native with a stogie met the native with a pipe.

"Howdy, Zeb?" quoth the stogie native. "Hear 'bout th' fuss down to th' court house?"

"Nope," drawled the man with the pipe. "What was it about?"

"Why, Jim Simpson has been suing Abner Hawley for allenatin' th' affections of his wife, an' Judge Musgrove told th' jury to bring in a verdick of six cents' damages, 'cause he thought that was all the damage was worth to Jim. An' Jim's wife got mad an' threw a chair at th' jedge, and he had her arrested an' put in th' cooler."

"Didn't th' jedge go a leetle too fur when he fixed her value so low?"

"Nope, not at all, not at all. Y' see, he's her own husband."

Farm Notes.

Charcoal is good stuff for the hen's digestive tract.

It's mighty poor policy to let the stock shrink in winter.

Don't feed your fowls so that they will eat too much at once.

Just because fat hens are not good layers, do not starve your fowls.

The best cows are the cows that will fill the pockethook most quickly.

More cattle die from the effects of being drenched than from tuberculosis.

Potato peelings fed raw in not too large quantities are good for the laying hens.

Warmth should be supplied to all farm animals but not at the expense of fresh air.

When figuring up the profits from the cows for last year don't overlook the fertilizer.

Men love their families, but are inclined to neglect them when it comes to the money to be produced for the stable.

Exercise is good for the animals and they should get their share every day when it is possible.

A good dairy sire is one that produces daughters which give more butter-fat than their mothers.

Eggs should be gathered often, especially if the weather is cold and they are to be used for hatching.

Much of the success in poultry keeping depends on the vigor and vitality of the birds themselves.

A male bird that is gallant, always ready to share with the hens, is preferred to one that is too generous.

The by-products of the dairy can be made almost as profitable as the straight products if rightly handled.

A cheap separator is worse than none. Get one that does not waste each year more than the original cost.

Yearlings and heifers should be early taught to drink warm milkfeed slop in winter, and cold slop in summer.

Get all the wood ashes you can and apply them to the garden and truck patch soon as you can, and then plow it in.

The number of hens a farmer should keep depends on his interest in the business and the time he is willing to devote to it.

Unless a hird is matured and possesses size, vigor and a sound constitution, it should be barred out of the breeding pen.

For idle horses, straw and well-cured corn fodder may take the place of hay, giving a half ration of corn morning and night.

A man who has a good quality of dairy products and a high-class of dairy stock for sale seldom knows what competition is.

If you are to get eggs, you must have healthy, vigorous hens, and if you wish to keep up the supply you must retain the vigor.

As every poultryman knows, or should know, protein is an important and invaluable ingredient in the ration for egg production.

In planning adornment for the door-yard avoid straight lines as much as possible. Set the trees and shrubs in groups or irregular lines.

It is very important that the water drunk hy the cows giving three or more gallons of milk daily be warmed to about 60 degrees F.

The calf that goes into winter quarters lousy will not do well. Rubbing the calf with a cloth molstened with coal oil and lard will put a quietus on the lice.

It is essential in raising beef to know the characteristics of a prime beast, for in order to command the top price the animal must be in the pink of condition.

Provide shelter for all of the animals on cold and rainy nights of spring weather. Shelter means saving of feed, and making the animals grow and produce better.

It is the custom of some farmers to raise a litter of pigs from a sow in the spring that she is a year old, then fatten her for the fall market and keep sows from her litter for breeding the next spring.

The chickens having been accustomed to plenty of fresh air all summer, are in good condition to withstand the first cool nights, and the real danger of their catching cold is in keeping them too warm.

A fact which is often lost sight of is that the hog is essentially a grazing animal, and this is why spring litters are usually the most profitable, for by making provision for ample pasturage the greatest gains in growth are made at the minimum cost of production.

RECOGNIZED THE REAL THING

Society Lady at Last Realized That She Had Come to a Place of Punishment.

A modern lady died and went to hades. His majesty met her deferentially at the gate.

"Will it be possible for me to secure an establishment here?" she said.

"Certainly, madam."

"In a desirable location?"

"I think so."

"I don't care to be near the riff-raff And I should like to be sure and get suitable servants."

"You should experience no difficulty. There are several good agencies."

"I could give dinner parties when I liked?"

"Dear me, yes."

"And make a spludge at it?"

"O, certainly."

"I should expect to spend my summers abroad."

"Quite right. Return tickets free."

"You have operas?"

"Several, devoted to the haut ton."

The lady lifted her lorgnette. She smiled slightly.

"Do you know," she said, "I am agreeably surprise. I was afraid this place was not kept up to conform to the best standards. It troubled me to think I might possibly have to associate with my inferiors. I am glad to to see that you have such a sense of the fitness of things. I am very glad to have renewed our brief acquaintance made on earth, and I will trouble you to see that my arrival is chronicled in the society columns of the papers."

His majesty bowed respectively.

"Sorry, madam, but that will be impossible."

She gazed at him haughtily.

"How is that?" she asked sternly.

"There are no papers here. There are no society columns. No matter what you are doing, the public is in absolute ignorance of it."

And sinking back she muttered softly to herself:

"This is indeed hell!"—Life.

THESE WOMEN.

Mr. Smith—Was she in a black or red automobile?

Mrs. Smith—She was going so fast I didn't notice that. But she had on a white yacht hat, with a blue band—a white shirt waist trimmed in pink—a brown skirt—and she had a bunch of violets pinned at her waist.

As It Might Have Been.

"Maria," said the choleric father of a beautiful daughter. "Who was that young fool who called on you last night and stayed until midnight? I want to know at once."

"You shall know in due time," said Marie? "But first I want to know something. Was he a young fool because he called on me?"

"What—"

"Or was he a young fool because he thought me attractive enough to talk to me until midnight?"

"Why—"

"I suppose you think that any young man who comes to this house at all is a young fool, but why?"

"Now see here—"

"Is it because there are so many girls who have sensible fathers that any young man who calls on the daughter of an ill-natured old curmudgeon is a young fool?"

"For goodness sake—"

"But I suppose—(sob)—I ought to—(gurgle)—be grateful—(sob)—because you didn't call him a fool to his face for coming to see me. I know you despise me (boo-hoo-hoo), but—"

But Maria was talking to space. The choleric father had fled to the cyclone cellar.—Sunday Magazine of the Pittsburg Dispatch.

Willing to Do His Share.

A little lad from one of the back slums was invited with about 20 others to a charity dinner given at the house of a lady of fashionable society. When dinner was over the lady asked the little ones to sing or recite in turn.

All went well until it came to the guest answered: "I can't sing, lady."

"Come, Tommy, let me hear you sing."

After a moment's pause the young guest answered: "I can't song, lady."

"What!" said the lady, "you cannot sing. Then what can you do, Tommy?"

"Well," said Tommy, "I ain't use ter singing, but, I'll fight any of the other kids in the room!"—Stray Stories.

The Fine Saddle and Harness or General Purpose Stallion,

Harry Willis,

Is a handsome blood bay stallion with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high, weighs 1150 pounds, and was foaled in 1907.

His conformation, individuality, breeding and reproductive qualities all combined in one horse go to make that desire of all conservative breeders, an ideal stallion.

He is the personification of perfection, has a fine head and neck, strong, deep shoulders, short back, very fine quarters, clean, flat legs, good bone, fine main and tail, good disposition and fine action.

Harry Willis by Col. Willis 37706, by Col. Kipp 18377, record 2:20½, sire of High Grade (P) 2:11½, Colonel (P) 2:18¾, Pawling 2:21½, Daisy Simmons 2:30, by Kenwood 45875, sire of Col. Kipp 2:20½, by Harry Clay 45, record 2:29, sire of four in the list and the dam of Bellini 2:18¾, sire of Farfella 2:09½, Ora Bellini 2:09½, Beatrice Bellina 2:08¼, Carlo 2:08¼, Tokio 2:09, Leonard 2:08 1-4, Albert C 2:09½, Soprano (3) 2:08¾, winner of the American Horse Breeders' Futurity in 1909, and sold to John E. Madden for $7,000, also sire of Green Mountain Maid, dam of Electioneer 125, sire of Arion 2:07½ and 56 others in 2:30 and dams of 153 in 2:30. First dam Nellie H by Bondsman 37641, by Barron Wilkes 4758, by George Wilkes 519; second dam, Corinne by Simmons 2744; by George Wilkes 519, Corinne's dam Lady Belle, she by Red Wilkes 1749.

He will make the season of 1911 at the farm of C. T. Northcutt, one and a half miles north of Waterloo and one and a half miles east of Bellevlew, at ten dollars to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but will not be responsible should any occur. Money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with.

Mares left on good grass at owner's risk, at 10 cents per day.

Jerry H. K. Glass, Jr.

Will stand at the same time and place at $8 to insure a colt to stand and suck.

Jerry H. K. Glass, jr., is a dark brown, mealy nose, very heavy bone, good head and ears, 14½ hands high, foaled in fall of 1907. A fine breeder.

The General Purpose Stallion,

ROBERT WILLIS, 57255.

ROBERT WILLIS is a chestnut horse with star in forehead, stands 16 1-2 hands high and weighs 1250 pounds, foaled in 1905. Individually he is a horse of grand finish with plenty of substance, a fine disposition, with the best of feet and legs. His blood lines are of the best as his pedigree will show. Ordinary mares bred to this horse will not fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as general-purpose horses and roadsters, as his foals have size, style, conformation and action, good kinds, best of disposition, plenty of life and every indication of developing into useful and selling horses.

ROBERT WILLIS is a fast natural trotter with a perfect way of going, and with limited handling last year, after making a season, showed that he has race horse speed, and with a proper preparation, will easily take a mark of 2:20 or better.

He will make the season of 1911 at Clover Leaf Stock Farm at $10.00 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with or moved from the county after being bred, in which case the money becomes due and collectable at once.

Parties breeding must follow up the season.

Care taken to prevent accidents but not be responsible should any occur.

NOTICE BREEDERS.

—o—

Robert Willis will stand Monday and Tuesday of each week at T. E. Garrison's barn one-eighth of a mile north of Big Bone church, and the remainder of the time at Clover Leaf Stock Farm.

The Brotherhood of Man.

Mr. John Fair, south of town, has been quite ill for some time and unable to look after his farm. One day last week notice was given that those who cared could gather at Mr. Fair's farm and help sow his oats and break his tobacco land. Early on the following morning appointed, 28 double teams entered Mr. Fair's fields and began work. Within two hours the oats were in the ground and the tobacco land was broken. The teams and implements engaged in the work represented an investment of over $10,000, besides the 18 wagons that hauled the plows from distant farms. It was a magnificent sight to see the fifty-six horses, one team behind the other, throwing the dirt, and we regret that a picture was not taken of the scene to print in the Gazette. That's the kind of folks we have all over Calloway county. Let a man get sick, and the factions cut no ice. His neighbors warm up to him, be he Keysite or Hollander, Demopop or Republicrat.—Murray Gazette.

A Beautiful Custom.

A beautiful custom is that which is observed to some extent in the rural districts is that of meeting once each year to do honor to the memory of those who await the final summons in the neighborhood graveyards. The custom which so long associated the church and cemetery, has nearly passed away and now very few churches have grave yards attached. With the change of ownership in farms, family graveyards pass into the possession of those who have no interest in those who repose there, and the average country graveyard is usually a scene of desolation. In a number of places, principally in the eastern part of the county annual memorial services are held. The graves are taken care of and religious services are held. It is a beautiful custom which we hope will spread.—Winchester Democrat.

The change in the temperature since Monday is explained. It comes as a natural consequence after the sudden coolness between two of the opposing Candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor. The way E. T. Franks, of Owensboro, played our Montgomery county friend, O'Rear, in his opening speech at London, Monday afternoon, must have been a shock and a surprise to that super-conscientious crowd of grumpy Democrats who have been flirting with the O'Rear following in the Republican party ever since that Hopkinsville speech. Franks promptly and fearlessly accepted the Judge's "defi" and branded him as the "Night Riders Candidate," and charged that he was being supported by the "lawless elements." The speech was a vigorous, not to say a vicious attack on O'Rear and his platform, and is bound to make a difference.—Winchester Democrat.

If your neighbor is prosperous let him prosper. Don'tg rowl, grunt or grumble. Say a good word for him and let it go at that. Don't be a kicker. Your time will come. No one is the whole show. If you see that the town is moving along rapidly feel good about it. Help things along. Show a little push. Try to get some of the benefit yourself. Don't stand around like a chilly cadaver and waste your time feeling sore because some one else has more success and sense than you have. Do a little hustling yourself, and if you can say a good word for your town or people—say it. You're a prince. If you are full of bile and disposed to say something mean, put a padlock on your mouth and keep it there.—Ex.

A ship was wrecked on the northwest coast of Ireland; and a mother tried in vain to presuade her son, who had volunteered to go to the rescue of the last man on board the burning ship, to give up the perlious task. She pleaded that father and brother had never come back from the sea, and that she would be left alone if he were lost. He resisted her entreaties and put out to the sinking vessel. When the boat came (back thru the surf the crowds (on the shore shouted, "Have you got your man?" "The reply came, "Yes, and tell mother it's brother William!" Are we sure that the imperiled souls around us are not our brothers?

The Scott County Board of Education has fixed $35 per month as the lowest price for teachers and $55 per month as the highest. In districts where the public fund will pay more than this price the term is extended. For every month of school where the average daily attendance is 50 per cent. or more, of the pupil children of that district, $1 will be added to the regular salary. This premium for good attendance will be added to the last month's wages.

Saved His Wife's Life.

"My wife would have been in her grave to-day," writes O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., "if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery. She was down in her bed, not able to get up without help. She had a severe bronchial troubel and a dreadful cough. I got her a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and she soon began to mend, and was well in a short time." Infallible for coughs and colds, its the most reliable remedy on earth for desperate lung trouble, hemorrhages, la-grippe, asthma, hay fever, croup and whooping cough. 50c. $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all dealers.

WILL BE ALRIGHT

When The Harvest is Past and the Summer is Ended.

According to the State and National Departments of Agriculture it has been a long time since Kentucky had such favorable crop prospects as this season. This is good news, for nothing conduces more to general contentment than a favorable prospect for crops.

We are wont to hear more or less complaint at this time of year about unfavorable farming conditions. In fact no weather bureau, human or divine, has ever been able to arrange a weather schedule that was satisfactory all around to that large proportion of our population that is engaged in farming operations. Nevertheless the farmer must need take the weather as it comes, whether he happens to have an almanac or not. The chances are that if he had the power to make his own weather, or have it made to order, he would make an awful mess of it and probably wouldn't be able to please a solitary soul in all Christendom, himself included. Not being able to have it just exactly as he wants it he must make hay while the sun shines and plant tobacco when the ground is wet and plow at such seasons as are favorable for plowing and fight it out along that line until "the harvest is past and the summer is ended." And if he be a sensible farmer he will realize that while nature's meteorolgical scheme may be a little rough in spots it is all he has to go by, is a long way better than anything that human ingenuity could devise and is best taken without kicking.

Still opposed to the majority opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Standard Oil case, as he was on the day that opinion was announced, Associate Justice Harlan has filed his formal dissenting opinion in that suit. His oral attack on the courts for holding that only unreasonable or undue restraints on trade are in violation of the law furnished the outline for his broadside against the opinion. He went further, however, and criticised the court for modifying the decree of the lower court so as to permit the subsidiary companies to enter into agreements among themselves, and expressed a conviction that instead of the opinion giving quiet and rest to the business of the country, it would throw into confusion and invite widely extended and harassing litigation, the injurious effects of which will be felt for many years to come.

The opposition to Senator McCreary's nomination for Governor is not satisfied with Mr. Addams as a candidate and would like to complicate matters by inducing Senator Joe Blackburn to enter the race, but he has been in politics too long not to see the way the wind is blowing in Kentucky just now. The leaders to the opposition to McCreary are the fellows who delivered Kentucky to the Republicans, and their leadership having been repudiated by the rank and file of the Democratic party, they may as well become reconciled to accepting the candidate whom the people want.

It was recently stated that there were more than a dozen bankers and a few lawyers in the penitentiary at Columbus, O., but not a single editor. This condition will now be changed, as John A. Feller, who edited a dirty sheet at Toledo, has been sent to the state prison for three years for blackmail. That is the proper place for him.

It may be that Prosecutor Hunt of Cincinnati, does not know much law, but it must be conceded that he has kept the best attorneys money could hire very busy for several weeks keeping Geo. B. Cox from being brought to trial, and he would have succeeded had Cox not had the deck "stacked," as has been his custom for years.

The story is told of the Rev. James Patterson, of Philadelphia, that he once said, in a circle of his brethren, that he thought ministers ought to be humble and poor like their Master. "I have often prayed," said he, "that I might be kept humble; I never prayed that I might be poor—I could trust my church for that."

One thing noticeable is the large number of suicides in some of the counties in Central Kentucky recently. Bourbon county had four within a couple of weeks. It is said that ten have gone the same route in Harrison county during the present year and other counties show quite a number.

John Shell and wife, of Leslie county, have been married for eighty-five years. He is one hundred and three years old and she is a year younger. He has a sister that is two years older than he is. He recently took his second ride on a railroad train.

The United States Senate has fixed June 19 for a vote on the joint resolution providing for the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people. The resolution has already passed the House.

Instead of throwing bouquets at the members of the faculty, the students of Wesleyan, at Middletown, Conn., threw biscuits, and now they are in hocuity—whatever that is.

Latonia Council No. 80 will confer the degree, assisted by Mrs. Annie E. Ryle, State Organizer, formerly of this county, but now of Latonia, and Mrs. Whiting, of Newport State Treasurer.

Friday while J. D. Doubman and Everett Whaley were working on the residence of Edward Taylor, some scaffolding gave way and precipitated the two men to the ground, a fall of considerable distance. Mr. Doubman was badly hurt about the head, and Mr. Whaley narrowly escaped serious injury by the fall of one of the heavy cement columns, the heavy column missing him in its fall.

S. W. Bevarly, the enterprising councilman who has had charge of oiling the streets, purchased an oil wagon sprinkler with which to sprinkle the oil on the streets, and he did a fine piece of work. The sprinkler cost $100.00 and Mr. Bevarly expects to get some of the money back by hiring it to neighboring towns that oil their streets. Williamstown and Dry Ridge have both made arrangements for its use.

Invitations are out announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Hattie Taylor to Logan Canton Campbell, the happy event to take place Wednesday afternoon, June 7th, at three o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Taylor, in Walton. Miss Hattie is one of our pretty and popular young ladies, and while teaching school at Hazard, Perry County, Ky., she became acquainted with the groom elect and their friendship ripened into love and resulted in their plighting one to the other, to be consummated into the high estate of matrimony June 7th.

The commencement exercises of the Walton High School last Friday evening were very enjoyable throughout and the full capacity of the school hall was taken to accommodate the enthusiastic and appreciative audience representing the wealth and culture of Walton and vicinity. The four graduates, J. Clifton Mayhugh, and Misses Pattie Lee Callahan of Verona, Misses Lovenia Fay Edwards and Miss Elizabeth Haley, acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner, and all of the subjects were well prepared and ably delivered. The music was splendidly rendered and was a very pleasing part of the program. The address to the graduates by Prof. H. C. Sluss of the Covington City Schools, was a thoughful gem of advice and reasoning and was appreciated by all. The address of A. K. Johnson, President of the School Board, in delivering the diplomas to the graduates, was meritorious throughout, and splendidly delivered. The exercises evidenced careful and conscientious work on the part of the pupils and teachers, and demonstrated that the school trustees were doing their duty in governing the affairs of the school. The teachers particularly deserve praise for the training they have given the pupils for the impress of their work was shown in every way. The work of the past year has been particularly good under the management of the Superintendent C. O. Morgan and his assistant M. C. Ratcliffe, and the teachers, Misses Anna Cleek, Helen Dickey, Anna Hudson, Nannie Chambers, and Mrs. Alice Booth. It is to be regretted that both Mr. Morgan and Mr. Ratcliffe will not be at the head of the school next year, Mr. Morgan going to New York City to accept a more lucrative position on the road for a large wholesale house, and Mr. Ratcliffe going to Adairville, Logan County, Ky., to take charge of a high school. Mrs. Booth will in all probability decline to teach next year on account of her domestic affairs.

EVERYBODY DELIGHTED

With The Entertainment Given By The High School Pupils at Library Hall,

The entertainment given at Library Hall last Friday and Saturday nights by Prof. and Mrs. Dix and their pupils was a source of very great pleasure to all who attended. Those who were anticipating the sing-song recital of lines were agreeably surprised to discover that every pupil comprehended in a high degree the character he or she was to portray, and although it was the first appearance of nearly all of them in public on the stage, they appeared perfectly at ease and acted splendidly the characters they represented, and in numerous instances considerable talent was displayed.

It would be to [illegible] to refer to the work of each of the pupils in this instance, suffice it to say that the entertainment was along lines altogether different from any heretofore given in Burlington, and, it was a credit to both the teachers and the pupils participating and those who witnessed it are lavish in their praise of the entire performance of each night.

Educational Notes.

The examinations for white teachers are held the third Friday and Saturday in May, June July and August. At the examinations for white and colored teachers in May only three out of thirteen passed, one securing a second class and two securing third class certificate. The examinations are very comprehensive and practical. It matters not how good a school system we may have that system is dependant for success upon the ability, personality, character and scholarship of the teachers at work under it.

Graded school teachers may be employed at any time, but teachers under the sub-district system are elected the last Saturday in June. In employing teachers Graded School Trustees must bear in mind that all teachers in districts reporting over a hundred pupils must hold not less than a certificate of the first-class.

The salary of teachers in other than Graded Schools is determined by the number in the census report, the experience of the teacher, the class of the certificate held by the teacher and the educational qualifications of the teachers. Teachers make a great mistake by teaching under a low grade certificate when by study and training they may attain a better class certificate.

We want our Boone Co. boys and girls to prepare for positions as teachers, but we have a few who are not properly equipped in knowledge. There are four applicants in my hands of Normal Trained teachers, who have places in our county. Should any trustee desire the addresses of any of these I shall be glad to furnish it to them.

Repairs and equipment needed by different schools should be brought before the Board of Education June 12th.

E. C. RILEY, Supt.

ONE GRADUATE

From The Boone County High School Which Closed Yesterday.

Commencement Exercises At Library Hall Last Night.

The second year of the Boone County High School closed yesterday. The attendance, while not large, exceeded by several that of the first year, and the prospects for a considerable increase of pupils for next year are very encouraging. The pupils enrolled the year just past were very regular in attendance and worked faithfully, the final examination attesting their industry. Howard Huey, son of Robt. Huey, of Commissary neighborhood, has the honor of being the first to receive a diploma from the Boone County High School. Prof. Dix has worked faithfully the past two years in the interest of the school, and the advancement his pupils have made is a testimonial to his labor. Mrs. Dix, who assists her husband is very much interested in the success of the school, which she gives her best endeavors.

The commencement exercises last night were enjoyed by a fair sized audience. On the stage besides Prof. Dix and the pupils were Supt. Riley, Chas. Kelly and T. J. Walton, members of the County School Board and Rev. Runyan, who delivered the address. The music rendered by Mesdames Riley, Renaker and Craven and daughters, was excellent as was the vocal music on the part of the pupils. True Conservation the theme of the graduate, Howard Huey was handled in an able and interesting manner, while the address by Rev. Runyan was masterful and delighted the audience. The diploma, the first granted by the school, was presented by Prof Dix in a brief and very appropriate address.

THE CONFEDERATE HOME

Inmates Range in Age From 60 to 90 Years, and Are From all Walks, Trades and Professions.

A WELL KEPT INSTITUTION.

While in Louisville a few days last week we took a run up to Pewee Valley Saturday morning and spent a few hours at the Confederate Home—one of the prettiest places in Kentucky. There are about two hundred and fifty soldiers enrolled in the Home, forty seven of whom are now in the infirmary, with nearly all the ailments to which age is heir. Some of them are almost blind, some of them are deaf others use canes and crutches; now and then you see one minus a leg or an arm, and all of them suffering more or less from the wounds and exposure received years ago, but all seem happy and perfectly contented in this beautiful and comfortable home. They range in age from sixty to ninety-two years, are from all walks, trades and professions in life—some of them having been well-to-do before the war, but thereafter were never able to retrieve and now consider themselves fortunate in having such a comfortable home in their declining years.

Dr. R. R. Pryor, son of Mr. W. C. Pryor, formerly of this county, is the physician at the Home and he gives the old soldiers every attention possible. He has a furnished room in the infirmary and when the occasion demands he stays there day and night, altho his home is at Crestwood, one mile from Pewee, where he has an extensive practice. The old soldiers love Dr. Pryor because he is kind and attentive to them, and does all in his power to alleviate their suffering and make their declining years the happiest and best.

Truly, Mrs. Callis, the matron of the Home, is the right woman in the right place. She gives every detail in her care and keeping her personal attention, and she has long since proven herself to be a woman of excellent judgment and management. Every department is spotless—the bedding and all linens being snow white, and the sanitary conditions are the very best. Mrs. Callis was formerly of Trimble county, and is well known here. She is an excellent lady and has had much experience in work of this nature, having for years been connected with the management of the asyium at Lakeland.

Senator George, the general superintendent, is especially interested in the Home. He wore the gray himself and knows the suffering and privations endured in years agone, and knows that these men under his charge deserve the best of treatment and he sees that they get it. The Confederate Home is said to be one of the best managed institutions in the State, and we believe this is true. If you ever have an opportunity visit the Home.—Milton News.

Dairy Notes.

The first month of a dairy calf's life is full of trouble.

Do not be in a hurry to turn the cows out on spring pasture.

The Hereford makes beef, the Jersey butter, and the Holstein milk.

Calf scours are the greatest menace the dairymen have to contend with.

The calf should be kept clean and dry, or serious trouble may be the result.

Alfalfa or clover hay should be given the calf as soon as it will eat hay.

Most cream immediately after separation is in condition to make good butter.

No centralized creamery can profitably compete with a good co-operative creamery.

Skim milk should be fed at regular hours until the calf is six or eight months old.

In churning, the first thing to see to is that the cream is at the right temperature.

We know that cows usually give the largest amount of milk when they are in good pasture.

Dairymen must exercise care in changing from dry winter feeding to succulent grasses.

The nearest to a dual-purpose breed is the high grade Shorthorn crossed with a Hereford bull.

There is no doubt but high temperature will often affect the milk or cream and the cans ought to be protected.

There are many good dairy cows among those in the Shorthorn breed, but it is to be remembered that there are poor cows in all breeds.

No man can cheapen the cost of producing milk to the lowest possible notch unless he understands what his individual cows are producing every month of the year.

Death To the Bees.

An Anderson county farmer makes the assertion that the modern fruit spraying liquids are working toward the annihilation of the bumble bees and honey bees, and therefore to the extermination of the clover crops. The liquids used are poisonous to the bees, which are essential to the proper dissemination of the clover pollen. The only remedy, suggests the farmer, is the use of spraying liquid before the tree blossoms.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. Joe Simpson passed through town returning from a fishing trip, and had with him a turtle that was a wonder to behold. Mr. Simpson and Mr. K. M. Bryatt captured the monster in Bayou de Chien Creek, three miles below Moscow. The turtle was weighed on the scales of the Clinton Lumber Company and tipped the beam 120 pounds, and measured four feet four inches long. It was alive when weighed but could only be captured after being severly mauled with an ax.—Clinton Gazette.

There stands on the farm of Mr. G. B. Nichols, near Settle, Allen county, a most wonderful tree with rather a peculiar history, which has been known by the natives as the holly tree, or evergreen, and its leaves are forever green. This wonder of nature is now composed of eight different branches, varying from twelve to twenty inches in diameter, and it grows its leaves during the entire year and also sheds them off during each month of the year as well as grows them. There is a red berry growing upon its boughs all the year. As to the age of this beautiful tree, it is unknown, as the oldest inhabitants of that section do not know how long it has stood. A peculiar feature of its life is it gets no larger. According to the oldest citizens, it has not grown any larger for nearly a century.—Glasgow Times.

FIGHTING FOR EQUALIZATION

State Grange of Pennsylvania Also Urging the Initiative, Referendum and Recall.

The State Grange of Pennsylvania is putting up a stiff fight in behalf of equallization of taxation, the initiative, referendum and recall, and these subjects are receiving a thorough discussion in subordinate Granges all over the state, to the end that public sentiment may be aroused in their behalf.

State Master Wm. T. Creasey has been a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature for nearly twenty years and, backed by Grange influence, he has steadily advocated these principles and has seen them constantly gaining ground in public sentiment.

In the matter of an equalization of taxation, the State Grange position is set fourth in four distinct propositions:

1.—By relieving real estate of taxation by increasing state appropriations for schools and roads.

2.—A law to pay to school districts the minimum salary of teachers for the minimum school term.

3.—An appropriation from the state to townships having cash road tax of 100 per cent. of tax raised by townships for road purposes, up to $25 per mile.

4.—The enforcement of the constitutional provinon for taxing all classes of subjects uniformly.

How the Oil Trust Is Affected.

The Standard Oil Company is made up of a large number of subsidiary corporations, the stock of which is held in whole or in major part by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. The individual shareholders are nearly the holders of the stock of the stock of the New Jersey corporation. The decree of the court amounts to a reviving of the full corporate activity of each of the subsidiary corporations. It would seem that in the first instance the holder of a share of the New Jersey Company must take his respective proportion of the shares of all the lesser corporations. The circuit court has allowed a month for the winding up of the New Jersey company, while the supreme court allows six months. The Standard Oil Company has a vast aggregation of properties consisting of oil refineries, pipe lines tank lines, oil wells, and so on. There is no confiscation of any of property. It all remains the property of its present owners. The object of the decision is to prevent the continued use of all of this organized industrial capital in such a way as to constitute an illegal monopoly or a combination exercising an unreasonable restaint upon interstate trade in the kinds of articles as Standard Oil products.

There is no practical way by which the Standard Oil Company's assets and business undertakings can be thrown back into an old fashioned and undealirable kind of competitive warfare with one another. But if the remedies that the court attempts to prescribe are successful it will not be either feasible or safe for the Standard Oil interests in the future to use unfair methods to crush out independent oil refiners or competing concerns. The Standard Oil Company has not yet announced its exact plan for reorganization From the standpoint of its practical business, that is to say, the carrying on of its refineries, its pipe lines and its various factories for the making of commercial products, together with its admirable system for the distribution of its oil and other products, the public is not likely to see any difference at all.—American Review of Reviews.

Of Interest to Boys.

Judge Caldwell, of the Juvenile Court of Cincinnati, brought up a fine question of domestic authority in which he holds that a father has no right to spank or otherwise punish his children except in cases where the mother is unable to perform that duty in addition to her household duties. The meaning of that ruling is that a father actually has no authority to discipline his offspring except as it is delegated to him by his wife. Without pausing to consider the legal soundness of this decision, the chances are that the average American boy—in other words, the spankee in the case—will accept it with unqualified approval. For experience has probably taught him that a spanking from his mother is as a rule several degrees milder than one he might receive from his father.—New York Mail.

Walter Winans

Chestnut Stallion,

Will make the season at Ten Dollars to insure a mare in foal, and we will give Ten Dollars for best horse colt and same for best mare colt of get 1911.

He will be at Beaver on Mondays and Tuesdays, at my place on Wednesdays and at Burlington on the balance of each week. All necessary pains will be taken to prevent accidents but responsible for none should any occur.

WALTER WINANS 30400. Trotter. Trial 2:19. Sired by Robert McGregor 647, record 2:27½, sire of Cresceus 2:12½, McDougal 2:10½, Kentucky Star 2:08½, Lurline McGregor 2:11½, Tom McGregor 2:12, Nyanza 2:13½, and 84 others, and of the dams of Gratten Boy 2:08, Elloree 2:08½, York Boy 2:08½, and 47 others; son of Major Edsall 2:11.

1st dam Riley by Hot Spur, Jr., 3612, dam of Kate Ham 2:24½, Geo. T. Putney 2:28½, sire of Tom B 2:24½, and others, and of the dams of Ben H 2:21 1-8, and 5 others, son of Hot Spur 172; dam, Patty, by Blind Tuckahoe; 2d dam, Nance by Telegraph.

3d dam, Tugles, by Membrine Gift 584. Record 2:20, sire of Membrinette 2:21, and 6 others, and of the dams of Sphinexetta 2:08¾, Sandy Boy 2:12, Louis Owosso 2:16 1-4, and 13 others; son of Membrine 29, etc.

Walter Winans is a compact made horse, 16 hands full and weighs 1250 pounds, a sure foal getter, breeds large and his colts are solid colors, either sorrel or bay. The fact that this horse is by the celebrated Robert McGregor 647 who is the sire of Cresceus 2:12 1-4, strongly recommends him to the world. Cresceus held the stallion record, not only of America, but of the world for about ten years.

This horse is of a kind disposition, nicely mannered and drives well single or double. He is in every way a high-class horse and with his royal breeding and blue blood ancestors; men with good mares should grasp this opportunity and raise such colts that will develope in horses of high grade.

JOHN H. AYLOR,
HARMON H. JONES.

MONTE LAYBACK, Mgr.

MAGIC JAY,

(Trial 2:25)

Sired by Jay Bird 5080, sire of 187 including Hawthorn, 2:06¾, Alceste, 2:07¼, Justo, 2:08¼, Allerton, 2:09¼, Gilchie Manito, 2:09¾, Dulcie J, 2:09¾, Early David, 2:10. Inoadee, 2:10. Sired the dams of 91, including Baroness Virginus (3), 2:06¼, Crescent Route, 2:06¾, Bissie Drake, 2:08¾, Codero, (4) 2:08¾.

First dam by Magic Wilkes, 17190; second dam by John Berdine, 7217; third dam by Lexington.

Magic Wilkes was sired by the great Red Wilkes 1749 sired of 177 and sired the dams of 229.

MAGIC JAY was foaled April 23, 1905, stands 16 hands high, weighs 1200 pounds, has been handled but little for speed, but has shown a mile in 2:25. He is a son of the great Jay Bird, who sired 187 in the 2:30 list and has 8 in the 2:10 list.

MAGIC JAY'S dam is by Magic Wilkes, 1749, sire of 177, and sired the dam of 229.

MAGIC JAY will make the season of 1911 at Pleasant Hill Place at $10 to insure, money due when mare is parted with or is bred to another horse. Not responsible for accidents.

MIKE, Jr.

The Jack that has proven himself a first-class mule getter will make the season at the same place at $10 to insure a living foal, money due when mare foals or is parted with or bred elsewhere.

NO COUNTY ASSESSED AT NEAR FACE VALUE

State Board of Equalization Files Report.

VERY FEW GOOD ASSESSORS

Frankfort, Ky., June 5.—In a facetious report filed with the Governor, the board of equalization for the State discusses the reasons why property is not assessed higher. The report in part is as follows:

"In this, as in former years, there was no occasion for reducing any county's returned assessment. Not one of them was assessed at a measure of its face value. Forty-seven counties were not changed—not for the reason that the board considered them properly assessed, but because if they were increased, the counties that had a per cent. added would have to have been raised correspondingly higher.

"The law governing the board has not been changed in any particular during your administration. The Legislature has not seen fit to make an addition or change which would enable the board to more properly arrive at an accurate conclusion in its endeavor to equalize values among the counties.

"The transfer sheets upon which we are to primarily base our decision as they are at present, returned, are in most cases almost worthless, some for the reason that the purchase price is purposely hidden under $1 and other consideration), many have no value fixed by the county supervisors, some have no value fixed by the assessor; much is listed with other property; in numbers of instances the acreage is not given; in nearly all some one term is withheld, which makes a comparison between the sale value, assessed value and supervisor's value impossible. In many cases it is a result of ignorance, carelessness or slovenliness; in others, shrewdness and duplicity—done purposely to mislead. When witnesses are sent they oftener serve to confuse than otherwise.

"There are a few good assessors in the State. We say a few for the lack of a general term that expresses a lesser number. The impression seems to be gaining ground throuout the State that we have a single tax system, and that personal property is exempt from taxation, and inasmuch as real estate is compelled to bear the burden, it is the privilege of the owner and the duty of the officials to connive to list all property at a very low figure. In the matter of personal property no witnesses testified that the assessor claimed to have assessed it fully, or that the owners had intended to give it in at its worth. In substance they contend that it is not given in anywhere and excuse themselves on the ground that it is a matter of perjury or poverty, and exercise their right of choice."

DR. C. F. CRECELIUS, CANDIDATE FOR THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION FOR SECRETARY OF STATE.

Dr. C. F. Crecelius, of Pendleton county, candidate for Secretary of State, was in Burlington, Tuesday, forming the acquaintance of the Democratic voters. Dr. Crecelius has represented his county at the last two sessions of the legislature, and is the author of the Crecelius Tobacco bill. He is an energetic, hustling Democrat, and Boone was the 85th county he had visited since he became a candidate, and all of this work has he done with no candidate opposing him Dr. Crecelius is the only Democrat in this Congressional District who is seeking a nomination for a State office, which would give him a commanding position, even if he had opposition, but none is apt to develop at this late date in the campaign. The Doctor was a leading member of the House in the last two General Assemblies, and was ever alert in the interest of the "great common people."

Crop Prospects.

During the past week this section was visited by rain. The farmers have taken advantage of the weather. Planting corn and making tobacco hills which seems to be the order of the day.

—!!!—

Princeton—Corn is about all planted. Some tobacco has been set, other farmers are busy fixing tobacco ground. There has not been much rain and meadows begin to look as if the hay crop would be cut short.

—!!!—

Elizabethtown—The rain the first of the week was very beneficial to the crops in this county. The corn, oats and wheat crops and garden vegetables were considerably damaged by the recent dry weather, but since the rain they are looking splendid.

—!!!—

Benton—After a drouth of three weeks duration this county was visited with a copious shower which was very beneficial to the growing crops. The farmers are progressing very nicely with their crops, and are done planting corn and have begun setting tobacco.

—!!!—

Glasgow—Wheat and oats are looking fine. There will be very little fruit in this section. Gardens are late and look badly for the time of year. Some are setting tobacco this season. The crop will be a light one in this immediate neighborhood, as plants are very scarce. Many of our farmers have had to plant their corn over on account of flood.

—!!!—

Magnolia—The fine rains that fell have put all kinds of farm products and vegetation in a fine shape for growing. Some farmers have set their tobacco and everybody seems in good cheer on account of the rains which were so badly needed. Wheat and oats are fine and, with conditions favorable from now until harvest there will be a bountiful harvest.

—!!!—

Bardstown—A nice shower fell in this section which proved beneficial to the crops. Wheat harvest is fast approaching. The prospect for an abundant crop of this cereal is very flattering. Gardens are looking well and we will soon have vegetables in abundance. The farmers report a reasonably good stand of corn. The oats crop is greatly revived by the recent rains.

—!!!—

Lexington—Oats will be short and wheat fields are suffering for rain in this county. Corn is coming up nicely where good seed was used, but some fields are showing the effects of a poor stand as a result of seed being used that had not previously been tested. Tobacco plants are small and almost unfit for transplanting, where the plant beds were not supplied with artificial moisture.

—!!!—

Mt. Sterling—During the past week parts of Montgomery county was visited by rains in some sections heavy rains falling, greatly aiding growing crops and causing a season for setting tobacco. The rains also helped wheat and rye, and the heads of both have grown rapidly and are filling out nicely. Blue Grass has come out well during the week. Meadows, both timothy and clover, were helped by the rains, but neither will make a full crop, and especially timothy. Considerable of the clover was killed during the drouth by the continued warm winds which made the ground too hard for the clover to do much good.

Primary Election Notice.

At a meeting of the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee, held at Burlington, Ky., March 22, 1911, it was ordered that a Primary Election be held in every voting precinct in Boone County on Saturday, July 1st, 1911, from 8 o'clock a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for State Senator, County Representative and County Clerk to be voted on at the regular election in November, 1911. All known Democrats entitled to vote at the regular election in November, 1911, shall be entitled to vote in this election.

A. B. Renaker was made a subcommittee of one to have ballots printed and to attend to all details in carrying out this call.

The entrance fee of each individual candidate in this primary Election is fixed at $40, to be paid to A. B. Renaker not later than June 16th, 1911 at which time the names of the candidates who have paid their proper entrance fee will be placed on the ballots.

LOST PRISONER WALKS INTO THE PENITENTIARY

William Hill Makes No Effort To Escape Sentence.

Frankfort, June 5.—"Has a Deputy Sheriff from Bell county been here? I am William Hill and I am to serve five years in this place."

This rather surprising announcement was made to the clerk of the penitentiary this morning by a tall, good looking man, who walked into the office at the entrance of the prison. The guards and Col. E. E. Mudd, the warden, began to question the man. He said his name was Hill and that he had been brought to Frankfort by a Deputy Sheriff from Bell county, but had become separated from the officer, in the crowd about the L. & N. depot. Hill said he thought the officer had gone on to the penitentiary and as he knew the way, Hill went on to the penitentiary.

As there were no commitment papers, the warden could not receive Hill as a prisoner and the soon-to-be convict sat on a bench in front of the penitentiary for an hour waiting for the Deputy Sheriff to appear with the papers. That official finally appeared and Hill was admitted as a convict. The deputy said he knew that Hill would make no effort to escape and could be trusted, so he had not paid much attention to his prisoner after they alighted from the train. The deputy stopped to talk to an acquaintance he met on the depot platform and became separated from his prisoner. When he missed Hill he made a short search and then went to the prison, expecting to find Hill there. He was not disappointed.

Hill killed a man, who it is said, was attacking his father and about to crush his head with a stone. He also shot another man who started to draw a weapon after the first killing. The case attracted some attention at the time, and now that Hill has showed his honesty it is likely that an effort will be made to shorten his prison term.

The Recorder is authorized to announce Hon. S. W. Tolin, of Burlington, a candidate for State Senator in the Senatorial District composed of Boone, Gallatin and Owen counties, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The State Board of Valuation and Assessment decided to let the assessment of the banks stand as it was last year at 89 per cent of their capital stock, surplus and undivided profits. A committee of bankers appeared before the board last week and urged the board to reduce the assessment to 60 per cent, but after considering all the arguments the board declined to make any reduction.

"Canada cannot and does not raise more than one sixth of 1 per cent of the crop of the U. S. The United States exports into Canada 15 times as much meat and dairy products as Canada imports into the United States."

"The world price of wheat, barley, rye and oats is fixed abroad, where the surplus of the producing countries is disposed of, and is little affected by the place from which the supply is derived."

"The reciprocity agreement should pass the Senate, and I believe it will pass."

For the last three months the lawyers employed by George B. Cox, of Cincinnati, have been fighting hard to prevent their client from being brought to trial on an indictment charging him with false swearing, while Rose Lee Blackburn, charged with the same offense, has been on trial in the circuit court in Covington, a city immediately across the river from the one of which Cox claims to have been the making morally and politically. Because of the Blackburn woman's lawyers not being experts in legal technicalities, she was given a speedy trial.

Following are striking utterances in President Taft's reciprocity speech at Chicago:

"The interests are trying to block the reciprocity agreement with Canada with hostile amendments. The people approve the agreement.

"The American farmer will suffer no injury whatever. On the contrary, he will be benefitted by it."

"Canada will have 30,000,000 people some day, and it would be a shortsighted policy that would fail to provide means to capture this trade."

"Six months from the time the agreement is ratified there will be no opposition whatever from any quarter, for the administration will prove its own worth."

BURLEY TOBACCO
Society May Disbaud

As Soon as All Pooled Tobacco Has Been Sold—There Will Be No Pool This Year.

Lexington, June 6.—The District Board of the Burley Tobacco Society began its regular quarterly meeting here this afternoon, and adjourned this evening until to-morrow morning. The meeting was held behind closed doors, and at its conclusion Secretary Rankin said there would be no report of the proceedings for the newspapers. "The business was quite routine in its nature, and I believe every county numbered in the membership of the society was represented," he said. From the statements of several of the members of the District Board after the meeting, however, it appears that a number of topics of more than ordinary interest to the tobacco growers and the tobacco trade generally under discussion.

It is said that an invoice of the 1909 pooled tobacco showed a total of 80,000 hogsheads, or approximately 80,000,000 pounds of tobacco originally pooled, tho it was claimed at the closing of this pool that there were 120,000,000 pounds in it. It is said that 55,000 hogsheads of the 1909 tobacco has been sold and that the 25,000 hogshead unsold represent the higher grades.

The board authorized payment of salaries to the people who have had the work of grading, packing and handling this tobacco, and it is said to have been decided to hold the 25,000 hogsheads off the market until some better idea can be had of the quality and quantity of the crop now being planted.

The reports made from the various counties to-day on crop conditions are said to have been rather discouraging for a good big crop the chief cause being the drought.

It is said to be the sentiment of the board that there be no attempt to pool the 1911 crop with the present organization, and it is reported to-night that there is every likelihood that the Burley Tobacco Society will wind up its affairs and cease to exist as soon as the residue of 1909 pool is sold.

It appears to be the sentiment of the members of the board that the recent decision of the Supreme Court dissolving the American Tobacco Company, while admittedly a victory for the masses of the people, will not be sufficiently far-reaching in its effects to do the tobacco farmers any great amount of good.

The News caught up with the scheme upon the part of people in different counties in the Burley district to buy up the stock of the Burley tobacco growers at thirty three and one third cents on the dollar and warned growers in the News of issue May 18 that their stock was worth dollar for dollar, if not more. At that time Clarence LeBus knew what was going on. Now, in a dispatch to yesterday's Enquirer, he gives out the desired information —Carrollton News

It is being publicly asserted by persons who claim to be on the inside, that Clarence LeBus knew all about the scheme above referred to, and because it did not work out exactly to suit him he gave out the statement as published in the Recorder last week. If Mr. LeBus was a party, or had information a month or more ago, of the scheme to purchase the poolers stock in the Burley Tobacco Society at one-third its value, he has betrayed, the growers in the most cold blooded manner. If he was ignorant of the scheme it behooves him to refute the charge in the most emphatic manner, and clear himself at once of having any knowledge of the conspiracy to take advantage of the growers in the purchase of their stock. Come to the front, Mr. LeBus, and make your little spiel. The growers wnet to hear from you.

So far the Boone county pooled wool has brought the top of the market.

The building in which Clover Leaf Creamery will be operated is completed.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN IN TOBACCO FIELDS

Work All Night Setting Out Plants In Some Parts of The State.

Rain Saves Thousands of Dollars To Growers.

Owensboro, June 6.—Thousands of farmers, together with women and children, were in the tobacco fields before sunrise this morning and remained there until sundown, setting out tobacco plants following the rain of Monday night. There has not been more than 30 per cent. of the tobacco crop planted, and there had not been a season for more than two weeks. Sixty per cent. of the crop will have been planted by the end of the week.

—o—

Mt. Sterling, June 6.—Tobacco men in Montgomery county are in high glee to-day, as it is the first good season of the year, and plants are being transplanted all over the county. The ground is in excellent condition, and the plants are much larger and more thrifty than usual. Good hands are getting 10 cents an hour for work.

—o—

Carlisle, June 6.—Within the past thirty-six hours parts of Nicholas county have again been visited with a tobacco season and considerable tobacco was set and referred to, and because it did not work out exactly to suit him he gave out the statement as published in the Recorder last week. If Mr. LeBus was a party, or had information a month or more ago, of the scheme to purchase the poolers stock in the Burley Tobacco Society at one-third its value, he has betrayed, the growers in the most cold blooded manner. If he was ignorant of the scheme it behooves him to refute the charge in the most emphatic manner, and clear himself at once of having any knowledge of the conspiracy to take advantage of the growers in the purchase of their stock. Come to the front, Mr. LeBus, and make your little spiel. The growers wnet to hear from you.

—o—

Paducah, June 6.—The light rain Sunday afternoon in the western part of the county has enabled the farmers in that section to set many tobacco plants. The plants already set were greatly benefitted by the rain, but still more is needed to insure a 75 per cent. crop.

—o—

Milton, June 6.—The prospects for a full tobacco crop in Trimble county have given away to only about 50 per cent. of the intended acreage. So far the rains have been only local, and many plants that have been set have died from the hot weather. Not over 25 per cent. of the intended acreage has been set.

—o—

Owingsville, June 6.—Bath county was visited last night by a heavy rainfall and electrical storm which has made the county several thousands of dollars, as it ended the drouth from which the farmers' crops were about ruined. Today is the first opportunity the farmers have had of setting their tobacco this year.

Resolutions of Respect.

ALINE LODGE No. 19, I. O. O. F., Grant Kentucky.

On the evening of May 30, 1911, the death angel unexpectedly came into our midst and summoned our brother, R. L. Sullivan, to his eternal home. On that day a link in our chain was broken, admonishing us that we must go, be it soon or late.

Resolved, That in the death of Bro. Sullivan the lodge has lost a worthy member, the community, a good citizen, the parents a dutiful son, the wife a loving husband.

Resolved, That we hereby tender our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family, and can only point to his life as one worthy of all emulation.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy be spread on our records, and published in the Boone County Recorder Committee—Henry Clore, W. W. Grant, Chas. Mauer.

After Large Estate.

A press dispatch from Lexington, Friday says: The Robb heirs to the number of about fifty, including representatives from the six States of Kentucky, Ohio, Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi, are in session here today to hear the report of the special committee, composed of Judge Hazelrigg, William Robb and C. E. Smith, who have just returned from Beaver county, Pennsylvania, where they went to examine titles to the estate, estimated to be worth $550,000,000, left by George Robb. The committee reports the property situated in the towns of Beaver, Beaver Falls, Harmony and Economy, Pa., and that it consists of real estate, railroads, mines, etc. The committee assures the heirs that the claim is a tenable one, and legal steps will be taken at once to get possession of the property. There are more than one hundred heirs that have set up claim to the estate, which is being contested by the State of Pennsylvania in escheat suits.

Lightning struck the barn of J. Wood Riggs, near Pt. Pleasant which was 40x50 feet, three sheep, Monday morning. The building, which was 40x50 feet, three sheep, a two year old bull, some hay and farming implements were burned. The barn was insured in the Boone county company for $400, although the amount of the loss.

The Business Principle

of successful lives is the habit of saving, depositing what can be spared in a good bank to meet the emergencies of the proverbial rainy day. A little at a time makes a snug sum in a short time The Equitable Bank and Trust Co., Walton, Ky., will accept any sum on deposit and pays four per cent. interest on what remains a year, or three per cent for what remains six months. Remittances by mail given prompt response and careful attention. This Bank has assets of over One Hundred Thousand Dollars. We qualify as administrator, executor, trustee, guardian, etc., of estates, which is much more satisfactory than a private individual in such capacity. Mail communications given careful attention. Your patronage solicited.

Prospects for a large crop of blackberries are good.

Vegetation has grown very rapidly the past week.

Pasture for stock. Apply to L. S. Beemon, near Limaburg.

There has been a great deal of heavy thunder this season.

Last Sunday was about the warmest day of the year.

It is claimed that a dry June is necessary for a good crop of corn.

Some tobacco was set last Sunday by those who had plants ready.

The High School team defeated Capt. Smith's aggregation, last Monday 7 to 0.

There has been an abundance of rain in this particular locality the past week.

No special attractions last Monday, consequently the crowd in town was small.

Wheat has headed short, and the heads are no more than an average in length.

Edgar Berkshire estimates his loss on strawberries, on account of dry weather, at $100.

Wool sold in Grant county at 20 cents a pound and in Owen county at 21 cents a pound.

The Odd-Fellows' lodge at Belleview will conduct memorial services next Sunday afternoon.

The turnpikes in this part of the county show plainly the effects of the recent hard rains.

A large number of telephones have been put out of business by the electric storms of the past week.

Dust exterminator is being applied to the Covington and Lexington pike from Florence to Erlanger.

Hear that Fred Pfalzgraf will discontinue his blacksmith business at Idlewild the first of next month.

A supper will be given in Hebron next Saturday evening for the benefit of Sand Run Baptist church.

Considerable alfalfa was cut the latter part of last week, some of which was subjected to local showers.

Considerable work is being done on the Woolper pike, which has been in very bad condition for some time.

At some time in the future a scientist will bob up claiming that the pesky fly is a great promotor of health.

Your attention is called to the change in D. E. Castleman's professional card which appears in another column.

This county has been favored with fine rains the past week. Some neighborhoods were needing rain badly when it came.

The Boone County Medical Society will be entertained at Erlanger on the evening of the 21 inst., by Dr. J. G. Furnish, of Covington.

Burlington and vicinity did not manifest as much interest in the High School Commencement exercises last night as should have been shown.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Pt. Pleasant Christian church will give an outing in J. S. Cullums woods near Geo. Youell's on Saturday June 24th.

Rev. Joseph Hagan, pastor of Fourth Street Christian church, Covington, will begin a weeks meeting at Bullittsville Christian church next Sunday.

As executor of the estate of the late M. T. Garnett, Sidney Gaines will sell a lot of personal property at the Boone House in Burlington, next Saturday afternoon.

Had there been plants enough the entire crop of tobacco in this county would have been pitched during the past week, whereas about 50 per cent of the intended acreage is not out.

Middle Aged and Elderly People, Use Foley Kidney Pills for permanent results in all cases of kidney and bladder troubles, and for painful and annoying irregularities. For sale by Robt. W. Jones, Walton.

The Boone county pooled wool, about 40,000 pounds, was sold to Davis, of Louisville, last Monday, at 22.9 cents a lb. It will be delivered in a week or ten days. This is the best sale of wool that has been made in this part of the State this year.

Last Monday, Malchus Souther, Secretary of the Farmers Insurance Company, handled 101 checks ranging in sums from 25 cents to $100, and when his work was tested on an adding machine his addition was correct, he having made but one addition of it.

As Joshua Masters, of Bullittsville, was returning from Cincinnati, last Friday afternoon, his wagon was struck by a Sedamsville street car, near the Big Four saloon. Mr. Masters was thrown from the vehicle and pretty badly bruised about his body. The horses ran with the wagon which was pretty thoroughly demolished.

I wish to express my sincere and heartfelt thanks to my relatives, friends and kind neighbors and Bro. Odd-Fellows for the sympathy extended to me in the sad loss of my dear husband. Also for the beautiful floral offerings and especially do I wish to thank Dr. T. E. Carlyle and Mr. John Steer for their efficient services rendered.

Mrs. Rella Sullivan.

The Burlington High School ball team beat a picked nine at the Burlington park last Saturday afternoon 13 to 9. The game went ten innings during which several sensational stunts were pulled off. Hager, it is conceded, saved the day for the school team by a wonderful running, one-handed catch of a fly ball at a time when the bases were all occupied. The catch retired the side.

The game with Hebron advertised for Saturday afternoon was called off on account of the rain that morning.

The attempt to corner the stock owned by the growers in the Burley Tobacco Association is a bold but in some senses of the word a dangerous scheme. The growers, as a class, cannot see that those who organized and operated the scheme to acquire their stock at one-third its value are any better friends to them then is Mr. Duke and his clan. It appears that all they want is the opportunity and then what they will do for the unsuspecting grower is a plenty and then some.

Crops Good In Kansas.

In renewing his subscription to the Recorder, B. L. Stephens, of Ashland, Kansas, writes under date of May 29:

We cannot do without the old home paper. It is always like a letter from home, and we are always glad to get the paper to read, each of us wants to read it first. The wheat which is the principal crop here is almost a failure this year, spring crops are in good shape and the prospects are good for a good yield We are having fine rains now, have had almost three inches rainfall in the last three days, so taking everything into consideration we are in pretty good shape. Give my regards to all my old friends, with best wishes for you and yours and success to the old paper.

Weed Williamson has been a very sick man for the past month with rheumatism and heart trouble, but is recovering rapidly now, and while he has been almost helpless will be up and around soon."

Memorial Services.

About one hundred and twenty-five Knights of Pythias and Odd Fellows assembled at Petersburg, last Sunday, the occasion that brought them together being the annual memorial services held at the cemetery just below the town, that afternoon.

The procession formed at the Odd-Fellows' Hall at three o'clock, and, headed by a brass band, marched to the cemetery, where a large number of persons assembled to witness the ceremonies.

At the cemetery the ceremony laid down in the K. of P. ritural was first observed, and then followed splendid orations by Judge Rusee, of Lawrenceburg; Rev. R. H. Carter, of Petersburg and Rev. Wilson, of Lawrenceburg. The oration in each instance was along practical lines, and caiculated to bear good fruit.

The three orders represented in the procession, last Sunday afternoon, are doing a good work in Petersburg and vicinity, and the public fully appreciates and acknowledges the benefit they have been to that community in the way of administering to the needy and distressed and the upbuilding of moral conditions.

Rev. C. V. Brooks and daughter, Miss Helen, of Idlewild, were pleasant callers at this office yesterday.

Cleveland Snyder, who is motorman on a street car in Cincinnati, is spending a few days at home.

Atty. D. E. Castleman, of Erlanger, came over to attend the High School Commencement exercises, last night.

Rev. Reed, of Erlanger, and A. J. Read, of Union, were among the Recorder's callers, one day the past week.

W. T. Buckner and wife, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Buckner, of Erlanger, were visitors to Burlington, yesterday.

Mrs. Mary Hume, of Hume neighborhood, has been the guest of her son, Sheriff B. B. Hume and wife for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Long, of Long Branch neighborhood, were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Crisler, Tuesday.

W. P. Sullivan spent several days last week, in Covington, with his son, Kirb and family. He reports the time of his life.

Mr. and Mrs. Aiken, of Price Hill, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Gillispie, of Bromley, were guests of Sheriff Hume and wife Sunday.

Sam Hicks came over from Walton last Monday in his auto, making the trip in forty minutes, which is going some to say the least.

Rev. Edgar Riley and family now occupy the residence belonging to D. E. Castleman and which he and his family vacated last week.

Misses Sallie and Lizzie Rogers returned last Sunday from a visit of several days with relatives and friends in Walton and vicinity.

Noah Tanner, of Union, who has been suffering with a badly poisoned hand for some time, was in Burlington, Monday. His hand looks bad yet.

Thomas Howard, who has the contract for the concrete work at the creamery, went to Crittenden, Grant county, Monday where he has a large lot of work.

Miss Nellie Berkshire, accompanied by a lady friend, came out from the city last Saturday afternoon and spent that night and Sunday with her father, Edgar Berkshire and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Berkshire entertained the following guests last Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Fenton, Miss Nellie Berkshire Miss Lyons, of Newport, and Dr. Roff, wife and family, of Avondale, O.

Dr. Peddicord entertained several of the county doctors, one night last week. Those from Walton came over in Dr. Slater's automobile, encountering a heavy rain and electric storm, while enroute.

Dr. R. H. Crisler, of Latonia, has been rusticating down on his farm at North Bead, for several weeks. He use to know how to make things move on the farm, but after so many years' vacation farm work will go awkward with him for a while.

Eggs are down now, to be sure; but we don't believe that therefore, the interest in the poultry business should slacken. It does'nt seem to be slackening in the south. Every business has its perids of depression, but the man who masters any line of work and sticks to it thru good years and bad is likely to come out all right, while the fellow who makes haste to get out in a bad season is likely to be out when the good season return. There is no danger of too much good poultry, and there is going to be money made in the business for many years to come.

Chas. A. Gaines was subbing for his brother, William, rural carrier on route No. 3, yesterday.

TO KEEP FERTILITY

Proper Physical Condition and Vegetable Matter Needed.

(By H. F. Patterson, Montana Experiment Station.)

No way has been discovered to maintain the fertility of arid lands except by getting the soil in the proper physical condition and supplying plenty of vegetable matter, so that the plants can utilize the rainfall and the essential elements of fertility to the best advantage. In order to maintain the fertility either by the application of vegetable matter directly or in the form of manure, it is absolutely necessary that a proper rotation be established. By a proper rotation I mean one that will distribute the labor thruout the year, that will maintain the supply of nitrogen, and that will give each crop the place where it can utilize the available elements to the best advantage. No single rotation is adapted to all parts of our country, to every farm in any particular locality, or to every quarter section of land.

However, there are certain principles that are applicable everywhere. A great deal depends upon the crop that is to be grown. A rotation for a dry farm would necessarily differ from a rotation adapted for irrigated lands. For dry lands it has been recommended that 12-year rotation be adopted. The first season winter wheat is usually raised; as soon as the crop is removed the field is thoroughly disked and harrowed, so as to preserve the moisture. The year following the land is plowed in the spring and then summer fallowed during that season. The third year another crop of wheat is raised, and then corn or some other cultivated crop the fourth year. During the summer the soil is intertilled and all the moisture retained. The 5th year the land is given over to the growing of wheat or oats. The sixth year it is summer fallowed again. Another crop of wheat is raised the seventh year and in the spring of the eighth year the land is plowed and seeded to alfalfa, using about ten pounds of seed per acre. The alfalfa is usually sown without a nurse crop. The alfalfa is left down for four years, after which the land may be plowed up and the same rotation repeated. Very good success has been had by following such a system and in some cases the yields of grain have been nearly doubled, while upon farms that have been continually cropped the yield has been continually diminishing.

The rotation should be divided so that it will distribute the labor throughout the year. The number of years to leave the land in alfalfa must be determined by the amount of live stock kept on the farm and the amount of available labor. In order that the labor may be distributed thruout the year, it is necessary that some live stock be kept. To the farmer who has been continually raising wheat this perhaps does not sound advisable. Many do not consider it profitable to raise anything but grain and as a result pay but little attention to the fertility of the land.

A very correct estimate of the soil can be had by noticing the growth of the plants. If the straw is rank and the grain inclined to lodge, the soil may contain a surplus of nitrogen. However, we are seldom troubled with this factor in the west. Lodging is usually caused by a lack of potassium, for the stiffness of the straw is to some extent governed by the amount of this element present. In other words, the lodging of grain may be caused by too much nitrogen and also by a deficiency in the amount of potassium in the soil. Then again, lodging may be caused by rust or other diseases affecting the straw. If the farmer finds his grain chaffy when indicating plenty of nitrogen, and if it still retains a healthy, green color, he finds a stiff straw, indicating sufficient potash, he may suspect that the soil is deficient in phosphorus. There may be plenty of this element in the soil, but it may be in an unavailable form. In this event it is necessary to supply this element or practice systems of tillage that will aid in liberating what is present in a dormant condition.

It is not profitable for the western farmer to spend money in applying these materials; the soils usually contain sufficient amounts that can be made available by cultivation and by thorough methods of cultivation. In conclusion I might say that the fertility of the land in an arid region may be maintained by practicing rotation of crops, by the application of manure and by a proper system of soil cultivation.

The Spoils of the Post-Office System.

In the June McClure's Charles W. Eliot, former President of Harvard University, has written an article on the experience of a young woman in the civil service of the United States, Dr. Eliot sums up his article as follows:

"The moral of this story is plain. A young woman, well born, well brought up, intelligent, better educated than nine tenths of American children, and of irreproachable character, demonstrates by five years of service as assistant in two postoffices that she is fully capable of discharging well the duties of a postmaster. By fidelity and intelligence she reaches a good position in the United States Post-Office,—that of postmistress in a third-class office, only to be deprived of it by the action of local political managers thru the administration at Washington. Character and merit in the candidate, the interest of the service, and the wishes of the people to be served, go for nothing. Personal feeling and the supposed interests of party work grievous injustice; and the case demonstrates that the larger business department of the national government is not conducted on sound business principles in regard to its employees and that a farmer's daughter, working for a living honorably and in every respect successfully, can not expect from the national government the consideration and support which every intelligent and respectable private employer would surely give her. The case was not an exceptionally hard one. All appointees on political grounds are liable to just such treatment, and as a matter of fact, at the present moment all the higher appointments under the national government are spoils or patronage positions. The merit system is applied only to subordinate positions. All good citizens, under whatever party names they habitually act, ought to unite on the legislation needed to eradicate from American politics this monstrous patronage system, the unclean source of corruption, inefficiency, and degradation in the government civil service."

Here's Your Chance.

There will be a competative examination beginning September 5, 1911, for the selection of about one hundred civilians for appointment to be second lieutenants in the cavalry, field artillery and infantry of the United States Army. The examinations will be conducted at a number of military posts thruout the country, and candidates will be examined at posts as convenient as practicable to their homes.

Persons desiring to enter the competition should address applications to The Adjutant General of the Army, Washington, D. C., accompanied by testimonials or certificates as to their moral character and fitness for the position of a commissioned officer in the United States Army.

It will be a pleasure to Congressman A. B. Rouse to send to any person desiring it, printed information in regard to the examination.

Fair At Rising Sun.

The business men of Rising Sun have elected the following officers and committees to have charge of their second annual Agricultural fair to be held on the streets of that city September 21, 22 and 23:

President—P. A. Davis.

Secty. and Treas.—Elmer Benham.

Assist. Secty.—E. V. Newman.

Executive Committee.—R. S. Thompson, E. A. Anderson, Wm. Green, Jr.

Advisory Committee—Joe Walton, Colin Kelly, of Boone county; Geo. Barricklow, Edwin Winn, Grant North, Elijah Turner, Marion Miller, of Ohio county.

The first of June found rather a poor prospect for meadows, but the recent rains may bring them out considerably.

WILDEST COUNTRY NOW LEFT

Part of Arizona That Has Been Visited by Only Two or Three White Travelers.

Letters received from Zane Grey indicated that the author of "The Heritage of the Desert" had some interesting experiences ahead of him. His last letter was dated Flagstaff, Ariz., and is as follows: "I leave here tomorrow morning for Navajo mountain. There is only one man who knows the trail—Judd his name is Wetherall. He lives in the Painted Desert about 200 miles out and his place is the last trading post. I have an old timer—in fact, a "forty-niner," to take me out to Tuba, Oraibi, Red lake and then on to Wetherills. From there the country is exceedingly barren and wild. In fact, my guide says it is the wildest country left in the United States. Two years ago a geological survey man got a Navajo to take him to this mountain and this trip resulted in the discovery of the wonderful natural bridge that the Navajos worship. Since then only two or three travelers have undertaken the journey. So I expect a hard and wonderful trip. I hope to get out in a month or six weeks.—Harper's Weekly.

Think It Over.

The following from a Kansas paper is worthy of reproduction: "Speaking of the black sheep that get into lodges and churches reminds me that when Christ walked this earth He gathered a small company of disciples. It is likely that in gathering he used all his superwisdom; yet in that flock there was one coward who soon afterward denied Him, and one traitor who soon afterward betrayed Him. If it was impossible for Christ to select a small company of men and know that every one of them was good, how much more impossible would it be for any human weakness within itself, limited by human facilities without to avoid getting the undesirable member? Perfection has never been attained by a man at least in modern times, nor body of men, each of whom is imperfect. But to suggest a remedy to those goody-goody people who see so much evil in church or lodge. Go, good people, join these organizations give them the benefit of your almighty purity and wisdom, uplift them, guide them into better ways, be so numerous among them that you have control of their institutions. But do not stand on the outside and wring your hands in holy terror and thank the Lord like the Pharisee, that you are not like some people. Be assured that if you find wrong existing and do not help remedy it, except with a feeble attempt at scolding, you will have to answer for it in the judgment day you prate so much about. I am giving you some straight talk. Think it over."

Never Took a Bath.

The wife of Charles S. Winch, a farmer living near Marion, Ky., has sued for divorce. She says her husband, who is 41 years old, and in good health, never took a bath during all the years she lived with him except by wading in a stream when they lived near a river. She further says he objected to her bathing their baby, and cursed her when she did. He never changed his clothing, the petition recites. He put it on and never took it off, until it was worn to shreds.

If surface indications count for anything, Judge Ed. C. O Rear will be nominated for Governor by the Republicans. He is an out-and out Prohibitionist, and has publicly declared for the straight county unit bill or bust. Senator Brad ley, who can't control the people, but who can control the committee, has issued the edict that J. W. McCullough, the booze artist, who manufactures the alleged article without a headache, shall be the campaign chair man. So there you are. A Prohibitionist for a candidate, and an anti for his campaign manager. The spectacle of Wat Hardin trying to ride a free silver horse in 1895 and the party platform declaring for a gold standard won't be a circumstance to this performance of the Republicans in this good year of our Lord.—Bowling Green Messenger.

Poultry Notes.

Don t crowd your young chicks.

The loft should be cleaned out every month, at least.

Resolve to set no eggs this year from a weak, crippled or ailing hen.

Do not catch ducks by their legs. It is much safer to handle them by the necks.

Warm charred corn is fine for the liver, and sends biddies happy and warm to bed.

Have removable nests, not too many together, so you can dump them and fumigate when necessary.

It is an unpleasant fact that much spraying is done badly; this means that much money is thrown away.

A good mail bird is half the pen, and, his influence on the entire progeny is very marked.

Keep the brooder perfectly clean, and always feed the chicks in a clean place if you want them to live and thrive.

Nests should be placed in any little sheltered corner and should be so made that they can be closed when needed.

Where plenty of nests are provided little trouble will be experienced with hunting eggs in the tall grass or with egg-eating hens.

Farmers who raise 150 to 200 chickens every season could raise double the number with half the labor by the use of incubators.

Artificial incubation has been reduced to such a science that it is comparatively an easy matter to hatch any number of chicks.

A Pennsylvania woman raised $88 worth of young turkeys from three turkey hens last year, an unusual record, but what has been done, can be repeated.

Those who raise poultry on an extensive plan get better results and more profits by using the incubator than when dependence is placed solely on the hens.

A most excellent mixture for cleaning the henhouse is one of carbolic acid and whitewash. Paint all the interior with it, using an ounce of the acid to a pail of whitewash.

It requires very little more time to care for two incubators than one.

Eggs for successful incubation should not be over two weeks old at the most.

Pure-bred poultry costs more than the other kind, but brings better prices when sold.

If you cannot trap-nest all your flock this spring, try-trapnesting the breeding pen at least.

When the chicks can get away from it at will, plenty of heat under the hover is a good thing.

The trouble with most farmers is that they wait too long before marketing their ducks and geese.

One of the most potent reasons for chicks dying in the shell lies back of the egg in the parent stock.

Just one setting of thoroughbred eggs may be the means of working a revolution in your poultry business.

In starting in the squab business one should not let color and fancy fads precede size and breeding qualities.

An up-to-date poultry breeder of utility strains will not think of getting along without trap nests of some form.

Eggs that are imperfectly turned or that do not get enough airing and stirring will be weak at hatching time.

It is said that Boston consumes more turkey in proportion to population than any community in the Union.

The fowls that scratch and work are usually the ones that lay. The others are the drones and the drones don't pay.

Be sure that the new hen house is located where the drainage is good, and not in a place where water will stand for any length of time.

Plan to raise a fine flock of general purpose standard bred birds this season. They will yield much more satisfaction and profit than a mixed flock.

The chick that has been exercised well during incubation as the hen exercises them while with in the shell will prove strong enough to break out of his shell at hatching time.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will brace up the nerves, banish sick headache, prevent despondency and invigorate the whole system. Sold by all dealers.

Agricultural Knowledge.

The farmer who reads agricultural papers, books and bulletins, and attends farmers' institutes is no longer ridiculed as a book farmer, except by an occasional simpleton whose censure amounts to real praise. People are studying agriculture as never before. Once, and not very long ago, either, it was thought derogatory to the high character of the human intellect to engage it in the sordid affairs of business. Eventually brains became involved in business affairs as well as in philosophy, rhetoric and poetry, and later even philosophers and poets became reconciled to this humiliation of the "God-like" faculty of man. Later farmers began to invoke the intellect to insure success and began to arouse themselves from the lethargy of centuries and to ask, why so much progress in other lines and so little on the farms. Farmers are now combining in one enthusiastic chase in a hot pursuit of knowledge.

Gets It In The Neck.

The ultimate consumer catches it on all sides. Whether his food stuff comes direct from the first hands or thru the middleman he gets it in the neck, or rather in the pocket book. Short weights and measures are not confined to city dealers. Police Commissioner Welsh, of New York City, appointed a lot of inspectors to atop the market gardeners on their way to the city and investigate their baskets that carried vegetables for sale. Over three thousand baskets that were short measure were seized and their contents publicly burned. It made a huge bonfire which was witnessed and enjoyed by thousands of purchasers who hadn't been getting as much as they paid for, and who rather enjoued the punishment which was meted out to the smooth and thrifty vegetable growers.

Lightning Kills Few.

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robt. Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at all dealers.

Saved His Wife's Life.

"My wife would have been in her grave to-day," writes O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., "if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery. She was down in her bed, not able to get up without help. She had a severe bronchial troubel and a dreadful cough. I got her a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and she soon began to mend, and was well in a short time." Infallible for coughs and colds, its the most reliable remedy on earth for desperate lung trouble, hemorrhages, la-grippe, asthma, hay fever, croup and whooping cough. 50c., $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all dealers.

The Dry Weather.

Perhaps the "oldest inhabitant" never saw such a May in the Blue Grass region. The weather man has never encountered such hot days, or so many of them. With the exception of a slight shower a week ago, the country in the vicinity of Winchester has had no rain during the month. Blue Grass seed will be ready to gather in a few days and the promise of a fine crop, has not materialized. The stalk is short and rain now would only force the blades and weeds to grow up and be in the way. Wheat is heading out low and while a good rain would materially help it, much injury has already been done. Meadows are suffering and young clover and grass has died. Tobacco plants are small and hard and are hardly fit for transplanting. Much ground is not ready and the crop is sure to be curtailed. Corn is coming up badly and much of it will have to be replanted. Garden seeds came up badly and growth of vegetation of all kinds at a stand still.

The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures. Sold by all dealers.

BEETHOVEN ON BICYCLE PUMP

English Musician Discovers New Instrument on Which He Plays Many Popular Airs.

London.—Beethoven on the bicycle pump may soon be an attraction at concerts, for Mr. Henry Oliver, a Godalming man, has discovered that this cycling accessory possesses musical properties.

Mr. Oliver made his debut with his new instrument at a concert of the Church of England Men's society, and his performance, besides being warmly applauded at the concert, has created much interest.

He is a man of musical tastes, and though familiar locally as a singer, is better known as a violinist of considerable skill. He also plays the harmonium.

A student of sound waves, he was prompted to test the musical capacity of his bicycle pump by the whistling sound, so familiar to every cyclist, caused by the up and down movement of the plunger.

"I knew," he said, "that there was music in it."

He carried on experiments at odd times, and finally achieved success with an ordinary celluloid pump, and it was on this that he gave several selections at the concert.

The length of the pump is 15 inches, and it is played like a flute, which it resembles very nearly in tone, by means of a hole bored in the barrel about an inch from the end. It has a range of two octaves.

There are no stops upon the barrel itself, the notes being produced and regulated entirely by the inward and outward movement of the pump handle, as with a slide trombone. The further out the plunger is drawn the deeper becomes the note.

Mr. Oliver has an extensive repertoire. In fact, he says he can play anything that is not too rapid.

Solos, such as "Holy City," "Killarney," "Dear Homeland," Mr. Oliver can play with ease and sureness upon his novel instrument, and he can also perform slow marches, such as Gluck's Grand March.

"I am bringing out a different pump instrument," he told me, displaying a familiar type of nickel bicycle pump, the sound of which he proposes to make resemble a piccolo. "It has greater possibilities than the celluloid pumps."

He can make one of his novel musical instruments in just the time it takes to bore a hole in a bicycle pump and slot up the end. The latter operation is not strictly necessary, however.

No name has as yet been given to the new instrument.

PHYSICIAN TALKS OF HAREM

Graduate of University of Pennsylvania Makes Interesting Remarks of Household Life.

Philadelphia.—Secrets of the imperial palace at Constantinople, where dwelt the sultan and his many wives, were revealed by Dr. G. Dongian, who for 18 years was physician for the harem of Abdul Hamid of Turkey, at a reception given in his honor by the Men's club of the Episcopal church of Tacony.

Doctor Dongian, who is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, resided in this city for a number of years. He returned from Constantinople last April, following the introduction of the regime of the new sultan and the banishment of Abdul Hamid.

Dr. Dongian's introduction into the sultan's good graces was as strange as his long term of service at the palace. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1889. In the fall of 1890 he went to the Orient to visit his parents, at Derbeker, Armenia.

On his way to Armenia, the physician stopped in Constantinople to get state permission to practice his profession in his land. In the capital city he solicited the aid of a certain pasha and friend of the sultan, whom he had known in Armenia before his departure to America. This pasha obtained an audience with the sultan for Dr. Dongian.

Learning that he was a physician and from America, the Turkish ruler expressed unusual interest and sent Dr. Dongian to a daughter of one of the officials of the city, who was ill. When the physician from America worked a cure on the first patient, the sultan appointed him official member of the harem's medical staff.

In his term of 18 years, Dr. Dongain was in constant danger of his life through the jealous plotters among the native physicians on the sultan's corps.

One of the sultan's four official wives—the harem is made up of four official wives and 600 female attendants—fell sick—wife No. 2, the household calls her. Dr. Dongian was summoned, and through his knowledge of medicine and American practice, the woman was cured. The sultan showered the physician with gifts and decorations, and his favor with the ruler was never doubted after that.

King Catalogues Coins.

Rome.—The first volume of a work by King Victor Emmanuel, entitled "Corpus Nummerum Italicorum," has just been published. It is the first general catalogue of Italian mediaeval and modern coins, with special reference to those minted by the House of Savoy. It comprises 432 pages and 42 sheets of illustrations.

Half of the proceeds from the sale of this work will be devoted to benevolent institutions, and half to the Italian Numismatic Society.

EDITOR IN TROUBLE

ALKALI EYE WANTS TO KNOW JUST WHAT HE MISSED.

Judging From Results There Was Some Remarkable Stuff in His "Subscription Jug," and He is Wondering.

We wish we knew what some duck put into our subscription jug yestiddy; all we know is thet one of th' finest drinkin' ducks o' Alkali come wobblin' inter our presence yestiddy jest after th' aforesaid subscription had been received, an' in response ter his pleadin' look we jerked our thumb towrds our jug an' he went over an' fastened hisself onto th' neck of it an' took three gurgles, then he drapped th' jug onto th' imposin' stone, where it busted, an' hollered, then he riz up onto his toes an' hollered ag'in, then he jumped three foot inter th' air an' let out another yawp, an' though we started fer him th' minute th' jug [illegible] an' though we had on'y about six feet ter go ter reach him, before we could git ter where he was at he hed hollered three times, rolled over on th' floor four times, wiped his tongue on th' office towel once, an' run around th' office like a cat with a fit, and whilst we managed ter land onto his gable end with a galley as he went outen th' winder they was not much satisfaction in that fer us, an' he seemed ter be havin' so many other troubles with himself thet we don't believe he ever knew we landed till he got sobered up an' tried ter set down. We went back ter where he hed drapped th' jug an' smelt o' th' pieces, an' tried ter pick some o' th' dope up with th' office sponge, but they was so much other foreign matter in th' sponge thet we couldn't taste th' dope at all; then we went ter th' door an' looked up th' road at th' cloud o' dust thet was a-dwindlin' into th' distance an' we seen thet it wouldn't be no good tryin' ter overtake th' party of th' first part, an' there wouldn't've ben no result by a homicide if we had ketched up with him, an' whilst we was hungerin' ter commit murder we was a-hungerin' worse fer a drink. We would like ter know whut it was in th' jug; we believe thet if we could git a good snifter o' that kind o' dope underneath the waist band of our pants we could beat our own record at lickin' a policeman, an' that would be goin' some. When we went back th' stone was a-smokin' an' there was a hole burnt into th' floor an' th' sponge was on fire an' they was a scorched streak th' entire len'th of th' office towel, but aside from them few traces of th' late disaster everything was all right. Ef we kin find th' name of th' [illegible] et [illegible] it all we shall challenge th' winner of th' Johnson-Jeffries fight. Ef th' duck thet poured th' subscription will come back ag'in he will hear o' something to our advantage. Meantime we air ready ter exchange a year's subscription fer a new jug.—"Alkali Eye," in the Houston Post.

Separating Them.

Mr. Grubb, an elderly bachelor, having been troubled for a week or two with a pain in his back, went to his doctor. The physician, who was just starting to see a patient, prescribed two large porous plasters and told him to call again in about a fortnight and report.

Mr. Grubb complied with directions. He went to a drug store and bought the plasters and after a prolonged struggle with them in his own room succeeded in getting them properly in place. Being a very small man, however, the two nearly covered his whole back. At the end of two weeks he called at the physician's office again.

"Well, how is your back?" asked the medical man.

"Sound as a dollar. Hasn't pained me any for ten days or more."

"Glad to hear it. You may take the plasters off whenever you please."

"Not much!" exclaimed Mr. Grubb, removing his coat and vest, taking off his collar and locking the door of the doctor's office. "I won't touch 'em. They're bigger than I am. What I want you to do now, doctor, is to pull me off the plasters."—Youth's Companion.

No Occasion for Apology.

"Can you tell me where the gardinier department is?" the hurrying woman shopper asked.

"No, ma'am," replied Mr. Lincoln-park. "Can you direct me to the furniture department?"

"I beg your pardon," he said. "I took you for a doorwalker."

"Don't apologize for a compliment like that, ma'am," he answered; but the woman was in too big a hurry to hear.

A Suggestion.

The girl who is an interior decorator was walking down Fifth avenue with a woman friend, says the New York Press. They stopped at a quaint little store full of beautiful antiques and other things.

"It's the height of my ambition," said the girl, "to have a little store like that and sell antique and beautiful things. I love antiques."

"Can't you get an antique husband?" asked the woman, "who would set you up in one?"

Hard-Earned Recreation.

Mrs. Newrich—O, dear, no. My husband don't have to be in business no more. He's just a gentleman now.

Mrs. Knicker—That must be a pleasant change for him.—Gray Matter.

One of the prettiest church weddings that has been witnessed at Walton took place at the Baptist church last Thursday afternoon when the hearts and hands of Logan Canton Campbell and Miss Hattie Taylor were joined together in the holy bonds of wedlock. The church was artistically decorated with daisies, honeysuckle, palms, ferns, and evergreens, a beautiful floral arch being erected over the chancel. The spacious auditorium was filled with friends and relatives of the contracting couple, and everything seemed to conspire to bless and sanction the happy event. Three o'clock was the appointed hour, and the approach of the wedding party was heralded by the soft notes of the beautiful Mendellsohn's wedding march under the skillful touch of Miss Fannie Mae Buck at the organ. Ernest McElroy and Miss Anna Cleek were the attendants, and the ushers were Benjamin F. Stamler and Miss Mable Powers, J. Wilmot Kinslaer and Miss Gertrude Curley. Taking their places in front of the altar, Rev. H. C. Wayman in a beautiful and impressive ceremony joined the two young lives together in Hymen's bonds. The bride was very pretty in a dress of pale blue voille, and carried a bouquet of white carnations; the groom wore the conventional black. Miss Cleek wore a salmon colored silk, Miss Powers pink, and Miss Curley white silk, and Miss Buck coral silk. Following the ceremony the newly married couple were driven in a carriage to the southern railroad depot, while the other participants in the ceremony were taken to the depot in J. F. Cleek's automobile, all being supplied with an assortment of old shoes and a liberal quantity of rice, and as the young couple left on the train for Cincinnati, the old shoes and the rice played a conspicuous part in the farewells and wishes for a bright and happy future. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell went to Hazard, Perry County, Ky., where Mr. Campbell resides, and were given a handsome reception by his relatives and a genuine old Kentucky welcome. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Taylor of Walton, and is a very lovable young lady with a host of friends. The groom is preparing for the ministry and has the reputation of being a most excellent young gentleman. The best wishes of their large circle of friends is tendered them for a long, happy and prosperous life together.

Arch Dickerson had a valuable cow to die Monday.

John Taylor and wife spent Sunday with friends here.

Mrs. Lewis Clegg spent one day the past week with Mrs. Utz.

E. A. Blankenbeker and family, visited at Geo. Barlow's, Sunday.

H. G. Blanton and best girl passed thru here Sunday afternoon.

Sanford and Lillian Pristow were calling on friends in the city, last Saturday.

Misses Hattie Smith and Anna Aylor were calling on friends here Friday, afternoon.

J. D. Bristow and wife, entertained, Sunday, with an elegant dinner.

Miss Edith Lipscomb, of Independence, visited her aunt, Mrs. H. R. Rogers, recently.

Miss Emma Clements has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Emma Marshall, several days.

Mrs. Nelson Quisenbury, of Missouri, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. A. Huey, for several days.

Wm. Carpenter has purchased a new threshing machine, and will be ready for business in the near future.

A number of young people from here formed a gay party to Coney Island Wednesday evening of last week.

Misses Rachel Conner and Eugenia Riley were guests of Mrs. Cloyd Powers, of Verona, Saturday and Sunday.

Six wagon loads of gypsies passed thru one day last week enroute to Louisville. They were a tough looking set.

Our graded school closed last Thursday with an entertainment at Senour Hall, which was well attended. The teachers, Prof. Simmons and Miss Hartfield, have returned to their homes.

A race mare belonging to Stanley Eddins died Monday night. She had been sick for several days. Dr. Crisler pronounced the trouble blood poison. The mare's track name was Centillion, and had just been broken to harness.

Personal Mention.

A. C. Porter entertained several of his children, last Sunday.

Miss Kathryn Clements is visiting relatives in Grant county.

Nicholas Carpenter's condition has not improved the past week.

Master Edwin Duncan is visiting his grandmother and other relatives at Walton.

Jerry Fowler, of Athens, Ohio, is the guest of his uncle and aunt, J. F. Blyth and wife.

Mrs. Nannie Maurer has gone to Richmond to attend the summer term of Normal School.

Assessor T. G. Willis, of Bullittsville, was transacting business in Burlington, Monday.

Garnett Tolin, who had been attending college at Danville, is at home to spend the summer vacation.

Misses Bessie and Ruth Hall went to Loveland, Ohio, yesterday for a week's visit with relatives.

Mrs. Peddicord went to Bracken county yesterday to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Morehead.

Attys. D. E. Castleman and O. M. Rogers, were, in Burlington, Monday, looking after business in Judge Cason's court.

Capt. Fenton, who had been the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Edgar Berkshire, for several days returned to his home in Newport, yesterday.

Congressman A. B. Rouse spent several days the past week at home with his parents. He is looking like national lawmaking agrees with him.

James W. Cleek and wife and son Dr. Jacob, of Walton, were guests of J. L. Clements and wife, Sunday. They came over in the doctor's auto.

Lucien Clore and wife, R. S. Cowen and wife and Grover Snyder and wife visited Leonard Kite and wife on Waterloo neighborhood, last Sunday.

M. J. Corbin and wife, of Belleview, and M. Snyder and wife visited relatives in Hebron neighborhood, last Sunday, going over in Mr. Corbin's auto.

Wm. Arnold, of Belleview, was in Burlington Monday. He is arranging to begin rebuilding on the site of his residence that burned a few weeks ago.

Mr. G. S. Walrath, who has been in St. Louis and other western cities for several weeks, arrived at home last Sunday, looking like his trip had been a very pleasant one.

Garnett Huey, who was operated on in Georgetown for appendicitis three weeks ago last Sunday, came home on Tuesday of this week, having recovered sufficiently to make the trip.

Mosby Allen, candidate for the Legislature, was in Burlington, yesterday. He reports prospects for a corn crop in this county as very poor. Some are not done breaking their ground yet.

Ollie Wone, wife and two children, Howard Creager, wife and little son, and Miss Maggie Creager, all of Lawrence, Ohio, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard White, last Saturday, and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hall, last Sunday. They came over in Mr. Wone's large auto.

A suvenir postal received from Lieut. Walter H. Lassing, dated Copenhagen, May 30th, says: "It is summer now. This is the prettiest of cities, and is daylight from 2 a. m., to 10 a. m." Lieutenant Lassing is certainly seeing a considerable portion of God's footstool.

Col. and Mrs. S. P. Tilly, of Clearwater, Florida, were guests of Mrs. Tilly's sister, Mrs. J. F. Blyth, of the Boone House the first of this week. Fortune has smiled on them since they located in Florida, where they have a cozy home and a valuable orange grove in which Mr Tilly spends much of his time when he can leave his jewelry store, where he is doing a nice business. Mr. and Mrs. Tilly are in love with both the climate and the people of the southland.

W. T. Stott came down one day last week to see his lower farm.

The report is that there will be a fine crop of melons this year.

A very large crowd attended the memorial services at Bellevue, last Sunday.

Miss Goldie Bruce was calling on some of her friends in Gasburg, Friday evening.

Dr. Axby, of Lawrenceburg, was called again to see John Eggleston's mare which got cut so badly a few days ago.

Mrs. Laura Farrell, of Guilford, Ind., and Charles Canon, of Aurora, Ind., were Sunday guests of John Eggleston and wife, of Gasburg.

Frank Dorsey, son of the late Thomas Dorsey, of Richwood, was found dead, last Sunday morning in the rear of 217 West 6th street, Cincinnati. It is evident that he was murdered and robbed. His funeral took place at Florence yesterday. The deceased had been engaged in the hay business for many years in Cincinnati.

MOTOR SHIP FEARED

Experts Skeptical About 36,000 Horsepower Engines.

Many Difficulties Will Have to Be Overcome Before Warships Can Be Successfully Propelled by New System.

London.—It is now some time since a statement appeared in the journal called Motor Boat to the effect that motor engines of 36,000 aggregate horse power are building in England, and that they are to be installed in a battleship of the Dreadnought type shortly to be laid down. Since this announcement was made a good many shrewd observers in the scientific world have been looking about to discover where these engines, which are said to be of the two-stroke Diesel type, are being constructed, but up to the present no trace of them has been found.

Neither is anything definite known about the engines for a French motor-driven battleship which, according to the same authority, will be completed and in commission in advance of the British vessel.

In fact, these two ships appear to be in a precisely similar condition to the motor-driven monitor, which the Vorwarts recently asserted was building for Germany. The actual construction of that vessel, like these later ones spoken of in the Motor Boat was, it may be remembered, vouched for at the time.

It is not surprising in these circumstances that there is a great deal of skepticism shown in regard to the whole story. But because it has been found impossible to discover the manufacturers of the engines of these alleged motor driven battleships for Great Britain, France and Germany it would be unscientific and illogical to assume that they do not exist. At the same time it shows the difficulty that there is in obtaining precise particulars about these wonderful assertions of scientific improvements.

If there is one thing more than another demanded in mechanical science it is the necessity of exactness, and all this vagueness about place, time and other essential details only carries doubt to the mind of the engineer.

In an article recently published was outlined the progress that had been made in the application of the internal combustion principle to warship requirements and the opinion was expressed that "when the change does come there is every reason to believe that it will first be seen in a British vessel, for, as was the case with the steam turbine, the authorities would not allow themselves to be outdistanced by a foreign naval power. For this reason their plans and intentions are kept as secret as possible."

Although Messrs. Vickers, Sons & Maxim have denied any knowledge of the motor driven warship being actually in hand, there are other firms on the admiralty list, like Yarrow and Thornycroft, which would no doubt be prepared to build a ship propelled by the new system.

It was only last month that Lord Fisher, late First Sea Lord of the admiralty, expressed the opinion in an interview with newspaper representatives in New York that the country that first takes hold of the principle of internal combustion will sweep the world commercially.

At present the marine motor is much further advanced in the mercantile marine world than for warship purposes, as is shown by the 9,000-ton steamship which the Hamburg-American line is having built at Hamburg. Its extension to ships of war presents peculiar difficulties, though there is no doubt that these will be overcome in course of time.

It is noteworthy that the writer in the Motor Boat dealt only with the engines of the motor driven Dreadnought and not with the design of the vessel herself. Sir William White, one of the greatest naval constructors of the age, explained some time back that we have to deal with one of the most perplexing problems that beset a naval designer when we come to the removal of weights which vitally affect a ship's stability.

The writer in the Motor Boat recognises, it is true, that the saving in weight and space would be hardly sufficient to allow of extra guns to be carried, and he suggests that greater fuel storage accommodation will be provided, but he does not in any way indicate how the loss of the weight of boilers and engines below the water line is to be met.

These and other similar questions will continue to agitate and interest the engineering world, but it is more likely that some solid contribution toward this important subject by some well known scientific authority will give us our first real light upon the new motor-driven battleship.

Egg Big Enough for Family.

Irvington, N. J.—Burson Bell is preserving as a curiosity an egg eight and one-quarter inches long and six and one-half inches wide, which was found in his hencoop. He says it was laid by a Leghorn pullet, and if cooked would provide a meal for an entire family.

TELEPHONE GIRL GIVES BOND

Hotel Management Puts Penalty on Matrimony Because Cupid Has Been Too Industrious.

Spokane, Wash.—When Miss Margaret Perkins went to work as telephone operator in a local hotel the other day the management required her to give a bond not to marry within six months. The instrument, duly signed and sealed, holds Miss Perkins' bondsmen liable to the extent of $500 in the event she becomes a bride on or before June 21, 1911. The sureties are prominent business men.

The reason for this unusual requirement by the hotel management is that a half dozen telephone operators have married within as many months, the last two being Miss Florence Joyce, who recently married a rancher, and Miss Olive Bourne, who has gone to Rockland, Mich., to join her intended husband.

"I am not engaged to marry any one, nor do I expect to enter into an engagement during the coming six months," said Miss Perkins, a comely brunette, "and for that reason my bondsmen have nothing to fear. Of course, I have received a proposal or two, but I am not ready to settle down for life.

"The making of a bond is a matter of business with the management of the hotel," the operator continued. "There is more or less trouble every time a new operator is 'broken in,' the rule being that as soon as a girl becomes efficient she deserts the switchboard to join heart and hand with some mere man.

"As I said, I am not ready to become the wife of any man, therefore the management has nothing to fear so far as I am concerned.

"The two young women working on the other eight hour shifts will also be required to give bonds, I am informed."

A. G. Benson, manager of the house, believes that Miss Perkins and the other operators will carry out their agreement to the letter.

MAYOR'S COACH IS REGILDED

Historic Vehicle, Built in 1757, Is Made to Look New Again by Repairs.

London.—The state coach in which the lord mayor, as usual, brought up the rear of his pageant through the streets of London, was, as ever, an attractive feature in the "show," though this year is presented, perhaps, a brighter appearance than it has done for a long time. It had just emerged from the hands of the cleaners and gilders.

The present coach was built in the year 1757. It is believed that the panels were painted by Jean Baptiste Cipriani, a Florentine, who had migrated to London and was renowned for the beautiful manner in which he represented flying Cupids and mythological deities.

In 1777 "extensive" repairs were made to the coach at a cost of $175. Not until 1812 was it relined and regilded at an expense of $3,000, when also a new seat cloth was furnished for $400. Next time it went into the hands of the repairers was in 1821, when it was relined at a cost of $1,030. The wheels had to be renewed in 1828, and the coach was again entirely regilded in 1868. In 1869 the paintings were carefully cleaned, when numerous coats of varnish which completely obscured them were removed.

PLAN TO IRRIGATE STEPPES

John Hays Hammond, Mining Expert, Also Considering Canals and Tramways in Russia.

St. Petersburg.—John Hays Hammond, the American mining expert, is being received here by the departments of commerce, finance, agriculture and communications, with distinctions usually given to the head of an important foreign mission. He refuses to commit himself as yet as to definite schemes, but the Russian press credits him with the intention of proceeding forthwith with the construction of grain elevators to cost $50,000,000. Russia now has elevators for 22,000,000 pounds of grain, though her annual turnover is more than a million pounds.

Mr. Hammond is also considering conditions for employing American capital and engineering skill for the irrigation of the steppes and central Asia, and also for canals and tramways for the great cities. The canalization of St. Petersburg is regarded as urgent, as the only means of ridding the city of cholera. Sir A. R. Bennie, a great English engineer, is now here in that connection.

Philadelphia After Hatpins.

Philadelphia.—In an effort to curtail the long hatpin evil in this city, an ordinance was introduced in councils the other day by Councilman Schmucker providing that no person upon the public streets or on conveyances shall be permitted to wear a hatpin the exposed point of which extends more than one-half inch beyond the crown of the hat. A fine of $50 for each offense is provided.

Spain's Revenues Increase.

Madrid.—The receipts of the treasury for the ten months of the year, ended October 31, show an increase of $6,600,000 in comparison with those for the same period in 1909. The minister of finance declares that these figures form a true index of the progress of the country.

A GREAT DAM

To Be Built Across the Mississippi River from Keokuk to Hamilton, Ill.

The Father of Waters, the mighty Mississippi, is to be harnessed. The mighty dam, which is being constructed at Keokuk, Iowa, will furnish 200,000 horse power and when completed will be the largest dam for hydro-electric purposes in the world.

The dam will stretch across the Mississippi from Keokuk to Hamilton, Ill., a distance of almost one mile.

The effect the giant power house will have upon the industrial and civic welfare of the middle west will be great. Within a transmission distance of practically 200 miles are an unusually large number of flourishing cities and towns: St. Louis, Bloomington, Decatur, Galesburg, Rock Island, Joliet and Rockford, in Peoria; Joliet and Rockford, in Illinois; Dubuque, Davenport, Des Moines, Clinton and Cedar Rapids in Iowa.

Then there are the large cities Missouri, St. Louis, Kansas City, Hannibal and St. Joseph. Altho the work will not be completed until 1913, contracts have already been made by the public service companies of St. Louis for 60,000 horse power for a period of 99 years.

It has been pointed out while the east as a whole, is the great manufacturing center, yet for many years past there has been a pronounced tendency on the part of manufacturers to get as near as possible to the sources of their raw material, or to seek those localities where motive power can be obtained at minimum of cost. Illinois and Iowa have always been agricultural states. The farmers of that part of the country have become exceedingly prosperous, and now it looks as though there would be a rapid industrial development throughout that section. Hence it is by no means necessary to regard the market for the power developed on the Mississippi as limited to industries already existing in the market territory. It is a safe assumption that a region with this great reserve of hydro-electric power will gradually evolve new industries.

It is understood that the power generated will be supplied to existing central stations in different towns and cities in the gas belts. The power will be supplied under contract to the central stations, and the stations will use it instead of generating current. The present equipment of the stations need not be dismantled, but may be held in readiness for emergencies.

The project involves the building of a solid concrete dam across the river, a powerhouse, and a new lock and dry dock for the accommodation of river traffic.

The United States Government and the Mississippi River Power Company are jointly interested in the enterprise. The government secures free of cost a new lock and dry dock, to replace the present canal and three locks, which will be submerged by the new dam—the new lock being much larger than the old ones. The government secures also a new permafor a distance of sixty miles north of the dam. Only during the high stages of the river is it now possible to navigate the Des Moines rapids, which extend over a length of seven and one-half miles of river, except by the use of the present canal and lock system, occupying the Iowa shore and finished in 1877.

In Old Kentucky.

To own a home is one of the most cherished thoughts that is implanted within the human breast. The young man engaging in business in the city finds himself at some time calculating the amount necessary to begin payments upon property that will represent a habitation for himself and those dependent upon him. In the country the tenant is awakening to the fact that by energy and saving he can purchase a small tract of land, build his home and know the proud independence of being a landowner and master of his own destiny. There is a need of this class in Kentucky seeking newer fields. In this great commonwealth the opportunity is always at hand. Kentucky may have some drawbacks, but on the whole, her people, her soil, and surroundings make the home investment idea just a little better than the allurements of distant sections. There is not the slightest desire to discourage those who contemplate removal from the state, nor to depreciate the merits of other lands, but to awaken us to the blessings around us here, for dearest of all homes to Kentuckians is Kentucky.—Our Country.

The many killings in Danville during recent months are causing much unfavorable comment to be made by the newspapers in the State, and Danville is receiving a large black eye. The Messenger wishes to state for the benefit of our brother editors that the parties engaged in this business are of the lowest class—mostly all negroes whose room is better than their presence. An oil expert visited Junction City and after a careful examination shattered the hopes of those who had seen in their dreams innumerable derricks studded in and around their little city when he stated that the oil that was taken from the well was the genuine article, but that it had leaked from some oil reservoirs near by and that there was nothing permanent in the outlook.—Lebanon Falcon.

Indications now clearly point to two of the biggest wheat and blackberry crops ever known in this country, and the way we will eat shortcake and spread on jam will be a caution. It is thought that the wheat, which in a few days will be ready for the harvester, will be the biggest, in many years in this county, especially on the fine Trenton land. The price talked of for opening is from 75 to 85 cents a bushel, but our big farmers don't take to much less than the one dollar figure. There is another big crop promised, and that is the "poor man's crop." There never was a finer showing in all this country for blackberries, and we will likely get a plenty at 10 cents per gallon, delivered.—Trenton Progress.

Breckinridge, Hardin and Meade counties have double marks, or corner posts, where they join at Big Spring, which perhaps have no parallel in State surveys. A huge oak and a large spring, which are natural wonders, are the corner marks. Queer to relate, the tree bears tri-colored leaves annually, light green, medium green and dark green, the three colors representing in number the three counties. Just beneath the large oak is the spring, the other corner mark, from which the town takes its name. The spring is also somewhat wonderful, inasmuch as it is spanned with a natural bridge, and as the residents of three adjoining counties can kneel upon their native soil and quench their thirst from its lucid and refreshing waters without crossing their respective county lines. —Elizabethtown Mirror.

About 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon a storm that assumed almost the proportions of a cloud burst swept Whites Run, Ghent, Worthville and neighboring territory. Many houses and barns were unroofed, crops were literally ruined, fruit trees were stripped of their fruit, young poultry suffered great loss—in fact everything in the path of the storm sustained great damage. Large forest trees that had stood thru the storms of many years were uprooted as by magic. Telephone lines throughout the section were put out of commission, and thousands of dollars' damage was done through the county. The greatest loss is to the growing crops. Corn knee-high was beaten into the ground by the hail; tobacco plants suffered the same fate, and were literally washed away. Many farmers have no plants with which to re-set their fields. Grain was blown down and washed into the earth.—Carrollton Democrat.

Using Less Grease.

The American woman's cooking today is less greasy than it used to be. Many of the tales about the marvelous cooking achievements of past times are well meant dreams, which middle aged folk fare remembered from hungry childhood seems entrancing. During the last decade there have been many sane and practical books on the art of cooking, many discussions on the art, and many cooking schools; knowledge has been on the increase, and improvement has been steady. Particularly, in the case of frying has there been a gain. The lard pail is not the resource that it once was.

Foley and Co., Gentlemen:—We have sold and recommended Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for years. We believe it to be one of the most efficient expectorants on the market. Containing no opiates or narcotics it can be given freely to children. Enough of the remedy can be taken to relieve a cold, as it has no nauseating results, and does not interfere with digestion. Yours very truly, C. H. Ward Drug Co., C. L. Parsons, Sec'y and Treas." Get the original Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in the yellow package. Sold by Robt. W. Jones, Walton.

Primary Election Notice.

At a meeting of the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee, held at Burlington, Ky., March 22, 1911, it was ordered that a Primary Election be held in every voting precinct in Boone County on Saturday, July 1st, 1911, from 6 o'clock a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for State Senator, County Representative and County Clerk to be voted on at the regular election in November, 1911. All known Democrats entitled to vote at the regular election in November, 1911, shall be entitled to vote in this election.

A. B. Renaker was made a subcommittee of one to have ballots printed and to attend to all details in carrying out this call.

The entrance fee of each individual candidate in this primary Election is fixed at $40, to be paid to A. B. Renaker not later than June 16th, 1911, at which time the names of the candidates who have paid their proper entrance fee will be placed on the ballots.

HON. WILLIAM ADDAMS AND THE TOBACCO GROWERS.

Kentucky-Tennessee Journal, Guthrie, Ky.

Hon. William Addams, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, should be carefully considered by the tobacco growers of Kentucky, lest they make a mistake in overlooking in him a friend in need.

Mr. Addams, by reason of necessity, began the battle of life in an extremely humble way and what success he has attained has been by reason of a strict devotion of his attention to business on the "live and let live" principls. He is now one of the most prosperous citizens of Harrison county and no one in Central Kentucky, where he is well known, is more highly regarded.

Mr. Addams for a number of years has been engaged in farming and tobacco growing, and no one is better acquainted with the needs of the farmer and the tobacco grower than he, nor is any one better acquainted with the tremendous sacrifices they have been compelled to make to the trusts in general and to the tobacco trust in particular. Fully realizing the unfortunate conditions prevailing among the tobacco growers, Mr. Addams, together with W. B. Hawkins, of Fayette county, and other public spirited citizens, in 1904 undertook the organization of the first Burley tobacco pool. In that campaign Mr. Addams acted as chairman of and organized Harrison county. In the next campaign, in 1905, Mr. Addams was Vice-President of the Burley Tobacco organization, and labored hard and faithful for the cause of this downtrodden class of the best type of American manhood. In 1906 and 1907 a new organization was effected, but Mr. Addams, while not an officer, still led the fight in his county and all times since while holding no official position in the pool organization, he has been a pooler of his individual tobacco and has stood faithfully with those so gallantly fighting for their rights.

Therefore being a business man, a farmer and tobacco grower and in close sympathy with the needs of this class of our citizens, we say to the growers of the state they should carefully consider his candidacy, for we do recognize in him a friend in need who we know will be a friend indeed.

Statistics in a medical journal show that we have one physician in this county for approximately each 900 of population, while in Europe there is only one physician to each 3,000 of population. The assertion is also made that we need fewer physicians and better medical education for those who do practice. Medical education in this country is being rapidly improved, particularly in the matter of requirements for graduation. As it is, despite the large number proportionately the American physician is generally conceded to be the best in the world upon an average, while American dentists are monopolizing the business in all the large cities of the civilized world.

Writing to have the address of his paper changed, Craig Baldon says: 'Please change my paper from Carbondale to Newcastle, Colo. We have taken a big contract skidding logs about fifteen miles north of here and New Castle is the nearest point. The altitude here is 5,500 feet and the mill where we will be is 10,000 feet, so you can imagine what the road is like. Elk creek, which is near the mill, is full of trout. Wish I could send you a mess. There are lots of deer and a few bears up there.'

On Saturday morning during one of the many severe storms we have had recently lightning struck the house of Ed Bodey on the old John Grace farm west of town; the house of Ira Powell on the top of the John C. Miller hill, and the old Davis property on Popular street, in this city, occupied by W. T. Merrill and family. Only slight damage was done in each instance.--Rising Sun Local.

The Belleview High School ball team visited Florence last Saturday afternoon and took the scalps of Prof. Yealey's team in a well played game, the score being 6 to 5 in favor of the boys from the region of sand and river water.

Resolutions of Respect Evergreen Rebekah Lodge No. 24.

Whereas it has pleased our Heavenly Father in his infinite wisdom, to call from labor our esteemed brother, R. L. Sullivan, to a seat in the Supreme Lodge above from the mists and clouds that surrounds us here to the heights where true wisdom is revealed, and, in so doing, has shrouded our brotherhood and a devoted family with the mantle of mourning, and brought down upon us great sorrow and grief.

The sensibilities of so great a loss as we have sustained in the death of our brother brings sadness to the hearts of wife and to all those who are sheltered under the fraternal covering that unites us in our grand body of sympathetic and devoted order.

By his ennobling traits of character he had endeared himself to us and in his career has left an example to his friends and members of the order; and the generous soul that thrilled so promptly to the manly sympathies of Rebekahhood has risen from this earthly sphere to its skies, where all to him will be peace and contentment assured to the faithful on earth, will be forever his.

Those manly qualifications which he possessed, influences us in a sincere desire to testify to an appreciation of his life amongst us, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of our Brother R. L. Sullivan, who was a member of the Rebekah Lodge No. 24 of Belleview, Ky., we sincerely deplore the loss of one to whom we had become affectionately attached by long association and by relations which were never marred by the least occurrence of an unfriendly act.

Resolved, That this lodge extend to those who will suffer most from the broken ties that bind, the wife and relatives, our sympathy in their bereavement, although we feel that their's is a grief that words can not console, that no action of ours can remove the bitter cup of sorrow from them. Realizing our weakness and helplessness in this crisis we can only bow in humble submission to the divine will commending our brother and his loved ones into the hands of Him Who doeth all things well, "Mighty in wisdom and love Eternal in the Heavens."

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be presented to the wife of the deceased and that a same (be made a part of the Lodge record.

Committee--Lou Maurer, Lizzie Smith, Stella Scott.

Milton Souther and J. T. Gaines took a fine drove of lambs to Cincinnati, Monday.

Mesdames J. T. Gaines and Milton Souther spent Monday at Petersburg.

Dr. Terrill and family, of Erlanger, spent Sunday with friends at Petersburg.

Mrs. Sallie Whitaker, who has been sick the past few days, is very much improved.

Ber. Jones has his gilt edge Jersey cows for sale. One has a fine heifer calf four weeks old.

Sam Johnson is building the new toll house on the Bullittsvile and Dry creek turnpike a few rods above where the old one fell a few weeks ago.

Hopkinsville, June 11.—Unless there are general rains very soon the tobacco crop of the "Dark District" will likely be short in quantity. In fact, the supply is already below the requirements, as the 1910 crop showed a falling off of from 15 to 25 per cent. of the early estimates, and holders are firm, though they are meeting the buyers with the ruling quotations.

Winchester, June 11.—One of the severest drouths known in Eastern Kentucky in the history of the oldest inhabitants is prevailing here and all vegetation is suffering. The corn crop, oats, wheat, pastures and all garden vegetables will be ruined if it does not rain within the next ten days. Already potatoes and all garden vegetables will not be half a crop. For weeks many people have been carrying water and watering garden stuff. There has not been any rain of consequence since early in May. Small creeks are drying up and stock water is becoming scarce. Springs and wells will soon be drying up. Already conditions are alarming.

An effort is being made to raise money sufficient to have the streets in Burlington oiled.

The citizens of Florence have contributed very considerably to their comfort by having pike street oiled again.

In the absence of Dr. O. S. Crisler, livestock inspector from town, C. M. Baldon attends to the clerical duties of the office.

The young man who had been employed as butter maker for the local creamery when it begins operation, threw up the job and has gone.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will brace up the nerves, banish sick headache, prevent despondency and invigorate the whole system. Sold by all dealers.

Mr. G. S. Walrath has beautified his residence until now he has the handsomest in the town. He exercised splendid taste in selecting the trimmings for the building.

A few gallons of oil properly applied to the streets in Burlington would dispense with the dust that is very often decidedly disagreeable during the dry weather in the summer and fall.

The creamery building is ready for the machinery which is stored here in town, and which will be put in place next week, it being desired that the floors be given until that time to set thoroughly.

The basement at the court house has been put in condition for the furnace men to begin installing the heating plant for which the fiscal court recently contracted.

James Mitchell was in town a few days ago and reported having seen several large schools of very fine bass in Gunpowder creek a few days before, but he was unable to induce them to try the tempting bait he offered them.

Those who owe a balance on the stock they subscribed to Clover Leaf Creamery, are requested to pay the same in at once. Those wishing to purchase milk cans can secure same in Burlington next Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Utz invite you to be present at the marriage of their daughter, Iantha Beulah to Mr. Alonso G. Tanner Thursday evening, June twenty ninth at half past seven o'clock Hopeful Lutheran Church.

A five weeks old veal calf belonging to Chas. White, committed suicide, one day last week, by hanging. The calf got out of its stall up on to the barn floor, and got tangled in a rope, which was so short that when the calf jumped back into the stall and was suspended in the air. It was dead when found.

"It cured me," or "It saved the life of my child," are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diaarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea or bowel complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures. Sold by all dealers.

Supt. R. C. Riley attended the commencement exercises of the Fayette county schools held last Monday night, at the opera house in Lexington, where he delivered an address on "Kentucky's Needs In Education." The Herald of Tuesday, gives the following extracts from the address:

"Prof. Riley said that the time has passed when Kentuckians would sit still and take any sort of ruling handed out by the officials at the Capital and that they knew better what they wanted.

"He said that he could see two main needs for education in Kentucky, a more strict law, making attendance at the county schools compulsory and the delegation of more power to the county superintendents.

"He said that one thing that is the matter with education in this state is the fact that too many teachers do not go into the profession as a life work, but simply use it as a stepping stone to some other position, many times earning money in this way to study law or medicine. He said that one advantage of the school system of Germany is the fact that all the teachers are given life positions.

"Dr. Riley commended the change taking place in the ideals of education. He said that the time when the ideal of education was to teach every child to aspire to the highest places, every boy to become president of his country. He said that the trend of the present day is more to teach the child to become a useful citizen, whether farmer or in some other line of activity."

Base Ball.

The Burlington ball team visited Hebron last Saturday where they met their first defeat this season. In the first inning four singles, two errs and Goodridge's three bagger with the bases full, put five runs across the plate for Hebron. Brady then put on the lid and not another Hebron player reached third base. The Burlington boys fought bravely but could not overcome their lead.

Burlington	1	0	0	1	2	0	0	0	0	—4

Batteries—Brady and Slayback; Hossman and Goodridge.
Hits—Burlington 10, Hebron 9.
Three base hits—Conner and E Goodridge.
Two base hits—Tanner.
Errors—Hebron 3, Burlington 2.
Umpires—Sullivan and Hanking.
Hebron has a fast young team that will improve all the time.
Kirk played first for the home team like a veteran.
Hossman pitched a steady game and kept the hits well scattered.
Souther played a snappy game at second for Hebron as usual.
The Hebron rooters were out in full force and cheered their team on to victory.
The same teams will meet at Burlington June 24th, and a battle royal will be the result.

Speaking of the work of Congress Congressman A. B. Rouse, said to the Recorder: "The Democrats in the House, who have done their full duty by the country, are determined to force the Senate to take some steps toward passing progressive measures which will bring the people relief. We want them to pass the reciprocity law with Canada, the farmer's free list bill and other important matters. And, furthermore, we will not concur in an adjournment resolution until the Senators do what we want.

"The Democrats in the House are in fine fighting trim and have put through their entire program in a wonderfully short time, and without any serious differences among themselves."

Mr. Rouse expects Congress to be in session the greater part of the summer.

Lightning Kills Few.

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robt. Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at all dealers.

It is strange that so thrifty a city as Covington will permit some of its principal streets to become almost impassable for vehicles. The condition of Madison Avenue and Pike and Main streets is a disgrace to the city. Covington is growing and her volume of business increasing, while thrift is manifested in every direction, while the condition of some of its principal thoroughfares is the worst ever.

In this issue of the Recorder is advertised a sale of lots for the new addition to the hustling town of Walton, where enterprising citizens are as thick as flies around an exposed molasses barrel in June. The sale will begin at 2 p. m., Saturday, June 24th. The small sized lots are 50x150 feet. See advertisement for terms of sale.

Mrs. Lucy Hance, wife of M. E. Hance, of Big Bone neighborhood underwent a very serious operation at Christ Hospital, Cincinnati, last Monday, and her family are very uneasy about her, and several of them are with her. Dr. Bonifield was the surgeon.

Your Neigbor's Experience

How you may profit by it. Take Foley's Kidney Pills. Mrs. E. G. Whiting, 360 Willow St., Akron, O., says: "For some time I had a very serious case of kidney trouble and I suffered with backaches and dizzy headaches. I had specks floating before my eyes and I felt all tired out and miserable. I saw Foley Kidney Pills advertised and got a bottle and took them according to directions and results showed almost at once. The pain and dizzy headaches left me, my eyesight became clear and today I can see I am a well woman, thanks to Foley's Kidney Pills." Sold by Robt. W. Jones, Walton.

Russell Smith broke his collar bone a few days ago while using a wrench trying to adjust a nut on a farm implement. Rather a peculiar accident.

"Not since the year 1874," says an exchange, "has the setting of the tobacco crop been so discouraging as at the present time. Some plants are getting over grown in the bed and others are scorching up. With practically not over 15 or 20 per cent. of the crop already set out, with the sun the hottest on record at this time of year, it would certainly take a long and good season to cause them to live when planted. With most all the dark tobacco off the market at this time of year, caused by two short crops coming together for the last two years, and without a good season at once, the prospect for a crop will look most gloomy, and, without a change in the next few days, there will be something doing in the prices of all kinds of tobacco, and the future prospect for this year's crop will certainly be bright for good prices."

Foley Kidney Pills contain just the ingredients necessary to regulate and strengthen the action of the kidneys and the bladder. Try them. Sold by Robt. W. Jones, Walton.

Walton's New Addition, Walton, Ky.

SATURDAY, JUNE 24, 1911

Free-One Lot Valued at $250.00 Given Away

Up Where The Breezes Blow

Not on a hill, but a natural elevation, Walton being the highest point on the L. & N. Railroad between Cincinnati and Louisville. Twelve local trains daily, stopping at Walton. An ideal place for COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS to make their home, being convenient to all railroad connections.

"Young Man Own A Spot of Ground Somewhere"

Every good American citizen should have an ambition to own at least his own home site. This opportunity will be given you at 2 O'Clock P. M., on Saturday, June 24, 1911,

when at public auction 52 beautiful building lots in Walton's new edition will be sold. Located on the highest point in Boone County, at the junction of the Queen and Crescent and L. & N. Railroads, both lines direct to the South, within seventeen miles from Covington and Cincinnati with a combined population of half a million souls, where there is manufactured nearly every article known to the human family; with a reduced railroad fare of five dollars per month to and from the city; with immediate prospect of an electric road from Central Kentucky to Cincinnati passing through Walton, what more encouraging locality could be found for investment or dwelling place than Walton's New Edition?

Walton is a "dry" town, and her law abiding citizens have upheld and enforced the prohibition laws for more than twenty years. Walton has progressive churches, a fine graded school, two successful banks, besides a building and loan association with a useful career extending over 20 years.

WHY PAY RENT

when you have a Building and Loan Association at your door that says to you in substance, "You buy your lot, we'll build your home."

TERMS

so arranged as to make it possible and convenient for the most modest investor to buy. You may pay all cash, one half cash or one third cash, balance in 6 and 12 months, six per cent. interest on deferred payments. Deed and title will be guaranteed when one third or more is paid.

Oftentimes on the very first day following an auction sale, lots change hands at from thirty to seventy-five per cent profit. Will you be the original purchaser or the man who pays the profit?

REMEMBER one lot valued at $250.00 absolutely free. Each white person present at the sale (whether he be a purchaser or not) will be given a free ticket that will entitle him to a chance on the free lot.

BAND CONCERT on ground all afternoon, besides other attractive features. Come out and you will enjoy the afternoon. Remember the date, Saturday, June 24

Wheat Crop Indicated.

Government Bureau Estimated A Yield This Year of 69,000,000 Bushels Over That of 1910.

Washington, June 8.—A wheat crop, the like of which never has been harvested, will be gathered in the United States this season if conditions indicated by the Government June crop report continue throughout the growing season. Agricultural experts estimate the crop this year will amount to 764,291,357 bushels, an increase of 68,848,857 bushels over that gathered last year. Of winter wheat the indicated yield is almost 480,000,000 bushels, and that of spring wheat 284,000,000 bushels. While winter wheat will probably yield less to the acre this year than the average for five years, spring wheat will show an increased yield of two bushels an acre over 1910, and a slight increase over the five-year average yield.

Prof. N. C. Murray, Acting Chairman of the Crop Reporting Board commenting upon the report said: "The acreage of spring wheat shows a total larger than any previous record and nearly nine per cent greater than last year. On June 1 the crop was above the average in promise, the condition and acreage combined being such as to give hope for a yield of nearly 25 per cent more than last year, and nearly 17 per cent more than the average for the last five years.

"May was unfavorable for winter wheat, but nevertheless, with the increased acreage there probably will be between three and four per cent more winter wheat produced than last year, and between 6 and 7 per cent more than for the average of the last five years. Combining both spring and winter wheat, the indications point to a slightly larger yield per acre than was produced last year and about the same yield per acre as during the last five years. This would make a total production of all wheat of 9.9 per cent more than last year and 10.3 per cent more than the average for the last five years.

"The acreage of oats was not quite so large as it was last year, but the one-tenth of one per cent reduction is substantially immaterial. The crop prospects are not so promising as a year ago. Last year's production was the largest ever recorded. The condition of the crop indicates a yield per acre of 27.7 bushels, as compared with 31.9 last year, and 28 for the average of the last five years. This would make a total production of about 13.3 per cent less than last year, 13but 4.8 per cent more than the average of the last five years."

HAVE HIGH IDEALS.

Upon the Standard You Raise Depends Your Future Career.

What we make of ourselves depends upon the ideals which we habitually hold. Our lives are shaped upon our mental models. If these be high the lift is lofty; if low it grovels. Man is no better than his ideals. The stream cannot rise higher than its source. Our work can never overtop our ideal, our ambition. It is a great thing to keep the constant suggestion of high ideals, of things that are grand and noble in human achievement, in the mind. It tends to make us love the right and hate the wrong.

"There is one thing we ought to hold in such sacredness that no consideration could induce us to dilute it, and that is the quality of the life, the quality of our ideals. Whatever else we are careless about, we cannot afford to carry thru life low ideals second class personalities or dehumble our homes or ordinary our moralizing mentalities. However environment, we should keep the quality of the life, the personality, at the highest possible stand ard. We should allow nothing to deteriorate it.

Yet most people are careless and indifferent regarding the quality of their lives. There is a slipshodness in their living, a slovenliness in their mentality, which tend to deteriorate the quality of the life and make it cheap and commonplace.

Whatever your career, guard your ideal as the apple of your eye, the pearl of that great price for everything depends upon the direction in which that points. If it points downward no amount of money or influence can redeem you from mediocrity or even save you from a degraded life. Man is so made that he must follow his ideal. He cannot go up if his ideal points down.—Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine.

Owensboro, June 11—A meeting of the wheat growers of Daviess county has been called for Saturday, June 24, looking toward pooling the wheat crop in this county. Wheat is being cut, the yield is good and the quality is above the average.

FOR SPEEDIER TYPEWRITING

Machines to Print Syllables of Two or Three Letters With a Single Pressure.

The latest development in connection with the typewriter is a machine to print syllables of two and three letters by a single pressure of the key. This invention aids for no special skill on the part of the operator. There is the ordinary standard keyboard, but the keys can be extended to sixty or more. The two-letter syllables include the following: Be, an ch, de, ed, is in, no, st, un; and among the three-letter syllables are: All, and, who, are, con, com ing acc dis, per, pro. When the operator has become used to the position of the syllables, and has memorized them, it is expected that typing will be more rapid process. For instance, for the word "accountant" it is only necessary to depress four keys instead of ten, as on an ordinary machine; "disunion" is written by means of three keys instead of eight; "misfortune" and "permission" also require only four keys each. The machin possesses an unique pawl and escapement wheel, so arranged that when a syllable key is depressed the carriage "jumps" a space equal in length to the syllable. The type strikes the ribbons through a metal guide, thus ensuring perfect alignment. Adding machines have already been combined with typewriters and apparently we are to expect a compounding of attachments, in the universal desire to produce speedier machines.

The Indian's Vision.

More or less wonderful accounts have from time to time been given of the powers of vision possessed by savage races. During a British anthropological expedition of Torres straits the visual facuulty of natives was carefully tested, and from these tests the conclusion was reached that the excellence of vision shown by the savages has a psycological origin; that is to say, it arises from what tolook for. When the civilized man acquires familiarity with the environment he can see as far as they can. Thus the power of an Indian to tell the sex of a deer at such a distance that distinguishing features like antlers were invisible was found to rest upon his knowledge of the peculiar gait of the male deer.—Scientific American.

For Commissioner of Agriculture

Senator G. T. Wyatt, of Olmstead, Logan County, Third Congressional District.

Senator Wyatt is making the race for the Demonratic nomination for Commissioner of Agriculture before the Democrats of the State in the primary July 1. He is a succesful farmer and comes from one of the best farming sections of Western Kentucky.

His record in the State Senate has been highly creditable and particularly notable for his work in behalf of legislation for farmers.

The Bosworth-Hyatt Good Road Amendment to the Constitution is a part of Kentucky's history. Senator Wyatt was chairman of the Good Road Congress held at Louisville last December, and has been actively engaged in this work for several years believing with all others that the farmers are the first to be benfitted. He is also a stern advocate of educating the farmer along the lines of his occupation towards the intensive and cooperating farming.

Since there never has been a Commissioner of Agriculture from Western Kentucky, which is notably the farming section of the State as well as strongly Democratic, it is fair that this office be given to a Western Kentucky man.

Big Mule Shipment.

Probably the largest cargo of mules ever shipped from the United States left San Francisco this month. Fourteen hundred mules were put aboard the steamer in specially built stalls. They were consigned to the Colonial Sugar Company of the Fiji Islands, which are directly east of Australia. The next largest shipment of mules ever made from the United States on the Pacific ocean never reached its destination. This was during the Spanish-American war. The United States bought 1,200 mules for the Philippine Islands, and put them on a boat at San Francisco. All of the mules were tied to stalls on this vessel. When half of the journey had been completed the ship struck a typhoon, jerking the mules around so that the necks of practically all of them were broken, and officers in charge of the animals were forced to throw them overboard.

NAVAL GUN POINTERS.

How They Are Aided by the Telescope Sight and Crossbar.

Perhaps very few outside of the service know of the important that the telescope and the crossbar sight have played in the development of target work before the recent introduction of the telescope and the crossbar, the pointer strained his eye in the impossible effort to adjust their focus to three widely separated objects simultaneously, the rear sight a few inches away, the front sight a dozen feet distant from the rear one and the target anywhere from 1,500 yards to 13,000 yards. Ordinance experts worked over this problem, and the result was the introduction of the telescopic sight and the crossbars —two pieces of crossed wire at the end of the telescope. When these "cut" on the target the gun pointer presses his electric button and the gun does the rest.

It is eminently spectacular, this great gun battery practice. This from a description given to the writer by an umpire, whose station was on one of the ships towing the target: Through the glasses you could see a needle-like flash from the firing ship, a vessel so far distent that her outline was but an indistinct blur upon the horizen. Having caught the flash, the glass is dropped, the eye goes to the stop watch, and you begin to count—one, two, three, four, five six, seven, eight, nine, ten eleven— and about then you will hear a faint drone which in the next fraction of a second swells into a roar—the roar of an express rushing at the rate of thirty miles a second. With roar come a flying of splinters from the target, geyser leaping a hundred feet in the air, then another and another, as the ricocheting shell glances from wave to wave, and then, last of all the faint, fareoff boom of the gun which had hurled the missile."—Harper's Weekly.

Cut The Clover Early.

Taking all points into consideration, it pays to cut clover reasonably early, that is to begin to cut when about one-third the blossoms, or heads, are turning brown. If we have a large acreage to cut, some of it will get pretty ripe and make rough, woody hay before we have finished, especially if the weather is showery as it is pretty likely to be in clover hay making time. As to the method of making or curing the hay, I find it best to start the mower immediately after dinner, then the clover is nice and dry. Never cut while clover is wet, or dew is on. If cut just after noon, it will wilt nicely and start to cure the first day, and the dew will not injure it and turn it dark as it would if we commenced to cut in the morning. Then in the afternoon we can rake and haul and put in mow. As a rule I do not practice cocking hay, as while we are doing that we can haul and put in mow. We often hear it remarked that clover hay put in cock over night, then aired out and hauled the next day will greatly improve the hay, as it heats slightly causing the leaves to become tough and will not break and lose in handling as it does when hauled directly from window. Possibly it does make a little better hay, but the extra time and labor will exceed the profit. I find a better plan and one I usually practice is to haul clover hay from the field before it gets so dry as to lose many leaves. But haul when pretty green, as the old saying is, when the bumble bee follows the load. I usually have some oats straw in mow. Put in a layer of oats straw occasionally and you will be surprised what a great help this dry straw is in absorbing the moisture caused by the sweating or heating and curing process which the hay goes thru. It is also a great advantage to the straw as it absorbs the liquid and is eaten like clover hay when fed. Left over hay will do if the straw is lacking. Try it this year, and be convinced.—G. B. in Indiana Farmer.

This generation sees divorce more frequent, not because men and women are more wicked, but because married life is made more difficult by the excitement and complexity and manifold strains of modern life, which render unhappy marriages more endurable. A broad gap opens between the hot present and the dull quiet of other days, when the husband passed his day in a steady and continuous round of work, when no avenue in life but marriage opened before most women, and both men and women passed lives from which excitement, worry and the anxious rush of this day were absent. Any candid man who will reconstruct the life of sixty and eighty years ago will be convinced that while that day had in it much of secret wickedness— as court and church records show —it had also conditions much less likely to prevent two people from leading quiet, uneventful and reasonably happy lives together.—Shelby Record.

Saved His Wife's Life.

"My wife would have been in her grave to-day," writes O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., "if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery. She was down in her bed, not able to get up without help. She had a severe bronchial troubel and a dreadful cough. I got her a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and she soon began to mend, and was well in a short time." Infallible for coughs and colds, its the most reliable remedy on earth for desperate lung trouble, hemorrhages, lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup and whooping cough. 50c. and $1.00. THE TAXING SYSTEM

Some Suggestions For Relieving Kentucky of Her Cumbersome System of Taxation.

No man who reads the contribution of Peyton N. Clarke, of Louisville, on the taxing system of kentucky will hesitate for a moment to appreciate that Mr. Clarke has gone to the root of the evil. Before discussing his reasons for the troubles of Kentucky today—because of her taxing system—it will be well to note the means he proposes for a remedy. Mr. Clarke does not believe in constitutional amendments, and he points out that but two amendments may be offered to the voters at any time, and, if defeated, the same amendments cannot be again offered for five years—so jealous were the framers of the constitution of their assumed infallibility, and so distrustful of the intelligence of the people.

Mr. Clarke suggests a constitutional convention and a new constitution as the better and the more expeditious way, all things considered, for relieving Kentucky of her cumbersome system of taxation, and there are other cumbersome things in the instrument that could be bettered by change. Whether the relief is to be had by a constitutional convention or by amendments is a question—but it is a question of the first importance and needs to be studied, discussed and considered. There can be no doubt, however, of the soundness of Mr. Clarke's position on the cause of the present troubles when he says:

"It remained, however, for the farmers of the present constitution, which we have been struggling under for the past twenty years, to limit the powers of the legislature by incorporating in the new instrument a great many statutory laws which theretofore were subject to legislative chenges, as called for by the changing conditions in the country."

That has been the contention of the Messenger since the subject of relief from the present taxing system came up. The constitutional convention which framed the present constitution distrusted the people, and distrusted the legislature, which comes from the people biennially. It distrusted all but itself, and sought to frame a code of irrepealable laws instead of laying down the fundamental principles under which legislation could be had in keeping with the times and the advance and the changing conditions of the times. It is up to the Kentucky of today to get back to the people, and shall it be by amendment or by a convention? It must be had in some way or Kentucky will continue to stand still, which means, in the case of states no less than individuals, retrogression.

A Novel Proposition.

There's no telling what the Fayette circuit court may do when the novel proposition of Mayor Skain, of Lexington, gets before it, and there is no telling what the court of appeals would do when the time for announcing the final guess came. But Mayor Skain has been thinking, and the result of his cogitation is that where magisterial districts are within a city—and no matter of what class—the city is entitled to receive from the county as much of the road fuel as would be allotted to a country district according to the number of magisterial districts in the city.

It is a novel proposition. But the law is that the road fund is to be distributed among the magisterial districts in the county, and as Lexington has five magisterial districts within its precincts and as it is in Fayette county, Mayor Skain sees no reason why Lexington shouldn't participate in the distribution. In Fayette, if the contention should be sustained, the city treasury would be enriched by no less than $30,000 for its street funds. Owensboro, would be enriched in proportion, and so would every city in the state, for every city has its one or more magisterial districts. The question is of importance as far as cash is concerned—but it only shows that which every citizen sees, and sees to his sorrow and to the detriment of the state.

It shows the absolute necessity of throwing politics to the winds on the question of taxation—that is to say, on the question of the revision of the taxing system of the state. At first blush it looks as though the contention of Mayor Skain had solid basis. Yet not even Mayor Skain will contend, and no other citizen will contend, that it ever was the intention of the law makers that the road funds should be applied to enlarge street funds. That was not the intention—but it may turn out to be the construction of the courts. If so, the result would be additional taxes for roads on the farming districts and let ups for the city. The farmer has not been so keenly alive to the necessity for revision of the taxing system as he ought to be. The suggestion of Mayor Skain, and its probable results ought to make him alive to the situation and alive to the remedy—through the constitution, either by amendment or by a new instrument.—Owensboro Messenger.

The Walton Concrete Co. contracted with the Louisville Real Estate and Development Co. to construct the cement sidewalks in the new addition to Walton which the Development Company is platting and preparing to sell at auction in town lots. J. W. Lancaster of the Concrete Co. superintended the building of the cement walks. The price was twelve cents per foot.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Dudley received the sad intelligence Wednesday of the death of their little niece Miss Dorothy Dudley, who died at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Dudley at Pueblo, Colorado, from acute rheumatism. The little girl was twelve years old. Mr. Dudley formerly resided near Walton, and for some years has been the cashier of the Pueblo Savings and Trust Company. Mrs. Dudley is a native of Boone county.

Rev. and Mrs. J. I. Mills of Lexington, spent part of the past week here with their daughter, Mrs. O. S. Watts. Rev. Wills, who D. S. Clark of Louisville, was here last week closing up the trade for the twenty acres of land he purchased from A. M. Edwards at $4,000 and has had W. E. Vest survey the tract of land into town lots, and after platting the tract and laying off streets and constructing cement walks about the premises he will offer the lots at a public auction sale. is a minister of the Baptist church, preaches for several churches, and his time being so extensively occupied he has sold his grocery at Lexington and will give his entire time to the ministry. He filled the pulpit of the Walton Baptist church for Rev. Waymand at the last meeting He has made arrangements to hold several protracted meetings for various churches but has some open time that he would give to special meetings of other churches that would care to have his services for revival meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Diers of the Atlas Hotel, entertained a jolly crowd last Sunday in honor of the birthday anniversary of their daughter Mrs. Lora Diers of Cincinnati. The guest of honor, accompanied by her friends, came out in the morning, and a most delightful day was spent together. A splendid dinner was served, and the day will long be remembered by all as a most enjoyable occasion. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. John Theobald, Miss Helen Brown. Miss Marie Brown, Charles Geisler, Wm. B. Brown, Mrs. Gertrude Baker, Miss Lucy Stroble, Geo. Schneider, and Mrs. Lora Diers, of Cincinnati; Mrs. C. T. Best and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Diers, of Walton. One thing occurred to mar the pleasures of the afternoon: Mr. and Mrs. Theobald left their son at home, he being ill with stomach trouble, and at about 1:30 they received the sad information that the young man had died very suddenly. The L. & N. Railroad with their customary kindness, at the request of Agent S. W. Beverly, stopped the fast afternoon train at Walton, enabling Mr. and Mrs. Theobald to return home much earlier than otherwise.

Resolution of Respect.

Grange Hall Camp No. 14129, Modern Woodmen of America, June 1st, 1911.

Whereas, it has pleased the all-wise God in his infinite wisdom to call our esteemed neighbor, Joseph Anderson Gadd, from earth to his reward on high, May 8th, 1911.

Whereas, we shall miss his wise counell, lovable manner and pleas ant face in our society, therefore be it

Resolved, That in his death this society has lost a good and faithful member and a charter member; his parents, a kind and loving son, the community, a good citizen.

Resolved, That while we deplore his untimely death we rejoice in the life he lived.

Resolved, That we bow in humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father and pray that God will raise up someone to fill his place in our lodge, which he loved so well.

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved father and mother, hoping that He who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb will be compassionate to them in their hour of desolation.

Resolved, That we extend our sympathy to his bereaved friends and relations and that we wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our lodge and a copy be sent to the parents and to the Boone County Recorder for publication.

That Little "If."

If the hopes and beliefs of a number of men in Owensboro, in the value of a rotary engine on which they hold the patents, come true they will be rated soon as millionaires and will revolutionize the steam industries of the world, for they will have solved the problem concerning which there have been over 1,400 patents issued by the government, none of which have ever proven to be practical.

The principal men interested in the engine are F. H. Moors, W. C. Moors, Hugh, Roy, Guy and Jas. Gilbert and F. H. Pardon. The engine is an invention of Mr. Moors and he has had the letters of patent for over a year. Recently an engine was made according to his plans and it is now in operation each day at the Gilbert flour mill.

Scientists and engineers have conceded the fact that should a practical rotary engine be made, it would soon replace the old style, or reciprocating engine, for it would be far more compact, much less expensive to manufacture, capable of generating more power and could be operated with much less fuel.

The Owensboro men claim that they have [illegible] solved and that it remains for them only to organize and develop the plans for the manufacture and sale of the engines to make the fortunes that await the successful inventor.

Numbers of people have witnessed the working of the little twenty-horse-power engine that is in operation each day at the Gilbert Mills and they state that it is a perfect piece of mechanism. —Messenger.

Reciprocity With Canada.

Some years ago in one of the small cities in Central Kentucky four young men were convicted of gambling and fined equal amounts. Each of them boosted privately to the Judge that he remained, after paying the fine, about $50 ahead of the game. His Honor observed on receiving the information from the fourth participant, that it was really a shame for the law to interfere where poker proved profitable to all who sat in the game, and hurt none at all. With Canadian reciprocity—although the term "reciprocity" suggests mutual benefit—it seems the other way about if we are to take seriously the statements of the various protestors against it.

The Tariff Reform Commission of England—tariff reform nowadays in England means protectionism (because the protectionists are trying to fasten upon the British tariff for revenue system all of the financial ills of the empire—are putting out the suggestion that one effect of the agreement would be an increase of food product prices in England because of the diversion of Canadian products to the United States. Another protestor believes that the drift of products southward will bankrupt the trans-Canada railroad lines by depriving them of the long haul.

Although America grows vastly more wheat than she can consume the British tariff reformers would have the ignorant believe that her consumers are hungrily awaiting the admission of Canada products and will leave nothing for Liverpool when the barrier is removed.

And while the tariff reformers are shouting this fantastic warning the friends-of-the-farmer who belong to the Lodge-Post-Aldrich school of philanthropists are warning their agricultural neighbors that the admission of the Canada crops would impoverish them. That it could do no such thing is plain from the most casual reading of the statistics of cereal production. But if it should tend in that direction need our English tariff reform neighbors fear that there would then be no exports to England?

That the reciprocity agreement would work ruin all around is not among the looming probabilities of the day. It is, in fact, as improbable as that Mr. Root would want to amend a reciprocity bill if it militated against agricultural interests.—C.—J.

Non-Slipping Horseshoes

Horses need no longer suffer from bruised sides and strained limbs caused by slipping on slippery pavements. A Kansas City man has applied for a patent on a pair of nonslipping horseshoes, which in demonstration on icy streets proved to be highly successful.

The shoes are made of forged steel and are made in eight different sizes for horses and mules, and weigh from one to two pounds. On the bottom of the device are four pegs of tool steel, two on either side, which may easily be removed when they become dull and replaced by new ones. These pegs are pointed so that they may sink deep into the ice. A set screw in the front of the device screws on to the toe clip, thus holding the device firmly, and two small lugs further back hold the device in place when there are no toe corks.

Slats in the back allow the corks to slip thru and the tail pieces curve over them, thus insuring a firm hold on the shoe in the back. The device can be taken off or put on in a moment and the pegs can be replaced for one cent each. The cost of the finished device will be about $5, and with proper care it should last many years.

Frankfort, June 17.—Col. William E. Pollock, aged 70, of Vanceburg, who had answered 2,500 roll calls as an employee of the Frankfort Penitentiary, died here today of infirmities of old age. He was Senator T. H. Paynter's brother-in-law.

The Folly of It!

Andrew Jackson—mighty good Democratic name—writes from Sullivan, Ind., to the Courier-Journal that he promised to leave Kentucky in the event of the election of Powers to congress, and that he wants his paper sent to him at his residence in the Hoosier state, the Eleventh congressional district knowing him no more as a citizen. Whether Indiana has made a gain in the acquisition of Andrew is not important. Possibly his remaining in Kentucky, individually considered, would not raise a question of great moment. But the fact of the going of Kentuckians to other states is important.

The reason given by Andrew Jackson is not sound. Kentucky did not elect Powers to congress. The election of the pardoned conspirator was brought about by the express commands and practically personal direction of Senator Bradley, counsel for Powers, and whose election to the senate from Kentucky differs only from the Lorimer election in degree, not in principle, nor in methods. So if Andrew Jackson feels like leaving Kentucky on his shallow pretense, there will be none to shed a tear.

In general, however, and at all times, Kentuckians should abide in Kentucky. With every Kentuckian going out from the State for reasons other than that given by the eleventh district peregrinator, the taxing reason, for instance—there is just one less element than there should be in making Kentucky just what she ought to be, and could be and can be. There may be too much politics in Kentucky, but the fact is not a sufficient reason for Kentuckians going elsewhere. It is, on the contrary, an excellent reason for Kentuckians staying at home and aiding in rooting out the political features of matters that affect the entire state. Moreover, Kentuckians going to other states do not find them perfect.

There is no state without its defects, and if Kentucky, through her last constitutional convention has had a halter put around her neck, the Kentuckian who stays at home and helps in ridding her of the halter will profit more, in the long run, than by packing up his household gods and goods and seeking his fortune elsewhere when there is a fortune for him at home. This is not said with reference to Mr. Andrew Jackson, lately of the Eleventh district and now of Indiana, but with reference to men who are prone to give up the fight at home for better taxing systems and greater development—and make mistakes in so doing. The fact that so many of her sons are leaving Kentucky is a fact to be faced. A remedy for the migrations can be had if the home-loving Kentuckians will apply it thru the election of a legislature which will do its duty in the taxing matter.—Courier-Journal.

What Statistics Show.

German vital statistics, which have been kept for many years, seem to show that farmers have a dangerous occupation in comparison with others. For example: Of the fatal accidents recorded in that country from 30 to 40 per cent have been among farmers and horticulturists, while those among miners are but 19, and seven per cent among iron and steel workers, 8 per cent among builders and lesser per cents in other occupations. It is supposed that farming is among the very safest occupations as it is among the most healthy. But in truth there are many ways in which farmers may get hurt and fatally hurt, that town and city people are not exposed to. The farmer is called to handle a good deal of machinery—that he knows little about. It often gets out of order, and in trying to set it right lives are often sacrificed, as with mowers, threshers, corn cutting machines, shredders, etc., and there is danger in handling live stock, in driving teams on the highways when autos are whizzing by so frequently, and there are many other sources of danger. The farmer is not naturally more reckless than other men, but his business makes him less timorous than most, and he needs to be cautioned against carelessness more than most others. With due caution we cannot believe that farming is more dangerous to life and limb than other pursuits.

Lightning Kills Few.

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robt. Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at all dealers.

Sheep Poisoned.

Cynthiana—"Squire" Joe Gregg, a prominent farmer of the Rutland neighborhood, this county, lost several head of stock, the result of paris green. A postmortem showed a quantity of paris green in the animals' stomachs. A search was then made and a quantity of the poison was found scattered about over the pasture. It was evident it had been put there with criminal intent, but as yet no clew has been secured as to who the guilty are.

The "How" of It-

Don't you for a minute think that a "JUSTRIGHT" or Standard Metal Shingle Roof is hard to put on—no siree—nothing technical about it at all—your own hands, and trust you for the muscle and energy behind them—a pair of snips, hammer and nails.

But watch these points—

Sheathing boards should be laid either parallel, or diagonally with the ridge and eaves, never up and down. Commence laying the shingles at the lower left hand corner of the roof, when facing comb of roof.

Let the first course project an inch or more over the eaves—a chalk line will keep you straight—the bottom end of the shingle is your guide, not the top. The valley we manufacture will give you an absolute waterproof joint. Order it with your shingles. It has the same quality, and your roof will be uniform.

And, lastly, use your good judgment. A man asked a famous artist what he mixed his colors with, that he achieved such glorious results. The artist replied. "Brains."

There is too much talk about this good roads question and not enough of work. Some people imagine that good roads will come and somebody else will pay for them. Now those who believe this are sadly mistaken. Every county that gets better roads than they now have will have to go down in their pants and dig up the money to pay for them. —Falmouth Outlook.

Frankfort, June 14.—Mercer county will have a new court house. The Court of Appeals decided that the Fiscal Court of Mercer county can levy a tax of 10 cents on the $100 to raise funds with which to build a new court-house. The present levy in Mercer county is 50 cents exclusive of the 10 cents levy for railroad purposes, which the Constitution says may be levied in addition to the regular tax.

All over Richmond people are complaining of rats catching their chickens. Over in Nicholas county they have a rat killing every year and slay hundreds of them. It pays them well for their time and trouble. Richmond could have several rat-killing days, slay hundreds of them every day, and there would still be rats. It wouldn't be a bad idea to follow the example of Carlisle and slay a few thousands of the pests, just for luck.—Richmond Pantagraph.

A few days ago Mr. Harry Hampton, who lives near the city, saw a flock of wild ducks on his pond. Not having a gun, he called to his friend, Mr. Jas. Young to bring a weapon. When he returned the ducks had disappeared, but a similar flock was found on a neighboring pond, and the destruction reached the number of sixteen before it was discovered that they were tame ducks and belonged to Mrs. Tom McGinnis. The gentleman made due apologies to Mrs. McGinnis, and they were freely forgiven.—Bowling Green Messenger.

J. T. Garrison, of Central Ridge, has made a record in killing black snakes. During the past three years he has dispatched 14 snakes, all on the same tree, a black oak, in S. L. McDowell's woods. The last snake he killed was fully six feet long and he had to use a shotgun to bring it down. The snakes entered a hole at the bottom of the tree, which was hollow for a distance of nine feet, where there was another hole, out of which the snakes crawled onto a limb and coiled themselves for a rest, presumably.—Mt. Olivet Tribune-Democrat.

W. E. Miller caught a shovel-head catfish near the Beaut ford, in the west end of the county, last week that measured exactly thirty-nine inches in length and weighed forty-two pounds. He sold the fish to a New Hope person for $3.50. With the exception of a catfish caught near the same place about two years ago, the fish is the largest that has been caught in the Rolling Fork in many years. The largest fish ever caught in this section, so far as known, was a shovel-headed cat that weighed eighty-seven pounds.—Lebanon Enterprise.

A copy of "The Kentucky Gazette," dated Wednesday, March 15, 1797, was left at this office by A. E. Williams. The old paper is an interesting curiosity. The sheet is 11 by 17 inches, and the old style of printing and wording make the paper difficult to read at a glance. The paper is curious from the fact that it contains no local news. None of its reign news, and the other three are taken up entirely with advertising matter, principally land, slave and stock sales, showing that our pioneer forefathers realized that advertising was just as efficacious in the olden days as it is now.—Harrodsburg Herald.

Mr. T. J. Williams, of this city, is in possession of an old and highly-prized relic. It is a surveyor's staff which is more than 100 years old and was used in surveying the original plat for the town of Morganfield, which survey was made by his grandfather, Josiah Williams. The staff is made from the heart of a hickory and is in a fine state of preservation. Mr. Williams a few days ago learned that this old relic was in the possession of Surveyor J. B. Riddle and asked that he make provision in his will so that he might come in possession of it at his death. Monday morning Mr. Riddle came in and made him a present of the staff.—Morganfield Post.

Last Friday Samuel H. Jones recalled that on June 3, 1833, the first case of cholera came to Flemingsburg, which was the beginning of an epidemic causing many deaths in the community. Spencer's Jim, a slave, who was a teamster, developed the disease and fell on the street. A physician was promptly called and died Jim, who shortly passed away. From that case the disease spread to other persons, and during the summer of '33 scores died, among them two of the doctors at this place. The epidemic of cholera again visited this place in 1855. Since that time, however, improved methods of sanitation and treatment have made the plague a thing of the past, not only here, but in all parts of the country.—Flemingsburg Gazette.

"There ought to be a law" is a favorite phrase of disgruntled citizens whose experience has so raised them that they went immediate reform. But it's a pretty good phrase and "there ought to be a law" against "habitual idleness." We have seen it always. Last week we tried to hire help at 75 cents per hour and failed, although dozens of idle and able-bodied men were within fifty yards of this office and could have served at the job. Capt. John Smith, of pioneer renown, was on the right track when he said that the man that doesn't work shan't eat. That may be a cardinal principle of socialism and we are not quite socialists—but it looks like common sense.—Princeton News.

Henderson has discharged the Board of Health which closed a public well—Myrtle Park and has gone to court over the question of re-opening the well. Remember the strong temperance talk the Town Pump once gave us in its invitation "Walk up, walk up, gentlemen, and have a drink of Adams Ale?" And how mother would point to the little fly crawling up the window pane and admonish baby to tender consideration for all helpless creatures. Now, we close the wells as cess pools of infection, and "swat" the fly as man's chief enemy. Once we heard an old-time preacher refer to the fly as a scavenger, which the Almighty had sent as a blessing to man. Well, he may be right at that. A providentially sent fly that won't wipe its feet, isn't much worse than a man, made in the image of God," who spits on the sidewalk.—Paducah Sun.

The Wheat Crop.

Wheat prospects in Scott county now seem much better.

—!!!—

Wheat is ripening fast in Grayson county. The prospects are for a big yield.

—!!!—

Wheat in Fayette county is ripening fast and will be ready for the binder the latter part of the week.

—!!!—

Daviess county farmers have been very successful in cutting wheat, and already the whistles of the threshers can be heard.

—!!!—

The wheat harvest is in full blast in Logan county, and the hum of the binder is heard on every road. The yield is proving good, and the crop will measure up to the usual standard.

—!!!—

The wheat in Barren county was practically matured when the drouth set in and is ripening fast and the farmers will begin harvesting the last of the week. This will be the earliest harvest in Southern Kentucky for many years.

—!!!—

Wheat in Jessamine county is heading out splendidly. Farmers are estimating that it will be the best crop for years, and the yield will be thirty bushels to the acre. Harvest will likely begin within the next few days.

—!!!—

The excessively hot weather during the entire month of May will effect an early harvest this year in Garrard county. Wheat heading out and ripening rapidly and the harvest season will claim the time and attention of the farmers at least a fortnight earlier than usual.

A large number of milk cows was distributed last Saturday among those who will patronize the local creamery.

Primary Election Notice.

At a meeting of the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee, held at Burlington, Ky., March 23, 1911, it was ordered that a Primary Election be held in every voting precinct in Boone County on Saturday, July 1st, 1911, from 6 o'clock a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for State Senator, County Representative and County Clerk to be voted on at the regular election in November, 1911. All known Democrats entitled to vote at the regular election in November, 1911, shall be entitled to vote in this election.

A. B. Renaker was made a subcommittee of one to have ballots printed and to attend to all details in carrying out this call.

The entrance fee of each individual candidate in this primary Election is fixed at $40, to be paid to A. B. Renaker not later than June 16th, 1911 at which time the names of the candidates who have paid their proper entrance fee will be placed on the ballots.

A. B. RENAKER, Chairman.
T. F. CURLEY, Secretary.

The Tobacco Crop.

Tobacco is reported to be practically burned up in Daviess county.

Tobacco in Madison county, is suffering greatly for rain. The crop will be an exceedingly short one.

The crop in Logan county is about set, and the stand is not so good. Not more than a three fourths crop will be raised.

Quite a large quantity of tobacco is still to be set in Madison county, and the prospects are not flattering for a large acreage.

Owing to the lateness of the season and the small amount of tobacco transplanted many estimate that the crop in Nicholas county will not exceed 30 per cent. of an average crop.

The tobacco acreage of Nicholas county has again had a serious setback on account of the torrid weather that has prevailed during the past few days, and most of the plants set after the season, a few days ago, and what have been set by machines have burned up.

It is claimed that not over 35 per cent. of the tobacco crop has been set in Barren county. Most plants have reached that stage generally considered too large to set. Local showers last week did more damage than good to the tobacco. The plants set out after these showers were cooked by the hot sun before they took root and plants and labor were lost.

Foley Kidney Pills contain just the ingredients necessary to regulate and strengthen the action of the kidneys and the bladder. Try them. Sold by Robt. W. Jones, Walton.

The Corn Crop.

Corn in Mason county is needing rain badly.

The acreage in McLean county, has been greatly increased.

Corn in Nicholas county is doing no good. Needs rain badly.

Many acres of corn are reported practically burned up in Daviess county.

Corn in Jessamine county looks well and indications are for a good crop.

Practically every farmer in Ohio and Daviess counties have planted from ten to one hundred acres of corn.

The crop gives promise of being one of Western Kentucky's heaviest crops this year. Acreage is heavier than for several years.

Corn is flourishing in Garrard county, last Monday's rain giving an impetus to its already rapid growth, the more advanced fields of maize having already been given a second plowing.

Corn is doing well in Fayette county, especially where the ground was plowed early and later put in condition, as soil so prepared conserves the moisture and corn makes rapid growth. Some fields have been plowed over the third time and the hills of corn have been thinned.

Corn in Scott county is now doing nicely, having made great growth during the past week. The heavy hail of last week's storm beat down the blades of the stalk, splitting the leaf, but no material damage was done.

Seven mules owned by S. J. Banks, a farmer living near Rikon, Ky., have died within a week from spinal-meningitis. The animals were valued at over $100 each.

GREAT BANKRUPT SALE!

A Vital Importance-$48,000 Stock
Of Seasonable Merchandise to be Sacrificed
An Honest Bonafide Sale.

We must turn this Stock into cash.
No matter how great the loss.
A $48,000 Stock

From the well known firm of Rogers & Beringer, of No. 672 Broadway, New York.

They are known to Carry Nothing but the Highest Grade of Clothing, Hats, Shoes and Furnishing Goods

Commencing Saturday, June 24 at 8 a. m. Sharp

Cash Is what we Want.

We will throw the doors open to the public. We will say and dare say that to make this sale the greatest sale ever held around this part of the country and anywhere else. We were fortunate enough in buying the entire stock of Rogers and Beringer at a low price, and we must turn it over at a low price in order to raise cash, cash is what we want. Again we say it would be impossible for any other store to sell at these prices.

One Chance Of A Life Time.

Do yourself a good turn and come and see what a monstrous massacre of high grade Merchandise. One chance of a life time. This stock is not as called factory damaged or thrashy goods, but good honest up-to-date merchandise. This well known firm were known from coast to coast, for their honest dealing. Disastrous conditions brought about made them and compelled them to go Bankrupt. Their loss and your gain.

Stock must be Sold In 12 Days.

We are giving the people of Covington and surrounding country the first opportunity. Do not overlook this, it surely will never come again. This stock must be sold in 12 days. COPPIN'S, (MADISON AVE., AND SEVENTH) COVINGTON, KY.

Local Happenings.

Some very cool weather the latter part of the past week.

The machinery is being put in place at the creamery.

The wheat harvest is on hand. Some fields will make a pretty good yield.

Rev. H. M. Curry will preach at Mt. Pleasant church next Sunday at 10 a. m.

James E. Smith will give his corn its fourth and last plowing this week.

William Kirkpatricks new residence is nearing completion, and when done will present a very handsome appearance.

Tobacco plants that have been transplanted are said to have made a very bad start, the cause for which is unknown to the growers.

A number of Burlingtonites attended the protracted meeting at Bullittsville, several nights last week.

Malchus Souther, B. H. Berkshire and T. F. Curley, were in Burlington, Friday, attending the meeting of the Democratic committee.

D. E. Castleman moved his law library away from Burlington, last Friday. He has an up-to-date office in the Cohen building on Pike Street, Covington.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will brace up the nerves, banish sick headache, prevent despondency and invigorate the whole system. Sold by all dealers.

Farmer Furlong, of Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, was over last Friday, having completed a full week's work that day at noon. The farmer is bucking down to hard work.

The basement room which the furnace for the court house heating system is to occupy is being excavated a couple of feet to make it deep enough to be occupied by the furnace.

A considerable number of Erlanger people are taking their annual summer's outing at camp Cliff Hedges down on Gunpowder creek, and that locality is about the liveliest spot in Boone county.

W. C. Rouse, of Limaburg neighborhood, was in Burlington, last Saturday, exhibiting two petrified specimens which he found a few days before. One he pronounced a locust, the other, part of a mastodon's tooth.

The festive potato bugs seem determined to get more than their share of the growing crop which in many instances is being profusely sprayed with Paris green, a very small dose of which will send Mr. Bug to Kingdom come.

"It cured me," or "It saved the life of my child," are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea or bowel complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures. Sold by all dealers.

The Union and Hathaway turnpike will be built, but not at the cost some of the bids received for the work indicated. One bid was for $7,000 a mile, one for $8,000 and another $18,500 for the construction of the four and half miles of road.

Hons. J. W. Berkshire and J. W. Kennedy, candidates for State Senator, and G. E. Carroll, candidate for Representative were in town, Friday, attending the Democratic committee meeting. Mr. Kennedy drew first place on the ticket for Senator and Mr. Carroll, first place for Representative.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bradford, of Limaburg neighborhood, gave the young people a dance, last Thursday night, that was attended by a large number of persons. Two rooms were devoted to dancing, and delightful refreshments were served. Zellers colored band made the music.

The cultivation of berries is carried on more extensively than formerly in Trimble county, and according to more scientific methods. The cultivation of this blackberry has proven a paying investment in the early market. There is some of all kinds and much of most kinds of fruit. Prospects were never better for the farmer.—Farmer's Home Journal.

Wheat harvest is from ten days to two weeks earlier this year than usual and threshers are preparing to get busy. A prominent miller advises the farmers not to cut their wheat too green or thresh it before it is thoroughly dry. By adhering to this suggestion wheat will be in much better condition, make better flour, and you will save dockage.—Milton News.

The following applicants for certificates to teach in the common schools of this county, were examined last Friday and Saturday:

Mattie Leek, Elizabethtown, O.
Mary Roberts, Burlington.
Lee McNeely, Burlington R. D. 2.
Mrs. Lizzie Bondurant, Petersburg.
Nellie Rouse, Burlington R. D.
Ida Hodges, Rabbit Hash.

What has become of the Covington and Big Bone traction road which appeared to be in a very healthy condition a few months ago? An enterprise that had progressed to a point by which the promoters claimed the C. & B. B. T. had don't generally disappear from the business map so suddenly, and it may be that the biggest move is now about to be sprung. A calm always preceeds a storm.

Very little interest is being manifested in this county in the campaign which will culminate on Saturday, July 1st, in the primary election at which Democratic candidates for State offices and for State Senator and County Representative, will be chosen. The selection of candidates for State offices is a very important matter, and the members of the party ought to turn out in full force at the primary.

John Holton, son of the late W. F. Holton, of near Lawrenceburg ferry, was killed by a traction car near Cleves, last Thursday night. The motorman in charge of the car says he did not see the unfortunate man until it was impossible to avoid striking him. The car was rounding a curve. The head and one arm were severed from the body. The remains, in charge of undertaker Scott Chambers, of Walton, were interred at Bullittsburg, last Saturday.

IMPORTANT TO TEACHERS.

The basis for the salaries of the Teachers of the Sub-districts, Common Schools of Boone County, under the ruling of the County Board of Education is determined by the class to which each Teacher belongs.

The basis of salaries of Teachers of Class A, i. e., those holding first-class county certificates, who are graduates of first-class High Schools, or have taken equivalent work in some college of good standing; or those holding State Certificates, Life Diplomas or other certificates from either the State University or State Normal Schools is thirty-seven dollars and fifty cents ($37 50) per month.

Class B, i. e., those holding certificates of the First Class, thirty-five dollars ($35 00) per month.

Class C, i. e., those holding certificates of the Second Class, is thirty two dollars and fifty cents ($32 50) per month.

Class D, i. e., those holding certificates of the Third Class, is thirty dollars ($30 00) per month.

The salaries of Teachers accrue at the rate of two dollars and fifty cents ($2 50) per month for each year's experience in the school room, and at the rate of two dollars ($2 00) per month for each term of the State Normal completed, until Teachers of Class A receive fifty dollars ($50 00) per month; Class B, forty-five dollars ($45 00) per month, and Class C receive forty dollars ($40 00) per month, except that Teachers who are principals of two or more room schools, and those who teach in Sub-districts reporting fifty or more in the Census Report, may receive a salary of fifty dollars ($50 00) a month, and, also, with this exception, that no Teacher, who teaches in a district reporting less than thirty-seven in the Census Report, may receive more than thirty-seven dollars and fifty cents ($37 50) per month.

In order for any teacher to receive the increment for attendance at Normal School for the number of years taught, it is necessary that said teacher file with the County Superintendent a statement of the number of years taught, and also a report showing that the terms at Normal School were finished with passing grades.

EDGAR C. RILEY,
Chairman.

Chas. Kelly, administrator of the estate of the late Nannie Kelly, will have a sale of her personal estate at her late residence near Locust Grove school house next Saturday.

The pooled wool in this part of the county has been delivered to the purchaser, Davis, of Louisville. The price for which the wool sold was 22.8 cents a pound, the best sale made in Kentucky this year, so far as heard from. J. H. Stevens, of Idlewild, superintended the delivery on behalf of the poolers.

Levine Bros., & Co., Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers have moved to Coppin's old building, located at 538 Madison Ave. They are buying larger quantities and are selling goods less than they ever did before. They are offering the farmer an extra 10 per cent discount on any purchase made. This is done in order to show the farmer that they appreciate his trade.

Your Neigbor's Experience

How you may profit by it. Take Foley's Kidney Pills. Mrs. E. G. Whiting, 360 Willow St., Akron, O., says: "For some time I had a very serious case of kidney trouble and I suffered with backaches and dizzy headaches. I had specks floating before my eyes and I felt all tired out and miserable. I saw Foley Kidney Pills advertised and got a bottle and took them according to directions and results showed almost at once. The pain and dizzy headaches left me, my eyesight became clear and today I can see I am a well woman, thanks to Foley's Kidney Pills." Sold by Robt. W. Jones, Walton.

The. S. S. Convention.

The Sunday School Convention of North Bend Association met with the Big Bone church June 15, 1911. After Divine Worship conducted by Rev. O. M. Huey, J. P. Johnson was selected as Chairman and D. M. Snyder, secretary.

"The Whole Church in the S. S," was taken up and ably presented by Rev. McMillan.

"The Supreme Importance of Organization," was well presented by Rev. J. B. Reed and discussed by Rev. Allie Stith.

"Why Train the Bible School," was well presented by Rev. C. V. Brooks.

"Principles and Methods of Teaching," was ably presented by Rev. H. C. Wayman and discussed by Rev. O. M. Huey.

After passing a resolution to have the proceedings printed in the Boone County Recorder and Western Recorder the meeting adjourned.

The meeting was very interesting and we trust profitable and was enjoyed by all present. The country churches were all represented.

BIG AUCTION SALE

52 Beautiful Building Lots 52

Walton's New Addition, Walton, Ky.

SATURDAY, JUNE 24, 1911

Free-One Lot Valued at $250.00 Given Away

LOTS—Smallest size 50x150 feet. Purchaser of one lot has the privilege of adjoining lot at same price.

Up Where The Breezes Blow

Not on a hill, but a natural elevation, Walton being the highest point on the L. & N. Railroad between Cincinnati and Louisville. Twelve local trains daily, stopping at Walton. An ideal place for COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS to make their home, being convenient to all railroad connections.

"Young Man Own A Spot of Ground Somewhere"

Every good American citizen should have an ambition to own at least his own home site. This opportunity will be given you at 2 O'Clock P. M., on Saturday, June 24, 1911,

when at public auction 52 beautiful building lots in Walton's new edition will be sold. Located on the highest point in Boone County, at the junction of the Queen and Crescent and L. & N. Railroads, both lines direct to the South, within seventeen miles from Covington and Cincinnati with a combined population of half a million souls, where there is manufactured nearly every article known to the human family; with a reduced railroad fare of five dollars per month to and from the city; with immediate prospect of an electric road from Central Kentucky to Cincinnati passing through Walton, what more encouraging locality could be found for investment or dwelling place than Walton's New Edition?

Walton is a "dry" town, and her law abiding citizens have upheld and enforced the prohibition laws for more than twenty years. Walton has progressive churches, a fine graded school, two successful banks, besides a building and loan association with a useful career extending over 20 years.

WHY PAY RENT

when you have a Building and Loan Association at your door that says to you in substance, "You buy your lot, we'll build your home."

TERMS

so arranged as to make it possible and convenient for the most modest investor to buy. You may pay all cash, one half cash or one third cash, balance in 6 and 12 months, six per cent. interest on deferred payments. Deed and title will be guaranteed when one third or more is paid.

Oftentimes on the very first day following an auction sale, lots change hands at from thirty to seventy-five per cent profit. Will you be the original purchaser or the man who pays the profit?

REMEMBER one lot valued at $250.00 absolutely free. Each white person present at the sale (whether he be a purchaser or not) will be given a free ticket that will entitle him to a chance on the free lot.

BAND CONCERT on ground all afternoon, besides other attractive features. Come out and you will enjoy the afternoon. Remember the date, Saturday, June 24

SOLD OUT

After Nearly a Half Century In the Service.

The New Owners, His Two Sons, Henry and Louie, Both Experienced Rivermen.

Capt. Chas. Kotmyer and son, Louie, of Constance, were in Burlington, one day last week closing up the purchase of the Captain's ferry property at Constance, Louie and his brother, Henry, having purchased the same of their father. Capt. Kotmyer purchased the ferry of John Wilson in 1864, at which time the property consisted of a skiff or two and an ordinary horse boat which was in the embrace of an icegorge that threatened its destruction. The wharf on each side of the river was steep and it was with much difficulty loads of any size were hauled from the landing to the road at the top of the bank on either side of the river. Appreciating the possibilities of a well equipped ferry, Capt. Kotmyer, immediately upon coming into possession of the property, began to make improvements, and in a short time the old horse boat was replaced by a steamer, which, from time to time has been improved until now the ferry is regarded as the best equipped between Cincinnati and Louisville. The wharf has been given special attention and is kept in first class condition as is everything pertaining to the ferry, which, under its new owners, will be kept up to the high service standard reached by the elder Kotmyer, whose career has been a signal success both financially and in the handling of the millions of dollars worth of property entrusted to his care by the patrons of the ferry. Henry and Louie Kotmyer, the new owners of the ferry, are experienced rivermen, having been trained by their father from their boyhood, and they understand thoroughly the demands of the territory that looks to their ferry for service in going to and from Cincinnati, and to meet these demands in a satisfactory and proper manner will ever be their earnest efforts.

OUT IN THE STATE.

Drouth Becoming Serious.

Whitesburg, June 18.—The drouth in this section is becoming more serious and vegetation is drying up. Stock water is getting scarce and in some places is being hauled for miles. The Kentucky River is perhaps the lowest ever known at this season of the year. Wells and springs have began going dry. During the past day or so cold weather has been prevailing—the coldest ever known in June. The cold weather will make the drouth have a more disastrous effect. Almost all garden vegetables are ruined and the corn crop will stand but a few more days of drouth.

—o—

Hail Caused Much Damage.

Horse Cave, June 18.—During a storm here last night many shade trees were blown down and the amphitheater of the fair grounds was unroofed. A hail storm occurred at 11 o'clock that caused much damage to corn and gardens. At Robert Smith's farm the corn blades were stripped from the stalks and the sweet potatoes were cut till only short stems remain this morning. Hail was still on the ground near his home to-day. Corn has been considerably damaged by the big drouth and very little tobacco has been set for lack of a season. The wheat crop is being harvested a few week's earlier than usual.

—o—

Heavy Rains in Trimble.

Milton, June 18.—Heavy rains began here last night at 10 o'clock and continued all day, relieving the drouth and bringing joy to the hearts of the farmers. All crops except corn and wheat were burning from the three week's hot weather. Growers will finish setting their tobacco crop tomorrow which will not be over 50 per cent. of the intended acreage. The rain, which was the heaviest that has fallen in the past six months, came in time to save most crops.

—o—

Drouth Broken in Bracken.

Augusta, June 18.—A heavy rain fell last night and this morning. The rain was accompanied by a heavy wind, which blew down many trees. One of the wires of the long distance telephone which crosses the river was struck by lightning or blown down and many of the telephones were burned out. All communication for a distance being cut off. The rain was general and while it will, to some extent, interfere with the harvesting of wheat, it will be of great benefit to the other crops.

—o—

Considerable Damage in Mason.

Maysville, June 18.—Considerable damage was done in Mason county by the high winds and heavy rainstorm Saturday night. A number of houses and outbuildings were unroofed and blown down, among them being the barns of Joe Davis and J. Paxton Marshall. Many telephone wires were put out of commission and linemen were busy all day making repairs.

—o—

Good Rains in Bath.

Owingsville, June 18—Bath county was visited last night by a severe rain and thunderstorm. James Arnett's stock barn was struck by lightning, killing several head of stock and burning the barn.

Great Disappointment.

Much disappointment is manifested by our citizens at the proposed location of the two million dollar government dam at McVille, some two miles above Rising Sun; it has long been understood, but from what authority we do not know, that the dam would be located here, either at the upper or lower crossing, and we still trust that it is compatible with the interests of navigation, and not from a selfish standpoint, the powers that be may yet see fit to finally locate this important work at Rising Sun.—Wheat harvest will commence in earnest next week in this locality. The farmers report the prospects for an usually good crop as very fair.—Rising Sun Local.

Very Much Mixed.

Dr. Ralph C. Tilley, of Lawrenceburg, in reporting the death of a patient living in that city to Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the State Board of Health, went on record as saying that seven washings, four ironings and the care of a family of six children contributed to cause her death. Dr. Tilley also gave the names of two of his fellow physicians as contributing to the death of his patient. He did not admit any personal responsibility. The patient was Mrs. Louisa Bruce, who was 37 years old. Blood poisoning was also given by Dr. Tilley as one of the causes.—Indianapolis Star.

J. Proctor Knott Dead.

Lebanon, June 18.—As quietly and as peacefully as he had spent his declining years, death came to Governor James Proctor Knott at his home in this city at 6:05 o'clock to-night. The distinguished Kentuckian had been in poor health for several years past and the end was not unexpected.

He was 80 years of age and his death was the result of a general breakdown. One week ago to-day Gov. Knott was taken ill, the result of the warm weather the day before. However, he rallied and on Monday had sufficiently recovered to be able to sit out on his front porch.

Early this morning he suffered a severe choking spell and from that time he gradually grew worse until the end.

The Wheat Crop.

In the midst of a cry of alarm over dry weather conditions in a large section of the State comes the intelligence that the wheat harvest is on and that farmers regard it as an extra good crop. There are conflicting reports from various localities, but the consensus of opinion seems to be that Kentucky has raised a good wheat crop.

So far as outward appearances go, says a dispatch from Christian county, "there was never a finer prospect." Similar reports from elsewhere indicate this year's production will be larger than that of last year. In 1910 Kentucky produced 9,000,000 bushels of wheat. That was a pretty fair crop, but not, of course, comparable to the production in some of the States where wheat is a top-liner among agricultural products.

The average yield per acre of wheat in Kentucky is a little more than twelve bushels. There is room for Kentucky to grow more wheat and better wheat. The State should be able to raise the average yield per acre and also to increase its production. The average is higher in all of the adjoining States with the exception of Tennessee and West Virginia. While Kentucky has shown an improvement in this particular in recent years there is good basis for believing she can and will show greater improvement in future. The production of wheat in the Eastern and North Central States is declining slowly, and probably will continue to decline but there is no reason why it should decrease in Kentucky. Others of the big staple products take precedence of it here, but wheat is, and should remain one of our best money-making crops.

Jewelry Store in Church Steeple.

Newport—One thousand dollars in cash and approximately $1,500 in solid silver cutlery were found in the steeple of Corpus Christi church when that structure was found ablaze. Fireman Sam Purcell climbed into the steeple to use a fire extinguisher. He succeeded in putting out the fire and began an examination of the damage done. He found a sack of coins, the cutlery, two gold watches and a neckless hidden in one corner of the interior. Later he reported the find to the Rev. Father Mathias Lieck, pastor of the church. Father Lieck said that he could not account for the presence there of the treasure and that an examination will be made. It is supposed that somebody stole these valuables and hid them there.

ISAAC R. FRANKS

One of Grant County's Oldest and Best Citizens, Passes to His Long Rest.

(From Grant Co. News.)

Died, at Mt. Zion, Ky., Saturday evening, June 10th, at eight o'clock, Isaac R. Franks, aged 84 years. His death was due to old age and other complications. Funeral services were conducted from the Mt. Zion Baptist church Monday morning at 11 o'clock and the burial was in the Mt. Zion cemetery. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. W. Waldrop, of Owenton.

Thus passes from the scene of action one of Grant county's best and oldest citizens.

Deceased was born and reared on his father's farm at Mt. Zion and helped to clear the wilderness which in his early manhood surrounded Mt. Zion. He went to school a few months in the winter and labored on the farm in the summer and cropping season.

On the 17th day of December, 1848, he was married to Miss Mary Ann Conyers. He had not then attained his majority. Thirteen children came to bless their home. Eleven of them are yet living and are numbered among the best citizens of this and other counties in the State. The living children are: Mrs. Wm. Clements, Jesse Irvin Franks, Jas. P. Franks, John Newton Franks, Mrs. David McGee, Mrs. Geo. Sleete, R. P. Franks, B. S. Franks, Mrs. Grace Collins, and Wallace W. Franks.

His first wife died October 23, 1888, and he was united in marriage some four years later to to her cousin.

All of the children received a good common school education, and all of those living, are prosperous and well-to-do men and women, numbered among our very best citizenship.

Mr. Franks was possessed of a good deal of real and personal property and owned one of the best farms in the Mt. Zion country.

It is understood that he had divided a good part of the property among his children, but he still retained the old homestead where he had resided for an ordinary lifetime.

Until a few years ago he was possessed of the most rugged health, but a gradual breakdown began a few years ago and his friends and family realized that he was fast approaching the end.

He had been a member of the Mt. Zion Paptist church for many years before his death.

For Representative—G. E. Carroll, G. M. Allen.

Saved His Wife's Life.

"My wife would have been in her grave to-day," writes O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., "if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery. She was down in her bed, not able to get up without help. She had a severe bronchial troubel and a dreadful cough. I got her a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and she soon began to mend, and was well in a short time." Infallible for coughs and colds, its the most reliable remedy on earth for desperate lung trouble, hemorrhages, la grippe, asthma, hay fever, croup and whooping cough. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all dealers.

The figures of the amounts of life insurance paid out by the regular life insurance companies during 1910 have been published. Over five hundred million dollars was paid in the United States and Canada. Kentucky's share was seven and one-half millions. The largest item was for death claims, the next largest for endowments, and the smallest for annuities.

BUMPER Wheat Crop Indicated

In May Review of World's Agricultural Conditions.

Timely Rains in Various Parts of the United States Are a Great Help To Crops.

Washington, June 15.—A bumper harvest of wheat in British India estimated at 300,000,000 bushels, surpassing all previous yields, and a record area sown to spring wheat wheat in Western Canada, where 90 per cent of the dominion wheat is sown, giving rise to seemingly extravagant estimates of probable yields, are the features of the world's review of May agricultural news announced by the Department of Agriculture to-day. In other respects foreign agriculture in general made average seasonable progress.

In Argentine, the grat wheat and flax seed exporter of the southern hemisphere the autumn sown crops have entered their first month of the transcontinental winter in vigorous condition and on probably largely increased areas. The recently gathered corn crop there turned out badly and little or no surplus will be available for export. The corn crop of South Africa is also reported damaged by drought and there practically will be none for export.

The United States furnishes 18 per cent of the total international trade in wheat, including flour, according to a statement to-day of the Department of Agriculture. In recent years the "world's" wheat crop has averaged slightly more than 3,000,000,000 bushels annually, of which about 9 per cent is exported from one country to another in the form of wheat, making a total of about 25 per cent of the world wheat crop which enters international trade.

The United States exports about 52 per cent of all the flour that is shipped from one country to another and about 11 per cent of the wheat.

The Dry Weather.

The dry spell has been something fearful in the Bluegrass region. The description of the state of affairs in Fayette county is fairly descriptive of the whole Bluegrass region. The Lexington Leader says: "Meadows are practically ruined and will not make a half crop. Pastures are being cut short and Blue Grass seed gathered has about come to a close with the crop of seed gathered a short one. The price from the stripper advanced to $1 per bushel and dealers have bought practically all of the small crops. Green truck will be cut short as a result of the dry weather and prices will likely be higher.

Cattle feeders will be forced to sell their export cattle unless rains come to revive the grass.

Wheat is ripening and will be ready for the binder the latter part of the week.

Oats are heading out close to the ground and have been cut short one-half. The crop will probably have to be cut with mowers in order to save it as a forage crop.

Corn is growing rapidly where the ground was plowed early, as such land seems to hold the moisture. Some fields are being plowed over the third time and the hills of corn have been thinned.

The harvesting of the barley has been in progress and the crop which shows an increased acreage is expected to make a good yield. Rye is also ripening fast and the cutting of the crop will commence by Tuesday.

Lambs are being shipped to the market and some few bunches of cattle have gone forward as a result of a scarcity of grass and water.—Winchester Democrat.

Wheat Being Harvested.

Hawesville—Hancock county is enjoying perfect weather for the harveating of the wheat crop, being most suitable for man and his teams, and the golden grain is falling before the harvesters, that have been mowing since Monday morning. The average yield will be maintained for the county. The tobacco planters, and they are in every part of the county, are more discouraged. There has been but one season for the setting and it came so late that many of the plants were spoiled in the beds before they were set. The best estimates show that not more than 65 per cent. of the crop set at this time last year has yet been set. Much of that which was set last week is dying it is thought, to the very dry, warm condition of the ground just before the last rain.

Crusade Against Cigarettes.

Paducah—Chief of Police Henry Bailey has started a crusade on the selling of cigarettes and cigarette papers. His action follows the request of the school board that the law be enforced, because it was said that cigarettes were having a bad effect on the male scholars in their studies. It was thought an ordinance would have to be drafted, but City Solicitor James Campbell says there is a state law against the sale of the papers and cigarettes to minors.

F. S. Rexford, 615 New York Life Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., says: "I had a severe attack of a cold which settled in my back and kidneys. I was in great pain from my back. A friend advised me to use Foley Kidney Pills. I did so and was entirely cured after using two bottles." Foley Kidney Pills make kidneys and bladder well and strong.

Dr. H. C. Black and Miss Virginia Graham were quietly married Thursday afternoon, June 15th, at 3:30 o'clock in Cincinnati in the parlor of Hotel Emery. E. W. Sechrest and wife, of Ludlow, witnessed the wedding. Rev. Louis A. Kohler, pastor of the Christian church, officiated. The groom wore the conventional black while the bride was gowned in a handsome Eyelit Embroidered white Bastiste and carried a large bouquet of pink and white carnations with a large quantity of ferns. After the marriage ceremony the couple left for Hamilton, Ohio, where they spent the remaining week and returned here to their home where the bride is interested in the millinery business, and the doctor will carry on his practice of veterinary work. Their many friends heartily welcome them both back with greatest happiness.

Jno. L. Vest and Dr. J. G. Slater spent Monday at Independence where Dr. Slater qualified as administrator, with the will annexed of the estate of Mrs. Sara Percival who died last Friday. The estate is supposed to be worth [illegible] left by the [illegible] lowing bequests: To her sister, Mrs. James Jones, $1,000; to her sister, Mrs. P. C. Youell, 10 shares of the capital stock of the Walton Bank and Trust Co., valued at $100 a share, also $200 in cash; to her nephews, J. W. and Clifford Youell, $250 each to be held in trust by Wm. Kennedy, trustee, for educational purposes only; to Wm. Kennedy, $100 in cash; to the Walton Baptist church, $500 to be used exclusively in the erection of a new church building whenever the members decide to erect a new building; to her niece, Miss Lulie Jones, who resided with her, and administered to her during her illness, the remainder of her estate of every kind and description in fee simple. This includes a house and lot in Walton, the net proceeds of the crops on the farm, notes, money, etc. the total value being estimated at nearly $8,000. The bequests are made from Mrs. Percivall's estate created by her chiefly. The farm of about 300 acres, valued at about $18,000, reverts to the heirs of her later husband, Orrin Percivall, it having been owned by him, and they having no children, it will be divided among 21 heirs, children of his brothers and sisters, Henry, Ira, and John Percivall, and Mrs. Stephens. The will was recently written, just before she underwent the surgical operation.

Mrs. Sarah Percival, widow of the late Orrin Percival, died at her home in Kenton county, near Walton, last Friday morning at about 10 o'clock. Her death was very unexpected and brought sorrow to many hearts as she was beloved by a very large circle of friends. Some time ago Mrs. Percival underwent a surgical operation for the removal of an internal trouble and she appeared to be constantly regaining her health and strength, and no further trouble was anticipated. Mrs. Percival had recovered sufficiently to be able to attend to some business and at the time the final summons came she was sitting up in bed arranging some business with J. F. Johnson about her landed interests that he had in charge, and was in the act of signing a check for some money when a sudden paroxysm of pain seized her and in a moment her gentle heart was stilled in death. The shock to her friends was most painful as all were relying on her restoration to health and strength. Mrs. Percival was born in Kenton county, Ky., fifty years ago, and her maiden name was Stansifer. Her married life with Orrin Percival was a most happy one, and his death a few years ago was a sorrowful blow from which she never fully recovered. She was a member of the Baptist church, and a christian lady of the highest type, and her useful life brought to such an untimely close brings sorrow to all with whom she had any relation. The funeral took place Sunday from the Walton Baptist church, the services being conducted by Rev. H. C. Wayman, after which in the presence of a vast concourse of sorrowing friends, her remains were laid to rest in the Baptist cemetery. The funeral was in charge of Undertaker C. Scott Chambers.

Summers of Georgetown, conducted the services after husband and three children, two sons and a daughter survive her

A. M. Edwards, the undertaker, was called to College Hill, Cincinnati, Monday, to get the remains of Enoch Williams, who died in a sanitarium at that place. Mr. Edwards made the trip in his automobile, as the time to wait for a railroad train was too long. Mr. Williams was a prominent farmer of near Banklick. He had been ill for some time with a kidney affection, and his mind had become impaired, and he was taken to the College Hill Sanitarium for treatment with no beneficial results, as his death took place a short time after he was taken there. Mr. Williams was about 60 years old, and had always enjoyed the reputation of being a first class citizen. He leaves a wife and one daughter. The funeral took place from his late home Wednesday morning.

Thos J. Walsh, the old and esteemed former agent of the Q & C Railroad Company at Walton, died at his home in Covington, after a lingering illness of paralysis Mr. Walsh was about sixty years of age, and resigned his position as railroad agent at Walton about three years ago, after suffering a stroke of paralysis, going to Covington where he made his home with his sister until his death He was a resident of Walton for many years and his wife and daughter died here and their remains rest in the Baptist cemetery alongside of which the mortal part of Mr Walsh was tenderly laid to rest by loving friends and relatives, there being a large number in attendance, particularly from Covington, among the number being Judge M T Shine and Chief of Police Henry Shuler and others of prominence

At the last meeting of the chapter the Mark Master and Past Master degrees were only conferred, and the Most Excellent Master and Royal Arch degrees will be conferred later and it is expected that Covington Chapter will exalt the candidates. The degrees conferred were on the following: Chas. W. Ransler, A. Kirtley Johnson, Roy D. Stanfler, Ernest McElroy, Chas. S. Chambers, Wm. M. Hudson, John L. West. The name of the old chapter will be retained as it has been merely moved to Walton, and the fine old companions who have been the moving spirits in keeping up the Chapter will continue to be the inspiration. The Chapter is known as McClure Chapter, No. 48, R. A. M. The degrees were J. German as High Priest; Frank L. Wilson, Dr. J. M. Chambers, H. E. Stephens, S. H. Stephens, Hiram McNay, Napoleon Rich, and Wm. Roettinger of Cincinnati.

The sale of the town lots to the addition of Walton took place last Saturday afternoon as per advertisement. The proposition was managed by The Louisville Real Estate and Development Co., with D. C. Clarke, Sales Manager, as the main promoter. The tract of land consisting of about 20 acres was bought from A. M. Edwards for $4,000. It is an ideal spot for a town site addition, and the prettiest place in Walton and very suitable for the purpose. The sale was extensively advertised in the local papers and by handbills, and at the day of the sale there were about 500 people present. T. J. Cowherd, of Shelbyville, was auctioneer, and he handled the matter well. When the Commuter on the Southern Railroad arrived it brought some people and a brass band and the march was taken up to the grounds, and after a preliminary talk the sale began. Charles S. Chambers bought the first lot, about the most desirable, fronting on the Lexington turnpike, and on a street corner, the price paid being $235; the next lot was sold to Mrs. Hattie Metcalfe for $235. These lots were 50x200 feet. The appearance of a rain storm somewhat retarded the sale, but a light rain only followed and the people remained until the last lot was sold, about six o'clock. The lots ranged in price from $12.50 to $400, the lowest price being paid by Chas. S. Boles, of Richwood, and John C. Bedinger, and the highest price was paid by M. E. Hance, of Big Bone. The total sales amounted to about $8,700, and will net the Development Company a little over two thousand dollars. Nearly all of the lots were bought by residents of Walton, and only one lot was sold to a resident outside of the county, Robt. Stephens, of Kenton county. Nearly all of the purchasers took advantage of the offer of four per cent discount for cash, and put up the coin of the realm for their purchases. Harry C. Maines was the lucky man at the sale. He drew the lot that was given away, and sold it for $60 to Charles Chambers, purchaser of the first lot sold.

CANOE CAPSIZED

Throwing Its Occupants Out and One Was Drowned.

The Drowned Woman Was Miss Hattie Wagstaff Before Marriage Formerly of Florence.

The many friends of Joseph Wagstaff and wife, who were citizens of Florence, this county many years ago, were pained by the announcement of the tragic death of their daughter, the following account of which was taken from the Times-Star, Cincinnati, of the 19th inst.:

Mrs. Roy S. Wilber, 30, wife of the chief clerk in the general office of the Cincinnati, Lebanon & Northern railroad, was drowned in the Little Miami river, near Tower Hill, Monday night, when a canoe in which she and her husband were riding capsized. The cries of the imperiled couple were heard at the Y. M. C. A. and other nearby camps and a number of boats put out at once to their assistance. F. Schalier, a law student, was the first to reach the scene of the accident. He dragged Wilber, who was unconscious, into his skiff. W. A. Harris and others from the Y. M. C. A. camp arrived and a systematic search of the river was made but no trace was found of Mrs. Wilber. Later some excitement was caused by the story of a colored man, who said he had helped drag a woman from the water, but investigation discredited his statement. The overturned canoe was found a half mile away lodged against a projection of a mill dam. Mr. and Mrs. Wilber were visiting the camp of the Schultz family, which is located on the north bank of the river above Tower Hill. They resided at 1536 Wayland avenue, Norwood.

One child, Corliss, a girl two years old, is motherless as a result of the drowning. Mrs. Wilber's name prior to her marriage was Wagstaff and her home was in Louisville, Ky., where it is said, her father is at the point of death, news of his serious illness having been received at the Norwood home during the daughter's absence. In the party at the Schultz camp were Jesse Corwin of Louisville, uncle of Mrs. Wilber, and his three daughters. Wilber was cared for at the camp and remained unconscious all the night. He was overwhelmed by the shock of his bereavement when he regained consciousness Tuesday, but insisted upon joining the campers, who were searching the river for several miles up and down stream for Mrs. Wilber's body.

Mrs. Wilber's body was recovered on Tuesday following the drowning.

Horticultural Notes.

In all pruning, cut close and smooth.

Shallow soils are of little value for fruit trees.

Pruning is very necessary to successful orcharding.

Apple trees use a great amount of potash and nitrogen.

Many farmers do not understand the care of fruit trees.

Care should be taken in spraying trees during muggy, damp weather.

In setting out an orchard tract be careful about getting the trees in perfect rows.

Currant bushes are easily propagated from cutting set during the fall or spring.

There are many old orchards which have apparently passed their usefulness because of neglect.

In growing apples it is attention to detail that makes all the difference between success and failure.

Always pile apple boxes on their flat side and not on their curved crowned tops and bottoms.

The best time to plant both spruce and maple trees is early in the spring as soon as the ground is dry enough to dig.

Going to plant a windbreak this spring on the north and west sides of that orchard? If so, better get at it. Norway spruce is a good variety for this purpose.

Pick off, and burn all "mummied" fruits on peach, plum or other trees, thus destroying the spores of brown rot and other fungous diseases which winter over on these dried-up specimens.

Too many trees of one variety alongside one another is not the best way to plant them. Mix them up, then they will pollenize one another better and give you choicer fruit and more of it.

To be successful in pruning one must constantly keep in mind the species and variety of tree he is pruning, the object for which he prunes and the evils that may result from improper pruning. Cherry trees require little pruning except to shape the top and cut out dead limbs.

Scientific Farming Needed.

Believe me, there should be something else taught in our schools than that to merely graduate and the race for success has been won. Pound it into a boy's head that the race in life is battle has just started when he graduates. Never let him get it into his head that an education eliminates him from toil. The next legislature should provide that each high school should have an agricultural department, and teach all the boys what scientific farming really is. Live plants well taken care of are more profitable than dead languages well spoken.—Falmouth Outlook.

JOY RIDING

In an Auto Affords Its Trials and Troubles Along With Its Pleasures.

The Experiences of Some of Boone County's Auto Owners.

Some of the autoists of the county have had their troubles with their machines, some of which were exasperating and others extremely exciting. While behaving nicely the auto, all will tell you, is a pleasure beyond description, but when it goes wrong in three inches of dust at a time the mercury is flirting with the century mark, you do not want to be anywhere in its neighborhood, another statement which will be endorsed unanimously by all who have an acquaintance with any member of the auto family. Now for a few experiences along both the rough and the exciting routes:

Not living an hundred miles from this office is the owner of a machine, who, before he had had much experience as a chauffeur, went to visit a friend and had to pass through a large farm gate, turning to his right to do so. Beginning the turn he began saying, "gee, gee" but the machine did not gee enough, and an unyielding gate post was rammed with one of the springs, which, fortunately withstood the collision, very slight damage resulting.

Some time after the above occurrence the same party had occasion to set the brake good and strong, and forgetting to release it made a four mile trip wondering all the time why his machine was doing ugly, altho the engine was working nicely. He now always sees that the break is "off" before he starts. On another occasion this same party left home without supplying the cooling apparatus on his machine with water. At the end of the first two miles trouble became apparent and he stopped the car, but the engine which was excessively hot refused to halt but continued its harrassing pounding, and before the engine had cooled down sufficientiy to stop, he had his car nearly completely dismantled in his efforts to discover and remedy the trouble which was only the lack of water. The last thing before cranking now he sees that the radiator is supplied.

The owner of a fine auto who does not live so close, has had experiences that are exciting in the extreme and tinged somewhat with danger. Not long since he attempted to enter a Covington garage, when his engine balked, and his machine went out of the building backward, demolishing its top.

On another occasion he was having his gasoline tank filled in the city, when he struck a match to see how much gasoline the tank contained, and in an instant a blaze shot several feet high, and threatened the destruction of his machine, which was saved by the heroic efforts of the employees about the garage. Upon being admonished never to do the like again, he responded: "Do you think I'm a d—n fool?"

One day this same owner had been working with his machine and got his overalls pretty well saturated with gasoline. Desiring to light his cigar he struck a match on his pants and in an instant he was a tower of fire. Fortunately a hose attached to a water plug was nigh and a strong stream of water was turned on him and he was spared to have more pleasures and experiences with his machine.

Antiquity of Tobacco.

The idea that tobacco has only been known in Europe since the discovery of America is incorrect. In fact, the Medes and Persians a long time before our era smoked narghiles, as ancient scriptures prove. A philologist has suggested that the Greeks and Romans smoked tobacco at least in their colonies. In the Malay archipelago the use of cigars and cigarettes is said to date much further back than the discovery of America. The word "cigar" seems to show that man's solace and comfort did not originate in the West Indies, but is most likely derived from "sakara," an Arab word meaning smoke.

Lightning Kills Few.

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robt. Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at all dealers.

Sheep, if treated kindly, are easier handled and more easily trained than either horses, cattle or hogs. With just a little effort, one can teach them to drive or to follow from lot to pasture, and the reverse. Every farmer should have a small flock for the purpose of utilizing the waste about his place; cleaning the fence row of weeds and bushes, and enriching the soil. And when you consider the two sources of profit—the sale of wool and the sale of lambs that, within a few years on most every farm there will be found a bunch of sheep.

The WALTER A. WOOD

is the only one with genuine underdraft. The driving power is always in proportion to the heaviness of the work. The only one with self-form tilt—cutter bar never gets out of line with pitman. The only one with floating frame—no neck weight on the horses. No vibration.

The teeth on the WALTER A. WOOD

No. 10 Steel Rake

have independent holders and each has a coil spring to relieve strains. Rakes clean, dumps easily and lasts a life-time. The most economical rake you can own.

The WALTER A. WOOD

combines strength and simplicity. Relief springs on forks prevent breakage. The lightest running tedder made.

We shall be glad to demonstrate all three machines to your entire satisfaction.

The Business Principle

of successful lives is the habit of saving, depositing what can be spared in a good bank to meet the emergencies of the proverbial rainy day. A little at a time makes a snug sum in a short time. The Equitable Bank and Trust Co., Walton, Ky., will accept any sum on deposit and pays four per cent. interest on what remains a year, or three per cent for what remains six months. Remittances by mail given prompt response and careful attention. This Bank has assets of over One Hundred Thousand Dollars. We qualify as administrator, executor, trustee, guardian, etc., of estates, which is much more satisfactory than a private individual in such capacity. Mail communications given careful attention. Base Ball.

The Hebron base ball team came over [illegible] afternoon and were defeated by the Burlington aggregation 12 to 2. The Hebron boys never got into the hunt, making only six hits off of the old fox, Brady, while their pitchers were batted almost at will, being found for 19 hits. The feature of the game on the part of Hebron was Tanner's batting, he making two two sackers and a three bagger, and was responsible for the two runs his team put over. Following is the score by innings:

Burlington	2 4 2 0 2 0 1 1 *—12
Hebron	1 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 —2

Base hits—Sayre, Souther 2; Kelly 4, Conner 3, Clore, Slayback, Smith 4, White, Ryle, Brady 2.

Two base hits—Tanner, 2, Conner, Slayback, Ryle.

Three base hit—Tanner.

Struck out—By Brady, 9, by Walton 3.

Batteries—Hossman, Walton and Goodridge; Brady and Slayback.

Umpires—Sullivan and Clore.

At the conclusion of the above game the Grange Hall club tackled the Burlington High School team, Huey and Slayback for B. H. S. and Aylor and Abdon for G. H., being the batteries. The support given each pitcher was exceedingly rocky and the pitchers were in the hole all the time. In the sixth inning Huey won his game with a three base hit with three men on the bases and finally scored himself. Slayback did fine work behind the bat in both games. Aylor pitched great ball and the boys who faced him are wondering yet what he put on the sphere. Burlington made 7 and Grange Hall 8 hits. Huey struck out 10 and Aylor 6 men.

B. H. School	1 0 0 0 1 4 *—6
Grange Hall	0 1 0 0 0 1 8—5

Prof. Yaley, of Florence, took his team to Belieview, last Saturday afternoon, where it was defeated 6 to 5 in an exciting and well played game. The professor has a squad of fast younsters, but the crowd they were up against last Saturday have been gooing at a tremendous clip all this season.

Graduation Too Expensive.

Many boys and girls drop quietly out of their classes before commencement day and sacrifice their diplomas because their parents can not afford the dress worn by the other pupils at the exercises. A superintendent in Illinois in a recent report said: "Too often our high school commencement exercises are robbed of all their true significance and dwindle into a mockery—a cheap peacock parade." This sharp comment was made after he had received reports from twenty-five graduates of the largest high schools in the country, showing that the boys spent on an average for clothes and invitations $55.40 and the girls $56.18. The State Superintendent of Illinois says that the brightest and most ambitious girl in one high school feigned ill health and dropped out because her father could not afford money for the display connected with graduation. The dress becomes more costly each year. One of the expenses which is often practically obligatory is the class photographs, and photographs become more and more costly. The personal invitation to the exercises is also a fairly recent added expense. Even persons quite outside the family of the graduates have to share in the increasing cost because the custom is growing up of giving presents in return for these invitations. One of the most conspicuous evils in girls' schools thruout the country is the large portion of the conversation of every day, month in and month out through the year, which is devoted to clothes. Several expedients regarding the graduating exercises have been resorted to. One is caps and gowns, which can be rented or made at home. Another is that the gowns be made in the school by the pupils.

The State School Census.

Full reports on the school census have been received by the superintendent of Public Instruction and this shows that there are a total of 225,557 children of school age in this state. The statistics show that only 36 per cent of the school children of the state attend school and the percentage of those enrolled who attend is only 45 per cent. less than half of the childen who are nominally in the schools. The reports show that there are in the cities 44,584 white children, 22,021 being male and 22,583 female. In the cities there are 10,061 negro school children. In the rural schools there are 170,912 school children, 155,323 being white and 15,589 colored. The whites are divided, according to sex, 78,469 male and 76,854 female. The statistics show that the negroes attend school better than the whites.

HENRY M. BOSWORTH, KENTUCKY'S NEXT AUDITOR

Henry M. Bosworth, of Lexington, who is a candidate for State Auditor. Under the last Democratic administration Mr. Bosworth served as State Treasurer and his administrative ability was displayed in a manner that especially recommended him as a worthy and competent State official.

He is especially fitted for the responsible duties which devolve upon the State Auditor, for there is no more important position within the gift of the people. Mr. Bosworth has always been prominent in State politics and no man has ever yet accused him of engaging in anything that was not square and honorable but he has a record of having opposed all sorts of intrigue and combinations whereby it is sought to gain an office.

If nominated by the Kentucky Democracy he will give all his time and strength toward the success of the party at the regular election. Popularity throughout the State guarantees strength to the ticket if he is successful in the primary.

Mr. Bosworth is known as the man who arrested Caleb Powers who was trying to escape from Frankfort after the murder of Wm. Goebel. Taking his life into his own hands he entered a car loaded with mountain soldiers and placed Powers under arrest and carried him from the train.

There is no man in Kentucky who will be more thankful to the Democrats for the honor of representing them on the State ticket and he is commended to the careful consideration of the Democratic voters. If nominated and elected Mr. Bosworth will make the State one of its best and most conscientious officials. The last time he was a candidate he carried Boone county by a big majority.

Entertained Handsomely.

The Boone County Medical Society met at Erlanger, Wednesday evening June 21st, as guests of Dr. J. G. Furnish, of Covington. The following physicians were present: J. R. Murnan, J. G. Furnish, Covington. G. F. McKim, C. Crisler, B. F. Beebe, Cincinnati. B. K. Menefee, J. G. Slater, Walton. C. W. McCullom, C. R. Crisler, Erlanger. L. C. Hafer, Florence. F. L. Peddicord, Burlington. O. E. Senour, Union, H. H. Hays, Bullittsville.

Dr. Murnan read a very interesting and learned paper on "The Early Diagnosis and Treatment of Acute Intestinal Obstruction. Dr. McKim discussed and demonstrated the "Phenolsulphoenephthalein test of the Kidneys," which was a scientific and interesting discussion.

The physicians were then banquested at Taliaferro's, and this part of the program was enjoyed surely. The Society is certainly very grateful to Dr. Furnish, for the hospitality he has shown it, and hopes to be able to reciprocate in the future.

To the Democratic voters of Boone county:

For the cause of education in Kentucky I hope to see good school men selected by both parties for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction

I am acquainted with the Democraric candidates for the nomination for this office. I know their records. I consider Barskdale Hamlett the logical man for the place. He is a school man who has "made good." While he is young and ambitious he is very practical. The majority of the school people of the State are for him.

If the Democrats of Boone county will support him they will help the cause of education and I shall appreciate it as a personal favor.

EDGAR C. RILEY.

It'll Soon be Over.

Three of Boone's citizens have been tearing the bushes up by their roots for some time past in their efforts to capture the Democratic nomination for State Senator, and the successful candidate will discover at the end of the senatorial term that he made a bad investment from a financial point of view. The term is four years during which time it is not probable that he will be on duty to exceed 120 days, and for that period of service he will receive exactly $600 which when spread out to cover the money and time it cost to secure the nomination, and his expenses, and time lost from business, while on duty at Frankfort, will make a covering of a nature entirely too gauzy to be worth considering. The honor that some think attaches because of being a member of the State lawmaking body, has been relegated to the discard generally by State legislatures. But somebody has to make the sacrifice to the end that the government may continue to exist.

F. S. Rexford, 615 New York Life Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., says: "I had a severe attack of a cold which settled in my back and kidneys and I was in great pain from my trouble. A friend recommended Foley's Kidney Pills and I used two bottles of them and they have done me a world of good." Sold by Robt. W. Jones, Walton.

For County Clerk.

The Recorder is authorized to announce W. R. Rogers as a candidate for the nomination for County Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

For State Treasurer.

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of Hon. Thomas S. Rhea of Logan county, for Treasurer of the State of Kentucky, subject to the Democratic primary election to be held July 1st, 1911.

Hon. Ollie James has no opposition for the nomination for U. S. Senator, Senator Paynter having withdrawn from the race last Saturday. There are various opinions as to what effect Paynter's withdrawal will have on the primary.

Former Senator J. C. S. Blackburn who has been knifing James B. McCreary on the sly for a month or so, came out boldly in his speech at Owenton, last Monday, and advised the Democrats to vote for William Addams, McCreary's opponent, next Saturday.

Mr S. M. Billiter, who has been working up an interest in a fair to be held in Grant county this fall, reports that he has received pledges for five thousand dollars in stock He states also that he has been too busy to make a thorough canvass and believes the remaining five thousand dollars can be secured without great difficulty

The Georgetown Times says: "The last Democratic State primary election was marked by glaring fraud in some sections of the State. Great dissatisfaction resulted from it, and as a consequence the party was defeated. Unless the approaching primary election is conducted fairly the party will again suffer. Every vote cast for any candidate ought to be counted. Party obligations are not as binding as they have been, and trickery in nominating candidates will be rebuked when it comes to selecting the party nominees."

The Democrats of this State will on next Saturday, July 1st, by a primary election, nominate their candidates for the different State officers as well as the local Senator and Representative This senatorial and representative district is safely Democratic, but the same can not be said for the State, and all Democrats should not fail to go to the polls next Saturday and cast their votes so as to select the candidates for State offices, and in doing so the voters should bear in mind that they want the personel of the ticket to be the best, so the Democratic party can present a solid front in the fight that will be waged in November. The Democratic leader should be a man known from Mills' Point to the Big Sandy—a man who knows how to marshal his forces and lead them to victory, and that man is the Hon James B McCreary. Democrats are urged to go the polls and cast their votes for this peerless leader next Saturday

Looks Like They Can't Be Good.

From the editorial comments of the leading Democratic papers in Kentucky in regard to the political conditions within the Democratic party in the State, the reader is bound to conclude that everything is shaping up nicely for another Democratic Waterloo next November. in Louisville, where the rule or ruin policy has held sway for many years, it looks like plans have been perfected to name the candidates who will compose the Democratic State ticket next November, with an utter disregard for the wishes of the Democrats out in the State, no matter how much in the minority the Louisville slate may be in the whole State. In other words the political powers that be in the Democratic party in Louisville are scheming, if necessary, to steal nominations for those candidates they desire on the State ticket at the regular election. So palpable is the work that is going on along that line, that in commenting on an Evening Times editorial regarding the ease with which frauds can be perpetrated at the primary election next Saturday, the Courier-Journal says: "The Courier-Journal goes yet farther than The Evening Times and declares that if there be cause to suspect the least unfairness by the accredited Democratic organization in the city of Louisville, it will pursue the wrongdoers and expose them. The future political complexion of the city will largely hinge upon the character of this primary. Mayor Head says he is out of politica. But he is not out of the Mayoralty and he would feel—and perhaps look—mighty queer to see a hostile representation go from here to Frankfort and a Republican General Council sitting in the City Hall. He is the official head of the party, a citizen, a Democrat and a neighbor for whom we entertain the highest respect and good will. The Courier-Journal looks to him, more than to any other Democrat, to see that perfect fair play is the order of the day from start to finish next Saturday."

Hog Notes.

Hogs need salt and most when running on pasture.

The little pigs must not get fat, muscle and bone first.

Sweet corn broadcast early in June will make fine feed in the fall; the pigs are fond of it.

Shade in the pasture and plenty of water if you wish to prevent the fatal over heating to which hogs are subject.

If the spring pigs are doing well hold them steady until fall then push them hard for the market.

Let the shoats root, not the fattening hogs. The exercise in the first case is beneficial, in the second expensive.

Any man who persistently breeds his gilts too young finds the quality of his herd going down.

The hog lot needs to be changed and plowed up frequently, because of disease germs. Plowing sweetens the soil.

If you begin the hog business right end first you begin in a small way and grow up with the business.—Ex.

GASBURG.

Brooks & Snelling will start their thresher next week.

Wheat harvest was finished last week. The yield will be fair and quality extra good.

Several refreshing showers have fallen here in the last two days, but not enough to do lasting good.

S. W. Tolin and J. W. Berkshire passed through here last week on their farewell tour of the campaign.

A big portion of the croping operations in the Petersburg bottoms is being done by residents of the town.

No particular interest has manifested itself in the primary, but on account of having a local candidate a full vote will be polled.

The hot, dry weather has been highly beneficial to the melon vines. They have taken on a rapid and vigorous growth and we will likely have ripe melons two or three weeks earlier than usual.

This reporter took a spring wagon load of potatoes to Aurora last week and received $2.30 per bushel for them. Fruit and vegetables were never known to be scarcer in Aurora at this season of the year.

Grant County Items.

(Grant Co. News.)

There are in the county jail in Williamstown several all awbreakers who have been prisoners for various infractions of the law, and are dead expense to the county and state. Their long confinment is neither conducive to their health nor to their moral uplift. Among the number is one young man who has been there since the February term and who has never been tried. The charge against him is assisting other prisoners to escape, and this offense is punishable by confinment in State prison for a period of not less than one year. It is not possible to try him before the special term in September. By that time he will have been in jail for half as long a period as the minimum punishment in the penitentiary would have been had he been tried and found guilty. It seems that there must be a defect in our laws when they permit a thing of this kind. It is also a serious problem what to do with the petty violators who spend periods of from ten to fifty days in jail. Would it not be infinitely better if these prisoners could be put to work at some useful employment? Would it not be better for the county and State from a financial standpoint and also for the health and moral uplift of the prisoners themselves? To this end we suggest that a bill be passed by the next Legislature authorizing each county to purchase a farm upon which to work prisoners convicted of misdemeanors.

The Grand Jury adjourned Friday afternoon, having been in session five days in all. Nineteen indictments were reported, 15 for misdemeanor and 4 for a felony charge.

J. W. Martin, a prosperous farmer of Corinth, who was tried for perjury early in the term and found guilty and his punishment fixed at one year in the penitentiary, was granted a new trial.

A special term of the Grant Circuit Court will be held beginning the first week in September.

The special term has been called in order to clean up the criminal docket, many cases having been carried over and several alleged violators of the law being held in jail.

The case of Cooper Coleman, who was indicted at last February term for felony was referred back to the grand jury on an error. The grand jury failed to take action and Coleman goes free. Coleman was mixed up in the shooting affray at Crittenden some months ago in which one negro was killed and another badly wounded. It is not thought that Coleman was in fault in the matter.

C. W. Burton is the nominee of the Democratic party in Grant county for Representative. His only opponent, R. Z. Allphin, failed to put up his entrance fee and the committee was called together Tuesday and Burton was given the nomination. The nomination will cost Burton probably not more than $25, which is less than was ever paid by a candidate for the office in Grant county. The only expenses are for publishing the call printing and posting the notices.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY REMEDY
Is particularly recommended for chronic cases of kidney and bladder trouble. It tends to regulate and control the kidney and bladder action and is healing, strengthening and bracing. Sold by Robt. W. Jones, Walton.

If the Democrats evolve a scrap over the guberntorial nomination resulting from Saturday's primary, Hon. Ollie M. James will be in danger of defeat, for, as goes the State for Governor next fall so will go the legislature.

The streets will be given a second coating of oil next week, which will complete the work for this season.

A Paris cablegram to the New York World says that Mrs. E. R. Thomas, who was formerly Miss Linda Lee, of Louisville, is in Paris and is getting ready to sue for absolute divorce.

Did you ever notice, and no doubt you have, that those fellows who come around some time during each political campaign with a request that you vote for some candidate on the grounds that he is a particular friend of his, never calls on you to ascertain if you have a particular friend for whom you would like to have them vote? No indeed, they were never known to propose to reciprocate. Their motto is, you help me take care of my friends, and then take care of your friends yourself. It is all to gain and nothing to lose in a safe game.

FRANKS

Utterly Arraigns Judge O'Rear in Speech at Barbourville.

OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR NOMINATION

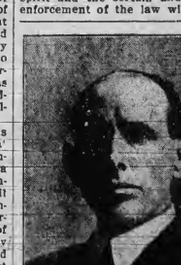
Declares That Republicans Must Stand For Law Enforcement or Meet Political Ruin.

DENOUNCES MOBS AND NIGHT RIDERS

Barbourville, Ky., May 22.—Rarely if ever in the history of Kentucky has one candidate for the nomination for Governor of the State so mercilessly arraigned another as E. T. Franks arraigned Judge O'Rear in his opening speech here today. After declaring for redistricting, for tax revision, for better schools and better roads, for the endorsement of the county unit bill as advocated in the 1907 platform, Mr. Franks said that the most important matter before the people of the State today is the enforcement of the law, and he declared in effect that there are not enough night-riders and mob-members in the Republican party to nominate or elect a candidate who does not stand firmly for law and order. Mr. Franks' speech, which was heard and approved by a record-breaking crowd, was in part as follows:

When I made my announcement as a candidate for Governor, I stated that I would not make a speaking campaign for the nomination, giving as a reason my fear that it would engender bad feeling, and thus make it more difficult for us to win in November, but self-preservation is universally allowed to be the first law of nature, and if Judge O'Rear or any one else thinks that he can come and attack me in my own home without getting into a scrap, he is destined to a rude awakening when he tries it. Hence I have decided to take the stump in advocacy of my claims for the Republican nomination for Governor, and if it is a speaking campaign that Judge O'Rear wants, I shall accommodate him to his heart's content, though I repeat my opinion that it would have been better for the party if no speeches had been made until after the July convention.

I have been here many times before. In every hard-fought battle that you have had for the past twenty years I have come to your aid at the first call, and I have enjoyed my visits to your city very much indeed. I always feel at home in the mountains. I have campaigned so much in the mountains that I feel as much at home up here as I do in Jackson's Purchase, where I was born and reared, or in the Pennyrile, where my home has been so long. In the last twenty years I have had the pleasure of speaking in one hundred and ten of the one hundred and nineteen counties of the State. Wherever I have spoken, my views on the fundamental principles of the Republican party are well known.



The natural resources of Kentucky are not surpassed in importance or equaled in variety by those of any other State. Her shores are washed by more miles of navigable streams than are possessed by any other State; her soil is as fertile as the Delta of the Nile; many of her mountains and valleys are covered with virgin timber that has never yet heard the sound of the woodman's ax; the State has more coal, and none can produce it more cheaply; we have fluor-spar, lead, zinc, and the best quality of fire-clays in abundance. There is enough water power unused and going to waste, to operate every wheel and spindle in the State without using a bushel of coal, and yet steam coal can be delivered at our furnace doors at a lower cost than almost anywhere else on this earth. We are in close proximity to the fast-developing Southland, where there awaits us a ready market for everything that we manufacture. We have the natural resources, and we have the men to develop them. A braver and more patriotic citizenship, on the whole, is not to be found in any State, and why should not Kentucky force to the front as one of the leading States of the Union in farming, in manufactures, in mining, in education and in all the varied interests of a great people inhabiting a great land?

How years we have been shipping our raw material elsewhere. It has been worked up and shipped back to us, we paying the freight both ways and losing the potential profit. Why do we not manufacture at home? There must be a reason. What is it? There is something radically wrong, on these conditions would not exist. I will tell you what is wrong. Our taxing system is wrong, and we do not enforce our laws or preserve public order.

We should begin our program of change by altering our apportionment laws, so as to give every citizen of the State equal representation. I do not hesitate to say that our apportionment laws are a disgrace to civilization, a crime in the garb of law, and should make every honest man of whatever party hang his head in shame when he thinks of the great injustice that has been done to the people by Democratic legislators, who cared not for the public good, but did the bidding of those enemies of the party who had before them and in view nothing but their lust for continued power as a necessary condition of their political existence.

Mob Rule and Night Riders.

There should be a change in our laws relative to mobs. Better protection should be given to persons accused of crime, whether such persons be in the hands of arresting officers or in the jail on all such charges. Mob rule and night riders must be stopped. I am opposed to mobs and lynchings under any circumstances, and I am opposed to night riders. I am opposed to them because they are lawless, because they are cowardly, because they are murderous, because they are a menace to the peace and prosperity of the State, and because they are a disgrace to the fair name of Kentucky. Danville, Ky., June 23.—Edward Cochran, the prominent Casey county merchant who was shot by William Carson, rural mail carrier, when the two men met on his route Wednesday afternoon, died this morning of the wound. Cochran was forty years old and Carson thirty. Both belong to prominent families. Great mystery surrounds the killing.

Cyrus Kelly Dead.

Cyrus Kelly, 68, of Bellevieve, died last Saturday morning after an illness of several months. He was one of the eight sons of the late Jesse Kelly, all of whom lived to be men of mature age, Z. T. Kelly, of Rabbit Hash, being the only survivor of the eight brothers, while two of the five sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Neal and Miss Cynthia Kelly, of Bellevieve, are living. Two sons, both grown, survive. The remains were interred last Sunday afternoon in the family cemetery on the old Kelly homestead in the Waterloo neighborhood.

The Wheat Crop.

Wheat in Boyd county is an average crop.

The crop in Shelby county will average about 70 per cent.

Small yield in Fulton county.

Montgomery county's crop was disappointing. Yield was not good except in very few fields.

In Meade county the average yield will not be greater than fifteen bushels to the acre.

The crop of Nicholas county is the best in years and bids fair to be the best crop of the county this year. Acreage is about an average one.

In Caldwell county threshers are running. Straw is heavy but the yield is not as large as usual, said by many to be due to rust, which is very unusual for a dry May.

The Tobacco Crop.

Very little tobacco has been set in Hart county, for lack of season, up to last week.

Tobacco planted in Knox and Clay counties has practically been burned up.

Less than three-fourths of an average crop has been planted in Christian county.

Trimble county's crop will not be over 50 per cent. of the intended acreage.

Owen county set 50 per cent. of what was intended.

Not 30 per cent. of the crop planned for Barren county will be set, 20 per cent. is the estimate at this time.

The drought cut the average of tobacco in Shelby county to about 60 per cent. of a normal crop and the present condition is not over 50 per cent.

Most tobacco growers in the stemming district have abandoned hope of planting more than 20 per cent. of a crop this season.

Nicholas county had a 48 hour rain last week and considerable tobacco was set. 30 per cent. of an average crop is now counted on.

There was a splendid tobacco season in Caldwell county. A great deal set out though plants were scarce in many sections. Because of the lateness of the season there is not much hope for more than 75 per cent. of a crop this year.

The tobacco in Montgomery county planted with setters looks fair, but the drought so greatly injured early set [illegible] stroyed so many plants that the acreage will probably be cut 750 to 1,000 acres.

There will be less than a half crop of tobacco in Henderson Crittenden, Hopkins, Webster and Union counties. This is the consensus of opinion of crop experts in the five counties.

Farmers in the Black Patch are very much discouraged. Recently it was said if a drenching rain did not fall in June that not more than three-fourths of a crop would be made, but now the man who raise the tobacco, and who are in a position to know, predict only 50 per cent. of a crop.

The Corn Crop.

Corn in Montgomery county, is looking fine.

Corn in Boyd county has yet an excellent show for an average crop if not above that.

Corn is good in some sections of Shelby county, and poor in others, but the crop will probably make an average yield.

Corn in Hart county considerably damaged by the drouth and the hail.

Corn in Caldwell county is suffering less than any other crop. In view of the recent rain there is every probability that it will make an excellent yield. Fields are free from weeds and well cultivated.

There are thousands of acres of corn land in the section around Hickman and across the river in Missouri which have not been planted. On account of the drought the ground could not be broken.

The only crop that has not suffered in Barren county is the corn crop. While still small, it has been well cultivated, and should sufficient rain come not a fine crop will be the result. Owing to the dry weather the farmers have had the opportunity of their lives to cultivate their corn crop.

Augusta.—The corn crop is way behind and unless there is a big change the crop will fall short. Some of the fruit is falling off the trees, due, it is believed, to the last cold spell, but up to this time it has now been sufficient to cause any alarm. The gardens need more rain, the rains that have fallen lately being only sufficient to keep them from suffering. The early potato crop, it is thought, will be very short.

(CARROLL COUNTY.)

The wheat harvest is not entirely completed, but the yield is the finest in years.

The Carroll county Teachers Institute will be held in Carrollton the week beginning Sept. 4th.

Much tobacco was set Monday though the average will not be over 60 per cent. of an average

TOBACCO CROP

Prospects Are For Fifteen Per Cent Decrease

As Contrasted With Big Production of 1910.

Unfavorable Conditions at The Time of Planting the Cause

That there will be no new record made by the tobacco crop of the United States in 1911 is a fact which is clearly indicated by a thorough canvass just completed by the Enquirer correspondents in all the important tobacco-producing sections of the country. In many localities the farmers, after having had a somewhat prolonged period of advancing prices, have become dissatisfied with a slight slump in the market and this has had a tendency to curtail the acreage to a certain extent. Throughout the burley belt and in some of the cigar leaf sections the planting is reported as unusually late. The hot, dry weather of the month of May in the white burley section in particular, was unfavorable for the development of the plants in the beds and the baked condition of the soil prevented favorable planting everywhere.

The very lateness of the season in many localities renders it a little more difficult than ordinarily to secure accurate data as to the acreage planted in tobacco this year, and in such cases the accompanying statistics have been compiled from very conservative estimates as to the size of the planting. In the large producing sections such as Kentucky, North Carolina, Virginia, Ohio, Tennessee, Wisconsin and Connecticut, a careful canvass has been made, and the total apparent acreage in all sections in 1911 amounts to 953,658 acres.

Computations based on the average yield per acre for the past 10 years in the various states named indicate a total tobacco yield in the United States this year of 786,410,435 pounds. The harvested acreage in 1910 was estimated at 1,149,831 acres, with a yield of 931,069,695 pounds. Thus the Enquirer's canvass of this year's planting indicates a crop at least 144,658,240 pounds, or about 15 per cent. short of that harvested in 1910. The Government's figures regarding the 1910 crop were somewhat higher, but the quantity of tobacco marketed to date indicates clearly that the Enquirer's estimate was probably nearer correct.

Although considerably short of both the 1900 and 1910 crops, the prospective 1911 yield is by no means a small crop, and with the exception of the two years mentioned it promises to be the largest crop as to weight since 1903, when the total production of the tobacco in the United States was officially estimated at 815,972,455 pounds. This may be considered a normal crop, and the 1911 crop, should it prove heavy in weight, might approach close to these figures.

The conditions at the time of planting, except for the lateness of the setting out of the plants in the Middle West, are not far from normal, and the percentage of favorable and unfavorable reports show about the same variation as in former years. With anything like favorable growing weather from now on until the fall harvest, the actual production for 1911 should not be far from the figures presented in this crop estimate.

The United States produces annually about one third of the tobacco crop of the world, and the cultivation is confined in the comparatively small area of a very few states. Kentucky is essentially the leading tobacco producing state of the country, by reason of the adaptability of its soils. It produces the bulk of the white burley crop and a large proportion of the dark types used for smoking and chewing brands in all parts of the world. North Carolina, Ohio and Indiana, raising annually approximately 400,000 acres of tobacco, renders the Ohio valley territory one of the greatest tobacco-growing sections of the world, rivaled only by British India, which has an annual crop estimate of about 450,000,000 and an annual crop estimate of about 450,000,000 produced on an area probably somewhat more extended.—Enquirer.

Selecting The Ticket.

As the time for the selection of the Democratic state ticket to go before the people of Kentucky against the common enemy draws near, we think it would be wise upon the part of the voters to consider carefully the formation of the ticket so as to present a list of candidates that would appeal with direct enthusiasm to the voters of each separate part or district of the state.

In other words, granted that all the aspirants for the nominations for the different places on the ticket are excellent men and well qualified for the positions they seek, would it not be a stroke of good policy to pick the ticket from the most advantageous geographical standpoint?

In our opinion, giving due consideration to each portion or district of the state for representation on the ticket, the party could present a list of candidates to the people next fall that would not only appeal to the masses of the state, but, above all, would thoroughly enlist the voters of the separate portions of the state because of the local pride they would take in behalf of their neighbor candidates.

A perusal of the list of candidates for the nominations readily shows one that a large majority of the aspirants come from the central portion of the state. Indeed, no matter who becomes nominee in four of the races, he will be a resident of the middle section of the state, this number being composed of the governor, lieutenant governor, the secretary of state and the clerk of the court of appeals. Would it not be expedient to carefully consider this fact in the selection on July 1, and with the single purpose of choosing the strongest obtainable ticket, give representation to other portions of the state?

Since the time for entering the field has elapsed, we now get a direct line on those who are definitely to offer themselves for the nominations, and a list of the candidates with their respective districts follow:

First district—Ollie M. James, Crittenden county, for United States Senate.

Second district—Ruby Laffoon, Hopkins county, for auditor of public accounts; Barksdale Hamlett, Christian county, for superintendent of public instruction.

Third district—Thos. Rhea, Logan county, for treasurer (no opposition); G. T. Wyatt, Logan county, for commissioner of agriculture.

Fifth district—E. J. McDermott and James P. Edwards, both of Louisville, for lieutenant governor.

Sixth district—Dr. C. F. Crecelius Pendleton county, for secretary (no opposition).

Seventh district—Henry M. Bosworth, Lexington, for auditor of public accounts; R. S. Eubank, of Lexington, and L. C. Littrell, Owen county, for superintendent of public instruction; J. W. Newman, Woodford county, and B. F. Hill, Henry county, for commissioner of agriculture; Robert L. Green and J. Morgan Chinn, of Franklin county, for clerk of court of appeals.

Eighth district—James B. McCreary, Madison county, for governor.

Ninth district—Thomas S. Payne, Harrison county, for governor.

Tenth district—Thos. C. Stuart, Clark county, for lieutenant governor; O. H. Pollard, Breathitt county, for attorney general.

Eleventh district—James Garnett, Adair county, for attorney general.

It appears to us that a voter who cares more for the victory of the Democratic party in November than for the success of any individual on July 1, will wisely choose his ticket at the primary with consideration for the geographical position of the candidates, thereby insuring a state wide interest that can scarcely be expected with a ticket composed of candidates congested in one portion of the state. With this idea in mind, the voters on July 1st can select a ticket in primary with as much geographical force as the Republicans are sure to do in their convention.—Owensboro Messenger.

BREAD THAT WILL NOT DRY.

Recipe for Potato Yeast and for Wholesome Variety of the Staff of Life.

Successful Bread.—Pare and boil three good-sized potatoes in salted water; when cooked mash them and add the water they were boiled in. When luke warm add three teaspoons of sugar, one tablespoon of flour. Stir well and add a cake of yeast. This should be sufficient to make one quart of yeast; if not, add luke-warm water to make the amount. Set away over night. In the morning prepare about three heaping quarts of flour, make a shallow place in the center, take one pint of yeast and make a sponge; if there is not sufficient sponge for the amount of bread wanted add luke-warm water. This amount should make four large loaves. When the sponge appears foamy, or covered with small bubbles, mix quite firm, and when raised to twice its size it is ready to form into the loaves. Do not mix hard like some people do, but form the loaves with only enough handling to round them. Let rise again for about half an hour, then bake in a medium hot oven but increase the heat as the bread rises. When next making use the same recipe as you started with, but instead of using a cake of yeast add the pint of yeast left from the last baking. You can have delicious rolls or buns by taking a piece of dough about the size required for a loaf of bread; add a tablespoon of lard and a little sugar; form into whatever shape desired and let rise until very light. This appears like a whole lot of work, but it is not as the yeast can be made while preparing dinner the night before by cooking a few extra potatoes and adding the water they were boiled in. After breakfast the next morning prepare the bread and it will be baked before noon, and you will have good, wholesome bread which will not dry out, as the bread made from the store yeast does.

DEATH COMES AT 107.

Paducah, Ky., June 27.—Mahala Dulin, colored, aged 107 years, probably the oldest woman in Kentucky, died in Christian county. She was born in 1804. She is survived by several children, one [illegible] years old.

Notice is hereby given that I will on Monday July 7, 1911, at 2 o'clock p. m., at the Court House door in Burlington, Ky., expose to public sale for cash the following described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay taxes now due the Walton Graded Common School District, levied on said described tracts, viz:

John Lane—67 acres near Walton	$7.80
Hattie Yarnell—House and lot Walton	$7.80
John C. Rogers—14 acres near Walton	$3.06
P. C. Youell—House and lot Walton	$3.10

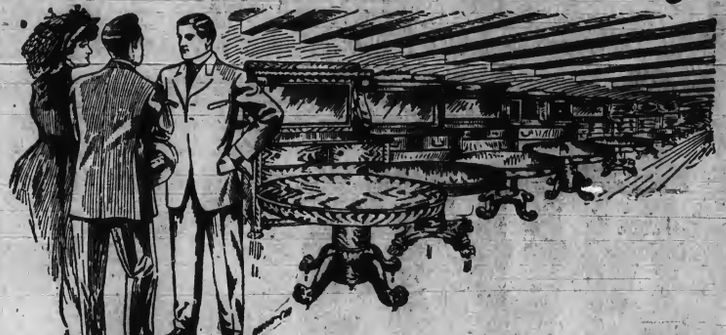
W. C. MOXLEY, Treas.

Just Keep Plowing.

"Sam Jordan, corn expert in the employ of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture, known in every Missouri corn county as a farmers' institute lecturer, has issued this statement to corn growers:

"Boys, don't give up the ship. A serious drouth threatens us. All that can be done is frequent persistent, shallow level cultivation. Once a week if possible make a dust mulch. These things done may mean a crop with very little rain. Neglect it and with little rain it means sure failure. Missouri corn growers can put across a crop by borrowing dry farming methods. You must act; keep the cultivators going in the dust. After a shower a crust forms on the ground. In this crust are thousands of little cracks that are like chimneys to let the water out of the soil into the air. From a soil with reasonable moisture about 128 tons of water per acre evaporates in one week of dry, hot, windy weather. Shallow, frequent cultivation stops this.

"Get Busy, Keep Busy, Save The Corn. Sit and Wait for Rain and You Lose."



Here is what President Worst of the North Dakota Agricultural College says:

If I were to come on to your farm and set 750 teams to work for a week hauling water onto a quarter section at the rate of four tons a day I would then only put on as much water as evaporates in a week when there is a good moisture contained in the soil. A thorough harrowing will stop this evaporation and save that amount of water.

Tremendous Waste by Erosion.

Investigations by the United States Geological Survey of the erosion of numerous drainage basins of the United States show that the surface of the country is being removed at the average rate of about an inch in 760 years. Though this amount seems trivial when spread over the surface of the country, it becomes stupendous when considered as a total, or even in separate drainage basins. Mississippi River, for instance carries annually to the sea, 136,400,000 tons of dissolved matter and 340,500,000 tons of suspended matter and of this total Ohio River carries 53,000,000 tons and Missouri River contributes more than twice as much. Colorado River, which has built up for itself a vast delta, brings down more suspended matter than any other river in the United States, delivering annually 387 tons for each square mile of its drainage basin, or a total of 140,000 tons.

Fifty Years After.

Fifty years after the first guns of the civil war sounded the veteran membership of the congress of the United States shows a preponderance from the confederate armies. If the battle-roll of the house and senate were called today it would show more confederate veterans in each branch of congress than there are members from the armies of the blue.

There are veterans of many battles and survivors of many trying situations. In the senate there are six of these confederate warriors. Three of them Senator Bacon, of Georgia and Senators Johnston and Lankhead of Alabama, were cadets in the Southern ranks. The others, Senators Martin of Virginia, Thornton of Louisiana and Tillman of South Carolina, fought either as privates in the regular army or as members of cadet corps that were called for active service. In the house of representatives there are eight confederate, including Brigadier General George W. Gordon, of Tennessee, Major Charles M. Stedman of North Carolina and Captains John Lamb of Virginia and William Richardson of Alabama. The other confederates include Representative Talbott of Maryland, Rucker of Colorado, Taylor of Alabama and Estopinal of Louisiana.

FLORENCE.

One of the events of the week was a shower given in honor of the bride to be, Miss Iantha Utz, by her friends, Misses Kitty and Lena Tanner, and Violetta Rouse at the home of Miss Violetta Rouse, Tuesday afternoon, June 27th. It was well attended and the many presents received were both useful and beautiful.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was that of Miss Iantha Utz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Utz and Alonzo Tanner, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Tanner, both of Florence, which took place at Hopeful church, last Thursday evening, June 29th. The bride was dressed in a beautiful white messaline silk. As the well known wedding Chorus from "Lohengrin" was played by Ed Bentham on the violin and Harold Bentham on the Cello and accompanied by Miss Lena Tanner on the organ, the bride approached the Altar on the arm of the bridesmaid, Miss Violetta Rouse and the groom with the groomsman, L. T. Utz, brother of the bride, preceded by the ushers, Misses Kitty Tanner, Lorena Hafer, Alma Blankenbeker and Lillian Bristow. The marriage ceremony was performed with the bride and groom standing under a large wedding bell. The church was beautifully decorated with large palms and ferns and wild daises. The bride carried a handsome bouquet of white roses, the bridesmaid, delicate pink carnations and each of the ushers a hand bouquet of carnations. We wish them much happiness and extend congratulations.

The Ouija Club entertained their gentlemen friends in a most joyful manner July 4th, at the home of one of its esteemed members, Miss Mabel Powers. One of the interesting features was the Gipsy camp with a skilled fortune teller, who enlightened the guests concerning the brilliant future awaiting them. Another feature was the cat guessing match, the winning couple being Jacob F. Cleek and Miss Nannie Chambers, the prize being a yellow and white cat decorated with 4th of July colors (the cat is the emblem of the Ouija club). An elegant lunch was served consisting of sandwiches, pickles, potato chips, cherry sherbet, Angel's food cake and lemonade. Forty-five guests were present and all had an excellent time, made so particularly by the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Powers, and their charming daughter, Miss Mabel. The house and yard were tastefully decorated with red, white and blue Japanese lanterns.

Among the graduates in the Dramatic Department of the Ohio Conservatory of Music in Cincinnati last week was Miss Clara Catherine Chain, who received her post-graduate diploma. Miss Chain has been a class in Elocution and Dramatic Art in Walton during the past winter is well known here, and her many friends will be interested in the following splendid review of her post-graduate recital which was written by the dramatic critic of the Cincinnati Enquirer: "Miss Chain gave her own cutting of Eugene Walter's "Paid in Full." She is a writer of splendid attainments. Her presence is beautiful, her style most fascinating and she reads with an interesting magnetism that compels attention. In the Walter play she assumed the various characters with a modulation in tone that made one completely forget that it was a monologue and center one's entire attention on the thread of the story. The piece is hard on her voice, but there is no questioning her ability in this line, and her future is very bright."

HAMILTON

Mrs. Lucy Hance is in the hospital in Cincinnati yet, but she is getting along reasonably well.

R. O. Whitman, proprietor of the gasoline boat which he run in the Patriot and Aurora trade was so badly injured last Tuesday night that he died in a few minutes after being hurt. He was fixing something about his engine when one of his legs was caught by the fly wheel and torn from his body. He was one of the best business men in Patriot.

It has been the custom for the country schools to begin at any time mutually agreed upon by the teacher and the trustee. In some districts, where the roads are bad, and the houses not good it is desirable to begin as soon as possible. In other places the beginning is postponed so that the larger boys can finish the season's work before the beginning of school. The Board of Education of Madison county has fixed upon July 16th, at which time all the rural schools are to begin. This will enable the Board to exercise a better control over the schools and reports will be more uniform.

SHOULD A PLATFORM CONVENTION BE CALLED.

The primary election being over and the Democratic State Ticket having been chosen, the Democracy of Kentucky will soon be confronted by the live reform issues of the day. Should a platform convention be called by the Democratic State Committee, as we believe should be done, the Democrats of this State should elect delegates to the convention, who are in favor of the reform measures now agitating the public mind. The press can aid materially by informing the people of the issues and urging the voters to attend the county conventions called to select delegates to the State platform convention, and it seems to us that the Democratic press would be wofully derelict in its duty if it did not direct public attention along these lines. There are a number of questions, such as a general primary, good roads etc, upon which the Democrats are generally agreed, still there is another question of greater importance to the people and the welfare of the Democratic party in Kentucky than any of these, which has not received the attention to which it is justly entitled, namely, the absolute changing of the system of electing the Prison Commissioners, by dividing the State into districts and electing the Commissioners by popular vote. They are now elected by the General Assembly, both Senators and Representatives participating, and The Louisville Times has said that there is a question as to whether the Legislature elects the prison commissioners or the prison commissioners elect the Legislature. The fight should be not so much a fight upon men as upon the odious system by which three prison commissioners may feel called upon to go into legislative and senatorial districts, and through the annual distribution of $200,000 or more of public patronage in the form of penitentiary guard appointments and otherwise, oppose all worthy candidates in the primary elections of the counties and districts throughout the state or to maintain powerful lobbies about the legislative halls in Frankfort to save their own scalps and perpetuate themselves in office. The fact is that a member of the General Assembly thus elected usually do feel under obligations to support his benefactors on most any and all questions in disregard of the official duty he owes to the people of his country or district; or if, perchance, he is disposed to serve the people, instead of complying with the wishes of three men, the recalcitrant member could be effectively refrained by the prison commissioners that his friend, whose appointment as penitentiary guard secured his election, would suffer a miserable decapitation if his vote was not delivered to the prison board, instead of to the people. We do not charge that these things have been done, but it is possible under the present system, and if it has been done at any time the people of Kentucky know it, and the sooner the system is changed and the prison commissioners are required to answer to the people in a popular election for their official conduct, the better it will be for the people of Kentucky and the public service. The socalled bipartisan board we regard as nothing less than a partisan board in which both parties are trying to distance each other in the race for the pie-counter. Should such a board be appointed by the Governor, the Chief Executive of the State would be chosen for his ability in manipulating the public patronage of the penitentiaries. The same would be true of any other officer of the State, who has other official duties and owes the people other services. Seventy-Five Dollars per month each for about two hundred prison guards, clerks, deputy wardens etc, is an attractive and huge proposition to office-seekers, and the distribution of this patronage could be used under the present system as a powerful political asset by designing men.

An competent and faithful management for the State prisons is absolutely necessary at all times; therefore, the candidates for prison commissioner should go before the people upon their records and their merits, and be directly responsible to the people when they have transgressed or trespassed upon the rights of the public. They should be elected by popular vote to perform their duties as prison commissioner, and for no other purpose, and we believe the proposed State Democratic platform should say so in no uncertain terms, and that the members of the General Assembly, who are sincerely interested in the reforms demanded by the people of this State should use every precaution to the end that the declaration be enacted into law. —Kentucky Standard.

Instructions to Correspondents.

The Aurora Bulletin gives its correspondents the following schedules for reporting:

Report all social events, such as parties, celebrations, etc.

Report extra large crops and crop prospects, as well.

Avoid chronicling the calls which one neighbor makes on another. There is absolutely no news value in such items.

Do not report the Sunday evening calls made by the young men on the young ladies of the neighborhood.

Write about the comings and goings of your town or neighborhood. Give the facts when those about you go from home on business or to visit, and tell of those who come from other towns or neighborhoods to visit in your community. Write names fully and plainly, always giving both the christian and the surname. Don't use nicknames.

Report all deaths, giving full particulars—date of death, full name, age, place of residence, cause of death and facts relative to the funeral.

Give an accurate account of all accidents.

Send in a detailed report of all fires, giving careful estimate of the loss, and amount of insurance, if any.

Make mention of the erection or improvement of houses, barns and schoolhouses, etc.

Do not forecast marriages, but report them after they occur, giving all the particulars obtainable concerning the wedding.

In giving the news of a birth say something like this: "A son (or daughter) was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Jones Thursday evening, June 29." Omit making comment on the father's actions.

Report all available news relative to the churches of your neighborhood.

Report the sale of farms, giving name of seller and of buyer. Report nothing that is built on gossip merely. Such reports often damage innocent persons.

Report everything of a news character, omitting nothing of sufficient news value to interest the readers of the paper.

THE POULTRY YARD.

Very often the prettiest hen is the poorest layer.

Lawn clippings make an ideal summer green food ration.

Lighter foods are best these warm days. Heavy food like corn heats the blood.

All the old stocks that is not wanted should be disposed of before they go into molt.

Eat some of the eggs yourself. If they are worth money to any body they are to you.

Already the fowls are assuming a rusty appearance. It is getting near their molting time.

The hen that lays where she happens to be when she takes the notion to lay is certainly getting a bad eggs-ample.

Do not let up your warfare against the destructive louse army. Lice are working havoc and too severe measures cannot be adopted to destroy them.

Use the small eggs. Give your customers the large ones. So shall they call you a square dealer and stick by you and bring you more customers. Besides its only fair and makes you feel better.

The growing cockerels should now be separated from the pullets and the former given an extra allowance of feed. They will need this additional amount more than will the pullets in order that they can be kept growing. —Farm Journal.

Corn has made a very rapid growth the past week.

HABITATION OF MARS

Professor Mitchell Tells of Division of Astronomers.

Controversy That Has Waxed Warmly Among Scientists for Thirty Years Again Brought Before the Public.

New York.—Every great telescope in the world will be kept trained on Mars this fall, and the controversy that has waged warmly among astronomers for thirty years over the habitation of that planet is likely to be renewed. In fact, it has begun.

Only a few days ago Professor Sce, the government astronomer, gave the opinion in a lecture in Philadelphia that all the planets were inhabited, going that much further then all the Martian theorists. They feel certain, and speak only with authority concerning one. A Boston professor a few days later declared that there was no evidence of the inhabitants of the heavenly bodies whatsoever, and he did not believe any of them were inhabited.

Finally, Professor Aitken, one of the astronomers of the Lick observatory in California, publicly expressed the opinion that the marking seen on the surface of Mars and supposed by some scientists to be canals constructed by inteligent beings for irrigation purposes are nothing more than earthquake fissures. They are too rough and too wide for canals, he said, and he exhibited photographs in support of his belief.

These are just forerunners of what is to come in the fall from the astronomers of the world. Mars is to be in periodic opposition to the earth and within 35,000,000 miles. The planet will be more luminous than usual with the light of the sun, and the observers will have a chance to confirm or change their ideas.

Professor S. A. Mitchell of the department of astronomy of Columbia university talked about the never ending discussion concerning the habitation of Mars and the widely different views that the astronomers of the world entertain of the subject.

From what he said it might be gathered that the diversion of opinion is not due to conflicting evidence. Two schools of astronomers are divided between those of who believe they have positive evidence of the existence of a network of canals on Mars, built for the purpose of irrigating the land, and those who say there is no evidence at all of such canals, and that the descriptions furnished by the first astronomer who proclaimed his discovery of them, and by those who came after him, have not been verified by observation astronomers.

It is to be deduced from what Professor Mitchell said that there are two classes of astronomers, one purely student, teacher, weigher of evidence, supplied by observation astronomers, who spend their lives in searching the skies, and who constitute the other class.

It is among the observation astronomers that the difference of opinion as to the habitation of Mars particularly, and other planets in general, originates. Their followers among the teachers, the professors of the world, take sides, according to their faith in the respective authorities. The exact stage of the discussion was described by Professor Mitchell in these words:

"Every fifteen years Mars is in such favorable position toward the earth that the telescope may disclose markings that at all other times are invisible. One of these periods came in 1877, and at that time Schiaperelli, a young astronomer, announced that he had discovered markings on Mars, which he termed "canali," meaning channel or waterway, dividing seas. No other astronomer in the world saw them. Two years later, when Mars was in the next opposition, Schiaperelli announced that he had again found the same markings, and this time the markings were double. In other words, he had found a parallel system of waterways, running side by side like two tracks of a railroad. No other astronomer had observed this phenomena.

"About the periods of observation, we come to one this fall, which will doubtless excite much comment. The fifteen-year period passed in 1907. That was the very best time to make observations, and that is when Professor Lowell made the best of his. He confirmed his views in 1909, which was the next most favorable opposition, and now in 1911 the opportunity returns, with Mars not quite so near, of course, as before. Perhaps we will learn more then."

Plan Aeroplane Speed Race.

New York.—A fifty-mile aeroplane speed race for prizes totaling $10,000 designed as an actual racing test for three flying machines of as many different types will be held in New York city this summer if a suitable course can be found and the desired flyers can be induced to agree. The competitors proposed for the contest are Earle L. Ovington, Capt. Thomas H. Baldwin and Thomas Sopwith.

Will Bottle Up Wind.

St. Louis.—Peter Homishak has invented a machine to conserve wind power and three other men have joined with him to put it on the market in St. Louis. They propose to build a factory in St. Louis, where they think the supply of wind is practically inexhaustible.

PANTHER RIDES ON ENGINE

Engineer and Fireman Finally Make It Too Hot for Big Feline Visitor on Tender.

Seattle, Wash.—While the engineer and fireman of a helper engine, stationed at Lester, were backing down the mountain early the other day, dreaming of home and friends, and wishing that the apparently balmy air was not so cold, a panther that looked to them as large as a round-house jumped upon the tender from a neighboring bank and sneezed violently at the train crew.

The engineer hastily crawled through the window of the engine to the running board, while the fireman was practically paralyzed, bethinking himself of a haunch of venison that lay near his head, on top of the tender.

The engineer reached through the window and threw open the throttle, while the panther was thoughtfully combing out his whiskers. It was the plan to scare the fierce animal by speeding up, but it proved abortive, for the animal recked not of the twenty-five miles an hour that the engine came through with, but started for the venison and incidentally for the fireman's head.

At this the fireman awoke from his trance, and seizing a red-fire fuse that lay handy, he lit it at the firebox and handed it to the panther. Just as the animal was arranging to bite it off like confectionery, the fuse began to sputter, burning his whiskers, and scaring him almost stiff. With one terrific jump the panther cleared the coal pile and hit the timber contiguous to the bank.

The fireman had a vision of an aurora of singed cat while up the bank scrambled the big pussy, with its tail carried at a right angle. Then the engine was slowed down, and it was discovered that there had been no casualties aside from those that had been carried away into the woods.

Since this remarkable accident happened no fireman has dared to work at the coal pile without a bunch of red-fire fuses close at hand.

GIVE STUDENTS CANDY DOPE

Are Late to Breakfast and Girls in Neighborhood of College Are Suspected.

New York.—The students of Manhattan college are trying to solve a mystery. Their investigation so far has led them to believe that they were fed on drugged gumdrops by three pretty young women of the neighborhood, and they are anxious for revenge.

It is a strict rule at the college that the students must get up at 6:30, but the other day 90 of them ambled down to breakfast an hour late. They insisted they had not heard the rising gong. Then it was discovered that all of the 90 had partaken of gumdrops and this gave rise to the suspicion that they were drugged.

"It serves them right," said a girl who works in a silk factory near the college. "Those boys have been playing jokes on us for a long time and at last we have had our revenge. They flirt with us, and then, when they learn our names, they send us boxes of candy filled with soap and red pepper. I don't know anything about the gumdrops, but if they were drugged I hope it will teach them a lesson."

DEADLY TETANUS IS STAYED

Physicians at Wilmington, Del., Save Boy's Life, Even After Jaws Are Locked.

Wilmington, Del.—That medical science has been able to counteract tetanus, even when it had developed to the stage where the patient's jaws are locked, has been successfully demonstrated by the physicians at the Homeopathic hospital in the case of Tony Bebba, a little boy whose parents live at Bellevue.

After spending several weeks in the hospital, suffering from lockjaw, the boy, who is 11 years old, has been discharged as perfectly well again.

Tony stepped on a rusty nail, which penetrated a toe. No attention was paid to the wound beyond local treatment, and some time later when a physician was called in, he found tetanus fully developed and the boy's jaws securely locked. He was removed to the hospital, where he was treated and finally cured.

GLORY FOR A CHINESE BOY

Cincinnati Colony Gives Lad of Sixteen Ovation as Coming "Kossuth" of Celestial Empire.

Cincinnati.—Heralded as the prospective "Kossuth of China," Chuf Leong, aged sixteen, was given an ovation by the local Chinese colony the other day.

The youth is a student at Capital university, Columbus, and next year he is to enter Columbia university. His father, Chui King, a Chinese editor, is acting head of the Chinese Reform association and one of three on whose heads the late empress set a price.

All of the members of the local colony of Chinese are "reformers," and they cheered the youthful orator's declaration in favor of these four national departures: Amnesty invitation to reformers to return; cutting off of queue; limitation of the sale of opium in China; the common people to have a voice in the government.

WANTED THE FACTS

LITTLE JOHNNIE ALTOGETHER TOO PERSISTENT.

Pape Got Into Very Deep Water When He Endeavored to Explain About Hercules and His Wonderful Deeds.

"Say, pa, who was Hercules?" asked Johnnie, looking up from his book and disturbing the after-dinner reading circle composed of himself, his father and his mother.

His father laid down the newspaper with a gratified smile. "Hercules, Johnnie," he explained, graciously, "was a very strong man who lived a long time ago and did a number of very wonderful things. He was the strongest man in the world."

Johnnie gave his attention to his book again and his father resumed his analysis of the stock market. But not for long.

"How strong was Hercules, pa?" demanded Johnnie. "It says here he killed a bull with his hands."

"I believe he did," admitted his father.

"Say, pa, could Hercules throw Frank Gotch?" queried the student. His father frowned slightly. "I suppose he could," he said, "but we have no means of knowing in these days. Gotch is a wonderful man, of course, as a wrestler—"

"I wish you wouldn't direct Johnnie's mind to those awful prize fighters and wrestlers and such persons," interrupted Johnnie's mother.

"Well, the child asked me a question, didn't he?" protested his father. "I don't see any harm in answering it. Anyhow, the prowess of our modern wrestlers and other strong men probably is as fit a subject for discussion as is that of Hercules and Samson and those old chaps."

"Hercules was a mythical character," insisted Johnnie's mother, sternly. "That makes it different."

Silence followed for a few minutes while Johnnie's mother followed the fortunes of Lady Gwendolyn, and his father tried to figure out why C O D stock had lost two points. Then Johnnie returned to the attack.

"Say, pa, what's a misical character?" he asked.

"What's a what?" asked his father.

"What ma said Hercules was."

"Why, a mythical character, Johnnie," began his father, "is one that never existed. A myth is a fancy—a—sort of legend or story, you understand. And a mythical character is a person that is told about in such a story."

He returned to his paper with a pleasing sense of duty well performed, but Johnnie was far from being ready to quit.

"Well, if Hercules was a mythical character, then—" said, "there never was a Hercules, was there?"

"Well, no," Johnnie's father grudgingly admitted. "Hercules is a sort of myth or fairy character."

"Then, if there never was any Hercules, he didn't kill any bull with his own hends, did he?"

"No, no, it's just a story," explained his father, shortly, turning his newspaper over and trying to find something interesting.

"But you told me he could throw Frank Gotch," he persisted. "If there never was any Hercules, how could he throw Gotch?"

"There!" interjected Johnnie's mother, laying her book down. "You see the trend of the child's mind since you introduced your friend Mr. Gotch into his studies!"

Johnnie's father found the interesting article he was looking for and buried his nose in it for a few seconds. Then his son and heir fired another shot.

"Say, pa, if there wasn't any Hercules then all this about him killing the bull isn't true, is it?"

"No," admitted his father, crossly.

"Well, what did you tell me that stuff about Gotch for?" demanded Johnnie. "Is Gotch a myth, too?"

Here Johnnie's father ended the discussion.

"Young man," he ordered, "you go to bed!"

In Dryest Maine.

Prof. Ira Remsen, president of the Johns Hopkins university and head of the National Academy of Sciences, spends all his vacations in Maine. It is a matter of current history that Maine is dry, but Dr. Remsen had reason one day to suspect that if he had to get a drink of whisky some day to save his life he would never be in danger of death in Maine.

The doctor was bicycling and his pedal broke. He inquired the way to the nearest blacksmith shop and following the directions arrived at a ramshackle place the door of which was closed, but not locked. He opened the door and, pushing his bicycle ahead, was surprised to see a crowd of men sitting around an improvised tray, on which were a bottle and some glasses.

Somewhat abashed, the doctor said: "I wonder if I am in the right place? Is this the blacksmith shop?"

"Yes," said the blacksmith. "What'll you have, rye or Scotch?"—New York Sun.

A Small Dose.

"Confound that barkeeper in the Coyote saloon!" said Percival Montpelier. "He insulted me, doncherknow!"

"How was that, pard?" asked Pink-Eyed Pete.

"When I called for whisky he set the bottle on the counter and offered me a teaspoon!"

Uncle Sam was 135 years old day before yesterday, and he does not appear to be suffering from the infirmatives of old age.

The overwhelming majority given McCreary, last Saturday, ought to satisfy all that he is the choice of the Democrats of the State for Governor, and is, therefore, entitled to the vote of every Democrat in Kentucky at the November election.

When McCreary was a candidate against Gov. Beckham for the Democratic nomination for Senator he carried Louisville by 5,000 but last Saturday he lost Louisville by 7,000, a difference of 13,000 and he was the same Democrat last Saturday that he was when he carried the city over Beckham. Louisville is rotten.

C. W. Benton has been nominated by the Democrats for Representative of Grant county in the next Legislation. Mr. Benton's only opponent, H. Z. Allphin, failed to put up his entrance fee and the committee was called together and gave Benton the nomination. The heavy expenses of an election was thus avoided and Benton's expenses will probably not exceed $25.

The former model Governor will demonstrate his capacity to do so again and Kentucky will be redeemed for four years at least, from Republican misrule. Senator McCreary will lead the Democratic ticket to victory by at least as much majority as he beat his opponent in the primary, and a brighter day will dawn for our "Old Kentucky Home."—W. P. Walton in Lexington Herald.

In Fayette county the Sheriff has filed a number of suits for back taxes on omitted property. The papers were served by a deputy Sheriff and at the trial the point was raised that a member of the Sheriffs office can not serve papers in a case in which he is interested and that this must be done by the Coroner. This point was sustained and the cases thrown out.

"Trouble hunters" on Elwood, Ind., lines learned something when a party line was found to have been put out of business three days by a common black snake. The reptile had climbed a telephone pole and got into a cable box, where it had worked its way into a mesh of small copper wires. The current killed the snake, but the same operation "crossed" dozens of telephones. Men worked three days to find the trouble.

During an Interstate Commerce Commission inquiry into express classifications at Washington the fact was brought out that over 20,000,000 gallons of whisky are shipped annually by express into "dry" territory. This whisky is distributed, as a rule, by mail-order houses, and the greater part of it goes to the Southern States, where the large negro population and the extensive prohibition area both contribute to an extremely active demand.

Congressman A. B. Rouse, who is a member of the Postoffice Committee in the House of Representatives, has had an Inspector in the county during the past week looking to the extension of routes Nos. 1 and 3 out of Burlington, which will benefit a number of citizens in the north end of the county; also the application for rural route from Grant. The Recorder is informed that both applications will be reported favorably and that the entire county will be supplied with rural service.

The family fight ended last Saturday at 4 p. m., when the polls closed and all animosities engendered during that contest should be forgotten and hearty support cordially accorded the nominees. The fight we have to make between now and the November election is a battle royal and it will require all our forces, all our ammunition and all our efforts to bring about a Democratic victory. If we do our duty as Democrats and patriots there is no question of the result, but if we sulk in our tents and refuse to do our duty, the worst may prove anything but a walk to us.—Bowling Green

BIG AUCTION SALE.

40-Choice Building Lots-40
NORTH ERLANGER.

Having purchased that portion of the Longmore Estate lying adjacent to the North Erlanger school property and within three blocks of the Q. & C. depot, we will subdivide into building lots 50x150 feet and sell at public auction,

Saturday, July 15th, 1911.

Erlanger is not and doesn't desire to become a manufacturing town. On the other hand it is strictly a residence suburb of Cincinnati, Covington and Newport. Eight hundred (800) people, some attending universities and colleges, others engaged in various professions and occupations in the city, ride on the commutor trains daily. Six and eight-tenths (6.8) miles from Cincinnati, on the Queen and Crescent Railroad with a rate of closer to the city than either Norwood or College Hill, more accessible than Sedamsville, Erlanger is the future hope of those employed in Cincinnati, who wish to avoid excessive taxation and rents, who wish to seclude thesclves from the dust, noise and smoke of factories and at the sawe time be within a 05c fare of the city.

"Young Man Own A Spot of Ground Somewhere."

Every good American citizen should have an ambition to own at least his own home site. This particular tract of land is by far the most desirable for building purposes than any in or about Erlanger. Lying within the shadow of the graded school, and within three minutes' walk of the depot.

WHY PAY RENT?

when with the aid of your Building and Loan Association you can own a lot in a very short time and ultimately your own home and a good investment. The last census just completed shows conclusively that the tendency of population is towards the large centers. In this Erlanger is a striking example (for it can only be called a sleeping place for Cincinnati) increasing an even 100 per cent in the last decade. No boom but a sound and steady growth. The completion of the two miles traction line connecting Erlanger with Fort Mitchell and the city will create a still greater demand for property in Erlanger. Buy a lot on July 15th while they are cheap and be prepared for the increasing demand.

Free! Free! Free!

One full sized lot and a rubber tire buggy will be given away absolutely free. Each white person on the ground on the day of sale (whether he is a purchaser or not) will be given a free ticket which will entitle him to a chance on both the lot and buggy. Drawing one does not bar you in any way from an equal chance on the other.

TERMS.

Lots will be sold for all cash, one-half cash, or one-third cash, balance in six and twelve months with six percent interest on deferred payments. Payments to be made at the Erlanger Deposit Bank where deed and title will be guaranteed when one-third or more is paid.

REMEMBER the date, SATURDAY, JULY 15th, 1911, and also bear in mind that statistics show that more money is made from the increase in values in real estate than from all other causes combined.

A Cincinnati Band has been engaged to furnish Music all afternoon. Come out and try your luck at the Rubber Tire Buggy and Free Lot.

The wheat in this county was all put in the shock last week in good condition, the weather during the harveating period being very fine except at short intervals when the work was interrupted by the rain, the duration of which was not sufficient to injure the crop.

The hay harvest which is at hand will be light, and everything that will do at all will be saved, the high price at which hay is selling prompting those who have meadows to make the most possible out of a short crop.

The first of July found the Boone county corn crop in good condition although some of it is small, owing to its late planting. The early planting has been well cultivated and is making a rapid growth, and, taken as a whole, the indications are Boone will have at least an average crop this year.

The acreage of tobacco is not to exceed sixty per cent of an average crop, and it is not doing much yet, but it is too soo to make predictions as to what the quality of the crop will be ultimately, as a very bad showing in that crops at first, develops, some times, into an extra crop in weight, color and other requisites.

Altogether this county's 1911 crop will be equal to any of the past.

Her husband, but no children, survive. The interment took place in the Baker family cemetery above Limaburg.

Your Neighbor's Experience

How you may profit by it. Take Foley's Kidney Pills. Mrs. E. G. Whiting, 380 Willow St., Akron, O., says: "For some time I had a very serious case of kidney trouble and suffered with backaches and dizzy headaches. I had specks floating before my eyes and I felt all tired out and miserable. I saw Foley Kidney Pills advertised and got a bottle and took them according to directions and results showed almost at once. The pain and dizzy headaches left me, my eyesight became clear and today I can see I am a well woman, thanks to Foley's Kidney Pills." Sold by Robt. W. Jones, Walton.
